

Aboleth Curse

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 10 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Touch.

Duration: 11 minutes.

You bestow a dreadful affliction on the creature you touch, similar to the effect of an aboleth's foul contact. Your touch deals 1d toxic damage with an onset of one minute, unless the victim resists with an uncontested HT-3 roll. Then every minute for ten more cycles, the damage repeats. Being moistened with cool, fresh water negates cyclic damage, and each cycle can be resisted with HT-3. The skin of the victim gradually becomes a clear, slimy membrane, and after losing 1/3 HP to this toxic damage, the victim's natural DR with Tough Skin becomes reduced by 2, to the minimum of 0, until he heals above this threshold.

Statistics: Toxic Attack 1d (Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Cyclic, 1 minute, 10 cycles, being moistened with cool, fresh water negates damage, Resistible, +200%; Magical, -10%; Melee Attack, Reach C, Cannot Parry, -35%; No Signature, +20%; Onset, 1 minute, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Resistible, HT-3, -15%; Symptoms, 1/3 HP, Negated Advantage, DR 2 with Tough Skin, +18%) [10].

Absorb Weapon

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 1 point/level.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP to cast, 1 FP per 10 minutes to maintain.

Casting Time: 2 seconds.

Range: Touch.

Duration: Indefinite.

You can harmlessly absorb a weapon you are touching (even a poisoned one) into your arm, so long as it is not in another creature's possession. The weapon must weigh no more than spell level * 2 lbs. The absorbed weapon cannot be felt under the skin and doesn't restrict your range of motion in any way. An absorbed weapon cannot be detected with even a careful search, although a Detect Magic spell reveals the presence of a magical aura. The only evidence of its presence is a faint blotch on your skin shaped vaguely like the weapon. Rather than being protected by your defensive advantages, your weapon actually is in another dimension entirely and can't be affected by any normal attack.

Getting it out takes one second or a Fast-Draw roll (aided by Talent). When the spell ends, the weapon is expelled.

Statistics: Payload 1 (Static; Accessibility, Only a single object, -10%; Accessibility, Only for weapons, -20%; Cosmic, Extraplanar, +50%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Extended Duration, 10x, +40%; Magical, -10%; Nuisance Effect, Detectable as a blotch, -5%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Takes Extra Time 1, -10%) [1/level].

Absorption

Keywords: Buff.

Full Cost: 19 points for level 1 + 5 points/additional level.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Self.

Duration: 30 minutes.

This spell lets you absorb magical energies from spells cast directly on you or your gear and use that energy to power your own spells. Subtract the level of this spell from the skill of anyone casting a spell on you, and if the spell fails to affect you, you gain a point of temporary Energy Reserve (Magic) for each point of FP cost of the spell absorbed. This Energy Reserve has a cap of 10 points and it drains away completely when this spell ends. You can use it to cast your own spells or use other magic abilities. You cannot absorb your own spells.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Self Only, -50%; Advantage, Absorption 1, +140%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Extended Duration, 10x, +40%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Magical, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [19]. Note: "Absorption 1" is Magic Resistance 1 (Improved, +150%; Limited, Only ER, -30%; Magical, -10%; Nuisance Effect, Must absorb, -10%; Spell Absorption, +50%) [5] + ER 10 (Magic; Special Recharge, -70%) [9]. Each additional level adds more Magic Resistance [+5/level].

This spell gives a ranged weapon +3 to Acc.

Acid Bolt

Keywords: Missile, Obvious.

Full Cost: 5 points.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Projectile) to «lock on».

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 20 yards.

Duration: Instantaneous.

A teardrop-shaped bolt of flesh-corrosive acid flies off your fingertips towards your target. A successful hit does 1d-1 corrosion damage but only to organic materials – stone and metal are not affected. It can be dodged, blocked, but not parried. The projectile is homing, so it steers itself. As it uses normal vision to seek its target, it does not ignore darkness penalties. To "lock on," you must Aim at the target and make an unmodified Innate Attack (Projectile) roll. Do not roll against your skill to hit. Instead, use the attack's skill of 10 – plus Accuracy, if you made your Innate Attack (Projectile) roll – and ignore all range penalties. The projectile moves 4 yards per second. For more information, see Guided and Homing Weapons (p. B412).

Statistics: Corrosion Attack 1d-1 (Accessibility, Only against organics, -20%; Blockable, -5%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Homing, +50%; Increased 1/2D, 2x, +5%; Magical, -10%; Reduced Range, 1/5, -20%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [5].

Acid Fog

Keywords: Area (Fixed).

Full Cost: 35 points.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 50 yards.

Duration: 10 seconds.

You may fill a 4-yard-radius 4-yard-high cylindrical area with a billowy mass of misty vapors. This gives -5 to all vision rolls made through it. To place the cloud at a distance, use Innate Attack (Gaze), with normal range penalties, but at +4 for affecting an area. The initial attack roll places the effect. It then drifts from that point with the wind.

Every creature in the area takes 1 point of corrosion damage per second as Large-Area Injury (p. B400). In addition, any creature that breathes in the fog takes 1 point of corrosion damage per second, ignoring external DR. Once the creature loses 1/3 of its HP to this respiratory effect, it begins to cough (p. B428) until it recovers HP above this threshold.

Statistics: Corrosion Attack 1 point (Area Effect, 4 yards, +100%; Drifting, +20%; Link, +10%; Magical, -10%; Persistent, +40%; Reduced Range, 1/2, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [7] + Corrosion Attack 1 point (Area Effect, 4 yards, +100%; Drifting, +20%; Link, +10%; Magical, -10%; Persistent, +40%; Reduced Range, 1/2, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Respiratory Agent, +50%; Symptoms, 1/3 HP, Coughing, +60%) [10] + Obscure Vision 5 (Area Effect, 4 yards, +50%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Drifting, +20%; Link, +10%; Magical, -10%; Ranged, +50%; Reduced Range, 1/2, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [18].

You fire a small orb of acid at the target, dealing 1d-2 corrosion damage. This attack has no 1/2D range, and has Acc 2. It can be dodged or blocked, but not parried.

Statistics: Corrosion Attack 1d-2 (Blockable, -5%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Inaccurate 1, -5%; Increased 1/2D, 10x, +15%; Magical, -10%; Reduced Range, 1/10, -30%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [2].

Cost: 1 FP, optionally +1 HP or essentia; see text.

Casting Time: 4 seconds.

Range: Self – Touch.

Duration: 3 hours or until awoken. After the awakening, the spell's bonuses last for 3 minutes.

You bestow the soul of a great ancient spellcaster on the subject. The soul lies dormant within the subject's body, until the subject decides to awaken it with a Concentrate maneuver and a successful Will roll or until the duration expires, whichever comes first. While awoken, the soul's wisdom grants the subject a +1 bonus to Occultism, Ritual Magic, Thaumatology, and Symbol Drawing. The caster may pay an additional point of ER (Incarnum) or 1 HP during the casting to increase the bonuses provided to +2.

Duration: Instantaneous.

This spell allows the caster to duplicate the damage suffered by a single creature from a single attack dealt within the last 3 seconds. Only the damage type, amount, and possible knockdown and crippling injuries are duplicated – do not apply knockback, armor damage, poison, side effects, etc.

For example, the target was struck by an arrow to the vitals for 3 points of impaling damage that after DR 1 were transformed into 2 points of penetrating damage and then into 6 points of injury. This caused a knockdown roll that the target failed. After that, the target got caught in a Fireball that dealt 4 points of burning damage as large-area injury. The caster casts Afterclap, choosing to duplicate the effects of the arrow injury. The target fails to resist and takes 6 points of injury to the vitals and has to roll to avoid knockdown again. Were the arrow poisoned, he would not have to roll HT against poisoning again.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (Will; Based on IQ, Own Roll, +20%; Based on Will, +20%; Cosmic, Applied retroactively, duration is inversed, +50%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Disadvantage, Vulnerability (Damage, x2), +50%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Magical, -10%; Malediction 1, +100%; Melee Attack, Reach C, -30%; No Signature, +20%; Reduced Duration, 1/60, -35%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [26]. By means of this spell, the caster can affect a creature that has open or bandaged wounds from cutting, impaling, or piercing attacks. This spell reopens bound wounds or causes unbound wounds to bleed profusely, making the victim lose 1 HP and begin bleeding again. The bleeding rate and penalties are the same as for the original wounds. Creatures without blood, such as skeletons, are unaffected by this spell, as are those with Regeneration.

The water-breathing subject becomes able to breathe air as though it were water. He does not lose his ability to breathe water. The “Self” version of this spell can only be cast if the caster is a water-breathing creature.

Air, smoke, and other gases are like solid ground beneath subject’s feet, allowing him to walk up and down “invisible stairs” at his ground Move. This won’t work in a vacuum – there has to be some kind of air present. If the subject gets knocked down or slips, he falls! The subject may attempt one DX roll per second of falling. If he succeeds, he stops in thin air, unharmed. Otherwise, he hits the ground for normal falling damage (see Falling, p. B431).

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Self Only, -50%; Advantage, Air Walk, +180%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Extended Duration, 10x, +40%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Magical, -10%; Requires

Airy Water

Keywords: Area (Special).

Full Cost: 24/35/42/49/54/60/64 points for level 1-7.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 2 seconds.

Range: Touch.

Duration: 10 seconds.

This spell turns normal water (or watery solutions) into a frothy substance that is as breathable as air. Both air-breathing and water-breathing creatures within the area can breathe normally.

Moving through airy water is easier than moving through normal water. Creatures can use their normal Ground Move to move along the bottom at their normal speed. Creatures walking on the bottom still may have to spend additional movement points if they walk on sand, muck, or other unstable terrain.

Finally, airy water negates underwater combat and movement penalties.

The spell does not filter or purify solid particles, so casting Airy Water on very turbid liquids, for example, would produce an area filled with dust or smoke (and impose similar penalties).

Airy Water 1 transforms a single 4-yard-tall hex. Each additional level (up to 7) adds an additional hexes. The affected area may be shaped in any possible shape as long as it is continuous.

Statistics: Create 24 (Magical, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Takes Extra Time 1, -10%; Transmute Water to Airy Water, +50%; Transmutation Only, -100%) [24]. Level 2 increases the level of Create to 35 [+11]. Level 3 increases the level of Create to 42 [+7]. Level 4 increases the level of Create to 49 [+7]. Level 5 increases the level of Create to 54 [+5]. Level 6 increases the level of Create to 60 [+6]. Level 7 increases the level of Create to 64 [+4].

Alarm

Keywords: Area (Leveled).

Full Cost: 48 points for level 1 + 7.5 points/additional level*.

Casting Roll: Skill. Per to notice threats.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 10 minutes.

Range: 10 yards.

Duration: Eight hours.

Alarm sounds a mental or audible alarm each time a creature of SM-3 or larger or any creature with a hostile intent enters the warded area or touches it. The area is hemispherical in shape. A creature that speaks the password (determined by you at the time of casting) does not set off the alarm. You decide at the time of casting whether the alarm will be mental or audible.

Mental Alarm: A mental alarm alerts you (and only you) so long as you remain within 1 mile of the warded area, but you have to succeed on an unpenalized Perception (plus Talent) roll. You note a single mental "ping" that awakens you from normal sleep but does not otherwise disturb concentration. You wake up without being stunned. A Silence spell has no effect on a mental alarm.

Audible Alarm: An audible alarm produces the sound of a hand bell that lasts for 5 seconds. The base hearing distance is 16 yards. Creatures within a Silence spell cannot hear the ringing.

Ethereal or astral creatures do not trigger the Alarm.

Statistics: Danger Sense (Area Effect, 2 yards, +50%; Can be audible, +20%; Can extend to non-hostile intent, +30%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Extended Duration, 3,000x, +140%; Immediate Preparation Required, 10 minutes, -45%; Magical, -10%; Nuisance Effect, Range limit, -5%; Persistent, +40%; Ranged, +40%; Reduced Range, 1/10, -30%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Selective Effect, +20%; Variable, Area, +5%; Wakes the caster instantly, +5%) [48]. The subject of the spell knows the direction he must travel to reach you, enabling him to find you under almost any circumstances. He might not know the best route, however, since the spell does not account for obstacles. The spell works at any distance and continues even if you die. If you travel to a different plane, or if either you or the target enters an Antimagic Field or similar area, the spell is temporarily suppressed.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Only nonvolitional or non-resisting subjects, -20%; Advantage, Allied Footsteps, +160%; Based on IQ, Own Roll, +20%; Costs Fatigue, 3 FP, -15%; Extended Duration, 3,000x, +140%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Immediate Preparation Required, 10 minutes, -45%; Magical, -10%; Malediction 1, +100%; Melee Attack, Reach C, -30%; No Signature, +20%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [40]. Note: "Allied Footsteps" is Detect (Caster; Cannot Analyze, -10%; Cosmic, No die roll required, +100%; Long-Range 2, +100%; Reflexive, +40%; Magical, -10%) [16].

By using this spell, the caster can transform one musical instrument into another of similar size and equal value. Any hand-held instrument can be altered into any other hand-held instrument. However, in order to obtain a large instrument, such as a base harp or any other instrument that is too large or heavy to be easily carried, the caster must start with an equally large instrument. In any case, both the initial and resulting instruments cannot be heavier than 40 lbs.

In any event, the value of the new instrument is identical to the original. A golden recorder will generate a silver plated lute, a child's drum will generate a nonfunctional lyre, etc.

You assume the form of a creature of the same body type as yours – you must have the same number and arrangement of limbs, the same posture, body layout, etc. Physical traits of your racial template are replaced with physical traits of the racial template of the assumed form. Thus, you cannot gain any mental or supernatural abilities, but you may gain new biological abilities. This spell includes the ability to make cosmetic changes. Thus, you are able to assume a form of another member of your own species. Your gear is not affected.

By default, you may assume any racial template (adjusted by removing mental and supernatural abilities) worth no more than your native racial template (likewise adjusted). If you want to assume more powerful forms, you have to pay extra points equal to the difference. Thus, Alter Self (10) costs 10 extra points but allows you to assume any racial template worth no more than 10 points than your native one.

You can always take on the form of a being you can see or touch, provided its racial template meets the requirements outlined earlier. Once you have assumed a form, you can opt to memorize it by concentrating for one minute. This allows you to shapeshift into that form at any time by casting Alter Self. You can memorize a number of forms equal to your casting skill. If all your “slots” are full, you must overwrite a previously memorized form (your choice) to add the new form.

Amanuensis

When cast, this spell generates its own ink and animates a quill pen as if it were in an invisible scribe’s hand (though there is in fact nothing tangible or sentient present) to precisely duplicate nonmagical writing. The animated quill writes as fast as the caster (usually around 30 words per minute), and copies as much of any writing the caster assigns it as can be duplicated before the spell expires.

Though the ink created by Amanuensis is unique and does not duplicate the copied work, the penmanship of the copy is as exacting as it can be – roll Forgery at +4 if you’d like to forge papers with this spell.

Once the quill is set to its task, the caster need not be present or in range for it to continue; only destruction of the writing surface or the casting of Dispel Magic upon the quill prevents the writing from being completed. If necessary to complete its assigned task, the quill follows the writing surface at Move 0.5 if it is moved. The quill can be grasped to stop it from writing. If the quill finishes its copying and some time remains, the caster cannot direct it to begin copying a second writing – he must recast the spell to do that.

An Amanuensis spell cannot copy any magical writing or markings. If directed to do so, the quill hangs motionless. A diary, grimoire, or other work containing passages of text interspersed with spells and magical symbols is copied as text with gaps where the original displays magical markings.

Even though this is not a spell with an indefinite duration, the caster cannot have multiple instances of this spell active unless he took multiple copies of this spell or can maintain multiple spells at the same time.

Statistics: Telekinesis 0.5 (Accessibility, Requires a writing implement, -10%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Extended Duration, 30x, +60%; Independent, +40%; Magical, -10%; One Task, Transcribing, -60%; Reduced Range, 1/2, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Takes Extra Time 2, -20%) [2] + TK Quill [1].

You discern all spells and magical properties present in a creature or object by looking at it through a special lens. You must be able to see the source of the magical aura with your own eyes to analyze it. In the case of a magic item, you learn its functions, how to activate its functions (if appropriate), and how many charges are left (if it uses charges). In the case of an object or creature with active spells cast upon it, you learn each spell and its effect.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S, M.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 minute.

Range: Touch.

Duration: Indefinite, see text.

This spell turns the bones or bodies of dead creatures into undead skeletons or zombies that follow your spoken commands. The undead can follow you, or they can remain in an area and attack any creature (or just a specific kind of creature) entering the place, or perform other tasks that their intelligence allows. They remain animated until they are destroyed. (A destroyed skeleton or zombie can't be animated again.)

A skeleton can be created only from a mostly intact corpse or skeleton. The corpse must have bones, so creating a skeleton from a purple worm, for example, is not possible. If a skeleton is made from a corpse, the flesh falls off the bones.

A zombie can be created only from a mostly intact corpse. The corpse must be that of a creature with a true anatomy, so a dead gelatinous cube, for example, cannot be animated as a zombie.

Regardless of the type of undead you create with this spell, the sum of point totals of all created undead must not be higher than 25% of your point value. Undead creatures with point totals of 0 or lower are considered to have a point total of 1 point for this purpose.

If an undead creature is destroyed, the caster must wait a full day to animate replacements. However, the caster can also dismiss the animating spirit by touching the undead as a free action. In this case, he may begin animating replacements five minutes later.

If this spell is taken as a learned spell (i.e. as part of an alternative abilities array), then it can be maintained indefinitely for free, even if the caster is unconscious. However, once you switch to a different spell, the animated undead creatures become inert, but they will reanimate when you switch back to Animate Dead. Most casters try to purchase this spell for its full cost to have it constantly active and be able to cast other spells. If this spell was cast via hardcore improvisation, then it lasts for one minute.

Material Component: You must place a black onyx gem worth at least $20 per HP of the undead into the mouth or eye socket of each corpse you intend to animate. The magic of the spell turns these gems into worthless, burned-out shells.

Statistics: Ally (Skeleton or zombie; Built on 25%; Constantly, no roll required; Adjustable, Small Class, Cannot provide information, +50%; Conjured, +100%; Cosmic, Can be split among many creatures, +50%; Immediate Preparation Required, 1 minute, -30%; Magical, -10%; Minion, +0%; Requires a body, -20%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [9]. Note: As a special effect, this spell breaks sorcery rules by allowing free maintenance, but this is offset by imposing a FP cost to cast and an expensive material component.

Animate Object

Keywords: Resisted (HT).

Full Cost: 1 point/level.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP to cast, 1 FP to maintain.
Casting Time: 1 second.
Range: 20 yards (standard).
Duration: Indefinite.

This spell enables an inanimate object to flex. The minimum level required to animate an object equals its HP if the object has Injury Tolerance (Unliving) or its HP/2 if its object has Injury Tolerance (Homogenous). An animated object can grab, lift, strike, and throw with ST equal to Animate Object level needed to animate it. It has the caster's DX. It can walk and jump if it isn't fixed in place; Move equals to Animate Object level minus the level needed to animate it. The caster can use skills through animated objects – but note that object usually have No Fine Manipulators.

Animate Object requires constant concentration to use. In combat, this means you must take a Concentrate maneuver on your turn. Once the caster stops concentrating, the object returns to its resting state, and the caster has to cast the spell again to resume control.

Statistics: Telekinesis 1 (Animation, -20%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Increased Range, 2x, +10%; Magical, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Requires Quick Contest of IQ vs. HT, -20%; Short-Range 2, -20%) [1/level].

Animate Plants

Keywords: None.
Full Cost: 15 points.
Casting Roll: Skill.
Components: V, S.
Cost: 1 FP.
Casting Time: 1 minute.
Range: 10 yards.
Duration: Hours equal to margin of success on the casting roll.

You imbue inanimate plants with mobility and a semblance of life. The plants become appropriate plant creatures (some templates can be found under Wood Elementals in GURPS Dungeon Fantasy 9: Summoners and awakened tree and shrubbery in Garden of Evil). The plant creatures can follow you, or they can remain in an area and attack any creature (or just a specific kind of creature) entering the place, or perform other tasks that their intelligence allows. They remain animated until they are destroyed. (A destroyed plant can't be animated again.)

Regardless of the type of plant you animate with this spell, the sum of point totals of all animated plants must not be higher than 50% of your point value. Plant creatures with point totals of 0 or lower are considered to have a point total of 1 point for this purpose.

If an animated plant is destroyed, the caster must wait a full day to animate replacements. However, the caster can also dismiss the animating spirit by touching the plant as a free action. In this case, he may begin animating replacements five minutes later.

Unlike most spells with a duration, this spell must be maintained; thus, unless you can cast simultaneous spells, using another spell will immediately deanimate the plants. However, there is no FP cost to maintain this spell, only to cast it.

Statistics: Ally (Animated Plant; Built on 50%; Constantly, no roll required; Adjustable, Plants, +25%; Conjured, +100%; Cosmic, Can be split among many creatures, +50%; Immediate Preparation Required, 1 minute, -30%; Magical, -10%; Maximum Duration, hours equal to margin of success, -5%; Minion, +0%; Pact, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Requires Plants, -10%) [15]. Notes: The Maximum Duration limitation is priced based on Maximum Duration, 12 hours. As a special effect, this spell breaks sorcery rules by allowing free maintenance, but this is offset by imposing a FP cost to cast.

Animate Rope

Keywords: Resisted (HT).
Full Cost: 1 point/level.

Casting Roll: Skill.
Components: V, S.
Cost: 1 FP to cast, 1 FP per 3 minutes to maintain.
Casting Time: 1 second.
Range: 50 yards (standard).
Duration: Indefinite.

You can animate a nonliving ropelike object, such as string, yarn, cord, line, rope, or even a cable. The minimum level required to animate a rope equals its HP/2. An animated rope has an effective ST equal to Animate Rope level needed to animate it. It has the caster's DX. It can slither with Move equal to Animate Rope level minus the level needed to animate it. The caster can use his Knot-Tying skill through the animated rope at +4.

Animate Rope requires constant concentration to use. In combat, this means you must take a Concentrate maneuver on your turn. Once the caster stops concentrating, the rope returns to its resting state, and the caster has to cast the spell again to resume control.

Statistics: Telekinesis 1 (Accessibility, Only ropes, -35%; Animation, -20%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Extended Duration, 3x, +20%; Increased Range, 5x, +20%; Magical, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Quick Contest of IQ vs. HT, -20%; Short-Range 2, -20%) [1/level].

Animate Weapon

Keywords: None.
Full Cost (Basic): 10 points.
Full Cost (Improved): 15 points.
Casting Roll: Skill.
Components: V, S.
Cost: 1 FP to cast, 1 FP to maintain.
Casting Time: 1 second.
Range: 10 yards and Touch, see text.
Duration: Indefinite.

Animate Weapon allows you to move and use a weapon at a distance of up to 10 yards. However, to affect the weapon with this spell, you must touch it. You can mentally direct the weapon to move in any direction at Move 10, modified as usual for encumbrance level (see Encumbrance and Move, p. B17), and attack using the appropriate weapon skill. The weapon operates just as if you were grasping it in a pair of hands with ST 10 (basic version) or ST 15 (improved version).

Animate Weapon requires constant concentration to use. In combat, this means you must take a Concentrate maneuver on your turn.

Statistics: Telekinesis 10 (Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Magical, -10%; One Task, Wielding Weapons, -20%; Nuisance Effect, Must touch the weapon first, -15%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [10]. Anti-Ectoplasm Shell

Full Cost: 27 points.
Casting Roll: Skill.
Components: V, S.
Cost: 1 FP to cast, 1 FP to maintain.
Casting Time: 1 second.
Range: Self.
Duration: Indefinite.

You bring into being a mobile, 4-yard-radius, hemispherical energy field that prevents the entrance of ectoplasmic creatures, such as ghosts and astral constructs. Whenever an ectoplasmic creature (including an insubstantial one) enters the area, it must resist with a Quick Contest of Will versus your skill. If you win, then the creature must immediately leave the area. It becomes unable to reenter it for margin of victory seconds. If you lose, the creature may stay within the area for its margin of victory seconds, after which it must roll to resist again.

This spell may be used only defensively, not aggressively. If you move in a way that forces a living creature to be in the area of this spell, then the creature does not have to resist until it leaves the area and reenters it again.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (Will; Accessibility, Ectoplasmic creatures only, -60%; Area Effect, 4 yards, +100%; Aura, +80%; Based on IQ, Own Roll, +20%; Based on Will, +20%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Disadvantage, Dread with Cannot Be Trapped, +15%; Magical, -10%; Malediction 1, +100%; Melee Attack, Reach C, -30%; Reduced Duration, 1/60, Only after target leaves the area, -30%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [27].

Anticipate Teleportation

Keywords: Area (Special).

Full Cost: 30 points for level 1 + 7.5 points/additional level.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 4 seconds.

Range: 10 yards.

Duration: 30 minutes.

This spell creates an invisible energy field that anticipates and delays the teleportation of any creature or object into the spell's area. The area has a radius of spell level yards. Any teleportation effect regardless of power source is anticipated, and the exact destination is revealed as a yellow glow. The teleportation is delayed by 3 seconds, but the teleportee does not become aware of this delay. If a creature teleports from the area of Anticipate Teleportation to another place within the area, it disappears instantly, but arrives with the delay.

You bring into being a mobile, 4-yard-radius, hemispherical energy field that prevents the entrance of living creatures. Whenever a living creature (not a construct or undead) enters the area, it must resist with a Quick Contest of Will versus your skill. If you win, then the creature must immediately leave the area. Antimagic Field

Keywords: Area (Fixed).

Full Cost: 73 points.
Casting Roll: Skill.
Components: V, S.
Cost: 2 FP to cast, 1 FP to maintain.
Casting Time: 2 seconds.
Range: Self.
Duration: Indefinite.

This spell creates a 2-yard-radius hemispherical invisible zone that negates magic. It is centered on the caster and moves with him. It completely prevents all magical powers from affecting anything in the area and prevents the use of magic by anyone in the area. Antimagic Field affects friendly and hostile abilities equally, and the caster himself loses the ability to cast spells, unless he cancels Antimagic Field prematurely with a Ready maneuver.

Antimagic Field only interferes with attempts to affect creatures and objects in the area directly. For instance, a mage could not cast Mental Stun on a creature in the area, but he could cast Telekinesis outside the area to throw rocks at the creature in the area.

Statistics: Rules Exemption (Anti-magic Static can coexist with magical abilities) [1] + Static (Magic; Area Effect, 2 yards, +100%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Magical, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Switchable, +100%; Takes Extra Time 1, -10%) [72].

Antimagic Ray

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Beam) to hit.
Components: V, S.
Cost: 1 FP.
Casting Time: 1 second.
Range: 10 yards.
Duration: 18 seconds.

You point your finger and utter the incantation, releasing a white ray that suppresses magic. The target must roll against its Will to resist. If it fails to resist, all ongoing magical effects affecting it are dispelled. In addition, the target becomes immune to magic spells and abilities that affect it directly and loses the ability to cast arcane spells or use magical abilities for the duration of this spell. The target still may use magic items. However, if a magic item is the target of Antimagic Ray, then its magical abilities are suppressed for the duration.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (Will; Advantage, Antimagic Ray, +210%; Based on Will, +20%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Increased 1/2D, 10x, +15%; Link, +10%; Magical, -10%; Malediction 2, +150%; Reduced Duration, 1/10, -20%; Reduced Range, 1/10, -30%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Weaponized, -50%) [37] + Neutralize Magic (Accessibility, Must target subject, not caster, -10%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Increased 1/2D, 10x, +15%; Link, +10%; Magical, -10%; Ranged, +40%; Reduced Duration, 1/10, -20%; Reduced Range, 1/10, -30%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Weaponized, -50%) [10]. Note: "Antimagic Ray" is Static (Magic; Accessibility, Doesn't affect worn gear, -20%; Magical, -10%) [21].

Antipathy

Keywords: Area (Leveled), Resisted (Will).
Full Cost: 33 points for level 1 + 5 points/additional level.
Casting Roll: Skill.
Components: V, S.
Cost: 3 FP.
Casting Time: 1 hour.
Range: Touch.
Duration: 8 hours, fleeing creatures cannot reenter for 3 minutes.

You cause a location to emanate magical vibrations that repel a specific kind of sapient (IQ 6+) creature, as defined by you. The kind of creature to be affected must be named specifically—for example, red dragons, hill giants, wererats, lammasus, cloaklers, or vampires. A creature subtype (such as goblinoid) is not specific enough.

The spell's area is hemispherical in shape.

When casting this spell, note your margin of success. Entering creatures of the selected group will feel an intense unease, an urge to be somewhere else. Each second, they make a Will roll penalized by your margin of success. If the victim loses, he must flee the area as soon as possible and becomes unable to reenter the area for three minutes.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (Will; Accessibility, Only one adjustable class of creatures, -50%; Area Effect, 2 yards, +50%; Based on IQ, Own Roll, +20%; Based on Will, +20%; Costs Fatigue, 3 FP, -15%; Disadvantage, Dread, +30%; Extended Duration on Persistent, 3,000x, +140%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Immediate Preparation Required, 1 hour, -75%; Magical, -10%; Melee Attack, Reach C, -30%; Malediction 1, +100%; No Signature, +20%; Persistent, +40%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Variable, Area, +5%) [33]. You bring into being a mobile, 4-yard-radius, hemispherical energy field that prevents the entrance of animated or sentient plant creatures. This spell depletes 1d points of ER (Magic) of the subject and attempts to negate every instance of magic affecting it. Note how much the caster's skill roll succeeds by; every spell affecting the subject resists separately with a Quick Contest. Use the spell's casting skill (for skill-based traditions) or the caster's Will + Talent (for traditions without casting skills). If the caster of Arcane Turmoil wins, the spell dissipates; but it may be recast normally. Some spells explicitly state that they are unaffected by Dispel Magic; these are also unaffected by Arcane Turmoil. It also cannot end Truly Permanent effects, such as the magic of enchanted items.

The Ranged version removes Short-Range 1, -10% from Neutralize and replaced Malediction 1, +100% with Malediction 2, +150% for Fatigue Attack [+10].

Arc of Lightning

Keywords: Cone, Obvious.

Full Cost: 22 points/level.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 10 yards.

Duration: Instantaneous.

You create natural conductivity between two creatures, and a bolt of electricity arcs between them. Both creatures must be in range, and you must be able to target them (as if this spell had them as its targets). This is a 1-yard-wide cone attack that uses the rules for Cone Attacks (p. B413). On the battle map, it is a 1x10 row of hexes. This cone is too tight to affect many targets, but gets better chances to hit. The caster doesn't have to roll to hit.

The arc does 1d burning surge damage per level. Metallic armor counts as DR 1 against this attack, but nonmetallic armor protects normally. Targets stuck by this attack must make an HT roll, at -1 per 2 points of injury, or be physically stunned. On subsequent turns, they can roll HT to recover. Lightning behaves unpredictably around conductors; see Lightning (GURPS Magic, p. 196) for more details. This attack has no 1/2D range.

Even though a one-hex creature between the targets is big enough to block the cone, everyone in the hexes where the cone stops and starts is fully affected. If a cone passes between two adjacent creatures, then both are hit. The cone cannot be parried or blocked, but it can be dodged by diving for cover or retreating out of the affected area. If a creature does that, then those behind it may get affected by the cone normally. Both of the primary targets may dodge the arc. The charge created by this spell originated from both primary targets, but no creature can take damage more than once from a casting of this spell.

Statistics: Burning Attack 1d (Cone 1, +60%; Cosmic, No die roll required, +100%; Cosmic, Originates from the first target, +100%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Increased 1/2D, 10x, +15%; Magical, -10%; Nuisance Effect, Behaves erratically around conductors, -5%; Reduced Range, 1/10, -30%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Surge, Arcing, +100%; Side Effect, Stunning, +50%) [22/level].

Arcane Eye

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 40 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP to cast, 1 FP to maintain.
Casting Time: 10 minutes.
Range: 11 miles.
Duration: Indefinite.

You create an invisible magical sensor that sends you visual information. You can create the arcane eye at any point you can see, but it can then travel outside your line of sight without hindrance. To cast this spell, pick the desired viewpoint and its facing, and then make a skill roll.

An arcane eye travels at Move 1, but cannot move outside the maximum range. It sees exactly as you would see if you were there. The eye can travel in any direction as long as the spell lasts. Solid barriers block its passage, but it can pass through a hole or space as small as 1 inch in diameter. The eye can't enter another plane of existence, even through a gate or similar magical portal.

You must concentrate to see through an arcane eye, to move it, or to change its facing. If you do not concentrate, the eye is inert until you again concentrate. To resume using an arcane eye, you have to take a Concentrate maneuver and make another skill roll with no range penalties and without paying the FP cost. You can dismiss an arcane eye with a Concentrate maneuver or, if this spell is part of an array of alternative abilities, by switching to a different ability. Otherwise, you can maintain Clairsentience for as long as you like.

While you're using an arcane eye, you are not aware of your surroundings.

If you fail your casting roll by 1, your arcane eye appears at some other place of the GM's choosing. Critical failure cripples your ability to cast this spell for 1d hours.

Treat the arcane eye as a creature with a Size Modifier equal to yours - 7 and with HP equal to your IQ/10. Destruction of your arcane eye causes you 1 point of injury and results in your ability being unusable for 1dx5 minutes. The eye can be seen with See Invisibility and similar effects.

Statistics: Clairsentience (Clairvoyance, -10%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Fixed Range, -5%; Immediate Preparation Required, 10 minutes, -45%; Increased Range, 2,000x, +140%; Magical, -10%; Normal Sight, -20%; Nuisance Effect, Must start in line of sight, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Takes Damage, Invisible, -30%) [40]. Arcane Lock

Keywords: Buff.

Full Cost: 40 points for level 1 + 10 points/additional level.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Duration: Permanent.

An Arcane Lock spell cast upon a door, chest, or portal magically locks it. You can freely pass your own Arcane Lock without affecting it; otherwise, a door or object secured with this spell can be opened only by breaking in or with a successful Knock or Dispel Magic spell. Arcane Lock resists the Knock spell as a Quick Contest, using skill plus the higher of Wizardly Study or Wizardry Talent. A Knock spell does not remove an Arcane Lock; it only suppresses the effect for 10 minutes.

Every level of Arcane Lock past the first gives +4 DR to the portal (including its lock, hinges, and so on). This DR only hinders attempts to force the door or object; it does not provide cover DR to those behind it, nor does it help if enemies use area effects or explosions to blow up the portal or object as a whole!

Arcane Mark

Keywords: Obvious.

Full Cost: 15 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 10 minutes.

Range: Touch.

Duration: Permanent.

This spell allows you to inscribe your personal rune or mark, which can consist of no more than six characters, all of which must fit within 1 sq. ft. The writing can be visible or invisible. An arcane mark spell enables you to etch the rune upon any substance (even stone or metal) without harm to the material upon which it is placed. If an invisible mark is made, a Detect Magic spell causes it to glow and be visible, though not necessarily understandable. See Invisibility and True Seeing likewise allows the user to see an invisible arcane mark. A Read Magic spell reveals the words, if any. The mark can be dispelled or removed by an Erase spell. If an arcane mark is placed on a living being, normal wear gradually causes the effect to fade in about a month.

Statistics: Illusion (Accessibility, Limited to symbols and words, -30%; Accessibility, Only one square foot, -100%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Environmental, Surface, -10%; Extended Duration, Permanent, +150%; Immediate Preparation Required, 10 minutes, -45%; Independence, +40%; Magical, -10%; No Signature, Selective, +30%; Nuisance Effect, Vulnerable to Erase, -5%; Persistent, +40%; Requires gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires magic words, -10%; Static, -30%; Visual Only, -30%) [15].

Arcane Sight

Keywords: Information.

Full Cost: 10 points.

Casting Roll: Skill. Thaumatology to analyze.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP to cast, 1 FP to maintain.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Unlimited (standard).

Duration: Indefinite.

While this spell is active, you can see magical auras, provided you can see their source with your own eyes. The GM will roll against your skill (plus Talent), minus the range penalty to the nearest magical aura, and inform you if you succeed. You can make a follow-up Thaumatology roll (plus Talent) to analyze the aura. An ordinary success tells you to which magic college the effect belongs, and a critical success reveals the exact spell, if you are familiar with it.

This spell makes your eyes glow blue. This does not provide illumination, but it does reveal your location in the darkness, allowing enemies to target your hex.

Statistics: Detect (Magic; Based on IQ, Own Roll, +20%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Magical, -10%; Nuisance Effect, Glowing Eyes, -5%; Reflexive, +40%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Vision-Based, -20%) [10].

Arctic Haze

Keywords: Area (Leveled).

Full Cost: 30 points for level 1 + 7 points/additional level.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.
Casting Time: 2 seconds.
Range: 50 yards.
Duration: 15 minutes.

A bank of fog composed entirely of tiny ice shards billows out from the point you designate, filling a 4-yard-high cylindrical area. The fog obscures normal sight and Infravision, imposing a -7 penalty to Vision rolls and tasks based on these senses. The area of effect drifts with the wind, but any wind more forceful than a light breeze disperses it.

Fire attacks become weaker in fog. Flaming weapons and missiles lose their extra power in fog. Scorching Rays and similar fire missile effects lose 1 point of damage per yard of fog they must traverse. Fire explosions treat each yard of fog as two yards of distance from the blast for the purpose of damage. However, no amount of fog will extinguish a fire.

Statistics: Obscure 7 (Vision; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Drifting, +20%; Extended, Infravision, +20%; Extended Duration, 100x, +80%; Magical, -10%; Ranged, +50%; Reduced Range, 1/2, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Takes Extra Time 1, -10%; Variable, Area, +5%) [30]. Further levels add Area Effect (+50%) [+7/level].

Arrow of Bone

Keywords: Weapon Buff.
Full Cost: 18 points.
Casting Roll: Skill.
Components: V, S, M
Cost: 1 FP.
Casting Time: 10 minutes.
Range: Touch.
Duration: 5 hours or until fired.

You scribe runes of dire power on a single arrow or crossbow bolt, changing the projectile into a sinister missile of cold, enhanced bone. Any living creature injured by an arrow of bone must make a successful HT-5 roll or take 5d follow-up toxic damage.

Material Component: A tiny sliver of bone and a vial of blood mixed with powdered precious gems worth $100, used to paint the runes on the projectile.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Only on arrows or bolts, -40%; Advantage, Arrow of Bone, +30%; Based on IQ, Own Roll, +20%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Extended Duration, 100x, +80%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Immediate Preparation Required, 10 minutes, -45%; Magical, -10%; Malediction 1, +100%; Melee Attack, Reach C, -30%; No Signature, +20%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Trigger, Material component, -20%) [18]. Note: "Arrow of Bone" is Toxic Attack 5d (Follow-Up, This weapon, +0%; Magical, -10%; Resistible, HT-5, -5%; Single Use, x1/2; Visible, -10%) [3].

Astral Projection

Keywords: None.
Full Cost: 20 points.
Casting Roll: Skill.
Components: V, S.
Cost: 1 FP to cast, no maintenance cost.
Casting Time: 10 seconds.
Range: Self.
Duration: Indefinite.

You leave your body behind, unconscious, while projecting your spirit to the Astral Plane. While there, you cannot cast spells or otherwise affect the world in any meaningful way. Your spirit form is visible, but insubstantial. It can be harmed by weapons that affect insubstantial beings. All HP and FP losses come out of the same pool, regardless of which form suffers them. The projection suffers any negative effects: shock, stunning, etc. If the projection would become “unconscious,” it vanishes instead. The mind snaps back to the body, which remains unconscious until it recovers.

If death results, consequences depend on which form suffered the killing injury. If this was the projection, the projector’s personality and mind are gone, but his body may survive as a mindless husk; use the Mortal Wounds rules (p. B423), but the victim can never awaken. If the body died, the projector gets a Will-15 roll, modified by Talent, at the moment of death. Success means he swaps his projection ability for the Astral Entity meta-trait (p. B263) and becomes a “ghost” in the realm his projection was in. Failure means he’s just dead.

This spell can be maintained indefinitely, but your body’s need to eat, drink, sleep, etc. effectively limits the duration to a day or so – longer if your body is left with friends, in a hospital, or otherwise cared for.

On the Astral Plane, projectors (but not native astral denizens) are attached to their body by a slim silver cord, which fades to invisible after about 20 feet. The cord always “points” in the direction of the projector’s body. Treat an attack on the silver cord as an attack to the vitals, except that it must be a cutting attack. There is no special penalty to defend against this attack.

Optionally, you may overload this spell to let other willing beings in physical contact project with you. Your casting roll will be at -5 per additional target, and your casting will cost an additional 2 FP. You can offset this penalty (but never get a net bonus) by voluntarily spending additional FP; each FP cancels -1 in penalties. If you roll a critical success, you recover all FP spent on this casting. A critical failure strains your spellcasting ability; the spell automatically fails, you lose 1d FP, and all your magical powers shut down for 1d seconds. You may buy off this penalty as a Hard technique.

Statistics: Jumper (World; Improved, +10%; Limited Access, Astral, -20%; Magical, -10%; Nuisance Effect, Cannot hurry the jump, -5%; Projection, Cannot affect new world, -50%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [20].

Augury

Keywords: Information.

Full Cost: 3 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S, F.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 1 minute.

Range: Self.

Duration: Instantaneous.

An augury can tell you whether a particular action will bring good or bad results for you in the immediate future. For example, if a character is considering destroying a weird seal that closes a portal, an augury might determine whether that act is a good idea.

The GM makes a secret casting roll. On a success, the GM provides a truthful result. On a failure, he gives you no information. On a critical failure, he lies. If the augury succeeds, you get one of four results:

- Weal (if the action will probably bring good results).
- Woe (for bad results).
- Weal and woe (for both).
- Nothing (for actions that don’t have especially good or bad results).

Only one casting per question is allowed.

The augury can see into the future only about half an hour, so anything that might happen after that does not affect the result. Thus, the result might not take into account the long-term consequences of a contemplated action.

Focus: A set of marked sticks, bones, or similar tokens of at least $50 value.

Statistics: Intuition (Accessibility, Only 30 minutes into the future, -30%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Immediate Preparation Required, 1 minute, -30%; Magical, -10%; Requires Focus, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [3].

Duration: 18 seconds or until triggered, see text.

You can cast this spell on any melee weapon with Reach 1 or longer. The next time that weapon is used to make a melee attack, its shaft twists around so that the weapon strikes its wielder instead. Use the same result of the skill roll to hit with the same hit location and other options, such as Deceptive Attack or Telegraphic Attack. The attacker gets no active defense the first time this happens, but defends normally thereafter if he becomes aware of this spell's effect.

The caster transforms the subject into an animal. Clothing and gear weighing no more than his BL change with him. He cannot shift back on his own; he must wait for the spell to be dispelled. This spell cannot be dispelled by Dispel Magic – it requires Remove Curse. Each animal form is a different spell, to be learned separately. The caster may only learn the form of an animal with which he is familiar.

The subject retains his intelligence, but gains all the physical attributes of the new form.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Advantage, Baleful Polymorph, +140%; Based on IQ, Own Roll, +20%; Cosmic, Immune to Dispel Magic, +50%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Extended Duration, Permanent,

The Ranged version replaces Malediction 1, +100% with Malediction 2, +150% [+5]. Notes: “Baleful Polymorph” is Alternate Form (Animal; Magical, -10%) [14]. This spell costs its base number of points for a racial template worth no more than the subject’s native racial template. A more powerful form costs its base number of points plus 90% of the difference in cost between the subject’s native template and that of the animal form. The caster may learn to affect more powerful subjects by investing more points into this spell.

Bands of Steel

Keywords: Obvious.

Full Cost: 24 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Touch.

Duration: Permanent, until destroyed, or until the victim breaks free.

You conjure bands of steel that bind the victim, pinning his arms to his torso, and tying the legs together. An additional steel band covers his mouth, preventing him from speaking. On a hit, your victim is pinned (see p. B370) and rooted in place. He cannot move his limbs or speak; his only options are to use purely mental abilities, to attack the bands with an Innate Attack, or to try to break free using ST. The ST of this effect is equal 15, but you can layer additional attacks on a successfully bound victim. Each extra layer gives +1 to ST.

To break free, the victim must win a Quick Contest of ST against the ST of this spell. Each attempt takes one second. If he tries to break free and fails, he loses 1 FP and is only allowed a repeated attempt every 10 seconds – and on a 17 or 18, he becomes so entangled that he cannot escape on his own! Alternatively, he may try to destroy the bands with an Innate Attack (they hit automatically). External attacks on the bands of steel take no penalty, but risk hitting the victim on a miss (see Striking Into a Close Combat, p. B392).

Victims also can roll thrust damage once every 10 seconds against Bands of Steel as a free action. If this destroys the bands, they may ignore its impediment at once. If it doesn’t, they’re affected normally but may still use their turn for a standard attempt to break free, and the bands are not damaged by this free “attack.”

The bands of steel have DR 5. Each point of damage reduces ST by one. At ST 0, the bands are destroyed and the victim is freed.

When bound by Bands of Steel, the victim may be affected by magnetism.

Statistics: Binding 15 (Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Engulfing, +60%; Magical, -10%; Makes the subject affected by magnetism, +5%; Melee Attack, Reach C, Cannot Parry, -35%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [24].

Barkskin

Keywords: Buff.

Full Cost (Self): 14 points.

Full Cost (Touch): 29 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Self – Touch.

Duration: 30 minutes.

Barkskin toughens the subject's skin and covers it in a layer of bark. He has DR 10 against attacks, both physical and energy. Eyes and worn gear are not protected. This DR is ablative - it stops damage once. Each point of DR stops one point of basic damage but is destroyed in the process.

Lost DR "heals" at the rate of 1 per day. Even when this spell has worn off, the subject still recovers "virtual" DR at the same rate. Thus, if this spell granted DR 10, and the subject took 4 points of damage, reducing it to 6, then recasting this spell immediately on the same subject would only provide DR 6, because he hasn't "recovered" yet.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Self Only, -50%; Advantage, Barkskin, +100%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Extended Duration, 10x, +40%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Magical, -10%; Pact, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [14]. Note: "Barkskin" is Damage Resistance 10 (Ablative, -80%; Magical, -10%) [10]. Beget Bogun

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 3 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S, M.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 minute.

Range: Touch.

Duration: Indefinite, see text.

Beget Bogun allows you to infuse living magic into a small mannequin that you have created from vegetable matter.

The bogun's body must be prepared in advance. Consult Construct Crafting for rules for construct creation. Its point total must not be higher than 10% of your point value. Boguns with point totals of 0 or lower are considered to have a point total of 1 point for this purpose.

If the bogun is destroyed, the caster must wait a full day to animate a replacement. However, the caster can also dismiss the animating spirit by touching the bogun as a free action. In this case, he may begin animating a replacement five minutes later.

If this spell is taken as a learned spell (i.e. as part of an alternative abilities array), then it can be maintained indefinitely for free, even if the caster is unconscious. However, once you switch to a different spell, the animated bogun becomes inert, but it will reanimate when you switch back to Beget Bogun. Most casters try to purchase this spell for its full cost to have it constantly active and be able to cast other spells. If this spell was cast via hardcore improvisation, then it lasts for one minute.

Material Component: Rare herbs worth $60 per HP of the bogun to be created.

Statistics: Ally (Bogun; Built on 10%; Constantly, no roll required; Adjustable, Boguns, Cannot provide information, +25%; Conjured, +100%; Immediate Preparation Required, 1 minute, -30%; Magical, -10%; Minion, +50%; Pact, -10%; Requires a Body, -20%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [3]. Note: As a special effect, this spell breaks sorcery rules by allowing free maintenance, but this is offset by imposing a FP cost to cast and requiring an expensive material component.

Bigby's Clenched Fist

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 31 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S, F.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 10 yards.

Duration: 20 seconds.

Creates a SM+0 hand made of shimmering pinkish force that appears between the caster and one of his opponents. This floating, disembodied hand moves automatically to remain between them, regardless of where the caster moves or how the opponent tries to get around it, providing cover for the caster against that opponent (and other opponents, if they are close enough). The opponent firing at the caster risks hitting the hand instead. See Firing Through an Occupied Hex, p. B389. Nothing can fool the hand - it sticks with the selected opponent in spite of darkness, invisibility, polymorphing, or any other attempt at hiding or disguise. The hand does not pursue an opponent, however.

The hand has HP 20 and DR 9. The caster can Concentrate to move the hand at Move 4, but only towards him or the designated opponent, and the hand cannot move closer than 3 yards to the caster. The caster may Concentrate to make the Clenched Fist shove (p. B372; this is considered a two-handed shove) or punch the designated opponent.

The designated opponent must evade (p. B368) the hand, if he wants to approach the caster. The hand is considered a standing creature, and has DX of the caster and ST 12. The hand can even stop insubstantial opponents from approaching. Getting past the hand or destroying it dispels it.

The caster can Concentrate to redirect the hand to another opponent.

Even though this is not a spell with an indefinite duration, the caster cannot have multiple instances of this spell active unless he took multiple copies of this spell or can maintain multiple spells at the same time.

The caster may Concentrate to make the Crushing Hand shove (p. B372; this is considered a two-handed shove) or grapple the designated opponent. The Crushing Hand can constrict the victim, as if it had Constriction Attack (p. B43).

The designated opponent must evade (p. B368) the hand, if he wants to approach the caster. The hand is considered a standing creature, and has DX of the caster and ST 12. The hand can even stop insubstantial opponents from approaching. Getting past the hand or destroying it dispels it.

The caster can Concentrate to redirect the hand to another opponent.

Even though this is not a spell with an indefinite duration, the caster cannot have multiple instances of this spell active unless he took multiple copies of this spell or can maintain multiple spells at the same time.

Focus: A glove of snakeskin.

Bigby's Forceful Hand

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 19 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S, F.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 10 yards.

Duration: 20 seconds.

Creates a SM+0 hand made of shimmering pinkish force that appears between the caster and one of his opponents. This floating, disembodied hand moves automatically to remain between them, regardless of where the caster moves or how the opponent tries to get around it, providing cover for the caster against that opponent (and other opponents, if they are close enough). The opponent firing at the caster risks hitting the hand instead. See Firing Through an Occupied Hex, p. B389. Nothing can fool the hand - it sticks with the selected opponent in spite of darkness, invisibility, polymorphing, or any other attempt at hiding or disguise. The hand does not pursue an opponent, however.

The hand has HP 20 and DR 9. The caster can Concentrate to move the hand at Move 4, but only towards him or the designated opponent, and the hand cannot move closer than 3 yards to the caster. The caster may Concentrate to make the Forceful Hand shove (p. B372) the designated opponent. This is considered a two-handed shove.

The designated opponent must evade (p. B368) the hand, if he wants to approach the caster. The hand is considered a standing creature, and has DX of the caster and ST 12. The hand can even stop insubstantial opponents from approaching. Getting past the hand or destroying it dispels it.

The caster can Concentrate to redirect the hand to another opponent.

Bind Elemental

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 32 points.

Full Cost (Lesser): 11 points.

Full Cost (Greater): 94 points.

Casting Roll: Skill, rolled as a Quick Contest against the summoned being's Will.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 10 minutes.

Casting Time (Lesser): 10 minutes.

Casting Time (Greater): 1 hour.

Range: 10 yards.

Duration: Hours equal to margin of victory on Quick Contest of skill against Will.

Each time you cast this, you summon an elemental (worth 75% or less of your point value) of a specific type. This type is chosen when you learn this spell. Thus, Bind Fire Elemental and Bind Water Elemental are two different spells. The GM will create this being, but you can request one that meets broad criteria. Alternatively, if you know a specific being you want to call, you can summon it (although if you do not have its True Name or some equally significant identifier, you are at -5 on the casting roll). A penalty applies based on the planar "distance": There is no distance penalty for creatures that are currently on the same plane of existence. Adjacent dimensions impose -5, increasing by -5 for every intervening dimension. The Prime Material Plane is considered adjacent to the Ethereal Plane, and the Ethereal Plane is adjacent to the Inner Planes, where most of the elementals come from. Thus, preparations that mitigate the penalty usually are required.

The summoning itself requires 10 minutes of preparation and ritual. At the end of the casting, you must pay 2 FP and make a Quick Contest of skill against the elemental's Will to force it to appear. If you are victorious, the elemental arrives. It then makes a reaction roll. On Poor or worse, treat it as an Unwilling Ally – it will obey you, but try to subvert your commands or otherwise act against your interests. If the reaction is Neutral or better, it will serve you reasonably faithfully.

You can also summon elementals to answer questions. Treat this as a Contact Group with an appropriate knowledge category, an effective skill of 18, and a reliability that depends on the reaction roll: Unreliable for Poor or less, Somewhat Reliable on a Neutral reaction, Usually Reliable for Good, and Completely Reliable for Very Good or Excellent reactions.

Unlike most spells with a duration, this spell must be maintained; thus, unless you can cast simultaneous spells, using another spell will immediately dismiss the summoned being. However, there is no FP cost to maintain this spell, only to cast it. A summoned being is vulnerable to being dispelled, banished, or warded off with occult techniques. If it is killed, you must wait 24 hours before using this spell again; if dismissed, you must wait five minutes.

Two other versions of this spell summon beings of different potency. Bind Lesser Elemental calls forth an elemental worth up to 25% of your point value. Bind Greater Elemental calls an elemental worth up to 150% of your point value, and requires one hour to cast. Treat creatures summoned with the Lesser version as having an effective skill of 12, while Bind Greater Elemental provides effective skill 21.

Statistics: Ally (A type of elemental; Built on 75%; Constantly; Adjustable, Can provide information, +100%; Conjured, +100%; Immediate Preparation Required, 10 minutes, -45%; Magical, -10%; Maximum Duration, hours equal to margin of victory, -5%; Ranged, +40%; Reduced Range, 1/10, -30%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Requires Quick Contest of IQ vs. Will, -15%; Special Abilities, +50%) [32]. Bind Lesser Elemental has Ally, built on 25%. Bind Greater Elemental is built on 150%, and increases Immediate Preparation Required to 1 hour, -75%. Notes: The Maximum Duration limitation is priced based on Maximum Duration, 12 hours. As a special effect, this spell breaks rules by allowing free maintenance, but this is offset by imposing a FP cost to cast and dimensional “range” penalties.

Binding Snow

Keywords: Area (Fixed).

Full Cost: 40 points.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 2 seconds.

Range: 50 yards.

Duration: 90 seconds.

This spell must be cast on a snow field at least a foot deep. That snow field instantly freezes, impeding movement through the 4-yard-radius area. Everyone in the area and who enters the area is held fast by the snow. Victims are effectively grappled by the feet or other body parts in contact with the snow with ST 10. They cannot select the Move or Change Posture maneuvers or change facing, and are at -4 to DX. Creatures with ST 21+ can move unimpeded but still suffer -4 to DX.

To break free, the victim must win a Quick Contest of ST or Escape skill against the ST of Binding Snow. Each attempt takes one second. If the victim fails to break free, he loses 1 FP but may try again. Alternatively, he may try to break the snow that holds him. Innate Attacks hit automatically; other attacks are at -4. External attacks on the snow take no penalty, but risk hitting the victim on a miss (see Striking Into a Close Combat, p. B392). Snow has DR 0. Each point of damage reduces ST by one. At ST 0, the binding snow is destroyed and the victim is freed, but he may get stuck again if he moves out of his hex.

Victims also can roll thrust damage once per turn against Binding Snow as a free action. If this destroys the binding, they may ignore its impediment at once. If it doesn't, they're affected normally but may still use their turn for a standard attempt to break free, and the binding is not damaged by this free “attack.”

Statistics: Binding 10 (Area Effect, 8 yards, +150%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Environmental, Snow, -40%; Extended Duration, 10x, +40%; Magical, -10%; One-Shot, -10%; Persistent, +40%; Reduced DR, -10%; Reduced Range, 1/2, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Takes Extra Time 1, -10%) [40].

Binding: Bound Slumber

Keywords: Resisted (Will).

Full Cost: 27 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.
Components: V, S.
Cost: 5 FP + 1 character point.
Casting Time: 10 minutes.
Range: Touch.
Duration: Permanent.

Binding: Bound Slumber creates magical restraints that confine the subject and emanate an antipathy field. The spell also causes the subject to become comatose. While the spell is active, the subject is in suspended animation – he doesn't need to eat, drink, breathe, and does not age. When casting this spell, note your margin of success. Creatures (except the caster) that come within 4 yards of the subject will feel an intense unease, an urge to be somewhere else. Each second, they make a Will roll penalized by your margin of success. If the victim loses, he must flee the area as soon as possible and becomes unable to reenter the area for three minutes.

This spell cannot be dispelled by Dispel Magic, but Remove Curse or Break Enchantment will lift its effects. You can also specify triggering conditions that end the spell and release the creature whenever they occur. These triggers can be as simple or elaborate as you desire, but the GM must agree that the condition is reasonable and has a likelihood of coming to pass. The conditions can be based on a creature's name or identity but otherwise must be based on observable actions or qualities. Once the spell is cast, its triggering conditions cannot be changed.

Binding: Chaining creates magical restraints that confine the subject and emanate an antipathy field. Blackfire

Keywords: Missile, Obvious.
Full Cost: 19 points.
Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Beam) to hit.
Components: V, S.
Cost: 2 FP.
Casting Time: 1 second.
Range: 50 yards.
Duration: 30 seconds.

A ray of necromantic black energy springs from your hand, and on a successful hit, a living target is engulfed in chill black flames that feed on the fuel of the victim's life force. A creature engulfed in blackfire must make a HT roll every second or take 1 point of toxic damage, ignoring DR. In addition to its effects on the target, blackfire can spread rapidly, and any living creature that touches a creature engulfed in blackfire must make a HT roll or become engulfed itself. A creature can only become engulfed by a specific casting of this spell once. Thus, two creatures cannot pass the effect of this spell back and forth between each other.

Any creature that dies while engulfed in blackfire is reduced to a pile of black ash and cannot be returned to life with resurrection effects that require a body.

Statistics: Toxic Attack 1 point (Cosmic, Irresistible Attack, +300%; Cosmic, Turns victims to ash, +50%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Cyclic, 29 cycles, 1 second intervals, Resistible, Highly Contagious, +1,500%; Increased 1/2D, 10x, +15%; Magical, -10%; Reduced Range, 1/2, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Resistible, HT, -30%) [19].

Blackwater Taint

Keywords: Area (Fixed).
Full Cost: 22 points.
Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim.
Components: V, S.
Cost: 2 FP.
Casting Time: 1 second.
Range: 20 yards.
Duration: 10 seconds.

In the dark, sunless abysses of the deep ocean, shadows gather, the cold beckons, and the corpses of many things in the oceans lie slowly rotting. These black waters are often poisoned with the energies of undeath. When this spell is cast, you call up the cold blackness of those stygian depths, infusing the waters in a 4-yard-radius 4-yard-high cylindrical area with negative energy. The initial attack roll places the effect, and after that, it drifts with the current. Those in or entering the area must make a HT roll to resist its terrible power every second, unless they have Sealed.

Every creature in the area that fails to resist takes 1d-2 fatigue damage from extreme cold. Once the creature loses 1/3 of its FP to this effect, it gets a -2 penalty to ST, DX, and HT until it recovers FP above this threshold. These penalties increase to -4 once the creature loses 1/2 of its FP to this effect.

Treat FP lost to the attack identically to FP lost to cold for all purposes, notably recovery (see Cold, p. B430).

Statistics: Fatigue Attack 1d-2 (Accessibility, Only underwater, -30%; Area Effect, 4 yards, +100%; Contact Agent, +150%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Drifting, +20%; Freezing, +20%; Increased Range, 2x, +10%; Magical, -10%; Persistent, +40%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Resistible, HT, -30%; Symptoms, 1/3 FP, -2 to ST, DX, and HT, +120%; Symptoms, 1/2 FP, -2 to ST, DX, and HT, +80%; Underwater, +20%) [22].

Blackwater Tentacle

Keywords: Area (Fixed).
Full Cost: 35 points.
Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim.

Components: V, S.
Cost: 1 FP.
Casting Time: 1 second.
Range: 10 yards.
Duration: 10 seconds.

You create a tentacle-shaped mass of blackwater, drawn from the deepest ocean trenches, to attack an enemy as you direct it. The tentacle appears at a target point within range and can't move from that location. It attacks the opponent you designate once each second with Skill 14, starting with the turn the spell is cast. The tentacle has Reach C-3 and can only strike – it cannot grapple. Ordering the tentacle to attack a different target requires a Concentrate maneuver.

Attacks of the Blackwater Tentacle deal 2d crushing damage. Once the victim loses 1/3 of its HP to this effect, it gets a -2 penalty to ST, DX, and HT until it recovers HP above this threshold. These penalties increase to -4 once the victim loses 1/2 of its HP to this effect.

The tentacle can be attacked. Treat it as a SM+1 creature with no DR. It has 10 HP, but is treated as if it had Injury Tolerance (Diffuse).

This spell works identically in air and underwater.

Plants in the area grow more slowly and weakly: Crops produce half the usual yield, vegetation grows half as tall, and any mundane HT rolls made by the plants are at -2. This spell affects only inanimate plants; mobile or sentient ones are immune.

This spell is resisted by the plant with the single best HT+SM value in the area. (If a plant's HT is unknown, assume HT 12.) If it resists, the spell fails and no plants are affected; otherwise, all of the plants are.

Blight is permanent, but it targets the plants, not the area. Once the plants die or are harvested, the soil is fine for growing new plants. (Plants designed to stick around for years, such as trees, continue to suffer.)

Blink

Keywords: Buff.

Full Cost: 40 points or 120 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Self.

Duration: 18 seconds.

Like a blink dog, you “blink” back and forth between the plane you are currently on and the Ethereal Plane. This spell only works on planes of existence that border the Ethereal Plane, and only if you are carrying no more than your Light encumbrance. You look as though you’re winking in and out of reality very quickly and at random.

Blinking has several effects, as follows.

Attacks against you miss on a roll of 1-3 on a 1d. If the attack is capable of striking ethereal beings and physical beings, then there is no miss chance. Likewise, your own attacks have the same chance of missing, since you sometimes go ethereal just as you are about to strike.

Whenever a spell or ability is used on you, roll 1d. On 1-3, you are treated as a material being, and on 4-6 you are treated as an ethereal being. Spells and abilities that can affect both substantial and insubstantial beings work normally on you. Likewise, your own spells and abilities have the same drawback (often this means that your skill roll is at -3, if you are insubstantial, but your target is not).

Despite being partially ethereal, you cannot move through solid obstacles or disregard gravity and move vertically.

Since you spend about half your time on the Ethereal Plane, you can see and even attack ethereal creatures. You interact with ethereal creatures roughly the same way you interact with material ones. You watch the Material Plane as though viewing it through distorted and frosted glass (treat this as a straightforward -4 to spot objects at any range, and -8 to resolve fine details).

When using the basic (40-point) version of this spell, your abilities with Affect Substantial do not function under the effect of this spell. When using the improved (120-point) version, your abilities with Affect Substantial work properly and without the 1-in-2 chance of not working or working at a penalty.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Self Only, -50%; Advantage, Blink, +420%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Magical, -10%; Reduced Duration, 1/10, -20%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [40]. Note: “Blink” is Insubstantiality (Accessibility, Works only half the time, -20%; Accessibility, Only on the Ethereal Plane and planes that border it, -5%; Can Carry Objects, Light Encumbrance, +20%; Cannot walk through solids, -20%; Magical, -10%; No Vertical Move, -10%; Temporary Disadvantage, Bad Sight (Low Resolution), Only against material world, -20%) [28] + See Invisibility (Ethereal; Magical, -10%) [14]. Blood Snow

Keywords: Area (Fixed).

Full Cost: 5 points.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim.

Components: V, S.
Cost: 2 FP.
Casting Time: 1 second.
Range: 50 yards.
Duration: 30 seconds.

You must cast this spell on a snow field at least a foot deep. You corrupt an 8-yard-radius area of fallen snow, imbuing it with negative energy. This makes snow in the area turn blood red. Every creature in contact with blood snow takes 1 point of toxic damage per second, ignoring DR with Tough Skin. Any kind of sealed armor prevents this damage. Each instance of damage can be resisted with HT+1. Once a creature loses 1/3 of its HP to this contact effect, it becomes nauseated (p. B428) until it recovers HP above this threshold.

Statistics: Toxic Attack 1 point (Area Effect, 8 yards, +150%; Contact Agent, +150%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Environmental, Snow, -40%; Extended Duration, 3x, +20%; Magical, -10%; Persistent, +40%; Reduced Range, 1/2, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Resistible, HT+1, -35%; Symptoms, 1/3 HP, Nauseated, +90%) [5].

Duration: 18 seconds.

This spell blunts the natural weapons of the target creature. The subject loses Sharp Teeth, Fangs, Sharp Claws, Talons, and Long Talons advantages, which means that bites and punches deal crushing damage without the associated bonuses for these advantages. Strikers and Natural Weapons that were dealing piercing, large piercing, huge piercing, impaling, or cutting damage deal crushing damage for the duration of this spell, and Natural Weapons that were dealing small piercing damage stop functioning at all.

Duration: 18 seconds; each segment of the trail lasts for 10 seconds.

You are surrounded in flame, which does not harm you or your equipment. When you move, you leave a vertical trail of flame in your wake. The sheet of flame left behind you is 2 yards high, 2 inches wide, and lengthens as you move, exactly following the path you take across a horizontal surface—you leave no trail on vertical surfaces or through the air because the sheet of flame must be anchored on a horizontal surface. This spell creates a deep resonating vibration that damages bone. The vibration is audible (base Hearing range of 4 yards). If the victim fails to resist, he takes 1d crushing damage, ignoring DR. If the victim takes more than 1/2 of its HP in damage from this spell, its bones become brittle – it is at -2 to HT for the purpose of crippling injuries until it is healed above this threshold. Alternatively, the caster may direct the vibration to a particular limb. In that case, the general skeletal weakening is replaced by normal limb crippling rules.

Bonerattle only affects creatures with bones. It does not affect boneless creatures, creatures with exoskeletons, and creatures with Injury Tolerance (Unbreakable Bones).

Boreal Wind

Keywords: Cone, Obvious.

Full Cost: 11.5 points for level 1 + 6.5 points/additional level.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Beam) to hit.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 10 yards.

Duration: Instantaneous.

This spell creates a severe blast of arctic air (approximately 50 mph) that originates from you. This gust does 1d crushing damage per level, doubled, for the purposes of knockback only, and has a 1/2D range of 5 yards. It can also snuff out candles, sweep the floor, and so on. Against enemies with Injury Tolerance (Diffuse), such as gaseous beings and swarms, this becomes a much more potent attack, doing full damage – including the doubling! Ignore the usual injury cap of 2 HP (Injury to Unliving, Homogenous, and Diffuse Targets, p. B380). In addition, it does 1d linked non-incendiary burning damage from severe cold that does not scale with spell level.

This is a 1-yard-wide cone attack that uses the rules for Cone Attacks (p. B413). On the battle map, it is a 1x10 row of hexes. This cone is too tight to affect many targets, but gets better chances to hit. The caster targets a hex right in front of him, at +4, and the cone extends out from there. It is possible to make the cone wider by using the All-Out Attack (Cone) maneuver (GURPS Dungeon Fantasy Monsters 4: Dragons, p. 10).

Even though a one-hex creature is big enough to block the cone, everyone in the hex where the cone stops is fully affected. If a cone passes between two adjacent creatures, then both are hit. The cone cannot be parried or blocked, but it can be dodged by diving for cover or retreating out of the affected area. If a creature does that, then those behind it may get affected by the cone normally.

Grasses, weeds, bushes, and even trees grow thorns and wrap, twist, and entwine about creatures in a 4-yard-high cylindrical area or those that enter the area, holding them fast and causing them to become entangled. This effect does not function underwater. Each second, each creature in the area is attacked with an effective skill of 12, modified only for their size. This entangling attack can only be dodged. Anyone entangled by the vegetation is grappled with ST that depends on the vegetation density and rooted in place. They cannot select the Move or Change Posture maneuvers or change facing, and are at -4 to DX. Any Attack maneuver, Ready or Aim maneuver that involves physical action, or active defense cause the victim to take 1d-2 impaling damage as large-area injury.

Effective ST of Entangle depends on the local vegetation density level (GURPS Tactical Shooting: Extreme Conditions, p. 19). Sparse vegetation has ST 3, normal vegetation has ST 5, thick vegetation has ST 7, dense vegetation has ST 9, and impenetrable vegetation has ST 12.

To break free, the victim must win a Quick Contest of ST or Escape skill against the ST of Entangle. Each attempt takes one second. If the victim fails to break free, he loses 1 FP and takes 1d-2 impaling damage as large-area injury but may try again. Impaling damage is not applied if the victim already took this damage from this spell this second. Alternatively, he may try to destroy the entangling vegetation. Innate Attacks hit automatically; other attacks are at -4. External attacks on the plant bindings take no penalty, but risk hitting the victim on a miss (see Striking Into a Close Combat, p. B392). Tangles have DR 2. Each point of damage reduces ST by one. At ST 0, the binds are destroyed and the victims are freed.

Victims also can roll thrust damage once per turn against the Briar Web as a free action. If this destroys the binding, they may ignore its impediment at once, but they take impaling damage as normal. If it doesn't, they're affected normally but may still use their turn for a standard attempt to break free, and the binding is not damaged by this free "attack."

The targeted object becomes brittle, reducing its DR by 3 for the duration of the spell. Burning Hands

Keywords: Cone, Obvious.

Full Cost: 7 points/level.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Beam) to hit.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 10 yards.

Duration: Instantaneous.

You fire a cone of flame that does 1d burning damage per level. This is a 6-yard-wide cone attack that uses the rules for Cone Attacks (p. B413). The caster targets a hex right in front of him, at +4, and the cone extends out from there. It is possible to make the cone wider by using the All-Out Attack (Cone) maneuver (GURPS Dungeon Fantasy Monsters 4: Dragons, p. 10). This spell has the 1/2D range of 5 yards.

Statistics: Burning Attack 1d (Cone 6, +110%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Increased 1/2D, 5x, +10%; Magical, -10%; Reduced Range, 1/10, -30%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [7/level].

Cacophonic Shield

Keywords: Area (Fixed).

Full Cost: 45 points.

Full Cost (Improved): 61 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 2 seconds.

Range: Self.

Duration: 30 seconds.

You create a barrier of sonic energy in a shape of a 4-yard-radius hemisphere around you. Noise makes hearing impossible inside this area. From the outside, creatures make their Hearing rolls at +10 to detect the barrier. Cacophonic shield counters effects that depend on sound transmission, such as Sound Burst. Spells reliant on sorcerous incantations cannot be cast within it. Anyone (including you) crossing the area takes 1d non-incendiary burning damage. Targets stuck by this very loud attack must make an HT roll, at -1 per 2 points of injury, or become deaf for (20 – HT) minutes (minimum one minute).

The improved version of this spell affects all forms of hearing, including Sonar, Subsonic Hearing, Ultrahearing, and Vibration Sense.

Statistics: Burning Attack 1d (Area Effect, 4 yards, +100%; Emanation, -20%; Environmental, Sound-transmitting mediums, -10%; Extended Duration, 3x, +20%; Link, +10%; Magical, -10%; No Incendiary Effect, -10%; Only on the border of the area, -0%; Persistent, +40%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Side Effect, Deafness, +70%; Takes Extra Time 1, -10%) [13] + Obscure 10 (Hearing; Area Effect, 4 yards, +50%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Extended

Cacophonous Alarm

Keywords: Area (Leveled).

Full Cost: 44 points for level 1 + 7.5 points/additional level*.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 10 minutes.

Range: 10 yards.

Duration: Eight hours.

Cacophonous Alarm sounds an audible alarm each time a creature of SM-3 or larger or any creature with a hostile intent enters the warded area or touches it. The area is hemispherical in shape. A creature that speaks the password (determined by you at the time of casting) does not set off the alarm.

Cacophonous Alarm produces the sound of a hand bell that lasts for 5 seconds. The base hearing distance is 16 yards. Creatures within a Silence spell cannot hear the ringing.

Ethereal or astral creatures do not trigger the Cacophonous Alarm.

Statistics: Danger Sense (Area Effect, 2 yards, +50%; Audible, -10%; Can extend to non-hostile intent, +30%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Extended Duration, 3,000x, +140%; Immediate Preparation Required, 10 minutes, -45%; Magical, -10%; Persistent, +40%; Ranged, +40%; Reduced Range, 1/10, -30%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Selective Effect, +20%; Variable, Area, +5%) [44]. Call Avalanche

Keywords: Area (Fixed).

Full Cost: 50 points.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP + 1 character point.

Casting Time: 2 seconds.

Range: 100 yards.

Duration: Instantaneous.

This spell may only be cast outside. At the start of the next turn after the completion of the spell, an avalanche of packed snow falls out of the sky, dealing large-area crushing damage and potentially burying creatures within the area. The avalanche covers an area 9 yards in radius. The effects are as follows:

Distance from the center	Snow depth	Damage	Effects for SM+1	Effects for SM+0	Effects for SM-1	Effects for SM-2
1 yard	9 feet	6d	Buried	Buried	Buried	Buried
2 yards	8 feet	4d+2	Buried	Buried	Buried	Buried
3 yards	7 feet	3d-1	Very deep snow	Buried	Buried	Buried
4 yards	6 feet	1d+2	Very deep snow	Buried	Buried	Buried
5 yards	5 feet	1d-1	Very deep snow	Very deep snow	Buried	Buried
6 yards	4 feet	1d-2	Deep snow	Very deep snow	Buried	Buried
7 yards	3 feet	0	Deep snow	Deep snow	Very deep snow	Buried
8 yards	2 feet	0	Deep snow	Deep snow	Deep snow	Very deep snow
9 yards	1 foot	0	Medium snow	Medium snow	Deep snow	Deep snow

Since the avalanche falls from above, knockback caused by the damage is directed downward – there is no actual knockback, but a failed roll to remain standing still causes the victim to fall. This may cause it to be buried even if its SM would indicate otherwise, at the GM's discretion.

Buried: The victim is buried and pinned by the avalanche. Use the damage roll as effective ST of the snow holding the victim in place. If additional castings of this spell cover the victim in extra snow, treat each extra foot of snow as +1 to ST. The victim cannot move, speak, or breathe (see Suffocation, p. B436); his only options are purely mental abilities. He may try to break free by rolling a Quick Contest of ST against the snow once every 10 seconds. A failed attempt also makes the victim lose 1 FP. This FP lost counts as FP lost to freezing (see Cold, p. B430). Allies may try to free the victim by digging (see Digging, p. B350).

Very deep snow: Move is reduced to 1. Bad footing imposes -6 to attacks and -3 to defenses. Adjacent hexes of very deep snow may impede actions, such as using long weapons.

Deep snow: +2 movement points per hex. Bad footing imposes -4 to attacks and -2 to defenses.

Medium snow: +1 movement point per hex. Bad footing imposes -2 to attacks and -1 to defenses.

Note that tightly packed snow provides DR 0.4* per inch of thickness. Each casting produces about 47 tons of snow. The snow remains until melted by natural or unnatural means. A rapid melting of the ice and snow could cause a flash flood. The snow avalanche also extinguishes all flames it touches.

Call Lightning

Keywords: Missile, Obvious.

Full Cost: 10 points/level.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to hit.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 100 yards.

Duration: Instantaneous.

When you have storm clouds above your head, you can cause a lightning to strike your victim, dealing 1d burning surge damage per level. Metallic armor counts as DR 1 against this attack, but nonmetallic armor protects normally. Targets struck by this attack must make an HT roll, at -1 per 2 points of injury, or be physically stunned. On subsequent turns, they can roll HT to recover. Lightning behaves unpredictably around conductors; see Lightning (GURPS Magic, p. 196) for more details.

This attack has no 1/2D range, and has Acc 2. This spell bypasses any cover that does not provide overhead protection, and negates attack penalties to hit crouching, kneeling, sitting, or prone targets. (If you are already above or below your target, adjust this appropriately.)

Statistics: Burning Attack 1d (Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Environmental, Storm, -40%; Inaccurate 1, -5%; Increased 1/2D, +15%; Magical, -10%; Nuisance Effect, Behaves erratically around conductors, -5%; Overhead, +30%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Surge, Arcing, +100%; Side Effect, Stunning, +50%) [10/level].

Call Lightning Storm

Keywords: Area (Fixed).

Full Cost: 17 points.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim.
Components: V, S.
Cost: 2 FP.
Casting Time: 2 seconds.
Range: 100 yards.
Duration: 30 seconds.

When you have storm clouds above your head, you can cause lightning bolts to repeatedly strike a 4-yard-radius 4-yard-high cylindrical area. Use Innate Attack (Gaze), at +4, to center the area; see Scatter (p. B414) if you miss. Everyone who spends even part of their turn in the area is attacked with an effective skill of 12, modified only for their SM. This spell bypasses any cover that does not provide overhead protection, and negates attack penalties to hit crouching, kneeling, sitting, or prone targets.

Each lightning bolt deals 1d burning surge damage. Metallic armor counts as DR 1 against this attack, but nonmetallic armor protects normally. Targets struck by this attack must make an HT roll, at -1 per 2 points of injury, or be physically stunned. On subsequent turns, they can roll HT to recover. Lightning behaves unpredictably around conductors; see Lightning (GURPS Magic, p. 196) for more details.

Components: V, S.

Duration: 3 minutes.

You can calm down a single sapient creature. This spell stops Berserk and prevents the subject from doing any destructive actions (he can still defend himself). Should the creature be attacked or injured, the compulsion breaks.

If you tie or lose, the subject can sense coercion coming from you. In addition, you cannot try to affect him again within 24 hours.

The subject, who must be a sapient (IQ 6+) creature, becomes frightened. If the caster wins in the Quick Contest of skill versus the subject's Will, roll 3d for the result of a Fright Check, as usual, and add the caster's margin of victory. The victim gets +1 per Fright Check after the first within 24 hours. Regardless of the result, he becomes immune to this caster's Cause Fear for one hour. Each additional level of this spell imposes -1 to the Fright Check. For example, with Cause Fear 4, the subjects must make Fright Checks at -3.

Statistics: Terror (Accessibility, Only sapient creatures, -10%; Active, +0%; Based on IQ, Own Roll, +20%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Magical, -10%; Presence, +25%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [30]. Additional levels add -1 to the Fright Check [+10].

Caustic Mire

Keywords: Area (Fixed).
Full Cost: 58 points.
Casting Roll: Skill.
Components: V, S.
Cost: 1 FP.
Casting Time: 1 second.
Range: 10 yards.
Duration: 10 seconds.

You cover the ground in an acidic slime, roughly the consistency of thick mud. Caustic Mire counts as bad terrain (+1 movement point/hex, bad footing penalties). This affects a 4-yard-radius area. Anyone standing in the slime takes 1 point of corrosion damage per second.

In addition, Caustic Mire exudes fumes in a 4-yard-high cylindrical area. Any creature that breathes in the fumes takes 1 point of corrosion damage per second, ignoring external DR. Once the creature loses 1/3 of its HP to this respiratory effect, it begins to cough (p. B428) until it recovers HP above this threshold. The fumes are flammable – if an incendiary attack passes through the area, the fumes burst into flames, dealing 1d-1 burning damage to everything inside. This burns away the fumes so the respiratory damage stops, and singes the slime so that it stops producing said fumes.

Chain Lightning

Keywords: Missile, Obvious.

Full Cost: 13 points/level.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Beam) to hit.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 2 seconds.

Range: 100 yards.

Duration: Instantaneous.

You fire a coruscating discharge of electricity that does 1d burning surge damage per level. The discharge leaps to other available targets after hitting the initial target! If that attack succeeds, immediately consult your margin of success. If the margin is high enough to hit a separate target after accounting for range penalties plus -2, the next target is struck unless they make an appropriate active defense. If the target is hit then check the margin again until the attack fails to hit or seven targets (the maximum) are hit.

Metallic armor counts as DR 1 against this attack, but nonmetallic armor protects normally. Targets struck by this attack must make an HT roll, at -1 per 2 points of injury, or be physically stunned. On subsequent turns, they can roll HT to recover. Chain Lightning behaves unpredictably around conductors; see Lightning (GURPS Magic, p. 196) for more details.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Touch.

Duration: 5 hours.

You can use another sapient creature's vision instead of your own. While this spell gives you no control over the creature, each time it comes into physical contact with another sapient being, you can choose to transfer your sensor to the new creature by making another Quick Contest of casting skill against the new creature's Will but without paying the casting cost. In this way, your sensor can infiltrate a closely guarded area. During your turn in a round, you can use a free action to switch from seeing through the current creature's eyes to seeing normally or back again.

In combat, at the start of each turn, state whether you're giving priority to your natural senses or your remote ones. All tasks that depend on the senses you aren't prioritizing – including attack rolls, defense rolls, and Sense rolls – are at -4.

If a subject, primary or secondary, resists successfully, you may try to affect him again, at a cumulative -2 per repeated attempt on that subject in the past hour. Should you critically fail, you cannot read that person's senses again for 24 hours.

This spell alters the coloration of the recipient's body and carried and worn gear up to Medium Encumbrance so as to blend in with the surrounding background. This gives the subject +6 to Stealth when perfectly still, or +3 if moving. This effect only fools normal vision but not Infravision.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Self Only, -50%; Advantage, Chameleon, +210%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Extended Duration, 60x, +70%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Immediate Preparation Required, 1 minute, -30%; Magical, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [25]. Note: "Chameleon" is Chameleon 3 (Can Carry Objects, Medium Encumbrance, +50%; Magical, -10%) [21]. Change

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 2 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 4 seconds.

Range: Touch.

Duration: 10 seconds or Permanent; see text.

You transform one solid object no more than 6 inches in its longest dimension into another object of roughly the same size. Both the original and resulting objects can weigh no more than 8 ounces. The change must be within the same kingdom (animal, vegetable, or mineral). For example, you could change a piece of paper into scrap of linen. You could not, however, turn a strip of leather into a piece of paper. This spell only works on bulk matter; it cannot create shapes. For example, you wouldn't be able to turn a coin into a ring this way.

If the product is worth more than the original material, it is unstable. It reverts back in 10 seconds unless you use character points to “stabilize” it. Each point spent stabilizes a quantity worth 10% of the campaign’s average starting wealth. You have to stabilize the difference in value, not the total value of the product. Alternatively, you can use Permanency Points.

Statistics: Create 0.23 (Transmute Solid to Solid, +50%; Transmutation Only, -100%; Magical, -10%; Nuisance Effect, Kingdom and size limitations, -25%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Takes Extra Time 2, -20%) [2].

Changestaff

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 14 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Touch.

Duration: Hours equal to margin of success on the casting roll.

The caster plants his wooden staff into the ground, and the staff transforms into a twigling (GURPS Dungeon Fantasy 9: Summoners, page 31). The twigling can follow you, or it can remain in an area and attack any creature (or just a specific kind of creature) entering the place, or perform other tasks that its intelligence allows. It remains animated until it is destroyed. A destroyed twigling transforms into a broken wooden staff.

The point total of the twigling must not be higher than 50% of your point value.

If the twigling is destroyed, the caster must wait a full day to animate replacements. However, the caster can also dismiss the animating spirit by touching the twigling as a free action. In this case, he may begin animating replacements five minutes later.

Unlike most spells with a duration, this spell must be maintained; thus, unless you can cast simultaneous spells, using another spell will immediately deanimate the twigling. However, there is no FP cost to maintain this spell, only to cast it.

Statistics: Ally (Twigling; Built on 50%; Constantly, no roll required; Conjured, +100%; Environmental, Ground, -20%; Maximum Duration, hours equal to margin of success, -5%; Magical, -10%; Minion, +50%; Pact, -10%; Requires a wooden staff, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [14]. Notes: The Maximum Duration limitation is priced based on Maximum Duration, 12 hours. As a special effect, this spell breaks sorcery rules by allowing free maintenance, but this is offset by imposing a FP cost to cast.

Channel the Mishtai

Keywords: Buff, Incarnum.

Full Cost (Self): 22 points.

Full Cost (Touch): 35 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S, (E).

Cost: 1 FP, optionally +1 HP or essentia; see text.

Casting Time: 4 seconds.

Range: Self – Touch.

Duration: 1 minute or 30 minutes; see text.

You invite the soul-energy of a long-departed mishtai to share a sapient living body. The mishtai that you channel is drawn from one particular era of the millennia of ancient mishtai history, and it possesses a particular station in the highly ordered mishtai society. The mishtai helps or hinders but does not control the subject. The soul is chosen randomly, roll 1d on the table below. If the subject is a skarn or rilkan, roll 2d instead.

1d or 2d	Mishtai Spirit (Time Period): Effect
-----------------	---

1	Inbred moron of the late decadent period (Segorn Period): the subject takes a -2 penalty to IQ and must make a Will roll or be mentally stunned; he may roll against Will to recover on the following turns normally.
2	Hearty mishtai serf of the early period just after the discovery of incarnum (Tal Period): the subject gains a +2 bonus to HT, but loses ability to read and write.
3	Mishtai noblewoman of the Golden Age of Mishtai (Sudarn Period): the subject gains Charisma 1, but takes a -1 penalty to HT.
4	Sage of Ur-Mishtai from the postcollapse remnants of mishtai society (Geryn Period): the subject gains a +1 bonus to IQ, but takes a -2 penalty to ST.
5	Royal scout of the Landwalker's League (Sudarn Period): the subject gains a +2 bonus to Per, but takes a -1 penalty to ST.
6	Bonded wizard of the Perfect Circle guild (Sudarn Period): the subject gains a +1 bonus to Occultism and Thaumatology, but takes a -1 penalty to HT.
7-8	Sarkros, mishtai knight of the Defenders of Ril (Tal Period): the subject gains a +2 bonus to ST, but takes a -1 penalty to IQ.
9	"The Pillow Spider," famed female rogue (Sudarn Period): the subject gains Silence 2, but takes a -2 penalty to ST.
10	Dallyster Harkedde, Curator of the Incarnate Fane (Segorn Period): the subject gains a +1 bonus to Leadership and Expert Skill (Incarnum), but takes a -1 penalty to HT.
11-12	Mentriphiste Carre, "The Argent Paladin," Champion of the Mishtai and Martyr of the Frozen Pyre (Sudarn Period): the subject gains Combat Reflexes, Fearlessness 2, but takes a -1 penalty to Per.

Optionally, the caster may spend an additional point of ER (Incarnum) or HP to extend the duration to 30 minutes.

Casting Time: 2 seconds.

Range: Touch – Unlimited (-1/yard) - Unlimited (standard).

Duration: 90 minutes.

This spell makes a sapient (IQ 6+) creature regard you as its trusted friend and ally. If you or your allies threaten or attack the subject, the charm is broken. The spell does not enable you to control the charmed person as if it were an automaton, but it perceives your words and actions in the most favorable way. You still need to convince him to perform the desired actions normally.

If you tie or lose, the subject can sense coercion coming from you. In addition, you cannot try to affect him again within 24 hours.

Statistics: Mind Control (Accessibility, Only on sapient beings, -10%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Extended Duration, 30x, +60%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Independent, +70%; Magical, -10%; Melee Attack, Reach C, -30%; One Emotion Only, Friendship, -80%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Takes Extra Time 1, -10%) [30]. Chill Metal

Keywords: Resisted (HT).

Full Cost (Touch): 17 points.

Full Cost (Short-Range): 20 points.

Full Cost (Ranged): 25 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Touch – Unlimited (-1/yard) - Unlimited (standard).

Duration: 13 seconds.

When you cast this spell on a metal object, it gradually becomes very cold to the touch. For the first 4 seconds of the duration, it is chill to the touch, but does not deal damage. After that, it deals 1 point of burning damage per second to everyone touching it for 9 seconds. This damage comes from extreme cold, not heat, so it cannot set anything on fire. Targets injured by this spell must make an HT roll, at -1 per 2 points of injury, or take a -2 penalty to DX and become Numb (p. B146) for (20-HT) minutes (minimum 1 minute). Useful when cast on foe's plate armor or metal weapon.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Only on metal objects, -30%; Advantage, Chill Metal, +50%; Based on IQ, Own Roll, +20%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Delay, 4 seconds, +0%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Magical, -10%; Malediction 1, +100%; Melee Attack, Reach C, -30%; No Signature, +20%; Reduced Duration, 1/20, -25%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [17]. Chill Touch

Keywords: Obvious.

Full Cost: 34 points.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use unarmed combat skill or DX to hit.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Touch.

Duration: 10 seconds.

The caster must touch the subject to cast this spell. The subject begins to freeze from within, taking 1d-2 fatigue damage each second for 10 seconds, ignoring DR. Each second the subject may resist the damage by making a successful HT roll. If the roll is a critical success, then the spell stops. Treat FP lost to the attack identically to FP lost to cold for all purposes, notably recovery (see Cold, B430). Targets injured by this spell must make an HT roll, at -1 per 2 points of injury, or take a -2 penalty to DX and become Numb (p. B146) for (20-HT) minutes (minimum 1 minute).

Statistics: Fatigue Attack 1d-2 (Cosmic, Irresistible Attack, +300%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Cyclic, 9 cycles, 1 second intervals, Resistible, +450%; Freezing, +20%; Magical, -10%; Melee Attack, Reach C, Cannot Parry, -35%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Resistible, HT, -30%; Side Effect, DX-2 and Numb, +90%) [34].

Choke

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 10 points.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use DX or grappling skill to hit and choke.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP to cast, 1 FP per 10 seconds to maintain.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 20 yards.

Duration: Indefinite.

When you cast this spell, a pair of invisible hands made of pure force spring into existence and try to grab the target's neck and strangle it. Due to being a force effect, this spell can affect insubstantial creatures. The created pair of hands is considered to belong to a SM+0 creature for the purpose of grappling.

Using this spell requires taking a Concentrate maneuver every turn. Your only options are making an attack to grapple a creature's neck, Choke or Strangle (p. B370), or use the Choke Hold technique (p. B404 or p. MA69). Use your DX or grappling skills and apply all regular penalties, including the hit location penalties. However, when using Choke Hold, do not apply the -1 penalty for attacking from the front. The foe defends as if against an invisible opponent (p. B394), unless he can see invisible beings.

The created pair of choking hands has ST 10 (at the usual +3 if using Choke Hold). Your DX, grappling skills, and ST in Quick Contests only are modified by your Talent.

Statistics: Telekinesis 10 (Accessibility, Only to choke, -20%; Affects Insubstantial, +20%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Grappling Only, -30%; Increased Range, 2x, +10%; Magical, -10%; Reduced Duration, 1/6, -15%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [10].

City Lights

Keywords: Area (Fixed).

Full Cost: 30 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 2 seconds.

Range: 100 yards.

Duration: Instantaneous (blindness may last nine seconds).

You temporarily absorb all nearby artificial light and release it as a flare. Any artificial light (including magical and mundane sources) flickers out momentarily, then a burst of light flares from you. Afterward, the lights return to normal. Anyone within 8 yards of you must make a HT roll, with a bonus equal to his distance from you in yards. Protected Vision adds +5, and anyone with Blindness or who had already stated he had his eyes closed is immune. Failure by less than 5 means the subject is stunned (dazzled) for one second, after which he can roll against HT every second to recover. Failure by 5 or more (or a critical failure) blinds him for nine seconds.

The spell only functions if at least four active artificial light sources (torches, lanterns, light spells, and so forth) are within 8 yards of the caster. The spell's name refers to its most common use (in well-lit city streets), but it can function in any area with sufficient lighting.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Area Effect, 8 yards, Spherical, +190%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Dissipation, -50%; Emanation, -20%; Environmental, Artificial lights, -20%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Magical, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Secondary Disadvantage, Blindness, +10%; Secondary Reduced Duration, 1/20, -5%; Takes Extra Time 1, -10%; Vision-Based, +150%) [30].

City Stride

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 40 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S, M.

Cost: 1 FP or more, see text.

Casting Time: Special, see text.

Range: Unlimited (special).

Duration: Instantaneous.

This spell instantly transports you from one community to a second designated community. Each community must be at least as large as a small city (more than 5,000 population). Interplanar travel is not possible. You must be able to see the destination with your own eyes, view it remotely, or visualize it clearly (which is only possible if you have visited it previously in person).

If you are carrying equipment heavier than your Basic Lift, then you make your casting roll at a penalty equal to twice your Encumbrance level. On a failed roll, you leave excess cargo behind; on a critical failure, you lose 1 point of IQ for each Encumbrance level you attempted as you "burned out" that part of your brain temporarily. This temporarily lost IQ recovers after you sleep.

Teleportation distance also penalizes your casting roll. Distance penalties appear on the table below. If actual distance falls between two values, use the higher.

Distance	Skill Penalty
10 yards	0
20 yards	-1
100 yards	-2
500 yards	-3
2 miles	-4
10 miles	-5

Add an additional -1 for each 10x increase in distance.

The amount of time taken to cast Teleport affects the skill roll, as follows:

Preparation Time	Skill Modifier
None	-10

1 second	-5
2 seconds	-4
4 seconds	-3
8 seconds	-2
15 seconds	-1
30 seconds	0
1 minute	+1
2 minutes	+2
4 minutes	+3
8 minutes	+4
15 minutes	+5
30 minutes	+6
1 hour	+7
2 hours	+8
4 hours	+9
8 hours	+10

This table is not open-ended; +10 is the maximum possible bonus.

If you have a “second-hand” view of the destination, you are at -2 per level of removal. For instance, seeing it through a crystal ball of scrying or through someone else’s eyes would give -2, while seeing it through a crystal ball of scrying that you are viewing through someone else’s eyes would give -4. There is an additional -2 to teleport to a place you have visited but cannot see.

Apply a bonus of +1 per additional FP spent. You must declare this before you roll, and you lose the FP whether you succeed or fail.

You do not have precise control over your arrival point; you appear at a randomly determined safe location within the borders of the city (not within a building). After you teleport, you are disoriented – you may take no action other than defense for one turn, unless you make a Body Sense roll. On a failed casting roll, you go nowhere and strain your teleporting ability: you are at -5 to cast this spell again in the next 10 minutes. On a critical failure, you’re likely to appear high in the air or underground. In addition, your spell temporarily “burns out” and will not function again for 1d hours.

Optionally, you may overload this spell to transport other willing beings in physical contact with you. Your casting roll will be at -5 per additional target, and your casting will cost an additional 2 FP. A critical failure strains your spellcasting ability; the spell automatically fails, you lose 1d FP, and all your magical powers shut down for 1d seconds.

Material Component: A chip of city stone or brick from the selected destination.

Statistics: Warp (Accessibility, Only cities, -20%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Drift, Variant, -15%; Magical, -10%; Nuisance Effect, Cannot blink, -5%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Trigger, A chip of city stone or brick from the selected destination, -10%; Uncertain Encumbrance, +25%) [40].

Components: V, S, F.

Cost: 2 FP to cast, 1 FP to maintain.

Casting Time: 10 minutes.

Range: 500 yards.

Duration: Indefinite.

Clairvoyance creates an invisible magical sensor at a specific location that enables you to hear almost as if you were there. If you are trying to place the sensor outside of your line of sight, you must specify distance and direction, and make the casting roll at -5. If you fail your casting roll by 1, your sensor appears at some other place of the GM’s choosing.

This spell requires constant concentration to maintain, i.e. consecutive Concentrate maneuvers. While you're concentrating this way, you cannot hear your surroundings, but you can hear through the sensor and rotate it, but not move it.

The sensor can be seen with See Invisibility and similar effects, but cannot be damaged.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 10 yards.

While you take uninterrupted Concentrate maneuvers, you remove dirt, dust, and stains from floors, walls, dishes, windows, and the like, leaving these surfaces or objects spotless. You can clean an object with a volume of 1 cubic foot, or 1 square foot of the surface of a larger object, each second. Thus, a hex of floor takes 8 seconds to clean. The effect does not remove any foreign object larger than a two inches. Dirt you remove is permanently gone, but objects you clean can get dirty again just like anything else.

The subject retains his or her form but takes on a blue-green watery appearance. The subject becomes able to breathe water and immune to effects of extreme pressures. While underwater, the blurred appearance gives the subject +4 to Stealth when perfectly still, or +2 if moving. Clothing reduces it to +2 when perfectly still, or no bonus if moving. Clone

Keywords: Buff.
Full Cost: 10 points.
Casting Roll: Skill
Components: V, S, M, F.
Cost: 10 character points.
Casting Time: 10 minutes.
Range: Touch.
Duration: Truly Permanent.

This spell makes an inert duplicate of a creature. If the original individual has been slain, its soul immediately transfers to the clone, creating a replacement (provided that the soul is free and willing to return). The original's physical remains, should they still exist, become inert and cannot thereafter be restored to life. If the original creature has reached the end of its natural life span (that is, it has died of natural causes), any cloning attempt fails.

To create the duplicate, you must have a piece of flesh (not hair, nails, scales, or the like) with a volume of at least 1 cubic inch that was taken from the original creature's living body. The piece of flesh need not be fresh, but it must be kept from rotting (for example, by the Gentle Repose spell). Once the spell is cast, the duplicate must be grown in a laboratory for 2d/2 months.

When the clone is completed, the original's soul enters it immediately, if that creature is already dead, unless the original died in a no-mana zone or with his magical abilities negated. The clone is physically identical with the original and possesses the same personality and memories as the original. In other respects, treat the clone as if it were the original character raised from the dead. In the process, however, the character permanently loses 40 character points from his total. This should first come from any unspent points; the remainder may be in the form of reduced attributes, lost advantages, or new disadvantages.

The spell duplicates only the original's body and mind, not its equipment.

A duplicate can be grown while the original still lives, or when the original soul is unavailable, but the resulting body is merely a soulless bit of inert flesh, which rots if not preserved.

Material Component: The piece of flesh and various laboratory supplies ($4,000, 20 lbs.).

Focus: Special laboratory equipment ($2,000, 50 lbs.).

Cloud Chariot

Keywords: Obvious.
Full Cost: 48 points.
Casting Roll: Skill.
Components: V, S.
Cost: 4 FP + 1 character point to cast, 2 FP + 1 character point per 10 minutes to maintain.
Casting Time: 10 minutes.
Range: Self.
Duration: Indefinite.

When the spell is cast, you and up to two other creatures within 2 yards of you lift into the air on a magic chariot formed of cloud, then fly away in the direction you desire. The cloud chariot uses Piloting (Contragrav) skill and cannot fly in trace atmosphere, vacuum, or underwater. Commanded by your thoughts, the cloud chariot has Air Move 10/320. However, it cannot hover – to stay airborne, it must move at a speed of at least 80 yards per second, and it has to reach this speed along the ground to take off. Controlling the cloud chariot requires uninterrupted Concentrate maneuver – as soon as you stop concentrating, the chariot disappears.

Statistics: Enhanced Move 5 (Air; Affects Others 2, +100%; Area Effect, 2 yards, +50%; Character point-powered, x0.2; Costs Fatigue, 4 FP, -20%; Extended Duration, 10x, +40%; Immediate Preparation Required, 10 minutes, -45%; Magical, -10%; Requires Concentrate, -15%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [170 / 5 = 34] + Flight (Static; Affects Others 2, +100%; Area Effect, 2 yards, +50%; Cannot Hover, -15%; Character point-powered, x0.2; Environmental, Air, -5%; Extended Duration, 10x, +40%; Immediate Preparation Required, 10 minutes, -45%; Magical, -10%; Requires Concentrate, -15%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [68 / 5 = 14].

Cloudkill

Keywords: Area (Fixed).

Full Cost: 21 points.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 50 yards.

Duration: 10 seconds.

You may fill a 4-yard-radius 4-yard-high cylindrical area with deadly gases. This gives -3 to all vision rolls made through it. To place the gas cloud at a distance, use Innate Attack (Gaze), with normal range penalties, but at +4 for affecting an area. The initial attack roll places the effect. It then drifts from that point with the wind.

Every creature that inhales the gas must make a HT roll or take 1d toxic damage, ignoring DR.

Statistics: Obscure Vision 3 (Area Effect, 4 yards, +50%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Drifting, +20%; Link, +10%; Magical, -10%; Ranged, +50%; Reduced Range, 1/2, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [11] + Toxic Attack 1d (Area Effect, 4 yards, +100%; Drifting, +20%; Link, +10%; Magical, -10%; Persistent, +40%; Reduced Range, 1/2, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Resistible, HT, -30%; Respiratory Agent, +50%) [10].

Cobra's Breath

Keywords: Cone, Obvious.

Full Cost: 9 points/level.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Breath) to hit.

Components: S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 10 yards.

Duration: Instantaneous.

Your saliva changes into a virulent poison that you then spray forth in a cone. This is a 6-yard-wide cone attack that uses the rules for Cone Attacks (p. B413). The caster targets a hex right in front of him, at +4, and the cone extends out from there. It is possible to make the cone wider by using the All-Out Attack (Cone) maneuver (GURPS Dungeon Fantasy Monsters 4: Dragons, p. 10). This spell has no 1/2D range.

To affect targets, the poison must reach a mucous membrane (eyes, open mouth, nose, etc.) or an open wound or be inhaled. If that's the case, then the victim must roll against HT or take 1d toxic damage per level of this spell, ignoring DR. To be immune to this spell, the target must either have the Sealed advantage or have Doesn't Breathe or Filter Lungs and one of Nictitating Membrane or Protected Vision.

Statistics: Toxic Attack 1d (Blood Agent, +100%; Cone 6, +110%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Increased 1/2D, 10x, +15%; Magical, -10%; Reduced Range, 1/10, -30%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Resistible, HT, -30%) [9/level].

Coldfire Blast

Keywords: Area (Fixed), Missile, Obvious.

Full Cost: 14.5 points/level.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Projectile) to hit.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 2 seconds.

Range: 100 yards.

Duration: Instantaneous.

You throw a ball of unusually intense cold that expands to cover a spherical area. Use Innate Attack (Projectile) to hit, applying normal range penalties, but at +4 for targeting an area. When the projectile hits something, it expands, dealing dice of non-incendiary burning damage equal to your level of this spell to everything in its hex. Everything else within 4 yards takes damage divided by the distance in yards from the center of the blast. Targets who took damage from this spell must make an HT roll, at -1 per 2 points of HP lost, or take a -2 penalty to DX and become Numb (p. B146) for (20-HT) minutes (minimum 1 minute). Damage dealt by this spell does not heal via natural or supernatural means unless the victim is brought into an area with an ambient temperature above freezing. The GM must determine what the maximum level available in the campaign is.

Statistics: Burning Attack (Area Effect, 4 yards, Spherical, +115%; Cosmic, Lingering Effect, +100%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Dissipation, -50%; Magical, -10%; No Incendiary Effect, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Side Effect, DX-2 and Numb, +90%; Takes Extra Time 1, -10%) [14.5/level].

You bring color to a solid object weighing up to 1 pound. You can restore faded hues or give it a new color. If you add color, it must be from the visible spectrum. You cannot change an object's pattern, such as adding or removing stripes or polka dots, but you can change the color in a pattern so that, for example, a blue garment with white stripes becomes green with yellow stripes.

Statistics: Control Solid 0.31 (Accessibility, Cannot change pattern, -10%; Aspected, Only to change color, -20%; Cannot concentrate to extend duration, -10%; Cosmetic, -80%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Extended Duration, 180x, +90%; Magical, -10%; Persistent, +40%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Takes Extra Time 2.5, -25%) [5].

Color Spray

Keywords: Cone, Obvious.

Full Cost: 28 points.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Beam) to hit.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 10 yards.

Duration: Instantaneous or 5 seconds.

You create a spray of flashing colors. The spell spreads to affect everyone in a cone-shaped area. Cones use special rules; see Area and Spreading Attacks (p. B413). The caster targets a hex right in front of him, at +4, and the cone extends out from there. The cone has a maximum width of 6 yards at the spell's maximum range. This spell has no 1/2D range. Each sighted creature in the area resists with its HT, and is stunned on a failed resistance roll. Should a creature fail by 5 or more or roll a critical failure, it is additionally blinded for 5 seconds. Creatures with Protected Vision resist at +5.

It is possible to make the cone wider by using the All-Out Attack (Cone) maneuver (GURPS Dungeon Fantasy Monsters 4: Dragons, p. 10). This spell has the 1/2D range of 5 yards.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Cone 6, +110%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Increased 1/2D, 10x, +15%; Magical, -10%; Reduced Duration on Blindness, 1/30, -30%; Reduced Range, 1/10, -30%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Secondary Blindness, +10%; Vision-Based, +150%) [28].

Column of Ice

Keywords: Area (Fixed).

Full Cost: 33/47/59/66/74/81/88/94/100/105 points for level 1-10.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 2 seconds.

Range: 10 yards.

Duration: Instantaneous.

A cylindrical 3-yard-diameter column of ice rises from the ground, lifting any object or creature (including you) standing in the area into the air. Those in the area may perform a retreating dodge to move out of the area.

The column rises at a rate of 4 yards per second. The maximum height of the column in yards is equal to the spell level, but the caster may always choose to create a shorter one. Moving and fighting atop the ice column takes the same penalties as moving and fighting on normal ice. The fact that the column rises counts as movement at Move 5 even if creatures atop stand still, prompting DX rolls to remain standing until the column reaches its maximum height.

Creatures atop the column as it rises may be smashed against the ceiling or other overhead obstructions. This deals 2d crushing damage and stops the column's growth. This is large-area injury that treats rigid armor as flexible.

The ice column remains indefinitely until melted through natural or unnatural means. Ice provides DR 0.8* per inch of thickness.

Statistics: Create Ice 33 (Accessibility, Only as a cylindrical column, -25%; Environmental, Ground, -20%; Magical, -10%; Nuisance Effect, Doesn't rise instantaneously, -5%; Ranged, +40%; Reduced Range, 1/10, -30%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Takes Extra Time 1, -10%) [33]. Level 2 increases the level of Create to 47 [+14]. Level 3 increases the level of Create to 59 [+12]. Level 4 increases the level of Create to 66 [+7]. Level 5 increases the level of Create to 74 [+8]. Level 6 increases the level of Create to 81 [+7]. Level 7 increases the level of Create to 88 [+7]. Level 8 increases the level of Create to 94 [+6]. Level 9 increases the level of Create to 100 [+6]. Level 10 increases the level of Create to 105 [+5]. If you'd like to create taller columns, either calculate the required level of Create or just treat every extra level as +6 to cost. One yard of the column weighs 10,916.47 pounds.

Cometstrike

Keywords: Missile, Obvious.

Full Cost: 75 points.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 100 yards.

Duration: Instantaneous.

The caster calls down an icy comet from the sky. Thus, this spell can only be cast outdoors. Use Innate Attack (Gaze), at +4, if targeting a hex instead of a creature or object; see Scatter (p. B414) if you miss. One second after the casting has finished, the comet falls, dealing 6d crushing damage on direct impact. Anything nearby receives “collateral damage” equal to basic damage divided by the distance in yards from the blast. This spell bypasses any cover that does not provide overhead protection, and negates attack penalties to hit crouching, kneeling, sitting, or prone targets. (If you are already above or below your target, adjust this appropriately.)

After impact, the comet sends sharp icy fragments. Everyone within 10 yards of the point of impact is attacked with effective skill 15, modified by range penalties from the point of impact; see Fragmentation Damage (p. B414). The fragments deal 2d impaling damage.

Statistics: Crushing Attack 6d (Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Delay, 1 second, +0%; Environmental, Outdoors, -20%; Explosion 3, +150%; Fragmentation, [2d imp], +40%; Magical, -10%; Overhead, +30%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [75].

Give a sapient subject one immediate command – a word and a gesture, or at most two words – which the subject must obey. If the subject is unable to fulfill the command immediately or on his next turn, the spell has no effect.

Examples:

“Drop it!” – the subject drops whatever he was holding.

“Look!” – the subject looks in the direction the caster indicates.

“Wait!” – the subject takes the Wait maneuver on his next turn.

If you attempt to force the subject to act against its principles (e.g., commit suicide or harm a loved one), roll another Quick Contest. If the subject wins, the spell has no effect.

If you lose your initial attempt to affect the subject, you get a cumulative -2 to affect the same subject again until one day passes.

This spell makes a plant creature regard you as its trusted friend and ally. If you or your allies threaten or attack the subject, the spell is broken. The spell does not enable you to control the affected creature as if it were an automaton, but it perceives your words and actions in the most favorable way. You still need to convince it to perform the desired actions normally.

If you tie or lose, the subject can sense coercion coming from you. In addition, you cannot try to affect it again within 24 hours.

You meditate and present a small offering to the local spirits, if they are present in this location. These cannot be materialized spirits currently residing on the Material Plane, but spirits inhabiting the same place on the Ethereal Plane or the Spirit World. You become able to speak with any such spirit in your presence across the planar boundaries, provided you share a language. This spell does not let you control the behavior of spirits – you merely become able to communicate with them, and their cooperation is not guaranteed.

The target of this spell is mentally compelled to use its breath weapon on its next turn. The target must be sapient, and if it possesses multiple breath weapons, it uses one of its choosing. If the target is under effect of Suppress Breath Weapon, you must roll a Quick Contest of skill versus the caster of Suppress Breath Weapon; if you win, the target is compelled to use its breath weapon.

If the subject successfully resists, further castings on the same subject take a cumulative -2 penalty. This penalty resets after one hour.

You can understand the spoken words of creatures or read otherwise incomprehensible written messages. In either case, you must touch the creature or the writing to cast this spell. Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 10 yards.

Duration: Instantaneous.

You fire a cone of intense cold that does 1d burning damage per level. This damage comes from extreme cold, so it cannot set anything on fire. Targets injured by this spell must make an HT roll, at -1 per 2 points of injury, or take a -2 penalty to DX and become Numb (p. B146) for (20-HT) minutes (minimum 1 minute).

This is a 6-yard-wide cone attack that uses the rules for Cone Attacks (p. B413). The caster targets a hex right in front of him, at +4, and the cone extends out from there. It is possible to make the cone wider by using the All-Out Attack (Cone) maneuver (GURPS Dungeon Fantasy Monsters 4: Dragons, p. 10). This spell has the 1/2D range of 5 yards.

The subject, who must be a sapient (IQ 6+) creature, becomes confused. If the caster wins in the Quick Contest of skill versus the subject's Will, roll 3d for the result of a Fright Check (use the Confusion variant table from p. P85), as usual, and add the caster's margin of victory. The victim gets +1 per Fright Check after the first within 24 hours. Regardless of the result, he becomes immune to this caster's Confusion for one hour. Each additional level of this spell imposes -1 to the Fright Check. For example, with Confusion 4, the subjects must make Fright Checks at -3.

Each time you cast this, you create a creature constructed from magical ice. The GM will create this being, but you can request one that meets broad criteria. This creature is a construct with the Ice Beast lens with physical features based on any living creature you are familiar with. The creature obeys your orders regardless of how you treat it.

A conjured monster cannot summon or otherwise conjure another creature, nor can it use any teleportation or planar travel abilities.

A conjured being is vulnerable to being dispelled or warded off with occult techniques, but not to being banished. If it is destroyed, you must wait 24 hours before using this spell again; if dismissed, you must wait five minutes.

The point value of the conjured creature must equal or less that a percentage of your point value. The percentage in question depends on the spell level as shown on the table below.

Spell Level	Point Value Limit	Full Cost
Conjure Ice Beast I	5%	3 points
Conjure Ice Beast II	10%	5 points
Conjure Ice Beast III	15%	7 points
Conjure Ice Beast IV	20%	10 points
Conjure Ice Beast V	25%	12 points
Conjure Ice Beast VI	50%	24 points

Conjure Ice Object

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 24 points for level 1 + 4 points/additional level.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 1 minute.

Range: Touch.

Duration: Indefinite.

You conjure into being a block of transparent ice in the shape of any object you have seen at least once before, up to the weight limit; it appears in your hand. Created objects cannot be used as material components for spells. Any object with moving parts does not function (for example, a crossbow). As a rule, ice objects work as stone objects of cheap quality.

If you fail your casting roll, you can try again, but repeated attempts cost 4 FP (instead of the usual 2 FP) and take a cumulative -1 to the skill roll, until you succeed or wait an hour.

A created object lasts indefinitely. That means, however, that if you want to cast this spell again, the first object goes away as soon as you begin casting to create the second one. If you can maintain multiple spells (Simultaneous Spells, GURPS Thaumatology: Sorcery, p. 8), you can keep multiple versions of this spell “on” to get around that problem. Unlike most spells with Indefinite duration, this one does not require paying FP to maintain.

Higher levels of this spell allow you to create heavier, larger objects. However in no case can you create an object weighting more than 2xBL; it must always be something you could hold in one hand.

Spell Level	Weight	Min. ST
1	5 lbs.	4

2	7 lbs.	5
3	10 lbs.	5
4	15 lbs.	7
5	20 lbs.	8
6	30 lbs.	9

By casting this spell, you conjure a midnight construct worth up to 25% of your point value into existence using a piece of your own soul and ambient incarnum. The construct obeys your orders regardless of how you treat it. The construct does not possess any knowledge, so this spell cannot be used to gain information.

A conjured construct is vulnerable to being dispelled, banished, or warded off with occult techniques. If it is destroyed, you must wait 24 hours before using this spell again; if dismissed, you must wait five minutes.

You send your mind to another plane of existence (an Elemental Plane or some plane farther removed) in order to receive advice and information from powers there. (See the accompanying table for possible consequences and results of the attempt.) The powers reply in a language you understand, but they resent such contact and give only brief answers to your questions. (The GM answers all questions with “yes,” “no,” “maybe,” “never,” “irrelevant,” or some other one-word answer.) You can only ask one question per casting. You may ask questions about yourself or anyone present and within reach. You may ask a general question that affects many people (e.g., “Will the tsunami hit our coast?”) as long as at least one of those people is present.

Plane Contacted	Avoid Decrease	IQ	True Answer	Don't Know	Lie	Random Answer
Elemental Plane	+1/1 week		3-8	9-11	12-13	14-18
(appropriate)	(+1/1 week)		(3-11)	(12)	(13-17)	(18)

Positive/Negative Plane	Energy	0/1 week	3-9	10-11	12-13	14-18
Astral Plane		0/1 week	3-9	10-11	12-13	14-18
Outer Plane, demideity		-1/2 weeks	3-10	11	12-14	15-18
Outer Plane, lesser deity		-2/3 weeks	3-11	12	13-15	16-18
Outer Plane, intermediate deity		-3/4 weeks	3-12	13	14-16	17-18
Outer Plane, greater deity		-4/5 weeks	3-13	14	15-17	18

Avoid IQ Decrease: You must succeed on a IQ roll with this penalty or bonus to avoid a decrease in IQ. If the roll fails, your IQ falls to 9 for the stated duration, and you become unable to cast arcane spells. If you lose IQ, the effect strikes as soon as the question is asked, and no answer is received. (The entries in parentheses are for questions that pertain to the appropriate Elemental Plane.)

Results of a Successful Contact: d% is rolled for the result shown on the table:

True Answer: You get a true, one-word answer. Questions that cannot be answered in this way are answered randomly.

Don't Know: The entity tells you that it doesn't know.

Lie: The entity intentionally lies to you.

Random Answer: The entity tries to lie but doesn't know the answer, so it makes one up.

Contact with minds far removed from your home plane increases the probability that you will incur a decrease to IQ, but the chance of the power knowing the answer, as well as the probability of the entity answering correctly, are likewise increased by moving to distant planes. Once the Outer Planes are reached, the power of the deity contacted determines the effects. (Random results obtained from the table are subject to GM changes, the personalities of individual deities, and so on.)

On rare occasions, this divination may be blocked by an act of certain deities or forces.

Statistics: Precognition (Active Only, -60%; Directed, +100%; Magical, -10%; Nuisance Effect, Possible IQ loss, -15%; Reliable 8, +40%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Unreliable, 11, -20%) [32].

Contagion

Keywords: Resisted (HT).

Full Cost (Touch): 26 points for level 1 + 20 points/additional level.

Full Cost (Short-Range): 28 points for level 1 + 20 points/additional level.

Full Cost (Ranged): 30 points for level 1 + 20 points/additional level.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Touch – Unlimited (-1/yard) - Unlimited (standard).

Duration: Depends on the disease.

The caster infects the victim with a disease known to him. The combined value of appropriate enhancements and limitations (such as Cyclic and Symptoms) should not be more than 50% per level of the spell, and the damage should not be more than 1d. Since this spell infects the victim directly, omit penetration modifiers, such as Contact Agent, Blood Agent, and Respiratory Agent, and the resistance roll of the disease is replaced by the Quick Contest made to resist the spell.

Statistics: Toxic Attack 1d (HT; Accessibility, Only diseases, -30%; Based on IQ, Own Roll, +20%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Magical, -10%; Malediction 1, +100%; Melee Attack, Reach C, -30%; No Signature, +20%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Variable, +5%; Variable Enhancements, +500%) [26]. The Short-Range version removes Melee Attack, Reach C, -30% [+2]. The Ranged version replaces Malediction 1, +100% with Malediction 2, +150% [+2]. Each additional level increases the Variable Enhancements by 500% [+20/level].

Contingent Energy Resistance

Keywords: Buff.

Full Cost: 15 points for level 1 + 10 points/additional level.
Casting Roll: Skill.
Components: V, S.
Cost: 2 FP.
Casting Time: 1 minute.
Range: Self.
Duration: 5 hours.

While Contingent Energy Resistance is in effect, if you are dealt damage associated with one of the five types of energy (acid, cold, electricity, fire, or sonic), the spell automatically grants you and all your carried gear DR against that energy type equal to 2 * spell level for the remainder of the spell's duration. This also protects against internal attacks, but does not provide any resistance against non-damaging energy effects (such as electrical conduction).

Once the energy type protected against by a particular casting of this spell is determined, it can't be changed. You can't have more than one Contingent Energy Resistance in effect on yourself at the same time—if you cast the spell a second time while an earlier casting is still in effect, the earlier spell automatically expires.

The DR granted by this spell does not stack with similar benefits against the same energy type (such as from the Resist Acid/Cold/Electricity/Fire/Sound spells).

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Self Only, -50%; Advantage, Contingent Energy Resistance 1, +100%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Extended Duration, 100x, +80%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Immediate Preparation Required, 1 minute, -30%; Magical, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [15]. Note: Each level of "Contingent Energy Resistance" is Damage Resistance 2 (Force Field, +20%; Includes Internal, +20%; Limited, Energy, -20%; Magical, -10%; Nuisance Effect, One energy damage type that triggers the spell, -10%) [10]. Each additional level adds more Contingent Energy Resistance (+100%) [+10/level].

Continual Flame

Keywords: Buff.
Full Cost: 25 points.
Casting Roll: Skill.
Components: V, S, M.
Cost: 3 FP.
Casting Time: 10 minutes.
Range: Touch.
Duration: Permanent.

A flame, equivalent in brightness to a torch, springs forth from an object that you touch. The effect looks like a regular flame, but it creates no heat and doesn't use oxygen. A continual flame can be covered and hidden but not smothered or quenched.

Material Component: You sprinkle ruby dust (worth $100) on the item that is to carry the flame.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Objects only, -10%; Advantage, Continual Flame, +10%; Based on IQ, Own Roll, +20%; Costs Fatigue, 3 FP, -15%; Extended Duration, Permanent, +150%; Immediate Preparation Required, 10 minutes, -45%; Magical, -10%; Malediction 1, +100%; Melee Attack, Reach C, -30%; No Signature, +20%; Requires gestures, -10%; Requires magic words, -10%; Trigger, Ruby Dust, -20%) [25]. Note: "Continual Flame" is Illumination (Magical, -10%) [1].

Control Elemental

Keywords: Resisted (Will).
Full Cost (Touch): 18 points.
Full Cost (Short-Range): 28 points.
Full Cost (Ranged): 33 points.
Casting Roll: Skill.
Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.
Casting Time: 1 second.
Range: Touch – Unlimited (-1/yard) - Unlimited (standard).
Duration: 3 minutes.

This spell enables you to command an elemental for a short period of time. The elemental must be of a particular type, chosen when you learn this spell. Thus, Control Fire Elemental and Control Water Elemental are two different spells. You command it by voice and it understands you, no matter what language you speak. In effect, it temporarily gains the Reprogrammable (p. B150) disadvantage, with you as its master. While not following orders, the elemental still has initiative and may function normally while under the effect of this spell.

If you are incapacitated (stunned, knocked out, etc.), or attempt to force the creature to act against its principles (e.g., commit suicide or harm a loved one), roll another Quick Contest. If your victim wins, it breaks free. Roll at the moment of truth, not when the command is given.

If you fail the casting, you cannot attempt to control that creature again for 24 hours, and it feels a sense of mental coercion emanating from you.

Statistics: Mind Control (Accessibility, Elementals of One Type Only, -50%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Hearing-Based, -20%; Independent, +70%; Magical, -10%; Melee Attack, Reach C, -30%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [18]. This spell enables you to command a plant creature for a short period of time. You command it by voice and it understands you, no matter what language you speak. In effect, it temporarily gains the Reprogrammable (p. B150) and Slave Mentality (p. B154) disadvantages, with you as its master. It has no initiative and requires orders.

If you are incapacitated (stunned, knocked out, etc.), or attempt to force the creature to act against its principles (e.g., commit suicide or harm a loved one), roll another Quick Contest. If your victim wins, it breaks free. Roll at the moment of truth, not when the command is given.

Control Sand

Keywords: None.
Full Cost: 15 points for level 1 + 7.5 points/additional level.
Casting Roll: Skill.
Components: V, S.
Cost: 2 FP to cast, 1 FP to maintain.

Casting Time: 1 second.
Range: 100 yards.
Duration: Indefinite.

You can shape and move a particular mass of dust or sand. You can affect up to 10 x (level squared) lbs. of dust or sand in the form of a single amorphous mass.

After establishing control, you can reshape the target. You can also force it to flow (even uphill) at Move 1, but you can't lift it into the air! It can't cause direct damage, but creative use of it can inflict -1 to combat and other skills.

Statistics: Control Sand 1 (Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Magical, -10%; Ranged, +40%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [15]. Additional levels add Control Sand (Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Magical, -10%; Only increases the affected mass, -50%; Ranged, +40%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [7.5/level]. Note: As this is one advantage (Control Sand) with the Costs Fatigue limitation, not two, it costs only 2 FP to use.

Components: V, S.
Cost: 2 FP to cast, 1 FP to maintain.

You can shape and move a particular mass of liquid water. You can affect up to 10 x (level squared) lbs. of water in the form of a single amorphous mass.

After establishing control, you can reshape the target. You can also force it to flow (even uphill) at Move 1, but you can't lift it into the air! It can't cause direct damage, but creative use of it can inflict -1 to combat and other skills.

Control Winds

Keywords: Area (Special).

Full Cost: 48 points for level 1 + 40.5 points/additional level.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP to cast, 1 FP to maintain.

Casting Time: 4 seconds.

Range: Self.

Duration: Indefinite.

You can change the strength and direction of wind within the 0.1-mile-radius hemispherical area around you. Every level of this spell gives -1 or +1 to rolls that could be hindered or helped by wind, relative to the prevailing conditions. This can help with rolls for Boating, Seamanship, Survival and anything the GM allows.

Statistics: Control Winds 1 (Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Magical, -10%; Natural Phenomenon, +100%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Takes Extra Time 2, -20%) [21] + Control Winds +2 (Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Does not increase area of effect, -50%; Magical, -10%; Natural Phenomenon, +100%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Takes Extra Time 2, -20%) [27]. Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Casting Time: 4 seconds.

Range: 20 yards.

Duration: Instantaneous.

Turns raw ingredients into a finished meal. Produces only simple fare (stews, etc.), which is only as wholesome as the ingredients. No cooking-fire is necessary; the spell provides the heat. Each casting produces up to 2 pounds of food, which is enough for up to 2 meals for a human-sized creature.

Statistics: Create 0.45 (Accessibility, Only to transform into simple meals, -20%; Transmute Food to Food, +50%; Transmutation Only, -100%; Magical, -10%; Ranged, +40%; Reduced Range, 1/5, -20%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Takes Extra Time 2, -20%) [1].

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.
Casting Time: 1 second.
Range: 100 yards.
Duration: 5 minutes.

This spell lowers the ambient temperature of a hemispherical area. The basic version can reduce the temperature by up to 40°F. This will never do damage directly, but see Cold (p. B430) for effects.

More potent versions of Cool exist. Increasing the full cost of the spell increases the degree of potential temperature change by the same factor, as indicated by the table below.

Spell Strength	Full Cost
Cool (40°F)	14 points for level 1 + 5 points/additional level.
Cool (80°F)	28 points for level 1 + 10 points/additional level.
Cool (120°F)	42 points for level 1 + 15 points/additional level.
Cool (160°F)	56 points for level 1 + 20 points/additional level.

Additional levels add Area Effect (+50%) [+5]. The expanded versions raise the Temperature Control level.

Copy

Keywords: Obvious.
Full Cost: 7 points.
Casting Roll: Skill.
Components: V, S.
Cost: 1 FP.
Casting Time: 1 minute.
Range: Touch.
Duration: Instantaneous.

The Copy spell enables the caster to make a copy of a map, letter, or other written or drawn document. The caster must have a blank parchment or a book with blank pages of sufficient size to hold the copy. The caster holds the blank object over the object to be copied, then casts the spell; the copy appears on the formerly blank object. The length of the text is limited to 10 pages of standard size (roughly 9 inches by 12 inches).

The copy is permanent. If accuracy of the copy is of concern, make a roll against the caster's Forgery at +4. The spell cannot duplicate magical writings of any sort.

Statistics: Telekinesis 0.5 (Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Immediate Preparation Required, 1 minute, -30%; Magical, -10%; Melee Attack, Reach C, -30%; One Task, Transcribing, -60%; Reduced Time 13, +260%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [6] + TK Quill [1].

Corpse Candle

Keywords: None.
Full Cost: 45 points.
Casting Roll: Skill.
Components: S, M.
Cost: 2 FP.
Casting Time: 1 second.
Range: 10 yards.
Duration: One minute.

A ghostly hand bearing a lit candle appears at the spot you choose, shedding light equivalent to a candle (-4 illumination penalty in its hex and adjacent hexes with a -1 penalty for flickering taken into account, and receding as normal further away) and moving as you desire—forward or back, up or down, straight or around corners at Move 1 if you Concentrate on it. The hand and candle are incorporeal and can pass through objects, making them a useful tool for simulating hauntings.

As well, a corpse candle illuminates ethereal and invisible beings and items within 2 yards of it, all of which become faintly visible as wispy outlines (Vision-6 to spot, -6 to hit in combat). Ethereal creatures remain unreachable from the Material Plane (except with effects that can affect ethereal creatures).

The corpse candle can be attacked and destroyed, but only by effects that affect insubstantial beings. It has SM-4, DR 0, and HP 3. If the corpse candle is destroyed, the effect ends, but the spell may be recast.

Material Component: A piece of a corpse untreated by any kind of preservative.

Statistics: Create Visible Light 1 (Accessibility, Limited to one minute of candlelight, -100%; Breakable, DR 0, SM -4, Insubstantial, -15%; Cosmic, Incorporeal, +50%; Link, +10%; Magical, -10%; Mobile 1, +40%; Ranged, +40%; Reduced Range, 1/10, -30%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Trigger, Material component, -20%) [6] + See Invisible (Variant; Area Effect, 2 yards, Spherical, +40%; Breakable, DR 0, SM -4, Insubstantial, -15%; Cosmic, Incorporeal, +50%; Extended Duration, 6x, +30%; Link, +10%; Magical, -10%; Mobile 1, +40%; Persistent, +40%; Ranged, +40%; Reduced Range, 1/10, -30%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Trigger, Material component, -20%) [39].

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 4 seconds.

Range: 20 yards.

Duration: Instantaneous.

You create a sudden explosive burst that shatters ice bridges, breaks up river ice, opens frozen ponds. The ice broken covers a 2-yard-radius cylindrical area up to 1 foot in depth. This spell does not affect ice creatures.

Statistics: Create Ice 18 (Accessibility, Limited to a 2-yard-radius 1-foot-deep cylindrical area, -20%; Destruction Only, +0%; Magical, -10%; Ranged, +40%; Reduced Range, 1/5, -20%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Takes Extra Time 2, -20%) [45].

Create Ectoplasm

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 3 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 2 seconds.

Range: Touch.

Duration: 10 minutes.

You create 2 pounds of raw ectoplasm. The ectoplasm forms from your hands, eyes, or mouth, and may be pale gray, light blue, light green, or pale yellow. You may create sticky or slippery ectoplasm. Created ectoplasm is unstable. It vanishes in 10 minutes unless you use an ectoplasmic stabilizer to make it last longer.

Statistics: Create Ectoplasm 0.45 (Extended Duration, 60x, +70%; Magical, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Takes Extra Time 1, -10%) [3].

Create Food

Keywords: None.
Full Cost: 2 points.
Casting Roll: Skill.
Components: V, S.
Cost: 2 FP.
Casting Time: 10 minutes.
Range: Touch.
Duration: 10 seconds or permanent; see text.

This spell allows you to create food that is highly nourishing, if rather bland. The produced food is enough to sustain three humans for one day (nine meals that weigh 0.5 lb. each for a total of 4.5 lbs.)

Created food is unstable. It vanishes in 10 seconds unless you use character points to “stabilize” it. Each point spent stabilizes a quantity worth 10% of the campaign’s average starting wealth. Alternatively, you can use Permanency Points. Each meal costs $4, so one casting of Create Food costs $36 total.

Statistics: Create Food 0.67 (Immediate Preparation Required, 10 minutes, -45%; Magical, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [2].

Create Implausible Material

Keywords: None.
Full Cost: 20 points.
Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim.
Components: V, S.
Cost: 2 FP.
Casting Time: 4 seconds.
Range: 10 yards.
Duration: 10 seconds or permanent; see text.

This spell allows you to create up to 5 pounds of solid implausible materials, such as those described in GURPS Dungeon Fantasy 8: Treasure Tables and GURPS Dungeon Fantasy Treasures 1: Glittering Prizes. Creating such materials requires the “raw” material to be present – solidifying lightning requires you to be within an active thunderstorm, solidifying screams requires a screaming person, etc.

Created matter is unstable. It vanishes in 10 seconds unless you use character points to “stabilize” it. Each point spent stabilizes a quantity worth 10% of the campaign’s average starting wealth. (This is just the tradeoff used for Trading Points for Money, p. B26.)

Points spent to stabilize matter come from your “Creation Pool,” a number of points set aside for the purpose. You can’t apply any modifiers to these points. Points used to stabilize matter are unavailable until reclaimed – which causes the matter to vanish. If the matter is crafted into an object, the item is unmade when the matter vanishes. If the matter is mixed with other materials (e.g., alloyed), you must separate it to reclaim your points; this can be a tedious process. If it’s destroyed (e.g., melts naturally) or transformed (e.g., eaten), you can’t reclaim your points – they’re gone. You can increase your Creation Pool with unspent points at any time.

Statistics: Create Solid 0.71 (Accessibility, Implausible Materials Only, -20%; Cosmic, Exotic Materials, +50%; Environmental, Proper conditions, -20%; Magical, -10%; Ranged, +40%; Reduced Range, 1/10, -30%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Takes Extra Time 2, -20%) [20].

Create Undead

Keywords: None.
Full Cost: 12 points.
Casting Roll: Skill.
Components: V, S, M.
Cost: 1 FP, see text.
Casting Time: 1 hour.

Range: Touch.

Duration: Instantaneous.

This spell creates an undead creature from a dead body. The effect is instantaneous – this spell does not require any maintenance. The undead creatures created by this spell are not automatically under the caster's control; they are free-willed beings. Thus, while this spell can be used to create a mummy, a ghost, a ghoul, or any other undead creature that the caster knows with no Slave Mentality, it cannot be used to create simple skeletons, zombies, or other undead creatures with Slave Mentality that require constant control.

In addition to paying the FP cost to cast this spell, the caster must transfer a part of his personal essence into the created being in the form of unspent character points, Impulse Points, or Permanency Points. Consult the following table to determine how many character points the caster must spend. "Point Total" is the created being's point total expressed as a percentage of the caster's point total; "Cost" is the number of character points required. If the created being's point total falls between two percentages, use the higher.

Point Total	Cost
15%	1 point
25%	2 points
50%	4 points
75%	5 points
100%	8 points
150%	16 points

Material Component: A clay pot filled with grave dirt and another filled with brackish water. The spell must be cast on a dead body. You must place a black onyx gem worth at least $20 per HP of the undead to be created into the mouth or eye socket of each corpse. The magic of the spell turns these gems into worthless shells.

Statistics: Ally (Undead; Built on 150%; Constantly, no roll required; Adjustable, Broad Range, Cannot provide information, +100%; Character point-powered, x1/5; Conjured, +100%; Immediate Preparation Required, 1 hour, -75%; Magical, -10%; Requires a body, -20%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Trigger, Material Component, -20%) [12].

Create Water

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 5 points/level.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 10 yards.

Duration: Instantaneous.

This spell allows you to create pure water. Success means the water coalesces in hand or within range (for example, within a flask standing within 10 yards, but not inside a living being). Critical failure means the creation happens, but in a way that's inconvenient or dangerous – the GM should be creative!

The produced water can weigh up to 10 x (level squared) lbs. – 10 lbs. at level 1, 40 lbs. at level 2, 90 lbs. at level 3, and so on.

Statistics: Create Water (Magical, -10%; Ranged, +40%; Reduced Fatigue Cost 1, +20%; Reduced Range, 1/10, -30%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [5/level].

You create an amorphous spherical cloud of inky blackness that you can shape and move as desired. This roiling cloud completely blocks normal Vision, Ultravision, Infravision, and Dark Vision. The effect does not move by itself, but drifts with the wind. By taking a Concentrate maneuver, you may reshape or move the cloud at Move 1. A moderate wind of 11+ mph disperses the cloud in 20 seconds, and a strong wind of 21+ mph disperses it within 5 seconds.

If the caster wins in the Quick Contest of skill versus the subject's Will, roll 3d for the result of a Fright Check (use the Despair variant table from page 29 of Pyramid #3-92), as usual, and add the caster's margin of victory. Dancing Blade

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 10 yards.

Duration: 10 seconds.

When you cast this spell, you cause the target sword to hover and attack on its own, aiding a character you designate. If the character moves further than 10 yards away from you, the spell ends. The sword must be either unattended (in which case you choose which creature it will fight for, so long as both creature and weapon are within range) or in the possession of a willing ally who benefits from the spell.

A dancing blade acts at the start of your turn and operates in the following way. Its first priority is to move into the hex occupied by the target it must aid. It flies there at Move 10, avoiding obstacles. If possible, it attacks an enemy of the designated target within reach with the Move and Attack maneuver. If the target to be aided is within a yard of the sword, the sword “steps” into its hex, then attempts to attack any enemy within reach with an Attack maneuver. It prefers targets in the rear of the character it is aiding, then side targets, then frontal targets, and then targets in close combat with the character. If the sword can swing and thrust, determine the mode of attack randomly each time. The sword targets random hit locations. If the character that the sword is aiding is attacked, the sword tries to parry the attack, unless the character decides to parry or block it. In any case, the sword uses your skill and acts as if wielded by a pair of hands with ST 10.

For the purpose of this spell, a sword is a weapon wielded with Broadsword, Force Saber, Force Sword, Rapier, Saber, Shortsword, Smallsword, or Two-Handed Sword.

Even though this is not a spell with an indefinite duration, you cannot have multiple instances of this spell active unless you took multiple copies of this spell or can maintain multiple spells at the same time.

Components: V, S.

Casting Time: 4 seconds.

Range: 100 yards.

Duration: 8 hours.

You infuse the target area of water with the enervating essence of the blackwater depths, creating a tide of blackwater that spreads out from the designated point of origin at a rate of 5 yards per seconds until it fills the entire half-mile-radius area. The depth of the effect is equal to 4 yards. Water infused with dark energies with this spell is dark and life-draining. Vision rolls in the area based on normal vision, Infravision, or Ultravision take a -5 penalty.

Every creature that spends a full hour in the area takes 1d-1 toxic damage, ignoring unsealed DR. Once the creature loses 1/3 of its HP to this effect, it gets a -2 penalty to ST, DX, and HT until it recovers HP above this threshold. These penalties increase to -4 once the creature loses 1/2 of its HP to this effect.

Components: V, S.

Duration: 30 minutes.

This spell causes an object to radiate a sphere of darkness out to a 4-yard radius. This gives a -5 penalty to Vision rolls to see through the area with normal vision and -5 penalty to attacks against anyone in the area that rely on normal vision. Infravision is not fooled by this spell.

Normal lights (torches, candles, lanterns, and so forth) are incapable of brightening the area. If darkness is cast on a small object that is then placed inside or under a lightproof covering, the spell's effect is blocked until the covering is removed.

This spell connects the caster with a target creature in such a way that damage, healing, and other effects to one also affected the other. Whenever one party benefits from any positive supernatural effect (healing spell, temporary attribute bonus, and so on), the other is also affected. If the caster is stunned, knocked out, mind-controlled, etc., the connected creature is similarly affected. The reverse is also true. Should one of the linked creatures die, the other must make a HT roll. Success at the HT roll means they're still conscious, but they suffer the effects of a Mortal Wound (p. B423). Critical success means they suffer no ill effects.

Full Cost: 5 points.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Whip to hit.

Components: V, F.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 4 yards.

Duration: Instantaneous.

When you cast this spell, you flick a silk scarf at one creature, magically propelling it toward the target. This is a swung Reach 1-4 melee attack that uses the Whip skill and must target the neck using the normal hit location penalty. It can be blocked, dodged, and parried, but attempts to block are at -2, and attempts to parry are at -4. Fencing weapons cannot parry this attack at all, unless held in Defensive Grip. The scarf assumes an ironlike hardness on the way, and then wraps around the creature's neck, dealing 3d cutting damage. This is not treated as a grapple or entanglement, as the scarf loses its ironlike composition a moment later. If the scarf hits anything other than neck, it deals no damage.

Optionally, you may use the Crack technique (p. MA70) to increase damage.

This spell causes an object to radiate a sphere of deep darkness out to a 4-yard radius. No one can see into the affected area, and no one within the affected area can see anything; see p. B394 for combat rules. The Dark Vision advantage lets you see through a Deeper Darkness spell, but Night Vision, Infravision, and Ultravision do not.

Normal lights (torches, candles, lanterns, and so forth) are incapable of brightening the area. If darkness is cast on a small object that is then placed inside or under a lightproof covering, the spell's effect is blocked until the covering is removed.

Defenestrating Sphere

Keywords: Area (Fixed), Missile, Obvious.

Full Cost: 30 points/level.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Projectile) to hit.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 50 yards.

Duration: 10 seconds.

You launch a cloudy gray sphere of whirling air and howling wind, targeting a hex at +4. The sphere is about two feet in diameter, and each second it attacks everyone in its hex with an effective skill 14 modified only for the target's Size Modifier. This attack can be dodged but not blocked or parried (technically speaking, it can be blocked, but a blocked attack still triggers the sphere's effect, so blocking is useless). A successful hit deals 4d crushing damage per level only for the purpose of knockback – this deals no injury or blunt trauma. Knockback is directed towards the closest window that is large enough for the target to be flung into. Windows leading outdoors take priority before windows leading to other rooms. If no window is available, then the target is flung into a random direction. By taking a Concentrate maneuver, you may move the sphere at Move 5 in any direction, including vertically, and the sphere will attempt to strike anyone in its path.

Delayed Blast Fireball

Keywords: Area (Fixed), Missile, Obvious.

Full Cost: 6 points/level.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Projectile) to hit.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 2 seconds.

Range: 100 yards.

Duration: Until discharged.

You throw a tiny bead stays inert for some time, and then expands to cover a spherical area. Use Innate Attack (Projectile) to hit, applying normal range penalties, but at +4 for targeting an area.

When casting the spell, you must set a delay – from “no delay” to ten seconds. When the set time passes, the bead expands, dealing dice of burning damage equal to your level of this spell to everything in its hex. Everything else within 4 yards takes damage divided by the distance in yards from the center of the blast. The GM must determine what the maximum level available in the campaign is.

If you choose a delay, the glowing bead sits at its destination until it detonates. A creature can pick up and hurl the bead as a thrown weapon (range = ST x 2). If a creature handles and moves the bead within 5 seconds of its detonation, there is a 2-in-6 chance that the bead detonates while being handled.

Desert Binding: Sand in the Hourglass

Keywords: Resisted (Will).

Full Cost: 47 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 5 FP.

Casting Time: 10 minutes.

Range: Touch.

Duration: Permanent.

The subject assumes the form of a minute portion of sand, each grain of which looks like its head. Held in a clear glass container, usually an hourglass, the subject remains aware of its surroundings (from multiple viewpoints) and can speak (from multiple, tiny mouths), but cannot leave the hourglass, attack, or use any other abilities. The subject does not need to breathe, eat, or drink while subject to sand in the hourglass, nor does it age. Shattering the hourglass before the spell ends slays the bound creature, and its body remains sand (effectively destroyed).

This spell cannot be dispelled by Dispel Magic, but Remove Curse or Break Enchantment will lift its effects. You can also specify triggering conditions that end the spell and release the creature whenever they occur. These triggers can be as simple or elaborate as you desire, but the GM must agree that the condition is reasonable and has a likelihood of coming to pass. The conditions can be based on a creature's name or identity but otherwise must be based on observable actions or qualities. Once the spell is cast, its triggering conditions cannot be changed.

Detect Fire

Keywords: Information.

Full Cost: 48 points.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use skill for analysis.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 4 seconds.

Range: Unlimited (standard).

Duration: Instantaneous.

This spell detects heat energy. The GM rolls against the caster's skill (plus Talent), applying range penalties to the nearest normal fire, supernatural fire effect or item, and all living beings other than those with the cold subtype. Arcane spellcasters also detect sorcerers whose bloodline allow casting fire spells, while divine spellcasters detect priests of fire deities. The caster may exclude any specific heat source he wishes. Success reveals the exact location of the creature, object, or effect that emanated the aura, allowing follow-up spells to be cast on it.

If the detection roll is successful, the GM makes a second roll against the caster's skill. Talent applies here but range penalties do not. Success reveals what the heat aura is, if the caster is familiar with it, or gives a more vague description, if the caster is not familiar with it.

The spell can penetrate barriers, but 1 foot of stone, 1 inch of common metal, a thin sheet of lead, or 3 feet of wood or dirt blocks it.

Statistics: Detect (Heat Aura; Based on IQ, Own Roll, +20%; Blockable, -20%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Magical, -10%; Precise, +100%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Selective Effect, +20%; Takes Extra Time 2, -20%) [48].

You can make a follow-up Expert Skill (Incarnum) roll (plus Talent) to analyze the aura. An ordinary success tells you to which alignment and tradition (meldshaping or totemism) the effect belongs and the general description of the effect, and a critical success reveals the exact soulmeld or effect, if you are familiar with it.

The spell can penetrate barriers, but 1 foot of stone, 1 inch of common metal, a thin sheet of lead, or 3 feet of wood or dirt blocks it.

For each detected plant, you may roll a follow-up IQ roll to analyze the plant – to find out its species, condition, etc.

By casting this spell, you imbue yourself with an ability to sense supernatural observation. You perceive supernatural sensors, such as created by scrying spells, psionic clairvoyance, etc. on a Perception roll using the standard range penalties. Casting Time: 2 seconds.
Range: Unlimited (standard).

Detect Ship

Keywords: Buff, Information.
Full Cost: 37 points.
Casting Roll: Skill.
Components: V, S, F.
Cost: 2 FP.
Casting Time: 10 minutes.
Range: Self.
Duration: 1 day.

You gain the ability to discern the presence of ships around you. When this buff is active, the GM will roll against your Perception (plus Talent), minus the long-distance penalty to the ship, and inform you if you succeed. These Perception rolls are in addition to the casting roll and do not cost any FP. You need not be seeking them to become aware that they are there—this spell will alert you to the presence of a ship if you are below decks or asleep (you may set the spell to wake you up if a new ship is detected). Exactly what can be ascertained depends on whether the ships in question are within sight or not yet visible.

Not Visible: You sense only the presence of ships. A successful Perception roll allows you to determine the number, direction, and range to each new ship you sense. You cannot target a ship via this spell – you have to rely on your own senses. If you sense a ship's direction and range, you continue to be aware of this information until the long-distance penalty to the ship increases – after that, you have to make a new detection roll.

Within Sight: If a ship is actually within sight, you can gain additional information by studying the vessel for 4 seconds. You need not be able to see the vessel clearly—a spot on the horizon is sufficient. A Seamanship roll gives you information about the ship or ships:

Margin of Success	Information
0	Type of ship
1-2	Course, speed, and time to intercept (if possible)
3-4	What kind of weaponry the ship is carrying
5-6	Ship's name
7-8	Any signs of allegiance (pirate flags, symbols of nation of origin, etc.)
9+	Port of call of the sighted ship

This spell cannot penetrate illusions.

Focus: A small disk of ground glass, hung on a golden chain and worn about the neck while the spell is in effect. This focus is worth $4,000 and weighs 0.1 lb.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Self Only, -50%; Advantage, Detect Ship, +310%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Extended Duration, 1,000x, +120%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Immediate Preparation Required, 10 minutes, -45%; Magical, -10%; Requires Focus, -15%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [37]. Note: “Detect Ship” is Detect (Ships; Either/Or (Cannot Analyze, -10% or Vision-Based, -20%), -2%; Long-Range 1, +50%; Magical, -10%; Nuisance Effect, Fooled by illusions, -5%; Precise, Nontargeting, +90%; Reflexive, +40%; Selective Effect, +20%; Wakes Up, +20%) [31].

You can detect simple pits, deadfalls, and snares as well as mechanical traps constructed of natural materials. The spell does not detect complex traps, including trapdoor traps.

Detect Snares and Pits does detect certain natural hazards - quicksand (a snare), a sinkhole (a pit), or unsafe walls of natural rock (a deadfall). However, it does not reveal other potentially dangerous conditions, such as a cavern that floods during rain, an unsafe construction, or a naturally poisonous plant. The spell does not detect magic traps (except those that operate by pit, deadfall, or snaring), nor mechanically complex ones, nor those that have been rendered safe or inactive.

The GM rolls against the caster's skill (plus Talent), applying range penalties to the nearest snare or pit. The caster may exclude any specific snares or pits he wishes. Success reveals the exact location of the snare or pit, allowing follow-up spells to be cast on it.

The spell can penetrate barriers, but 1 foot of stone, 1 inch of common metal, a thin sheet of lead, or 3 feet of wood or dirt blocks it.

Maintaining this spell requires constant concentration, i.e. uninterrupted Concentrate maneuvers.

If the caster fails to cast this spell on a specific subject, he may try again, at a cumulative -2 per repeated attempt on that subject in the past hour. Should he critically fail, he cannot read that person again for 24 hours.

With a few words and a gesture, the darkness melts away, and you can see with perfect clarity. You gain the visual acuity of a devil, becoming able to see even in total darkness. Darkvision is black and white only but otherwise like normal sight.

While this spell is active, your eyes emit a dim red glow. This reduced darkness penalties when targeting your eyes or face by -2.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Self Only, -50%; Advantage, Devil's Eye, +220%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Magical, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [23]. Note: "Devil's Eye" is Dark Vision (Magical, -10%; Nuisance Effect, Glowing Eyes, -5%) [22].

Dimension Door

Keywords: None.
Full Cost: 60 points.
Casting Roll: Skill.
Components: V.
Cost: 1 FP or more, see text.
Casting Time: Special, see text.
Range: 100 yards.
Duration: Instantaneous.

You instantly transfer yourself from your current location to any other spot within range. You always arrive at exactly the spot desired by stating direction, such as "30 yards straight downward," or "upward to the northwest, 45-degree angle, 50 yards."

If your destination is up to 10 yards away, your casting roll is unpenalized. If your destination is 11-20 yards away, then your casting roll is at -1. If your destination is 21-100 yards away, then your casting roll is at -2.

The amount of time taken to cast Dimension Door affects the skill roll, as follows:

Preparation Time	IQ Modifier
None	-5
1 second	+0
2 seconds	+1
4 seconds	+2
8 seconds	+3
15 seconds	+4
30 seconds	+5
1 minute	+6
2 minutes	+7
4 minutes	+8
8 minutes	+9
15 minutes	+10
30 minutes	+11
1 hour	+12
2 hours	+13
4 hours	+14
8 hours	+15

This table is not open-ended; +15 is the maximum possible bonus.

Apply a bonus of +1 per 2 additional FP spent. You must declare this before you roll, and you lose the FP whether you succeed or fail.

On a success, you appear at your target destination. After you teleport, you are disoriented – you may take no action other than defense for one turn, unless you make a Body Sense roll. On a failure, you go nowhere. On a critical failure, you arrive at the wrong destination. This can be anywhere the GM wishes! It need not be dangerous, but it should seriously inconvenience you.

You can cast Dimension Door to evade attacks in combat. Once per turn, you may teleport to any location you can see within 10 yards, instantly. This is considered a dodge. The casting roll will be at -5 for instant use.

Statistics: Warp (Blind Only, -50%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Magical, -10%; No Strain, +25%; Range Limit, 100 yards, -40%; Reliable 5, +25%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Uncertain Encumbrance, +25%) [60].

This spell creates a shimmering emerald hemispherical dome that completely blocks interdimensional travel. No form of teleportation, plane shifting, time travel, summoning, or astral projection can be used into or from the area. This spell does not prevent summoned creatures from disappearing at the end of a summoning spell.

Statistics: Static (Dimensional Travel; Area Effect, 2 yards, +100%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Magical, -10%; Persistent, +40%; Ranged, +40%; Reduced Range, 1/2, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Takes Extra Time 1, -10%; Variable, Area, +5%; Visible, -10%) [62]. The Ranged version replaces Malediction 1, +100% with Malediction 2, +150% [+5]. Notes: "Diminish Plants" is Shrinking 1 (Variant; Magical, -10%; Minimum Size Only, +0%) [5]. This spell isn't classified as Resisted (Will), because inanimate plants have Will 0 and hence automatically fail to resist.

Dirty

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 2 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP to cast, 1 FP to maintain.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 10 yards.

Duration: Indefinite.

While you take uninterrupted Concentrate maneuvers, you soil, spot, and sully walls, floors, dishes, garments, or the like, leaving them dusty, filthy, or stained. You can dirty an object with a volume of 1 cubic foot, or 1 square foot of the surface of a larger object, each second. Thus, a hex of floor takes 8 seconds to dirty. Dirt you add remains after the effect ends, but objects you soil can be cleaned again just like anything else.

Statistics: Accessory (TK Dirt) [1] + Telekinesis 1 (Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Magical, -10%; One Task, Dirtying, -60%; Reduced Time 1, +20%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [1].

Disarm

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 9 points/level.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 100 yards.

Duration: Instantaneous.

This spell creates a telekinetic burst that may force a hand-held item to be dropped and flung away. The spell works identically both in air and underwater, and it can affect even insubstantial items, as those wielded by ghosts. The telekinetic burst is invisible and no roll to hit is required, but it can be dodged if the holder of the target item is aware of this attack. Roll 1d per level of this spell. The holder of the item must then make a ST roll modified as follows: +2 for a two-handed weapon; +2 once he knows that his item is being targeted by this spell; -1 per 2 points of basic damage that the caster rolled. On a failure, he drops his weapon or other item he is holding, and it flies 1d-1 yards away from the caster! On success by 0-2, his weapon or item becomes unready. Success by 3+ causes him no ill effects.

This spell affects only handheld items, not rings or belts or other items, unless these are physically carried in the hands (not worn). Shields strapped to the arm are unaffected, but bucklers are affected.

Statistics: Crushing Attack (Accessibility, Only on hand-held items, -15%; Affects Insubstantial, +20%; Cosmic, No die roll required, +100%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Increased 1/2D, 10x, +15%; Increased Range, 10x (Accessibility, Underwater only, -50%), +15%; Magical, -10%; No Signature, +20%; No Wounding, -50%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Underwater, +20%) [9/level]. The damage-to-disarm rule unifies rules from p. 11 of GURPS Gun Fu and p. B401.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 4 seconds.

Range: Touch.

Duration: Instantaneous.

The caster can instantly tell the race and ethnicity of the targeted individual, plus any inherited lenses possessed by the target (such as celestial or half-dragon). If the subject is a sorcerer, the caster learns his bloodline as well. Optionally, the caster may touch two subjects at once to see if they are related by blood.

Discern Location

Casting Time: 10 minutes.

Range: Unlimited (long-distance).

Duration: Instantaneous.

The caster can “home in” on anyone or anything, provided he has a piece of it (or something deeply connected to it) to attune to. Attuning requires one second, as long as the caster has anything even remotely related to that subject to focus on.

Once attuned, the caster can make a skill roll to track down the subject. This takes Long-Distance penalties (p. B241). On a success, the spell reveals the name of the creature or object’s location (place, name, business name, building name, or the like), community, county (or similar political division), country, and continent where the target lies. The spell cannot penetrate planar boundaries. You cannot target the subject with other abilities via this spell; you have to use normal senses for that.

Statistics: Slotted Cosmic Power 1 (14) (Limited, Trait, Detect, -50%; Magical, -10%; Nuisance Effect, Must have something related to subject, -5%) [27]. Note: Effectively, this spell emulates effects of the Detect (Subject; Rare) [5] advantage with Based on IQ, Own Roll, +20%; Cannot Analyze, -10%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Immediate Preparation Required, 10 minutes, -45%; Immersive, +100%; Long-Range 1, +50%; Precise, Nontargeting, +90%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10% for the total cost of 14 points. Discern Shapechanger

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Self.

Disguise Self

Keywords: Area (Leveled), Buff.

Full Cost: 22 points for level 1 + 12.5 points/additional level.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 4 seconds.

Range: Self.

Duration: 30 minutes.

You make yourself—including clothing, armor, weapons, and equipment—look different to normal vision and Infravision. You can seem 1 foot shorter or taller, thin, fat, or in between. You cannot change your body type. For example, a human caster could look human, humanoid, or like any other human-shaped bipedal creature. Otherwise, the extent of the apparent change is up to you. You could add or obscure a minor feature or look like an entirely different person.

The spell does not provide the abilities or mannerisms of the chosen form, nor does it alter the perceived tactile (touch) or audible (sound) properties of you or your equipment. An axe made to look like a dagger still functions as an axe.

You must be wholly covered by the spell’s hemispherical area of effect.

You must win a Quick Contest of IQ – or Artist (Illusion), if better – against the Per of anyone you want to fool; otherwise they notice something “off.” Do not apply range penalties to your roll. Their roll is at +4 if they have reason to be alert for illusions or +10 if you made it appear from out of nowhere. However, even if they successfully “disbelieve,” your illusion doesn’t disappear. Thus, even an obvious illusion can be useful to disguise you.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Self Only, -50%; Advantage, Disguise Self, +200%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Extended Duration, 10x, +40%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Magical, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Takes Extra Time 2, -20%) [22]. Note: “Disguise Self” is Illusion (Extended, Infravision, +10%; Independence, +40%; Magical, -10%; Only similar shapes, -30%; Visual Only, -30%) [20]. Disguise Ship

Keywords: Area (Leveled), Buff.

Full Cost (Touch): 34 points for level 1 + 12.5 points/additional level.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 4 seconds.

Range: Touch.

Duration: 90 minutes.

You cloak a ship in illusion, making it appear to normal vision as a ship of another type of your choice. You can choose what it appears as down to small details such as what weaponry it bears and what flags it is flying. You can make the ship to be any other water-going vessel, though it cannot seem to be more than 10% smaller or larger.

The ship must be wholly covered by the spell’s hemispherical area of effect.

You must win a Quick Contest of IQ – or Artist (Illusion), if better – against the Per of anyone you want to fool; otherwise they notice something “off.” Do not apply range penalties to your roll. Their roll is at +4 if they have reason to be alert for illusions or +10 if you made it appear from out of nowhere. However, even if they successfully “disbelieve,” your illusion doesn’t disappear. Disguise Undead

Keywords: Area (Leveled), Buff.

Full Cost (Touch): 32 points for level 1 + 12.5 points/additional level.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 4 seconds.

Range: Touch.

Duration: 30 minutes.

You make one undead—including clothing, armor, weapons, and equipment—look different to normal vision and Infravision. You can make it seem 1 foot shorter or taller, thin, fat, or in between. You cannot change the creature’s body type. For example, a wight could look human, humanoid, or like any other generally human-shaped bipedal creature. Otherwise, the extent of the apparent change is up to you. You could add or obscure a minor feature, such as a mole or a beard, or make it look like an entirely different creature.

The spell does not provide the abilities or mannerisms of the chosen form. It does not alter the perceived tactile (touch) or audible (sound) properties of the undead or its equipment. A battleaxe made to look like a dagger still functions as a battleaxe.

The subject must be wholly covered by the spell's hemispherical area of effect.

You must win a Quick Contest of IQ – or Artist (Illusion), if better – against the Per of anyone you want to fool; otherwise they notice something “off.” Do not apply range penalties to your roll. Their roll is at +4 if they have reason to be alert for illusions or +10 if you made it appear from out of nowhere. However, even if they successfully “disbelieve,” your illusion doesn't disappear. Disintegrate

Keywords: Missile, Obvious.

Full Cost: 36 points.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Beam) to hit.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 50 yards.

Duration: Three minutes or instantaneous.

A thin, green ray springs from your pointing finger. This beam has the potential to turn any inanimate object to dust! The object must roll against its HT+SM. If the target's HT is unknown, assume that machines have HT 10 and simple objects have HT 12, modified for quality: -2 for cheap, +1 for fine, +2 for very fine.

If the object loses by 5 or more, or fails critically, it immediately disintegrates. It cannot be repaired or recovered by any mundane means. If it fails by less, the object survives, but for the next three minutes, its HT is at -5 and its DR is reduced by 10; if it's a weapon, treat it as cheap for breakage purposes, or an extra +2 to break if already cheap.

Disintegrate must affect objects as a whole; it cannot target part of an object. The GM has the final say over what constitutes a “whole” object.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Inanimate objects only, -10%; Attribute Penalty, HT-5, +50%; Cosmic, Object disintegrates if destroyed, +50%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Increased 1/2D, 10x, +15%; Magical, -10%; Malediction 2, +150%; Negated Advantage, Reduced DR 10, +50%; Reduced Range, 1/2, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Secondary Destruction, +60%; Weaponized, -50%) [36]. Note: “Destruction” is a variant of Heart Attack appropriate for inanimate objects, which simply break rather than suffering mortal conditions.

Dispelling Touch

Keywords: Obvious, Resisted (Will or spell).

Full Cost: 13 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Touch.

Duration: Instantaneous.

Attempts to negate every instance of magic affecting the subject. Dispelling Touch does not care if the spell is beneficial or harmful; this spell attempts to counter everything. Casting Dispelling Touch on another magician will remove any Buff spells and such that he'd previously cast upon himself, but does not affect any of his more distant ongoing spells nor his spellcasting ability.

Note how much the sorcerer's skill roll succeeds by; every spell affecting the subject resists separately with a Quick Contest. Use the spell's casting skill (for skill-based traditions) or the caster's Will + Talent (for traditions without casting skills). If the caster of Dispelling Touch wins, the spell dissipates; it may be recast normally.

Dispelling Touch has no effect on instantaneous spells (which don't stick around) or on the secondary effects of lasting spells (e.g., if a mind-controlled bear has mauled people, their wounds don't go away). Also, some spells explicitly state that they are unaffected by Dispel Magic; such spells cannot be dispelled by Dispelling Touch as well – they require more powerful countermagic, usually Remove Curse (see GUPRS Thaumatology: Sorcery, p. 21). It also cannot end Truly Permanent effects, such as the magic of enchanted items.

This spell concentrates a liquid by removing water from it. This spell is mostly used to make strong alcoholic beverages, but alchemists also employ it for other purposes. Each use of the spell halves the volume of the liquid, doubling its concentration. One casting turns wine into fortified wine, two turns it into brandy, and three leaves a distillate of almost pure alcohol. Distill does not work on living subjects. The quality of the result depends on the caster’s Professional Skill (Distiller) roll and the quality of the starting liquid. Each casting transforms up to one quart of original liquid (about 2 pounds).

Created distilled liquid is unstable. It reverts back in 10 seconds unless you use character points to “stabilize” it. Each point spent stabilizes a quantity worth 10% of the campaign’s average starting wealth. Alternatively, you can use Permanency Points.

Magic swirls around you and your ally, sparkling with the intensity of secret knowledge. This spell allows two willing dragonblood creatures to trade known spells. The two creatures agree upon a spell to swap. These spells must be either wizard spells or sorcerer spells, but the spellcasting scope limitations of both participants do not matter. Wizard spells are only traded for wizard spells, and sorcerer spells are only traded for sorcerer spells. Both participants must expend a number of character points when trading spells. If a spell becomes part of an alternative abilities array and doesn't become the most expensive spell of the array, the recipient must expend a number of character points equal to the difference between the 1/5 of the full cost of the spell being exchanged and 1/5 of the full cost of the spell being received, rounded up, minimum 1. If a spell doesn't become part of an alternative abilities array or becomes the most expensive spell of the array, the recipient must expend a number of character points equal to the difference between the spells' full costs, minimum 1. In other words, the participants purchase the spells from one another paying as many character points as they would've paid to "upgrade" their spell to the spell they are receiving, minimum 1.

When a spell is traded, it is no longer in the repertoire of known spells of the trader. Each participant must pay 1 HP when they cut themselves in a blood ceremony to seal their trade.

For instance, Talarix is a silver dragon who knows Air Walk (Self) [20 / 5 = 4] and Eagle's Splendor (Touch) [23] as part of an alternative abilities array, and Ux'alan is a dragonborn wizard who only knows Calm Emotions (Ranged) [28] and Detect Thoughts (Ranged) [12 / 5 = 3] as part of an alternative abilities array. They decide to trade Air Walk (Self) [20] and Detect Thoughts (Ranged) [12]. None of them become the most expensive spells of the recipient's alternative abilities arrays, so Talarix expends 1 character point to "purchase" Detect Thoughts (Ranged) [12 / 5 = 3], and Ux'alan expends 1 character point to "purchase" Air Walk (Self) [20 / 5 = 4].

Casting Time: 10 minutes.

Range: Unlimited (long-distance).

Duration: 6 days.

This spell allows you to send out a call to the nearest sapient creature. The GM makes the casting roll in secret, because the range penalty is unknown to you. If the creature fails to resist, it must make a roll against 12 each day. If it fails, it must come to your location using the most expedient means available. The creature will not brave unnecessary harm, but it will disregard minor hazards (a snowstorm or traveling through bandit territory) to reach its destination. If the creature makes a successful roll against 12, it is free to act normally that day, but it must continue to make a new roll each day for the duration of the spell. Once the creature arrives in your location, it is in no other way bound to you, but it reacts to you at +2, has -2 to resist all Influence rolls attempted by you and on self-control rolls for disadvantages where you are concerned (for example, Impulsiveness may force it to agree to your decision hastily).

Special: Only dragons can cast this spell.

You can recall an existing object to you across space or dimensions. This must be an item possessing your Arcane Mark weighing 3 lbs. or less; it appears in your hand. Recalled items remain indefinitely, as if you had physically retrieved them.

If you fail your casting, you can try again, but repeated attempts cost 4 FP (instead of the usual 2 FP) and take a cumulative -1 to the skill roll, until you succeed or wait an hour.

Higher levels of this spell allow you to recall heavier, larger objects. However in no case can you recall an object weighting more than 2xBL; it must always be something you could hold in one hand.

Spell Level	Weight	Min. ST
1	3 lbs.	3
2	5 lbs.	4
3	7 lbs.	5
4	10 lbs.	5
5	15 lbs.	7
6	20 lbs.	8
7	30 lbs.	9
8	50 lbs.	12
9	70 lbs.	14
10	100 lbs.	16

For higher levels, look up the spell level in the “Size” column of the Size and Speed/Range Table (p. B550) and then read the corresponding “Linear Measurement” as pounds instead of yards. (Or note that every +6 levels corresponds to 10x weight.) See p. B17 to find minimum ST.

Statistics: Snatcher (Accessibility, Requires Arcane Mark, -20%; Improved, +10%; Less Weight, 3 lbs., -5%; Magical, -10%; Nuisance Effect, Cannot send objects back, -5%; Recall, -25%; Reduced Time 1, +20%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [36]. Level 2 removes Less Weight (+5%) [+4] and additional levels add More Weight (+5%) [+4]. Note: The Improved enhancement eliminates the auto-fail on 14+.

Dream

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 7 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP to cast, 1 FP to maintain.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Unlimited (long-distance).

Duration: Indefinite.

You send a phantasmal message to others in the form of a dream. At the beginning of the spell, you must name the recipient or identify him or her by some title that leaves no doubt as to identity. If the subject is not asleep, the spell fails. Then you enter a trance, appear in the intended recipient’s dream, and deliver the message. The message can be of any length, and the recipient remembers it perfectly upon waking. The communication is one-way. The recipient cannot ask questions or offer information, nor can the messenger gain any information by observing the dreams of the recipient. Once the message is delivered, the messenger’s mind returns instantly to its body.

If the caster cannot see or otherwise sense his subject, he has an additional penalty: -1 for family, lovers, or close friends; -3 for casual friends and acquaintances; or -5 for someone met only briefly.

If the subject does not wish to receive the message, he can break the spell with a successful Dreaming roll.

Creatures who don’t sleep (such as most elves) or don’t dream cannot be contacted by this spell.

Duelward

Keywords: Obvious.
Full Cost: 39 points.
Casting Roll: Skill/2 + 3.
Components: V, S.
Cost: 1 FP.
Casting Time: Free action (active defense).
Range: Self.
Duration: Instantaneous.

When this spell is active, the caster can attempt to cast this spell as an active defense, when somebody casts a spell that affects them or their personal equipment directly. Thus, Duelward does not protect against missile spells. A successful casting nullifies the effects of the spell on the caster.

The casting roll is modified by Combat Reflexes. If the caster tries to cast Duelward more than once in a turn, the casting roll takes a cumulative -4 penalty per attempt after the first. The caster rolls at -4 if stunned and cannot cast Duelward in situations where they would not get an active defense. If the casting fails, all future castings cost an additional 1 FP until the next successful casting. If the caster drops to 3 FP or less from casting Duelward, he cannot cast this spell until all FP are replenished. This spell does not count as an active defense for the purpose of cumulative defense penalties.

Statistics: Static (Magic; Active Defense, -40%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Magical, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Switchable, +100%) [38] + Rules Exemption (Magical abilities can coexist with anti-magical Static) [1]. Note: Active Defense being IQ-based is a special feature.

Range: Unlimited (-1/yard) - Unlimited (standard).

Duration: 3 minutes.

You hamper the subject creature's ability to fly (whether through natural or supernatural means) for the duration of the spell. If the target fails to resist, it loses its Flight advantage. An airborne creature subjected to this spell falls to the ground. Even if a new effect would grant the creature the ability to fly, that effect is suppressed for the duration of the Earthbind spell.

Earthbind has no effect on forms of aerial movement that do not use the Flight advantage, such as Walk on Air, Telekinesis, and Super Jump.

Earthbolt

Keywords: Cone, Obvious.

Full Cost: 4 points/level.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Beam) to hit.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 10 yards.

Duration: Instantaneous.

With a shout, you strike the ground at your feet and create a bolt of seismic force that causes earth, rock, and sand to fly into the air. This spell deals 1d crushing damage per level as large-area injury to anyone standing along its path. Earthbolt strikes from below, bypassing cover. This attack has 1/2D range of 5 yards.

This is a 1-yard-wide cone attack that uses the rules for Cone Attacks (p. B413). On the battle map, it is a 1x10 row of hexes. This cone is too tight to affect many targets, but gets better chances to hit. The caster targets a hex right in front of him, at +4, and the cone extends out from there. It is possible to make the cone wider by using the All-Out Attack (Cone) maneuver (GURPS Dungeon Fantasy Monsters 4: Dragons, p. 10).

This spell functions only if you are standing on dirt, clay, sand, or stone (including stone floors), not on wooden floors or other surfaces.

Statistics: Crushing Attack 1d (Cone 1, +60%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Environmental, Rocky Floor, -40%; Increased 1/2D, 5x, +10%; Magical, -10%; Overhead, +30%; Reduced Range, 1/10, -30%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [4/level].

Earthen Grasp

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 8 points.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 20 yards.

Duration: Instantaneous.

You bring forth from the ground an arm made of dense, compacted earth or soil that can grapple your foes. Since the arm rises from the ground, it bypasses cover. You can cause the arm to rise out of only earth, mud, or sand, and the spell fails if you attempt to cast it in an area with the wrong materials (including stone). If the victim fails to dodge the arm, he becomes grappled with ST 12 and rooted in place. He cannot select the Move or Change Posture maneuvers or change facing, and is at -4 to DX.

To break free, the victim must win a Quick Contest of ST or Escape skill against the ST of the Earthen Grasp. Each attempt takes one second. If the victim fails to break free, he loses 1 FP but may try again. Alternatively, he may try to destroy the Earthen Grasp. Innate Attacks hit automatically; other attacks are at -4. External attacks on the Earthen Grasp take no penalty, but risk hitting the victim on a miss (see Striking Into a Close Combat, p. B392). The Earthen Grasp has DR 4. Each point of damage reduces ST by one. At ST 0, the Earthen Grasp is destroyed and the victims are freed.

Victims also can roll thrust damage once per turn against the Earthen Grasp as a free action. If this destroys the binding, they may ignore its impediment at once. If it doesn't, they're affected normally but may still use their turn for a standard attempt to break free, and the binding is not damaged by this free "attack."

Statistics: Binding 12 (Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Environmental, Earthen surfaces, -20%; Magical, -10%; One-Shot, -10%; Overhead, +30%; Reduced Range, 1/5, -20%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [8].

Ectoplasmic Decay

Keywords: Area (Fixed), Obvious.

Full Cost: 5 points/level.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 2 seconds.

Range: 100 yards.

Duration: Instantaneous.

You create a barely visible (Per-4 to notice) spread of energy that is harmful to ectoplasm but harmless to everything else. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim, applying normal range penalties, but at +4 for targeting an area. Every ectoplasmic creature or object, including insubstantial ones, within four yards of that spot takes dice of non-incendiary burning damage equal to your level of this spell. The GM must determine what the maximum level available in the campaign is.

Ectoplasmic Web

Keywords: Area (Fixed).

Full Cost: 48 points.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 2 seconds.

Range: 20 yards.
Duration: 5 minutes.

Ectoplasmic Web creates a many-layered mass of strong, sticky ectoplasmic strands. These strands trap those caught in them. The strands are similar to spider webs but far larger and tougher. These masses must be anchored to two or more solid and diametrically opposed points—floor and ceiling, opposite walls, or the like—or else the web collapses upon itself and disappears. The web is a plane that can otherwise be oriented in any way, but has length of 6 yards, width of 1 yard, and height of 4 yards. Anyone covered by the web, including insubstantial creatures, is grappled with ST 10 and rooted in place. They cannot select the Move or Change Posture maneuvers or change facing, and are at -4 to DX. Each additional Web cast over the area increases the ST by 1.

Anyone who touches a victim grappled by the Ectoplasmic Web sticks to him, becoming grappled as well!

To break free, the victim must win a Quick Contest of ST or Escape skill against the ST of the Ectoplasmic Web. Each attempt takes one second. If the victim fails to break free, he loses 1 FP but may try again. Alternatively, he may try to destroy the Ectoplasmic Web. Innate Attacks hit automatically; other attacks are at -4. External attacks on the Ectoplasmic Web take no penalty, but risk hitting the victim on a miss (see Striking Into a Close Combat, p. B392). The Web has DR 3. Each point of damage reduces ST by one. At ST 0, the Ectoplasmic Web is destroyed and the victims are freed. The Ectoplasmic Web can only be damaged by cutting and burning attacks.

Victims also can roll thrust damage once per turn against the Ectoplasmic Web as a free action. If this destroys the binding, they may ignore its impediment at once. If it doesn't, they're affected normally but may still use their turn for a standard attempt to break free, and the binding is not damaged by this free "attack."

Elemental Ward

Keywords: Area (Fixed), Resisted (Will).

Full Cost: 38 points.

Casting Roll: Skill, see text.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP to cast, 1 FP to maintain.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Self.

Duration: Indefinite.

You bring into being a mobile, 8-yard-radius, spherical energy field that prevents the entrance of elementals of a specific type chosen during the casting. Whenever an elemental of the chosen type enters the area, it must resist with a Quick Contest of Will versus your skill. If you win, then the elemental must immediately leave the area. It becomes unable to reenter it for margin of victory seconds. If you lose, the elemental may stay within the area for its margin of victory seconds, after which it must roll to resist again.

This spell may be used only defensively, not aggressively. If you move in a way that forces an elemental to be in the area of this spell, then the elemental does not have to resist until it leaves the area and reenters it again.

This spell belongs to all elemental colleges, but the skill used depends on the chosen elemental type. An elemental College can be used to drive off elementals of its own element and those of the opposing element. Thus, when this spell is cast with College of Air, it can be used against air or earth elementals.

Emerald Flame Fist

Full Cost: 3 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP, see text.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Self.

Duration: 9 seconds, see text.

One of your hands bursts into an aura of brilliant emerald flame, shedding light equal to that of a torch. You take no damage or penalties from the flames, but you may touch a target to set it aflame. The touched target (be it inanimate object or living creature) is engulfed in fire, taking 1d-1 burning damage every second for five seconds. The flame can be doused as normal fire (p. B434). Your flaming hand goes out regardless of the success of your attempt to touch the target – you only get one try per casting.

This spell does not function underwater. This spell requires an open hand; if you pick something up or grab something, it stops functioning.

You put a single subject into a magically induced slumber that lasts indefinitely. The subject does not need to eat or drink during this time. Normal stimuli, such as shouting or prodding, are insufficient to wake the subject, but any injury dealt to the subject causes him to rouse immediately. Upon waking up, the subject is stunned (p. Energy Drain

Keywords: None.
Full Cost: 14 points.
Casting Roll: Skill.
Components: V.
Cost: 1 FP.
Casting Time: 1 second.
Range: Touch.
Duration: Instantaneous.

You can steal FP from a living victim to replenish your own. This requires ongoing physical contact with the target. In combat, this means having the victim grappled. Out of combat, you can cast this spell on a helpless or restrained victim. On every successful casting (an Attack maneuver), he loses 2

FP and you recover 2 FP (taking into account the casting cost, you effectively gain 1 FP on a successful casting). You can't raise your FP above normal, but you can continue the drain without reinvigorating yourself.

Statistics: Leech 2 (Accelerated Healing, +25%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Magical, -10%; Only Heals FP, -20%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Steal FP, -25%) [14].

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Beam) to hit.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 50 yards.

Duration: Three minutes.

You point your finger and utter the incantation, releasing a black ray of crackling negative energy that suppresses the life force of any living creature it strikes. The target must roll against its HT to resist. If it fails to resist, it suffers temporary ST, DX, and HT loss equal to its margin of failure (maximum -10). Lower all skills based on these attributes by a like amount. ST penalties also reduce BL and damage. HP is not otherwise affected. FP and Basic Speed are not affected.

Enhance Familiar

Full Cost (Short-Range): 28 points.

Full Cost (Ranged): 33 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 4 seconds.

Range: Self – Touch.

Duration: 90 minutes or until discharged.

This spell imbued your familiar with supernatural luck; it cannot affect anyone else. Once during the spell's duration, your familiar may reroll a single bad die roll twice and take the best of the three rolls! It must declare that it is using its Enhance Familiar immediately after it rolls the dice. Once it or anyone else has made another die roll, it is too late to use this effect. If the GM is rolling in secret (e.g., to see if the familiar notices something), the familiar may tell him it is using its Enhance Familiar ahead of time, and he must roll three times and give the familiar the best result. This does not require an action and can be done even when it's not the familiar's turn.

Enhance Familiar is a Luck effect – a subject cannot use such effects more than once per game day regardless of the source of the effect.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Familiar Only, -80%; Accessibility, Only nonvolitional or non-resisting subjects, -20%; Advantage, Enhance Familiar, +140%; Based on IQ, Own Roll, +20%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Extended Duration, 30x, +60%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Magical, -10%; Malediction 1, +100%; Melee Attack, Reach C, -30%; No Signature, +20%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Takes Extra Time 2, -20%) [25]. Note: "Enhance Familiar" is Luck (Game Time, +0%; Magical, -10%) [14]. Full Cost (Ranged): 40 points + ST to support the new size; see text.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Self – Touch – Unlimited (-1/yard) – Unlimited (standard).

Duration: 3 minutes.

The caster increases the Size Modifier of the subject by 2, but not his equipment. Find the subject's final height from the Size Modifier Table (p. B19). Increases in SM affect the subject's arm and leg length when calculating reach and determining whether he can negotiate obstacles; see Size Modifier and Reach (p. B402). This spell can only affect substantial creatures made of flesh, so it has no effect on machines, skeletons, golems, elementals, or ghosts.

If the caster attempts to enlarge the subject in a room, vehicle, container, etc. that isn't large enough to hold him, his growth normally stops. However, if maximum thrust damage for the subject's current ST is greater than the wall or ceiling's DR, he bursts through it. This takes one second per point of DR.

The caster must buy the ST necessary to support the subject's enlarged form and add it to the Advantage enhancement. This is 5 x final height in yards. This ST is only available when the subject grows, and the caster must buy it with the Size limitation (see Strength, p. B14) and Magical, -10%. Use the subject's increased SM to determine the limitation value. Note that if this additional ST is not enough to support the enlarged form of the subject, the spell fails!

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Self Only, -50%; Advantage, Enlarge, +180%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Magical, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [18]. Note: "Enlarge" is Growth 2 (Magical, -10%; Maximum Size Only, +0%) [18]. Plants in the area grow more fast and strong: Crops produce twice the usual yield, vegetation grows twice as tall, and any mundane HT rolls made by the plants are at +2. This spell affects only inanimate plants; mobile or sentient ones are immune. If cast on plants affected by Blight, this spell returns them to their normal state.

Enrichment lasts for 6 months. Once the plants die or are harvested, the plants lose this effect.

Entangle

Keywords: Area (Fixed).

Full Cost: 50 points.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 2 seconds.

Range: 100 yards.

Duration: 30 seconds.

Grasses, weeds, bushes, and even trees wrap, twist, and entwine about creatures in a 4-yard-high cylindrical area or those that enter the area, holding them fast and causing them to become entangled. Each second, each creature in the area is attacked with an effective skill of 12, modified only for their size. This entangling attack can only be dodged. Anyone entangled by the vegetation is grappled with ST that depends on the vegetation density and rooted in place. They cannot select the Move or Change Posture maneuvers or change facing, and are at -4 to DX.

Effective ST of Entangle depends on the local vegetation density level (GURPS Tactical Shooting: Extreme Conditions, p. 19). Sparse vegetation has ST 3, normal vegetation has ST 5, thick vegetation has ST 7, dense vegetation has ST 9, and impenetrable vegetation has ST 12.

To break free, the victim must win a Quick Contest of ST or Escape skill against the ST of Entangle. Each attempt takes one second. If the victim fails to break free, he loses 1 FP but may try again. Alternatively, he may try to destroy the entangling vegetation. Innate Attacks hit automatically; other attacks are at -4. External attacks on the plant bindings take no penalty, but risk hitting the victim on a miss (see Striking Into a Close Combat, p. B392). Tangles have DR 2. Each point of damage reduces ST by one. At ST 0, the binds are destroyed and the victims are freed.

Victims also can roll thrust damage once per turn against Entangle as a free action. If this destroys the binding, they may ignore its impediment at once. If it doesn't, they're affected normally but may still use their turn for a standard attempt to break free, and the binding is not damaged by this free “attack.”

This spell also works underwater in areas with seaweed.

Statistics: Binding 12 (Area Effect, 8 yards, +150%; Bombardment, Skill 12, -10%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Environmental, Ordinary vegetation, -60%; Extended Duration, 3x, +20%; Increased Range, 10x (Accessibility, Underwater only, -50%), +15%; Magical, -10%; One-Shot, -10%; Pact, -10%; Persistent, +40%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Takes Extra Time 1, -10%; Underwater, +20%) [50].

Entangling Scarf

Keywords: Obvious.

Full Cost: 24 points.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Whip to hit.

Components: V, F.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 4 yards.

Duration: Instantaneous.

When you cast this spell, you flick a silk scarf at one creature, magically propelling it toward the target. This is a swung Reach 1-4 melee attack that uses the Whip skill. It can be blocked, dodged, and parried, but attempts to block are at -2, and attempts to parry are at -4. Fencing weapons cannot parry this attack at all, unless held in Defensive Grip. If the scarf is parried, you may attempt to disarm the opponent as if you were wielding a kusari (p. B406).

The scarf assumes an ironlike hardness on the way, and then wraps around the target. On a hit, the victim is grappled (see p. B370) with ST 12 and rooted in place. He cannot select the Move or Change Posture maneuvers or change facing, and is at -4 to DX. To break free, the victim must win a Quick Contest of ST or Escape skill against ST 12. Each attempt takes one second. If the victim fails to break free, he loses 1 FP but may try again. Alternatively, he may try to destroy the scarf. Innate Attacks hit automatically; other attacks are at -4. External attacks on the scarf take no penalty, but risk hitting the victim on a miss (see Striking Into a Close Combat, p. B392). The scarf has DR 4. Each point of damage reduces ST by one. At ST 0, the scarf is destroyed and the victim is freed.

The scarf does not grapple the victim passively – you have to take continuous Ready maneuvers to keep it taut. If you do not take a Ready maneuver, the victim may throw the scarf off with a DX roll. You may release the scarf as a free action on your turn, but this immediately ends the effect. Alternatively, you may pull the victim with the scarf. Treat this as shove (p. B372) without a roll to hit. Knockback from such shove is directed toward you, not the other way around.

If you hit the neck, use the same rules, but your victim is at -5 in the Contest. If the victim fails to break free, the scarf cuts off the victim's breathing – see Suffocation (p. B436). If you hit the foot, the target must make a DX roll to remain standing (this is instead of the Contest above). He rolls at -4 if he was running. If he falls, he takes 1d-4 damage – or 1d-2 if he was running. On subsequent turns, use the rules above to keep him grappled.

Focus: A silk scarf.

Statistics: Binding 12 (Blockable, -5%; Can be parried, -5%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Magical, -10%; Melee Attack, Reach 1-4, Cannot Parry, -20%; Nuisance Effect, Ends as soon as you release it, -5%; One-Shot, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Requires Ready, -10%; Requires Silk Scarf, -10%; Retractable, +100%) [24].

If you have the attention of a group of sapient creatures that share a language with you, you can use this spell to hold them spellbound. To cast the spell, you must speak or sing without interruption for the entire casting time. Thereafter, those affected give you their undivided attention, ignoring their surroundings. The caster may omit any creatures from the effect. The area of effect is hemispherical in shape.

The effect lasts as long as you speak or sing. Those enthralled by your words take no action while you speak or sing and for 9 more seconds thereafter while they discuss the topic or performance. Those entering the area during the performance must also successfully resist or become enthralled.

If any member of the audience is attacked or subjected to some other overtly hostile act, the spell ends.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Touch – Unlimited (-1/yard) - Unlimited (standard).

Duration: 3 seconds.

You enchant a sapient creature so that it feels suddenly compelled to give you what it is holding when you cast this spell. When the spell is in effect, the creature moves as close to you as it can get and offers you the object with a Ready maneuver. If you want to accept the object, you must do so on your own turn. Rules for passing and accepting objects are found on p. B382. The subject defends itself normally. If the subject is prevented from doing as the spell compels, the spell is wasted. For example, if the subject is paralyzed and cannot move or drop the item, nothing happens. If you accept the object before the duration of this spell expires, the spell ends – the subject doesn't feel compelled to give you another object.

If you lose your initial casting roll, you cannot attempt to control that subject again for 24 hours, and he feels a sense of mental coercion emanating from you.

Statistics: Mind Control (Accessibility, Only on sapient beings, -10%; Accessibility, Only to give whatever it is holding, -30%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Independent, +70%; Magical, -10%; Melee Attack, Reach C, -30%; Reduced Duration, 1/60, -35%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [15]. Keywords: Obvious.

Full Cost: 42 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Touch.

Duration: Permanent, until destroyed, or until the victim breaks free.

You trap a creature in a block of ice, suffocating it. If the victim is hit, he is pinned (see p. B370). He cannot move his limbs, speak, or breathe; his only options are to use purely mental abilities, to attack the ice block with an Innate Attack, or to try to break free using ST. If he runs out of breath before he breaks free (see Holding Your Breath, p. B351), he starts to suffocate; see Suffocation (p. B436). The ST of this effect is equal 15, but you can layer additional attacks on a successfully bound victim. Each extra layer gives +1 to ST.

To break free, the victim must win a Quick Contest of ST against the ST of this spell. Each attempt takes one second. If he tries to break free and fails, he loses 1 FP and is only allowed a repeated attempt every 10 seconds. Treat FP lost to failed attempts to break free as freezing (see Cold, p. B430). Alternatively, he may try to destroy the ice bonds with an Innate Attack (they hit automatically). External attacks on the ice bonds take no penalty, but risk hitting the victim on a miss (see Striking Into a Close Combat, p. B392).

Victims also can roll thrust damage once every 10 seconds against Entomb as a free action. If this destroys the block, they may ignore its impediment at once. If it doesn't, they're affected normally but may still use their turn for a standard attempt to break free, and the block is not damaged by this free "attack."

The ice block has DR 5. Each point of damage reduces ST by one. At ST 0, the ice block is destroyed and the victim is freed. If the temperature is above freezing, the ice block melts naturally, losing 1 point of ST every 10 minutes.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 4 seconds.

Range: 10 yards.

Erase removes writings of either magical or mundane nature from a scroll or from one or two pages of paper, parchment, or similar surfaces. With this spell, you can remove Explosive Runes, a Glyph of Warding, a Sepia Snake Sigil, an Arcane Mark, and similar script-based spells. Nonmagical writing is erased if you succeed on your casting roll. Magic writing is only erased if you win in a Quick Contest of skill against the writing's caster's skill (or Will, if it is created via an ability that is not based on a skill).

When you cast essentia lock, you freeze the subject's current allocation of essentia in place. The target becomes unable to use any incarnum abilities or pay HP or ER (Incarnum) costs to cast spells with the Incarnum keyword. This does not dispel ongoing incarnum effects.

Statistics: Neutralize Incarnum (Based on HT, +20%; Based on IQ, Own Roll, +20%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Magical, -10%; Nuisance Effect, Does not dispel ongoing effects, -20%; Reduced Duration, 1/10, -20%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [30]. Ethereal Alarm

Keywords: Area (Leveled).

Full Cost: 54 points for level 1 + 7.5 points/additional level*.

Casting Roll: Skill. Per to notice threats.

Components: V, S.
Cost: 2 FP.
Casting Time: 10 minutes.
Range: 10 yards.
Duration: Eight hours.

Ethereal Alarm sounds a mental or audible alarm each time an ethereal creature of SM-3 or larger or any ethereal creature with a hostile intent enters the warded area or touches it. The area is hemispherical in shape. A creature that speaks the password (determined by you at the time of casting) does not set off the alarm. You decide at the time of casting whether the alarm will be mental or audible.

Mental Alarm: A mental alarm alerts you (and only you) so long as you remain within 1 mile of the warded area, but you have to succeed on an unpenalized Perception (plus Talent) roll. You note a single mental “ping” that awakens you from normal sleep but does not otherwise disturb concentration. You wake up without being stunned. A Silence spell has no effect on a mental alarm.

Audible Alarm: An audible alarm produces the sound of a hand bell that lasts for 5 seconds. The base hearing distance is 16 yards. Creatures within a Silence spell cannot hear the ringing.

Statistics: Danger Sense (Area Effect, 2 yards, +50%; Can be audible, +20%; Can extend to non-hostile intent, +30%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Extended Duration, 3,000x, +140%; Immediate Preparation Required, 10 minutes, -45%; Magical, -10%; Nuisance Effect, Range limit, -5%; Persistent, +40%; Plane-Spanning, Ethereal Only, +40%; Ranged, +40%; Reduced Range, 1/10, -30%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Selective Effect, +20%; Variable, Area, +5%; Wakes the caster instantly, +5%) [54]. Etherealness

Range: Self.
Duration: Instantaneous.

The spell allows you to transport yourself from the Material Plane to the Ethereal Plane or the other way around. If your casting roll is successful, you will shift to the intended plane, appearing same physical location as where you left your previous plane. However, if you fail, you will not be transported anywhere. In the case of a critical failure, you will end up in an unintended location chosen by the GM (possibly the dangerous Deep Ethereal).

If you are carrying equipment heavier than your Basic Lift, then you make your casting roll at a penalty equal to twice your Encumbrance level. On a failed roll, you leave excess cargo behind; on a critical failure, you lose 1 point of IQ for each Encumbrance level you attempted as you “burned out” that part of your brain temporarily. This temporarily lost IQ recovers after you sleep.

Optionally, you may overload this spell to transport other willing beings in physical contact with you. Your casting roll will be at -5 per additional target, and your casting will cost an additional 2 FP. You can offset this penalty (but never get a net bonus) by voluntarily spending additional FP; each FP cancels -1 in penalties. If you roll a critical success, you recover all FP spent on this casting. A critical failure strains your spellcasting ability; the spell automatically fails, you lose 1d FP, and all your magical powers shut down for 1d seconds. You may buy off this penalty as a Hard technique.

Statistics: Jumper (World; Accessibility, Only on the Ethereal and Material Planes, -5%; Improved, +10%; Limited Access, Ethereal, -20%; Magical, -10%; Nuisance Effect, Cannot hurry the jump, -5%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Uncertain Encumbrance, +25%) [75].

Evard's Black Tentacles

Keywords: Area (Fixed).

Full Cost: 61 points.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 2 seconds.

Range: 50 yards.

Duration: 10 seconds.

You conjure a field of black rubbery tentacles that try to grab and constrict everyone in a 4-yard-radius 4-yard-high cylindrical area. These tentacles are 10 feet long each, and they are anchored to any surface, be it solid or liquid. Each turn, the tentacles try to grab every creature in the area with an effective skill level of 12. On a hit, the victim is grappled (see p. B370) with ST 14 and rooted in place. He cannot select the Move or Change Posture maneuvers or change facing, and is at -4 to DX. The Black Tentacles actively constrict the victim. Until he breaks free, the Black Tentacles attack him each turn with a Constriction Attack (p. B43), at ST 14.

The effect lasts for 10 seconds, continuing to grab new people who blunder into it. To break free, the victim must win a Quick Contest of ST or Escape skill against the ST 14. Each attempt takes one second. If the victim fails to break free, he loses 1 FP but may try again. Alternatively, he may try to destroy the tentacles. Innate Attacks hit automatically; other attacks are at -4. External attacks on the Black Tentacles take no penalty, but risk hitting the victim on a miss (see Striking Into a Close Combat, p. B392). The Black Tentacles have DR 4. Each point of damage reduces ST by one. At ST 0, the Black Tentacles are destroyed and the victim is freed.

You imbue plants in the area with supernatural heat. This spell affects both inanimate plants and mobile or sentient ones. The affected plants gain DR 5 against cold and have the lower limit of their temperature comfort zone extended for extra 3 x HT degrees.

Enrichment lasts for 6 months. Once the plants die or are harvested, the plants lose this effect.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 minute.

Range: Touch.

Duration: Permanent or until discharged.

You touch a surface, casting magical runes into being. When read by anyone you did not specify during casting, the runes explode. Everyone within one yard of the runes takes dice of crushing damage equal to your level of this spell. Everyone further away but within 4 yards takes damage divided by the distance from the center of the blast. This force damages insubstantial beings as well as substantial ones. The GM must determine what the maximum level available in the campaign is.

Another creature can remove them with a successful Dispel Magic or Erase spell, but attempting to dispel or erase the runes and failing to do so triggers the explosion.

A caster can have no more than 1 + Talent instances of Explosive Runes active at the same time.

Statistics: Crushing Attack (Affects Insubstantial, +20%; Area Effect, 4 yards. Spherical, +115%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Dissipation, -50%; Environmental, Surface, -5%; Immediate Preparation Required, 1 minute, -30%; Magical, -10%; Melee Attack, Reach C, Cannot Parry, -35%; Triggered Delay,

You convert material of one sort into a product that is of the same material. Thus, you can fabricate a wooden bridge from a clump of tress, a rope from a patch of hemp, clothes from flax or wool, and so forth. Creatures cannot be created or transmuted by the Fabricate spell. You can affect up to 10 x (level squared) lbs. of matter in the form of a single object or amorphous mass.

Forming a simple shape (blob, column, sphere, etc.) requires no die roll. If the result is meant to be beautiful or functional, though, the GM may deem the effort a long task (see p. B346) and require skill rolls against Armoury, Artist, Machinist, and so on. You can work without tools, but you must know what you're doing.

Statistics: Control Solids (Accessibility, Only to fabricate, -30%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Immediate Preparation Required, 1 minute, -30%; Magical, -10%; Ranged, +40%; Reduced Range, 1/10, -30%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [8/level].

False Peacebond

Keywords: Weapon Buff.
Full Cost: 35 points.
Casting Roll: Skill.
Components: V, S.
Cost: 1 FP.
Casting Time: 1 minute.
Range: Touch.
Duration: 5 hours.

The caster must touch a manufactured weapon in its sheath, holder, quiver, or whatever object is used to hold it when not in use. This spell makes the weapon stuck in its holder. No amount of physical effort can draw it forth before the spell expires or is dispelled. The precise nature of the holder doesn't matter; it can be an ornate sheath, or simply a belt through which the weapon has been stuck.

If the bearer of the targeted weapon is attacked, he is immediately entitled to a Will roll to overcome the effect and draw the weapon. The bearer can repeat this save in every second that the assault continues.

The caster can choose a single individual who can draw the weapon freely. This individual might be himself, or anyone else present at the time of casting. Once this individual draws the weapon, the false peacebond effect ends; resheathing the weapon does not reactivate the spell.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Only on sheathed weapons, -30%; Based on IQ, Own Roll, +20%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Extended Duration, 100x, +80%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Immediate Preparation Required, 1 minute, -30%; Magical, -10%; Malediction 1, +100%, Melee Attack, Reach C, -30%; No Signature, +20%; Nuisance Effect, Only a single individual can draw the weapon, -5%; Paralysis, Variant, +150%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Selective Effect, +20%; Terminal Condition, Being attacked, -5%; Terminal Condition, Drawing the weapon, -5%) [35].

False Vision

Keywords: Area (Leveled).
Full Cost: 50 points for level 1 + 12.5 points/additional level.
Casting Roll: Skill. Use skill or Artist (Illusion) to determine how convincing it is.
Components: V, S.
Cost: 2 FP.
Casting Time: 1 second.
Range: Self.
Duration: 8 hours.

Any divination or scrying spell or a similar remote viewing ability used to view anything within the hemispherical area of this spell instead receives a false image. The image appears around the caster, but it stays in place even if the caster moves out of it. This false image can fool vision, Infravision, Ultravision, and hearing. You must win a Quick Contest of skill – or Artist (Illusion), if better – against the Per of anyone you want to fool; otherwise they notice something "off." Do not apply range penalties to this roll. Their roll is at +4 if they have reason to be alert for illusions or +10 if you made it appear from out of nowhere. However, even if they successfully “disbelieve,” your illusion doesn’t disappear. Thus, even an obvious illusion can be useful to block line of sight.

While you do not have to actively concentrate to maintain the illusion, but by taking a Concentrate maneuver, you can change the illusion, make it behave “intelligently,” or move it within the area of effect.

Statistics: Illusion (Accessibility, Only when viewed with remote viewing, -50%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Extended, Infravision, Ultravision, +20%; Extended Duration on Persistent, 3,000x, +140%; Magical, -10%; Persistent, +40%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [50]. Familiar Pocket

Keywords: Buff.

Full Cost: 30 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 2 seconds.

Range: Touch.

Duration: 5 hours.

When you cast this spell, a garment or container becomes a safe haven for a SM-5 or smaller familiar. The spell turns the target item or pocket into a comfortable extradimensional space (about 1 cubic foot). The familiar can fit inside the space without creating any noticeable bulge in the item. Whenever the familiar is touching you, you can whisk it inside the space as a Ready maneuver by speaking a command word chosen by you when the spell is cast. If the familiar can speak, it can command itself inside. As a Ready maneuver, you can call the familiar forth or it can leave the space on its own.

The familiar inside the extradimensional pocket does not count as encumbrance or carried weight. You or the familiar can further seal the space to make it airtight and waterproof. The air supply inside the sealed space lasts for 1 hour, but with the pocket unsealed, the familiar can remain inside indefinitely.

The spell ends if the familiar pocket is placed within or taken into another extradimensional space (such as a portable hole). If your familiar is within the pocket when the spell duration expires or if the spell ends abnormally (as above), it appears in your hex unharmed.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Only containers or pockets, -50%; Advantage, Familiar Pocket, +110%; Based on IQ, Own Roll, +20%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Extended Duration, 100x, +80%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Magical, -10%; Malediction 1, +100%; Melee Attack, Reach C, -30%; No Signature, +20%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Takes Extra Time 1, -10%) [30]. Note: “Familiar Pocket” is Payload 10 (Static; Accessibility, Only familiar, -80%; Cosmic, Extradimensional, +50%; Cosmic, Summonable, +50%; Magical, -10%; Nuisance Effect, Incompatible with other extradimensional spaces, -5%) [11].

You can smell something that you see with your unaided eyes, receiving no range penalties. You can do so even through solid objects totaling no more than 6" of thickness per spell level. Favorable Wind

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 44 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP to cast, 1 FP per 10 minutes to maintain.

Casting Time: 4 seconds.

Range: 20 yards.

Duration: Indefinite.

This spell produces a stream of wind that can fill a ship's sails and disperse vapors and gases. The wind force is equivalent to a light breeze (Beaufort Degree 2), with a speed of about 5 mph. It begins where you stand and blows directly away from you as a line of 20 hexes; you can easily propel a sailing vessel by standing astern of the mast and directing the wind forward to fill the sails by taking a Concentrate maneuver every second. The wind's speed is not high enough to have any effect on creatures that are heavier than air.

The wind automatically extinguishes candles, torches, and similar unprotected flames.

In addition to the above-noted effects, Favorable Wind can do anything that a natural wind could do. It can fan a large fire, disperse gases and vapors to the limit of its range in 4 seconds, produce waves up to 1 foot high, and make sailing difficult for small craft nearby.

Statistics: Control Air 3 (Accessibility, Only to create a 20-yard line of wind from the caster, -40%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Extended Duration, 10x, +40%; Magical, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Takes Extra Time 2, -20%) [24] + Control Air 5 (Accessibility, Only to create a 20-yard line of wind from the caster, -40%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Does not increase area of effect,

Fear

Keywords: Cone.

Full Cost: 36 points for level 1 + 12 points/additional level.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Beam) to hit.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 10 yards.

Duration: Instantaneous.

An invisible cone of terror causes each sapient creature hit to roll a Fright Check (p. B360). Each victim gets +1 per Fright Check after the first within 24 hours. Regardless of the result, he becomes immune to this caster's Fear for one hour. Each additional level of this spell imposes -1 to the Fright Check. For example, with Fear 4, the subjects must make Fright Checks at -3.

This is a 5-yard-wide cone attack that uses the rules for Cone Attacks (p. B413). The caster targets a hex right in front of him, at +4, and the cone extends out from there. It is possible to make the cone wider by using the All-Out Attack (Cone) maneuver (GURPS Dungeon Fantasy Monsters 4: Dragons, p. 10).

Statistics: Terror (Accessibility, Sapient creatures only, -10%; Active, +0%; Cone 5, +100%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Magical, -10%; Presence, +25%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Weaponized, -50%) [36]. Additional levels add -1 to the Fright Check [+12].

Feather Fall

Keywords: Buff, Reflexive.

Full Cost (Self): 12 points.

Full Cost (Touch): 27 points.

Full Cost (Short-Range): 30 points.

Full Cost (Ranged): 35 points.

Casting Roll: Skill (at -4 when used reflexively).

Components: V.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second (or free action when used reflexively).

Range: Self – Touch – Unlimited (-1/yard) – Unlimited (standard)

Duration: 1 minute or until the subject touches the ground.

The subject becomes very light, floating through the air like a feather. A wind moves the subject 1 yard/second, in the direction it is blowing, per 5 mph of wind speed. The subject descends at Move 1, and can seek favorable winds by doing so on a successful IQ or Meteorology roll (one attempt per minute), but cannot otherwise change his horizontal speed. If the subject touches the ground, the spell immediately ends, so it cannot be used to drop safely from two ledges.

This is a defensive spell to save the subject from falling. As such, it can be cast as a free action even when it's not the caster's turn, but no more than once per turn. If this spell is part of an alternative ability array, then it must be in an active slot to be used reflexively. When used this way, the casting roll is at -4.

Duration: 12 hours or less; see text.

You put a creature into a deathlike condition. At your option, this can be a cataleptic state that is impossible to distinguish from death, or the subject can appear to be in a coma or deep sleep. In this state, the subject does not need to eat, drink, or breathe, and effects of poison and disease stop, resuming when the state ends. Although able to smell, hear, and know what is going on, the subject is blind and has no sense of touch or pain. Anyone unfamiliar with this spell must win a Quick Contest of Diagnosis vs. the subject's HT+10 to discover that he's not dead or in a coma. The subject may end this condition with a Will roll; otherwise, he wakes up automatically after 12 hours pass.

Fetch

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 8 points.

Full Cost (Lesser): 3 points.

Full Cost (Greater): 24 points.

Casting Roll: Skill, rolled as a Quick Contest against the summoned being's Will.

Components: V, S.
Cost: 2 FP + 1 character point or more; see text.
Casting Time: 10 minutes.
Casting Time (Lesser): 10 minutes.
Casting Time (Greater): 1 hour.
Range: 10 yards.
Duration: Instantaneous.

Each time you cast this, you summon an outsider (worth 75% or less of your point value). The GM will create this being, but you can request one that meets broad criteria. You cannot summon a specific being. A penalty applies based on the planar "distance": There is no distance penalty for creatures that are currently on the same plane of existence. Adjacent dimensions impose -5, increasing by -5 for every intervening dimension. The Prime Material Plane is considered adjacent to the Astral Plane, and the Astral Plane is adjacent to the Outer Planes, where most of the outsiders come from. Thus, preparations that mitigate the penalty usually are required.

The summoning itself requires 10 minutes of preparation and ritual. At the end of the casting, you must pay 2 FP and make the casting roll. If the roll is successful, you must also pay a certain number of unspent character points to force the outsider to appear. This summoned entity then becomes a free-willed, permanent resident of the summoner's world, not his Ally, but on a Good or better reaction, it will grant its summoner a minor favor or service before departing.

Consult the following table to determine how many character points you must spend. "Point Total" is the summoned being's point total expressed as a percentage of your starting points; "Cost" is the number of character points required. If the summoned being's point total falls between two percentages, use the higher.

Point Total	Cost
15%	1 point
25%	2 points
50%	4 points
75%	5 points
100%	8 points
150%	16 points

Two other versions of this spell summon beings of different potency. Lesser Fetch calls forth an outsider worth up to 25% of your point value. Greater Fetch calls an outsider worth up to 150% of your point value, and requires one hour to cast.

Each time you cast this, you summon an elemental (worth 75% or less of your point value) of a particular type, chosen when learning this spell. Thus, Fetch Fire Elemental and Fetch Water Elemental are two different spells. The GM will create this being, but you can request one that meets broad criteria. You cannot summon a specific being. Fetid Breath

Keywords: Cone, Obvious.

Full Cost: 38 points.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Breath) to aim.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 10 yards.

Duration: 10 seconds.

You exhale a cone of bad smelling smoke. This gives -3 to all vision rolls made through it. This is a 5-yard-wide cone attack that uses the rules for Cone Attacks (p. B413). The caster targets a hex right in front of him, at +4, and the cone extends out from there. It is possible to make the cone wider by using the All-Out Attack (Cone) maneuver (GURPS Dungeon Fantasy Monsters 4: Dragons, p. 10). This spell has no 1/2D range. The initial attack roll places the effect. It then drifts from that point with the wind.

Additionally, every creature that inhales the smoke, begins to cough (is at -3 to DX and -1 to IQ, and cannot use Stealth) for 3 minutes, if it fails a HT roll.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Cone 5, +100%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Coughing, +20%; Drifting, +20%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Increased 1/2D, 10x, +15%; Link, +10%; Magical, -10%; Persistent, +40%; Reduced Range, 1/10, -30%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -

Fiendform

Keywords: Buff.

Full Cost: 68 points or more.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 4 seconds.

Range: Self.

Duration: 3 minutes.

You assume the form of a fiend (demon, devil, or other creature native to the Lower Planes). Traits of your racial template are replaced with traits of the racial template of the assumed form. You may freely omit racial mental disadvantages (e.g., Callous or Short Attention Span), and you may always choose to drop the racial IQ modifier from a template and use your own IQ. Unlike Alter Self, this spell lets you assume even supernatural and mental abilities. This spell includes the ability to make cosmetic changes. Thus, if you already are a fiend, you are able to assume a form of another member of your own species. Your gear is not affected.

By default, you may assume any racial template (adjusted by removing undesirable mental disadvantages) worth no more than your native racial template. If you want to assume more powerful forms, you have to pay extra points equal to the difference. Thus, Fiendform (10) costs 10 extra points but allows you to assume any racial template worth no more than 10 points than your native one.

You can always take on the form of a being you can see or touch, provided its racial template meets the requirements outlined earlier. Once you have assumed a form, you can opt to memorize it by concentrating for one minute. This allows you to shapeshift into that form at any time by casting Fiendform. You can memorize a number of forms equal to your casting skill. If all your “slots” are full, you must overwrite a previously memorized form (your choice) to add the new form.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Self Only, -50%; Advantage, Fiendform, +700%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Magical, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Takes Extra Time 2, -20%) [68]. Note: “Fiendform” is Morph (Accessibility, Only fiends, -20%; Magical, -10%) [70].

Fiery Eyes

Keywords: Buff.

Full Cost: 4 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Self.

Duration: 1 minute.

This spell causes your eyes to glow with an unnatural fire whose color you determine (from dull red to brilliant yellow), projecting 2-yard-long and 1-yard-wide beam of bright light that removed illumination penalties in that area.

By fixing your sight on one spot within 20 yards, you can cause combustible materials to burst into flames. This counts as an attack using the Innate Attack (Gaze) skill that, in theory, can be dodged, but the target must have some way of knowing that it is coming. Consult Making Things Burn (p. B433) – a target rated from Super-Flammable to Resistant ignites immediately. Anything more resistant to fire may catch if this ability is used repeatedly and continuously. Roll 3d after every 10 seconds of uninterrupted use (do not roll to hit every time against immobile objects – one time is enough); Highly Resistant materials (including flesh) catch on a 16 or less, while Nonflammable ones catch only on a 6 or less. This ability does no actual damage to the target, though it will likely take damage from the resultant fire.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Self Only, -50%; Advantage, Fiery Eyes, +40%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Magical, -10%; Reduced Duration, 1/3, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [4]. Note: "Fiery Eyes" is Burning Attack 3 points (Incendiary, +10%; Increased 1/2D, 10x, +15%; Magical, -10%; No Signature, +20%; No Wounding, -50%; Reduced Range, 1/5, -20%) [3] + Illumination (Short Beam; Magical, -10%) [1].

Find the Path

Keywords: Information.

Full Cost: 37 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S, F.

Cost: 2 FP to cast, 1 FP to maintain.

Casting Time: 1 minute.

Range: Unlimited (long-distance).

Duration: Indefinite.

You find the shortest, most direct physical route to a specified destination, be it the way into or out of a locale. The locale can be outdoors, underground, or even inside a Maze spell. Find the Path works with respect to locations, not objects or creatures at a locale. Thus, you could not find the way to "a forest where a green dragon lives" or "a hoard of platinum pieces," but it could find the exit to a labyrinth. The location must be on the same plane as you are at the time of casting.

The nearest entry or exit point is considered the subject of the spell for the purpose of determining range penalties. The spell enables the subject to sense the correct direction that will eventually lead it to its destination, indicating at appropriate times the exact path to follow or physical actions to take. For example, the spell enables the subject to sense trip wires or the proper word to bypass a Glyph of Warding.

This divination is keyed to the recipient, not its companions, and its effect does not predict or allow for the actions of creatures (including guardians).

Focus: A set of divination counters of the sort you favor - bones, ivory counters, sticks, carved runes, or the like.

Statistics: Slotted Cosmic Power 1 (17) (Limited, Trait, Detect, -50%; Magical, -10%) [37]. Note: Effectively, this spell emulates effects of the Detect (Entry/Exit Point; Rare) [5] advantage with Analyzing, +100%; Based on IQ, Own Roll, +20%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Immediate Preparation Required, 1 minute, -30%; Immersive, Variant, +100%; Long-Range 1, +50%; Reflexive, +40%; Requires Focus, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10% for the total cost of 17 points.

You touch an object that can be opened (a book, a chest, a door, etc.) and create a fire trap. When the object is opened by anyone not specified during the casting, the trap explodes. Everyone within one yard of the trap takes dice of burning damage equal to your level of this spell. Everyone further away but within 4 yards takes damage divided by the distance from the center of the blast. The GM must determine what the maximum level available in the campaign is.

You transform one of your hands into a mighty fist of living stone. Your fist undergoes no change in size or form, remaining as flexible and responsive as it would normally be while under the spell's effect. The hand gets DR 4 and +1 to damage with punches, as if you were using brass knuckles, and may ignore rules for Hurting Yourself (p. B379). This doesn't stack with actual brass knuckles. Your hand also is considered homogenous for the purpose of injury.

Each hand requires a separate casting on this spell.

Flame Arrow

Keywords: Weapon Buff.

Full Cost (Touch): 20 points.

Full Cost (Short-Range): 23 points.

Full Cost (Ranged): 28 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 2 seconds.

Range: Touch – Unlimited (-1/yard) – Unlimited (standard).

Duration: 30 minutes or until fired.

You turn arrows or bolts into fiery projectiles. All pieces of ammunition to be affected must be in contact with one another, and you can affect up to 25 projectiles. Each piece of ammunition deals an extra 1 point of linked burning damage to any target it hits. An affected projectile deals this extra damage only once. Each affected arrow or bolt burns with dim flames that do not harm anything until fired, but that may reveal the shooter's position in the darkness.

Flame Blade

Keywords: Buff, Obvious.

Full Cost: 4 points.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Force Sword to attack or parry with the blade.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Self.

Duration: 3 minutes.

A 3-foot-long, blazing beam of red-hot fire springs forth from your hand. You wield this bladelike beam as if it were a sword. The flame blade is a melee weapon that occupies one hand. You can attack with it using the Force Sword skill. The blade has Reach 1 and deals 1d-1 burning damage. Even though the blade is insubstantial and weapon pass through it, you can still parry with it to deal automatic damage to whatever weapon or body part is used to strike you. In addition, the blade sheds light like a torch.

If you grab something with the hand that is using the flame blade, or if you put it underwater, the blade disappears, and you have to recast the spell to be able to use it again.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Self Only, -50%; Advantage, Flame Blade, +40%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Magical, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [4]. Note: "Flame Blade" is Burning Attack 1d-1 (Destructive Parry, +10%; Environmental, Air, -5%; Magical, -10%; Melee Attack, Reach 1, Cannot Parry, -30%) [3] + Illumination (Magical, -10%) [1].

Flame Strike

Keywords: Missile, Obvious.

Full Cost: 10 points/level.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to hit.

Components: V, S.
Cost: 2 FP.
Casting Time: 2 seconds.
Range: 100 yards.
Duration: Instantaneous.

When outdoors, you can cause a pillar of flame to strike your target, dealing 1d burning damage per level. The target takes damage normally; anything nearby receives “collateral damage” equal to basic damage divided by the distance in yards from the blast. This spell bypasses any cover that does not provide overhead protection, and negates attack penalties to hit crouching, kneeling, sitting, or prone targets. (If you are already above or below your target, adjust this appropriately.)

Statistics: Burning Attack 1d (Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Environmental, Outdoors, -20%; Explosion 3, +150%; Magical, -10%; Overhead, +30%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Takes Extra Time 1, -10%) [10/level].

Flaming Sphere

Keywords: Missile, Obvious.
Full Cost: 4 points/level.
Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Projectile) to «lock on».
Components: V, S.
Cost: 1 FP.
Casting Time: 1 second.
Range: 50 yards.
Duration: Instantaneous.

A sphere of flame flies off your fingertips and bounces along the floor towards your target. A successful hit does 1d burning damage per level of this spell. You steer the sphere to the target using your own Innate Attack (Projectile) skill. This lets you ignore all range penalties to hit! If the target is so distant that the sphere needs multiple turns to reach it, you must take a Concentrate maneuver each turn. If you lose sight of the target while the attack is en route, your attack automatically misses. The sphere can only bounce 1 yard up in the air, so the attack can be evaded by climbing high enough.

The sphere moves 5 yards per second (this is its 1/2D characteristic). The sphere can hit a target at up to its 1/2D range on the turn you launch it. It requires multiple turns to reach more distant targets. Do not halve damage, but defer the attack roll until the attack reaches its target.

For more information, see Guided and Homing Weapons (p. B412).

Statistics: Burning Attack 1d (Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Environmental, Along the floor, -15%; Guided, +50%; Magical, -10%; Reduced Range, 1/2, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [4/level].

Full Cost (Short-Range): 17.5 points for level 1 + 7.5 points/additional level.
Full Cost (Ranged): 22.5 points for level 1 + 7.5 points/additional level.
Casting Roll: Skill.
Components: V.
Cost: 1 FP.
Casting Time: 1 second.
Range: Unlimited (-1/yard) - Unlimited (standard).
Duration: Instantaneous (blindness may last nine seconds).

You cause a blinding flash to appear in the area. Anyone within the spherical area of the flash must make a HT roll, with a penalty equal to your original margin of success, and a bonus equal to his distance from the focal point in yards. Protected Vision adds +5, and anyone with Blindness or who had already stated he had his eyes closed is immune. Failure by less than 5 means the subject is stunned (dazzled) for one second, after which he can roll against HT every second to recover. Failure by 5 or more (or a critical failure) blinds him for nine seconds.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Area Effect, 2 yards, Spherical, +40%; Based on IQ, Own Roll, +20%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Dissipation, -50%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Magical, -10%; Malediction 1, +100%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Secondary Disadvantage, Blindness, +10%; Secondary Reduced Duration, 1/20, -5%; Variable, Area, +5%; Vision-Based, -20%) [17.5]. This spell allows you to drain heat from earth, stone, and water. Earth, mud, and stone become everfrost and water freezes. The matter being transmuted can weigh up to 10 x (level squared) lbs. – 10 lbs. at level 1, 40 lbs. at level 2, 90 lbs. at level 3, and so on. On average, a hex of mud weighs 67 pounds per inch of thickness, a hex of water weighs 40 pounds per inch of thickness, a hex of dirt weighs 49 pounds per inch of thickness, and a hex of stone or gravel weighs 68 pounds per inch of thickness.

If a creature stands in the mud or water that is being transformed into everfrost or ice, it will not get stuck.

Flavor

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 5 points.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Cooking to determine whether the food tastes any better.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 6 seconds.

Range: Touch.

Duration: 30 minutes.

You give up to 1 pound of substance a better, worse, or different flavor. You could, for example, make porridge taste like lobster bisque. You do not change the substance's quality or wholesomeness. Spoiled food remains spoiled, a poisoned drink is still deadly, and inedible material provides no nourishment – you can make a twig taste like steak, but it remains a twig.

Playing Tendrils

Casting Time: 1 second.
Range: Self.
Duration: 18 seconds.

You grow four tentacles from your face, similar to those of a mind flayer. These are treated as four short arms with Reach C and effective ST of half your ST, rounded down. You can use tentacles to attack for thrust-1 crushing damage, or you may use the tentacles for grappling and manipulating objects. The tentacles are considered to be “off-hands” for the purpose of penalties, but not for the purpose of determining the arc of attack.

The mouth tentacles have ducts that can transmit a powerful dissolving enzyme. This takes time – you must first perform a Ready maneuver, and only then follow-up with a Reach C melee attack with one or more of your tentacles. No attack roll is required if the tentacles are grappling the victim. If it succeeds, it deals 2d corrosion damage. If you only have three tentacles in contact with the victim, then decrease it by 25%; if you only have two tentacles in contact with the victim, then decrease it by 50%; if you only have one tentacle in contact with the victim, then decrease it by 75%. Usually, this attack is used when grappling the head with all four tentacles to corrode its way through the skull and extract the brain. Each use costs 2 FP in addition to the usual casting cost.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Self Only, -50%; Advantage, Flaying Tendrils, +300%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Magical, -10%; Reduced Duration, 1/10, -20%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [29]. Note: “Flaying Tendrils” is Corrosion Attack 2d (Accessibility, Can only be delivered with mouth tentacles, -10%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Magical, -10%; Melee Attack, Reach C, Cannot Parry, -35%; Nuisance Effect, Effect decreases depending on the number of tentacles, -5%; Takes Extra Time 1, -10%) [4] + Extra Arms 4 (Extra-Flexible, +50%; Magical, -10%; Short, -50%; Weak, 1/2 ST, -25%) [26].

Flaywind Burst

Keywords: Cone, Obvious.
Full Cost: 12.5 points for level 1 + 6.5 points/additional level.
Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Beam) to hit.
Components: V, S.
Cost: 1 FP.
Casting Time: 1 second.
Range: 10 yards.
Duration: Instantaneous.

This spell creates a severe blast of air (approximately 70 mph) that originates from you, filled with scouring, supernatural grit that literally strips flesh. This gust does 1d crushing damage per level, doubled, for the purposes of knockback only, and has a 1/2D range of 5 yards. It can also snuff out candles, sweep the floor, and so on. Against enemies with Injury Tolerance (Diffuse), such as gaseous beings and swarms, this becomes a much more potent attack, doing full damage – including the doubling! Ignore the usual injury cap of 2 HP (Injury to Unliving, Homogenous, and Diffuse Targets, p. B380). In addition, it does 1d linked cutting damage with no knockback or blunt trauma from the grit that does not scale with spell level.

This is a 1-yard-wide cone attack that uses the rules for Cone Attacks (p. B413). On the battle map, it is a 1x10 row of hexes. This cone is too tight to affect many targets, but gets better chances to hit. The caster targets a hex right in front of him, at +4, and the cone extends out from there. It is possible to make the cone wider by using the All-Out Attack (Cone) maneuver (GURPS Dungeon Fantasy Monsters 4: Dragons, p. 10).

Even though a one-hex creature is big enough to block the cone, everyone in the hex where the cone stops is fully affected. If a cone passes between two adjacent creatures, then both are hit. The cone cannot be parried or blocked, but it can be dodged by diving for cover or retreating out of the affected area. If a creature does that, then those behind it may get affected by the cone normally.

When you cast this spell, you literally strip the flesh from a corporeal creature's body, inflicting incredible pain and psychological trauma. Each second, the victim takes 1d-1 cutting damage, ignoring DR. Each instance of damage can be negated with an HT roll with a penalty equal to the caster's margin of victory on his casting roll. A successful resistance roll stops the spell. Once the victim loses 1/3 of his HP to this spell, he begins to experience terrible pain (p. B428) until he heals above this threshold. Once the victim loses 1/2 of his HP to this spell, his Appearance permanently drops by one level and he gains the Wounded disadvantage (p. B162). It is appropriate to have this spell cause a Fright Check on its first successful damage cycle.

The subject, along with all its carried gear, turns into a mindless, inert ice sculpture. If the sculpture resulting from this spell is broken, melted, or damaged, the subject (if ever returned to its original state) has similar damage or deformities. The creature is not dead, but it does not seem to be alive either when viewed with spells such as deathwatch. Only creatures made of flesh are affected by this spell. The subject, along with all its carried gear, turns into a mindless, inert statue of rock salt. Salt statues are extremely susceptible to dissolution by water – if exposed to flooding or heavy rain, they lose 1d HP per minute. A steady rain makes it lose 1 HP per minute. If the statue resulting from this spell is broken or damaged, the subject (if ever returned to its original state) has similar damage or deformities. A pair of powerful draconic wings sprouts from your shoulders. You become able to fly, as long as you do not do that in a trace atmosphere or vacuum. Your flight Move is Basic Speed x 2 (drop all fractions), and your maximum Air Move is double that. You cannot hover - you must always move at least 1/4 your top airspeed (round up) when flying.

Your wingspan is twice your height. In order to take off, land, or maneuver, you must have an open area with a radius equal to your wingspan in all directions. If your wings are bound, or if a wing is crippled, you cannot fly. Treat wings as arms for the purpose of targeting and crippling.

Fog Cloud

Keywords: Area (Leveled).
Full Cost: 28 points for level 1 + 7 points/additional level.
Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim.
Components: V, S.
Cost: 1 FP.
Casting Time: 1 second.
Range: 50 yards.
Duration: 15 minutes.

A bank of fog billows out from the point you designate, filling a 4-yard-high cylindrical area. The fog obscures normal sight, imposing a -7 penalty to Vision rolls and Vision-based tasks. The area of effect drifts with the wind, but any wind more forceful than a light breeze disperses it.

Fire attacks become weaker in fog. Flaming weapons and missiles lose their extra power in fog. Scorching Rays and similar fire missile effects lose 1 point of damage per yard of fog they must traverse. Fire explosions treat each yard of fog as two yards of distance from the blast for the purpose of damage. However, no amount of fog will extinguish a fire.

Force Whip

Keywords: Buff.
Full Cost: 14 points.
Casting Roll: Skill.
Components: V, S.
Cost: 1 FP.
Casting Time: 1 second.
Range: Self.
Duration: 18 seconds.

This spell creates a whip of magical force that you wield with the Force Whip skill. Force whip deals swing(0.5) crushing damage at Reach 1-4 without the need for a Ready maneuver to change reach. Since the whip is made of magical force, it can be used to strike even insubstantial enemies. Force whip is a poor defensive weapon – it is unbalanced and hence cannot be used to parry in the same turn you attacked with it, and vice versa, and it parries at -2.

For the purpose of parrying, the whip has a weight of 1 pound. You can release your whip, and your opponents can disarm you – the force whip has DR 5, HP 8, and is considered a Very Fine weapon with HT 14. If it leaves your hand for whatever reason, it disappears, but the spell can be recast as normal.

When you strike to disarm with your force whip, you get +2 in the ensuing Quick Contest; see Knocking a Weapon Away (p. B401). You can use the Crack (p. MA70) and Entangle (p. MA71) techniques based on your Force Whip skill instead of Whip.

Forcecage

Keywords: Area (Fixed), Obvious.

Full Cost: 75 points (or more).

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 2 seconds.

Range: 10 yards.

Duration: 5 minutes.

This powerful spell brings into being an immobile, invisible cylindrical prison composed of either bars of force or solid walls of force (your choice). Anyone wishing to cross the barrier may try to force his way through it as a free action (one attempt per turn): the foe rolls thrust damage and if this overcomes the Forcecage’s DR, he gets through. This does not dispel the cage, which simply seals closed behind him. Slams and collisions with the cage inflict their usual damage for the purpose of breaking through, but the collider takes no damage, as the cage absorbs kinetic force. Disintegrate immediately destroys the cage.

Creatures within the area are caught and contained unless they are too big to fit inside, in which case the spell automatically fails. Teleportation and other forms of astral travel provide a means of escape, but the force walls or bars extend into the Ethereal Plane, blocking ethereal and insubstantial travel.

Barred Cage: This version of the spell produces a 4-yard-radius 4-yard-tall cylinder made of bands of force (similar to a Wall of Force spell) for bars. The bands are a half-inch wide, with half-inch gaps between them. Any creature capable of passing through such a small space can escape; others are confined. You can’t attack a creature in a barred cage with a weapon unless the weapon can fit between the gaps. Even against such weapons (including arrows and similar ranged attacks), a creature in the barred cage has cover (-2 to attack rolls). All spells and breath weapons can pass through the gaps in the bars.

Windowless Cell: This version of the spell produces a 2-yard-radius 4-yard-tall cylinder with no way in and no way out. Solid walls of force form its six sides.

By default, Forcecage provides DR 5. However, more potent versions are available:

This spell grants you a powerful sixth sense in relation to yourself or another. The GM rolls once against your Perception, secretly, in any situation involving an ambush, impending disaster, or similar hazard. On a success, you get enough of a warning that you can take action. A roll of 3 or 4 means you get a little detail as to the nature of the danger.

When another creature is the subject of the spell, you receive warnings about that creature. You must communicate what you learn to the other creature for the warning to be useful, and the creature can be caught unprepared in the absence of such a warning. Shouting a warning, yanking a person back, and even telepathically communicating (via an appropriate spell) can all be accomplished before some danger befalls the subject, provided you act on the warning without delay.

Range: 10 yards.

Duration: Instantaneous.

You fire a cone of lightning that does 1d burning surge damage per level. Metallic armor counts as DR 1 against this attack, but nonmetallic armor protects normally. Targets struck by this attack must make an HT roll, at -1 per 2 points of injury, or be physically stunned. On subsequent turns, they can roll HT to recover.

This is a 5-yard-wide cone attack that uses the rules for Cone Attacks (p. B413). The caster targets a hex right in front of him, at +4, and the cone extends out from there. It is possible to make the cone wider by using the All-Out Attack (Cone) maneuver (GURPS Dungeon Fantasy Monsters 4: Dragons, p. 10). This spell has the 1/2D range of 5 yards.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 50 yards.

Duration: 10 seconds.

You may fill a 4-yard-radius 4-yard-high cylindrical area with a cloud of freezing mist. This gives -5 to all vision and Infravision rolls made through it. To place the cloud at a distance, use Innate Attack (Gaze), with normal range penalties, but at +4 for affecting an area. The initial attack roll places the effect. It then drifts from that point with the wind.

Additionally, every creature in the area of effect takes 1d-2 points of fatigue damage per second. This damage ignores DR, unless the creature has Sealed. Treat FP lost to the attack identically to FP lost to cold for all purposes, notably recovery (see Cold, p. B430). Targets that take damage from this spell must make an HT roll, at -1 per 2 points of FP lost, or take a -2 penalty to DX and become Numb (p. B146) for (20-HT) minutes (minimum 1 minute).

Gate

Keywords: None.
Full Cost: 95 points.
Casting Roll: Skill.
Components: V, S.
Cost: 4 FP or more; see text.
Casting Time: 1 hour.
Range: Touch.
Duration: 3d seconds or permanent; see text.

This spell creates a magical portal leading to another plane of existence that you are able visualize clearly (which is only possible if you have visited it previously in person). The gate itself is a circular hoop or disk from 5 to 20 feet in diameter (caster’s choice), oriented in the direction you desire when it comes into existence (typically vertical and facing you). It is a two-dimensional window looking into the plane you specified when casting the spell, and anyone or anything that moves through is shunted instantly to the other side.

On a critical failure, the gate opens, but leads to the wrong destination, which can be any plane the GM wishes!

The FP cost of this spell depends on the “planar distance.” To shift between two different layers of the same plane, spend 4 FP. To shift between two bordering planes (such as the Prime Material Plane and the Astral Plane), spend 5 FP. Spend one additional FP per each additional degree of “removal.” Certain very distant planes, such as the Far Realm, may require you to spend 13 FP.

When creating a gate, the exit point on the destination plane appears with a deviation of 1dx100 miles.

Optionally, when casting this spell you may spend 10 character points to make the gate permanent.

Statistics: Jumper (Interplanar; Costs Fatigue, 3 FP, -15%; Drift, Variant, -40%; Extra Carrying Capacity, Extra-Heavy, +50%; Immediate Preparation Required, 1 hour, -75%; Improved, +10%; Magical, -10%; Nuisance Effect, Cannot hurry the jump, -5%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Tunnel, Before, +100%) [95]. Note: The Improved enhancement removes the auto-fail on 14+.

Full Cost (Ranged): 52 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 3 FP.

Casting Time: 10 minutes.

Range: Touch - Unlimited (-1/yard) – Unlimited (standard).

Duration: Three weeks or until fulfilled.

A Geas/Quest places a magical command on a creature to carry out some service or to refrain from some action or course of activity, as desired by you. The subject must be a sapient creature that can hear and understand your command. While a geas cannot compel a creature to kill itself or perform acts that would result in certain death, it can cause almost any other course of activity, even something the subject cannot feasibly complete.

The geased creature must follow the given instructions until the geas is completed, no matter how long it takes. He must make this command his first priority at all times. He is free to decide how to go about it, however, and may approach the situation intelligently. In effect, he has an Obsession (p. B146) with no self-control roll.

Once the subject accomplishes the goal, the geas ends. The only way to remove the geas before then is with Remove Curse or Break Enchantment; Dispel Magic has no effect.

Cold energy surges through the target's body, congealing the blood in the creature's extremities, imposing a -2 penalty to DX and giving the target the Numb disadvantage (p. B146). Only living creatures with a circulatory system and blood can be affected by this spell; it does not affect creatures with Injury Tolerance (No Blood). Genius Loci

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 15 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 16 character points.

Casting Time: 8 hours.

Range: 10 yards.

Duration: Instantaneous.

With this spell, you grant the particular building or location a permanent "guardian spirit." The area must be no bigger than your (skill x 3) in yards in radius. You must task the spirit with a specific purpose, and that purpose must in some manner involve protecting the building or region to which it is attached. The task can be very general ("Slay any creature who attempts to enter!") or far more specific ("Kill any goblin who tries to take the red sword down off the wall.") The task can't be so specific as to mention the names of individual creatures, or to require unseen knowledge such as alignments or allegiances. Finally, it must be simple enough to clearly convey in one or two sentences.

If the triggering event occurs, the genius loci manifests exactly where you cast the spell, taking the form of an elder elemental (choose air, earth, fire, or water when you learn the spell) with the Genius Loci lens (see the notes). Thus, Genius Loci (Fire) and Genius Loci (Earth) are two different spells. The spirit immediately attempts to carry out the designated task. The genius loci must not have a point value higher than 150% of your point value.

The GM will create the genius loci, but you can request one that meets broad criteria. You cannot summon a specific being. A penalty applies based on the planar "distance": There is no distance penalty for creatures that are currently on the same plane of existence. Adjacent dimensions impose -5, increasing by -5 for every intervening dimension. The Prime Material Plane is considered adjacent to the Ethereal Plane, and the Ethereal Plane is adjacent to the Inner Planes, where most of the elementals come from. Thus, preparations that mitigate the penalty usually are required.

The summoning itself requires 8 hours of preparation and ritual. At the end of the casting, you must make the casting roll. If the roll is successful, you must also pay 16 unspent character points to force the spirit to appear.

Once the spell is complete, you have no special control over the spirit's actions, and if you trigger the manifestation, it attacks you just as it would anyone else. The manifested spirit behaves in all ways as a normal elemental of its kind, within the parameters of the task assigned.

If the spirit's manifested form is slain, it is not destroyed and the spell is not broken. However, it becomes an intangible spirit and is effectively "unconscious" until it heals back to its full HP, after which it can manifest normally. The only way to permanently break a genius loci spell is with a Mordenkainen's Disjunction (and spending 19 character points when casting it), turn the entire area into a no-mana zone and destroy the spirit, or else to permanently defeat the guardian spirit's purpose. If, for instance, the spirit was commanded to prevent a particular item from being destroyed, the destruction of that item renders its existence moot.

When not actively involved in protecting its territory or following its task, the spirit shows no sign of its existence – it is invisible and insubstantial, except to other insubstantial creatures. When it manifests, the creature appears to come out of nowhere. Anyone viewing the building or area with Detect Magic sees an overwhelming aura of conjuration; True Seeing reveals the spirit wandering its territory, appearing as a vague, hazy silhouette of the creature it manifests as.

You preserve the remains of a dead creature so that they do not decay. Doing so effectively extends the time limit on raising that creature from the dead. Ghost Sound

Keywords: Area (Leveled).

Full Cost: 22 points for level 1 + 12.5 points/additional level*.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use skill or Artist (Illusion) to determine how convincing it is.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 10 yards.

Duration: 30 seconds.

The caster projects any sort of sound, such as the clash of battle, the cheering of a crowd, the hum of a bee swarm, two people talking, or similar, to anywhere that they can see within the spell's range. The area is hemispherical in shape. This sound extends into the subsonic and ultrasonic hearing ranges. The spell cannot produce loud noise that would harm, frighten, or deafen anyone.

The caster must win a Quick Contest of skill or Artist (Illusion) against the Per of anyone they want to fool; otherwise, the targets notice something "off" about the sound. Do not apply range penalties to the casting roll. The targets' roll is at +4 if the sound is not believable in the current environment or +8 if it also lacks a visual cue that normally accompanies it. Regardless of the result, the sound does not disappear. Thus, even an unsubtle use of this spell can create white noise.

You become a visible, ghost-like form through a spell that works only if you carry no more than your Light encumbrance. Despite being ethereal, you aren't immune to gravity and must move on flat surfaces or gentle slopes. You weigh nothing, so you leave no footprints and can walk on fragile surfaces like water.

In ghostform, you can pass through solid objects but must stay adjacent to their exterior; you can't traverse fully through objects larger than yourself. While you can pass through solids, you still need to breathe. Treat moving through a solid as swimming underwater to avoid suffocation. If you materialize inside a solid, you're pushed to the nearest empty space, taking 2d injury and becoming mentally stunned. You can roll against IQ to recover by the next turn.

You can observe but not physically affect the material world. Physical and energy attacks without the Affects Insubstantial trait can't harm you, but you remain susceptible to psionic and magical Maledictions. Your physical and energy attacks can't affect physical opponents, but psi abilities and spells based on Malediction can, though with a -3 penalty to skill rolls.

When using the basic (68-point) version of this spell, your abilities with Affect Substantial do not function under the effect of this spell. When using the improved (148-point) version, your abilities with Affect Substantial work properly and without a penalty.

This powerful inscription harms those who enter, pass, or open the warded area or object. A Glyph of Warding can guard a bridge or passage, ward a portal, trap a chest or box, and so on.

You set the conditions of the ward. Typically, any creature entering the warded area or opening the warded object without speaking a password (which you set when casting the spell) is subject to the magic it stores. Alternatively or in addition to a password trigger, glyphs can be set according to physical characteristics (such as height or weight) or creature type, subtype, or kind (such as aberration, drow, or red dragon). Glyphs respond to invisible creatures normally but are not triggered by those who travel past them ethereally. Multiple glyphs cannot be cast on the same area. However, if a cabinet has three drawers, each can be separately warded.

When casting the spell, you weave a tracery of faintly glowing lines around the warding sigil. When the spell is completed, the glyph and tracery become nearly invisible (Per-4 to notice).

Glyphs cannot be affected or bypassed by such means as physical or magical probing, though they can be dispelled. Mislead, Polymorph, and Nondetection (and similar magical effects) can fool a glyph, though nonmagical disguises and the like can't.

Read Magic allows you to identify a Glyph of Warding. Identifying the glyph does not discharge it and allows you to know the basic nature of the glyph.

Read Magic allows you to identify a Glyph of Warding. Identifying the glyph does not discharge it and allows you to know the basic nature of the glyph.

A Spell Glyph can store any harmful spell with a casting time of 4 seconds or less. All skill-dependent features of the spell are based on your skill at the time of casting the glyph. If the spell has a target, it targets the intruder. If the spell has an area or an amorphous effect (such as a cloud), the area or effect is centered on the intruder. If the spell summons creatures, they appear as close as possible to the intruder and attack. Resistance rolls operate as normal, except that the QC is based on the skill level of the spell stored in the glyph and that the range penalties are calculated from the glyph, not from you.

To be able to cast a Spell Glyph, you have to have at least two slots of your Wizardly Study – one slot for the Spell Glyph, and one slot for the spell being stored by the glyph. You make two casting rolls, and you must succeed at both of them – one to cast the Spell Glyph, and one to cast the stored spell. While Spell Glyph is a free spell, it increases the casting cost of the spell being stored by 2 FP.

Material Component: You sprinkle the glyph with powdered diamond worth at least $200.

Golem

Keywords: None.
Full Cost: 52 points.
Casting Roll: Skill.
Components: V, S, M.
Cost: 1 FP.
Casting Time: 1 minute.
Range: Touch.
Duration: Indefinite, see text.

This spell animates a golem. At all times the golem remains under your absolute command. No special telepathic link exists, so command must be exercised in some other manner.

The golem's body must be prepared in advance. Consult Construct Crafting for golem templates and lenses, and rules for their creation. Regardless of the type of golem you create with this spell, its point total must not be higher than 100% of your point value. Golems with point totals of 0 or lower are considered to have a point total of 1 point for this purpose.

If the golem is destroyed, the caster must wait a full day to animate a replacement. However, the caster can also dismiss the animating spirit by touching the golem as a free action. In this case, he may begin animating a replacement five minutes later.

If this spell is taken as a learned spell (i.e. as part of an alternative abilities array), then it can be maintained indefinitely for free, even if the caster is unconscious. However, once you switch to a different spell, the animated golem becomes inert, but it will reanimate when you switch back to Golem. Most casters try to purchase this spell for its full cost to have it constantly active and be able to cast other spells. If this spell was cast via hardcore improvisation, then it lasts for one minute.

Material Component: Powdered ruby worth $60 per HP of the golem to be created.

Statistics: Ally (Golem; Built on 100%; Constantly, no roll required; Adjustable, Golems, Cannot provide information, +100%; Conjured, +100%; Immediate Preparation Required, 1 minute, -30%; Magical, -10%; Minion, +50%; Requires a body, -20%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [52]. Note: As a special effect, this spell breaks sorcery rules by allowing free maintenance, but this is offset by imposing a FP cost to cast and requiring an expensive material component.

Grease

Keywords: Area (Special).

Full Cost: 24 points for level 1 + 4.5 points/additional level.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 10 yards.

Duration: 10 seconds.

A Grease spell covers a solid surface with a layer of slippery grease. This may affect an area up to (Grease level)+1 yards in radius. There is no visible clue that the ground has been greased. The greased area is considered a slippery surface. Those moving into or through the greased area must roll against DX-2 every turn or fall; this roll is at +1 if walking at Move/2, +2 at Move/4, and +3 at Move/8 (round down, minimum 0). Critical failure causes 1d-2 injury to a randomly chosen limb. Outside of combat, if you walk slowly (Move 1), then you only need to make an unpenalized DX roll every four minutes to avoid falling.

In combat, you have to make a DX-2 roll after each attack or defense roll. Perfect Balance gives +4, Excellent Balance gives +3. Failure means that you fall down.

If you fail a DX roll to remain standing by 1, you fall on your knees; if you fail by 2, you assume a sitting posture, and any worse failure results in you falling prone. To stand back up after falling down on a slippery surface, you have to make two successful DX-2 rolls in a row.

Slippery surfaces allow skidding (p. MA105).

Greater Invisibility

Keywords: Buff.

Full Cost (Self): 61 points.

Full Cost (Touch): 76 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.
Cost: 2 FP.
Casting Time: 2 seconds.
Range: Self – Touch.
Duration: 18 seconds.

You make the subject and everything he is carrying (up to his Light encumbrance) invisible. The subject gets a +9 to Stealth in any situation where being seen would matter. Invisibility only works against electromagnetic vision (which encompasses ordinary vision, Infravision, Ultravision, and radar). The subject does not cast a shadow and doesn't show up in mirrors.

Guardian Spirit

Keywords: Buff, Incarnum.
Full Cost (Self): 40 points.
Full Cost (Touch): 55 points.
Casting Roll: Skill.
Components: V, S, (E).
Cost: 2 FP, optionally +1 HP or essentia; see text.
Casting Time: 1 minute.
Range: Self – Touch.
Duration: 3 hours or until awoken. After the awakening, the spell's bonuses last for 18 seconds.

You bestow a prescient unborn soul on the subject. The soul energy lies dormant within the subject's body, until the subject decides to awaken it with a Concentrate maneuver and a successful Will roll or until the duration expires, whichever comes first. While awoken, the soul energy grants the subject a +1 bonus to all active defenses. The caster may pay an additional point of ER (Incarnum) or HP during the casting to have the soul additionally grant the subject the Danger Sense (p. B47) advantage.

Guided Shot

Keywords: None.
Full Cost: 35 points.
Casting Roll: Skill.
Components: V.
Cost: 1 FP.
Casting Time: Free action.
Range: Self.
Duration: Instantaneous.

You use magical energy to briefly focus your mind and body on making a perfect shot and guiding the projectile after releasing it. The attack ignores range penalties, and the projectile moves at 1/2D yards per second until it hits the target or reaches Max range. Against distant targets, you must take a Concentrate maneuver on turns after the first to control the projectile, and you must choose your maneuver (Attack or All-Out Attack (Determined)) and make your attack roll on the turn the projectile reaches the target. In addition, if the guided projectile takes more than one turn to reach the target, it is considered aimed and gets its Acc bonus, and does not deal halved damage. This spell cannot be used with weapons that affect multiple targets – area attacks, explosive attacks, cone attacks. It can only guide one projectile to one target.

Statistics: Imbue 2 (Limited Skill Access, One Skill, Guided Shot, -80%) [4] + Unusual Training [1] + Guided Weapon! (VH) DX [24] modified with Based on IQ, Own Roll, +20%; Magical, -10%; Reduced Fatigue Cost 1, +20%; Requires Magic Words, -10%. The total cost is 35 points.

Gust of Wind

Keywords: Cone, Obvious.

Full Cost: 6 points/level.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Beam) to hit.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 10 yards.

Duration: Instantaneous.

This spell creates a severe blast of air (approximately 50 mph) that originates from you. This gust does 1d crushing damage per level, doubled, for the purposes of knockback only, and has a 1/2D range of 5 yards. It can also snuff out candles, sweep the floor, and so on. Against enemies with Injury Tolerance (Diffuse), such as gaseous beings and swarms, this becomes a much more potent attack, doing full damage – including the doubling! Ignore the usual injury cap of 2 HP (Injury to Unliving, Homogenous, and Diffuse Targets, p. B380).

This is a 1-yard-wide cone attack that uses the rules for Cone Attacks (p. B413). On the battle map, it is a 1x10 row of hexes. This cone is too tight to affect many targets, but gets better chances to hit. The caster targets a hex right in front of him, at +4, and the cone extends out from there. It is possible to make the cone wider by using the All-Out Attack (Cone) maneuver (GURPS Dungeon Fantasy Monsters 4: Dragons, p. 10).

Even though a one-hex creature is big enough to block the cone, everyone in the hex where the cone stops is fully affected. If a cone passes between two adjacent creatures, then both are hit. The cone cannot be parried or blocked, but it can be dodged by diving for cover or retreating out of the affected area. If a creature does that, then those behind it may get affected by the cone normally.

Statistics: Crushing Attack 1d (Cone 1, +60%; Cosmic, Does knockback-based damage against diffuse targets, +50%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Double Knockback, +20%; Increased 1/2D, 5x, +10%; Magical, -10%; No Blunt Trauma, -20%; No Wounding, Except against diffuse targets, -25%; Reduced Range, 1/10, -30%; Requires gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires magic words, -10%) [6/level].

Haboob

Keywords: Area (Fixed).

Full Cost: 60 points.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 2 seconds.

Range: 100 yards.

Duration: 10 seconds.

A thick haze of swirling dust and sand swirls for the duration of the spell in a 4-yard-radius 4-yard-high cylindrical area. Use Innate Attack (Gaze), at +4, to center the area; see Scatter (p. B414) if you miss. Hearing and Vision rolls (including Infravision and Ultravision) made in the area or through the area take a -7 penalty, and the area itself can be detected at +7. At the end of the duration, the hail disappears, leaving no aftereffects (other than the damage dealt). Anyone breathing in the dust cloud loses 1 FP to suffocation. Once he loses 1/3 of his FP to this effect, he begins to cough (p. B428) until he recovers FP above this threshold. Creatures with Doesn't Breathe or Filter Lungs are immune to this suffocation effect.

Statistics: Fatigue Attack 1 point (Area Effect, 4 yards, +100%; Link, +10%; Magical, -10%; Persistent, +40%; Respiratory Agent, +50%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Suffocation, +0%; Symptom, 1/3 FP, Coughing, +60%; Takes Extra Time 1, -10%) [10] + Obscure Hearing 7 (Area Effect, 4 yards, +50%; Link, +10%; Magical, -10%; Ranged, +50%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Takes Extra Time 1, -10%) [23] + Obscure Vision 7 (Area Effect, 4 yards, +50%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Extended, Infravision, Ultravision, +40%; Link, +10%; Magical, -10%; Ranged, +50%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Takes Extra Time 1, -10%) [27].

Hail of Ectoplasm

Keywords: Area (Fixed).

Full Cost: 8 points.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 2 seconds.

Range: 20 yards.

Duration: Instantaneous.

An explosion of spheres of hardened ectoplasm occurs from a point you designate in a 4-yard-radius 4-yard-high cylindrical area. Use Innate Attack (Gaze), at +4, to center the area; see Scatter (p. B414) if you miss. Everyone, including incorporeal creatures, in the area is attacked with an effective skill of 12, modified only for their SM. Each sphere of ectoplasm deals 1d large piercing damage. The spheres can be dodged or blocked, but not parried.

Statistics: Large Piercing Attack 1d (Affects Insubstantial, +20%; Area Effect, 4 yards, +100%; Blockable, -5%; Bombardment, Skill-12, -10%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Magical, -10%; Reduced Range, 1/5, -20%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Takes Extra Time 1, -10%) [8].

Hail of Stone

Keywords: Area (Fixed), Obvious.

Full Cost: 10 points.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 50 yards.

Duration: Instantaneous.

The caster calls down a rain of stones from the sky that fall in a 4-yard-radius 4-yard-high cylindrical area. This spell can only be cast outdoors. Use Innate Attack (Gaze), at +4, to center the area; see Scatter (p. B414) if you miss. Everyone in the area is attacked with an effective skill of 10, modified only for their SM. Anyone who fails to dodge takes 1d+1 crushing damage. This is an overhead attack – victims may raise their shields as cover, at the risk of damaging them (p. B484).

Statistics: Crushing Attack 1d+1 (Area Effect, 4 yards, +100%; Bombardment, Skill-10, -15%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Environmental, Outdoors, -20%; Magical, -10%; Overhead, +30%; Reduced Range, 1/2, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [10].

Hallucinatory Terrain

Keywords: Area (Leveled).

Full Cost: 60 points for level 1 + 12.5 points/additional level*.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use skill or Artist (Illusion) to determine how convincing it is.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 3 FP.

Casting Time: 10 minutes.

Range: 100 yards.

Duration: 8 hours.

You make natural terrain look (including to Infravision), sound, and smell like some other sort of natural terrain. Thus, open fields or a road can be made to resemble a swamp, hill, crevasse, or some other difficult or impassable terrain. A pond can be made to seem like a grassy meadow, a precipice like a gentle slope, or a rock-strewn gully like a wide and smooth road. Structures, equipment, and creatures within the area are not hidden or changed in appearance. The spell's area is hemispherical in shape.

You cannot concentrate to change the image, but you can dismiss this illusion with a Concentrate maneuver.

You must win a Quick Contest of skill – or Artist (Illusion), if better – against the Per of anyone you want to fool; otherwise they notice something “off.” Their roll is at +4 if they have reason to be alert for illusions or +10 if you made it appear from out of nowhere. However, even if they successfully “disbelieve,” your illusion doesn’t disappear. Thus, even an obvious illusion can be useful to block line of sight.

Statistics: Illusion (Accessibility, Environment only, -50%; Cancellation, +10%; Costs Fatigue, 3 FP, -15%; Extended, Infravision, Taste/Smell, +30%; Extended Duration, 3,000x, +140%; Immediate Preparation Required, 10 minutes, -45%; Independence, +40%; Magical, -10%; Nuisance Effect, Cannot concentrate to change the image, -10%; Persistent, +40%; Ranged, +40%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [60]. Heart of Stone

Keywords: Buff.

Full Cost: 37 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S, F.

Cost: 4 FP.

Casting Time: 1 hour.

Range: Self.

Duration: 1 year.

You exchange your own living heart for a finely crafted heart of perfect, unblemished stone, altering the very nature of your body. Your living heart can then be stored or hidden anywhere you like, where it continues to beat for the duration of the spell.

While under the effect of this spell, you are affected by injury normally, but you divide all injury by 3, rounding up. You need never make a HT roll to stay alive. You can survive (and even function, if you remain conscious) down to -10xHP, at which point your body is physically destroyed and you die. As long as you are alive, you heal at a slowed rate – roll against HT to recover HP only once per two days (effectively, you have Slow Healing 1). Crippled limbs do heal, but severed limbs are gone for good unless you have Regrowth. Attacks that target your stone heart are treated as torso hits, and you become immune to heart attacks. Finally, your own living heart is vulnerable to attack; if it is damaged or destroyed, you are instantly slain.

Heart of Stone can be dispelled, in which case your own living heart instantly returns to its proper place while the stone heart is transported to the place where you left your own heart. Your heart and the stone heart likewise switch places if you enter an Antimagic Field (temporarily negating the spell's effects), but the spell resumes when you leave it. Stone to Flesh can also end the spell.

Focus: A carved stone heart of exceptional quality (jade, obsidian, or gold-veined marble) worth $5,000.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Self Only, -50%; Advantage, Heart of Stone, +260%; Costs Fatigue, 4 FP, -20%; Extended Duration, 200,000x, +210%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Immediate Preparation Required, 1 hour, -75%; Magical, -10%; Requires Focus, -15%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [37]. Note: "Heart of Stone" is Injury Tolerance (Damage Reduction 3; Breakable, DR 0, SM-5, Cannot Repair, -45%; Can Be Stolen, -5%; Magical, -10%; Temporary Disadvantage, Slow Healing 1, -10%; Unique, -25%) [15] + Injury Tolerance (No Vitals; Breakable, DR 0, SM-5, Cannot Repair, -45%; Can Be Stolen, -5%; Magical, -10%; Partial, Heart Only, -20%; Temporary Disadvantage, Slow Healing 1, -10%; Unique, -25%) [1] + Unkillable 1 (Breakable, DR 0, SM-5, Cannot Repair, -45%; Can Be Stolen, -5%; Magical, -10%; Temporary Disadvantage, Slow Healing 1, -10%; Unique, -25%) [10].

With a sweep of your hand, an invisible bolt of force slams into your target, attempting to instantly slay it by driving its heart from its body. The victim is wracked by terrible pain (p. B428) for three seconds. If you win by 5 or more, or if the victim rolls a critical failure, the victim instantly dies, as its heart is removed. This spell can only affect creatures with hearts. Those with multiple hearts or with the ability to survive without a heart may not be slain with this spell or may require multiple castings.

You encase the heart of the target creature in a block of ice. The victim loses 1d FP and is physically stunned. He may roll against HT to recover on the next turn normally. If you win by 5 or more, or if the victim rolls a critical failure, the victim suffers a heart attack (p. B428) instead of being stunned.

Treat FP lost to the spell identically to FP lost to cold (p. B430). Targets who took damage from this spell must make an HT roll, at -1 per 2 points of FP lost, or take a -2 penalty to DX and become Numb (p. B146) for (20-HT) minutes (minimum 1 minute).

Heartless creatures are immune to this spell, including the FP loss component.

Heat Leech

Keywords: Resisted (HT).

Full Cost: 25 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Unlimited (standard).

Duration: 10 seconds.

You plant a tiny sphere of intense cold in the body of a living creature. The subject begins to freeze from within, taking 1 point of fatigue damage each second for 10 seconds, ignoring DR. Each second the subject may resist the damage by making a successful HT roll. If the roll is a critical success, then the spell stops. Treat FP lost to the attack identically to FP lost to cold for all purposes, notably recovery (see Cold, B430). Targets injured by this spell must make an HT roll, at -1 per 2 points of injury, or take a -2 penalty to DX and become Numb (p. B146) for (20-HT) minutes (minimum 1 minute).

Statistics: Fatigue Attack 1 point (Accessibility, Only on living creatures, -10%; Based on HT, +20%; Based on IQ, Own Roll, +20%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Cyclic, 9 cycles, 1 second intervals, Resistible, +450%; Freezing, +20%; Magical, -10%; Malediction 2, +150%; No Signature, +20%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Side Effect, DX-2 and Numb, +90%) [25].

Heat Metal

Keywords: Resisted (HT).

Full Cost (Touch): 15 points.

Full Cost (Short-Range): 18 points.

Full Cost (Ranged): 23 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Touch – Unlimited (-1/yard) - Unlimited (standard).

Duration: 13 seconds.

When you cast this spell on a metal object, it gradually becomes very hot to the touch. For the first 4 seconds of the duration, it is hot to the touch, but does not deal damage. After that, it deals 1 point of burning damage per second to everyone touching it for 9 seconds. Useful when cast on foe's plate armor or metal weapon.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Only on metal objects, -30%; Advantage, Heat Metal, +30%; Based on IQ, Own Roll, +20%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Delay, 4 seconds, +0%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Magical, -10%; Malediction 1, +100%; Melee Attack, Reach C, -30%; No Signature, +20%; Reduced Duration, 1/20, -25%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [15]. Hellfire

Keywords: Area (Fixed), Obvious.

Full Cost: 11 points/level.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to hit.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 2 seconds.

Range: 20 yards.

Duration: Instantaneous.

You cause hellfire to fill a spherical area. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim, applying normal range penalties, but at +4 for targeting an area. Unlike most attack spells, Hellfire has Acc 2. The hellfire blast expands, dealing 1d(3) burning damage per level of this spell to everything in its hex. Everything else within 4 yards takes damage divided by the distance in yards from the center of the blast. The GM must determine what the maximum level available in the campaign is. Hellfire damages both substantial and insubstantial beings.

Since there is no visible projectile, it is possible to cause the blast to emerge behind someone. A creature that has its back turned to the origin of the blast may make a Hearing-2 roll to be able to defend against the attack by using retreating dodge or Dodge and Drop. Those who can see the blast's point of origin may employ these defenses normally without the need for the Hearing-2 roll.

Statistics: Burning Attack (Affects Insubstantial, +20%; Area Effect, 4 yards, Spherical, +115%; Armor Divisor, (3), +100%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Dissipation, -50%; Inaccurate 1, -5%; Magical, -10%; No Signature, +20%; Reduced Range, 1/5, -20%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Takes Extra Time 1, -10%) [11/level].

This spell allows you to lavish food and drinks that are highly nourishing and delicious. The produced food and drinks are enough to serve up to 50 people.

Created food and drinks are unstable. They vanishes in 10 seconds unless you use character points to "stabilize" them. Each point spent stabilizes a quantity worth 10% of the campaign's average starting wealth. Alternatively, you can use Permanency Points. Each feast costs $1,200 and weighs 90 lbs.

This spell imbues a single sapient creature with great bravery and morale in battle. The subject adds 4 level to his Will whenever he makes a Fright Check or must resist the Intimidation skill (p. B202) or a supernatural power that induces fear. He also subtracts 1 from all Intimidation rolls made against him. However, this bravery makes the subject overconfident. Treat this as having Overconfidence (p. B148) with a self-control number of 12.

Duration: Special; see text.

You put a creature into a state of suspended animation, slowing its life functions to almost imperceptible levels and allowing a creature to survive for weeks without food or water. In this state, the subject can go safely without food or water 32 times longer and requires only half as much oxygen to survive. He is unaware of his surroundings but awakens automatically if injured (this includes HP loss due to starvation or dehydration). Anyone unfamiliar with this spell must win a Quick Contest of Diagnosis vs. the subject's HT+5 to discover that he's not dead.

When casting this spell, the caster must set a duration. This is imprecise – the GM secretly multiplies the duration by $(2d+3)/10$. When this duration runs out, the subject wakes up.

Hidden Ward

This spell helps disguise the presence of any spells (including Glyph of Warding) that have been cast upon the target object. If Detect Magic, Analyze Dweomer, or similar spell is cast on the object, Hidden Ward reduces the diviner's effective margin of success by 10 for these purposes – so a spell that succeeded by 0-9 completely fails to find the magical auras (including the Hidden Ward spell itself), while one that succeeded by 10+ provides less information than normal and is at a huge disadvantage if it's resisted.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Objects only, -10%; Advantage, Hidden Ward, +280%; Based on IQ, Own Roll, +20%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Extended Duration, 1,000x, +120%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Immediate Preparation Required, 10 minutes, -45%; Magical, -10%; Malediction 1, +100%; Melee Attack, Reach C, -30%; No Signature, +20%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [52]. Note: "Hidden Ward" is Obscure 10 (Detect Magic; Magical, -10%; No Area of Effect, -50%; Stealthy, +100%) [28].

Hide Life

Keywords: Buff.
Full Cost: 8 points.
Casting Roll: Skill.
Components: V, S, F.
Cost: 2 HP + 18 character points.
Casting Time: 8 hours.
Range: Self.
Duration: Truly Permanent.

You isolate your life force in one single part of the body – typically the little finger on the left hand. You can then remove this part and store it in some safe place. This permanently gives you an appropriate disadvantage – typically Missing Digit (p. B144). Once the spell takes effect, you can no longer be killed by ordinary means. You are affected by injury normally, but you need never make a HT roll to stay alive. You can survive (and even function, if you remain conscious) down to -10xHP, at which point your body is reduced to an indestructible skeleton and you automatically fall unconscious. Once the damage stops, you heal normally, and any severed body parts (aside from the one removed when casting this spell) will grow back. Once you have positive HP again, you regain consciousness. You are not immune to death from old age.

Hide Life cannot be dispelled, but it does not function in no-mana areas or in an Antimagic Field – dying in such areas will kill you for good. If the hidden body part is ever destroyed, the spell is broken and your life force returns to your body if you would not otherwise be dead.

You can have only one instance of this spell active at a time.

Focus: A small sickle made of the purest silver, which you use to detach the body part to be stored (1 lb., $1,000).

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Self Only, -50%; Advantage, Hide Life, +200%; Character point-powered, x1/5; Costs Hit Points, 2 HP, -20%; Extended Duration, Truly Permanent, +300%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Immediate Preparation Required, 8 hours, -90%; Magical, -10%; Requires Focus, -15%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [8]. Note: “Hide Life” is Unkillable 2 (Breakable, DR 0, SM-7, Cannot Repair, -40%; Can Be Stolen, -5%; Magical, -10%; Unique, -25%) [20].

You can see and hear into the past, getting a look at events that happened previously at your current location. The level of detail you see and hear by means of this spell depends on the span of time you wish to observe; concentrating on a span of days renders a more detailed perspective than, say, a span of centuries.

You can view only one span of time per casting, chosen from the following options.

Days: Your casting roll is unpenalized. You sense the events of the past, stretching back one day per point of margin of success on your casting roll. You gain detailed knowledge of the people, conversations, and events that transpired.

Weeks: Your casting roll is at -1. You gain a summary of the events of the past, stretching back one week per point of margin of success on your casting roll. Exact wording and details are lost, but you know all the participants and the highlights of the conversations and events that took place.

Years: Your casting roll is at -2. You gain a general idea of the events of the past, stretching back one year per point of margin of success on your casting roll. You notice only noteworthy events such as deaths, battles, scenes of great emotion, important discoveries, and significant happenings.

Centuries: Your casting roll is at -4. You gain a general idea of the events of the past, stretching back one century plus per point of margin of success on your casting roll. You notice only the most remarkable of events: coronations, deaths of important personages, major battles, and other truly historic happenings.

On a failed casting, you receive no impressions at all, and cannot attempt to read that place again for one hour.

Material Component: An hourglass-shaped diamond worth at least $2,000.

By making physical contact with a subject, you may immediately heal him 2 FP lost to dehydration, and any FP used to cast this spell will be treated as FP lost to dehydration. You may cure dehydration of any living being that drinks water, be it animal or plant, but you cannot use it on yourself.

Your casting roll is at -2 if the subject is unconscious. In addition, if used more than once per day on a given subject, you are at a cumulative -3 per successful healing. Failure costs you 1d FP instead of the usual 2 FP!

If you cast this spell on a target of a different size from you, reverse the SM difference and apply it as a modifier; for example, the roll to help an SM-2 creature by a SM+0 caster would be at +2.

You spit forth a cloud of icy crystals that extends outward in a cone. The cloud does 1d fatigue damage, ignoring DR. Targets with Sealed are unaffected. Treat FP lost to the attack identically to FP lost to cold for all purposes, notably recovery (see Cold, p. B430). Targets affected by this spell must make an HT roll, at -1 per 2 points of FP lost, or take a -2 penalty to DX and become Numb (p. B146) for (20-HT) minutes (minimum 1 minute).

This is a 6-yard-wide cone attack that uses the rules for Cone Attacks (p. B413). The caster targets a hex right in front of him, at +4, and the cone extends out from there. It is possible to make the cone wider by using the All-Out Attack (Cone) maneuver (GURPS Dungeon Fantasy Monsters 4: Dragons, p. 10). This spell has the 1/2D range of 5 yards.

Ice Castle

Casting Time: 10 minutes.

Range: Touch.

Duration: 1 day.

You create a huge castle of ice and snow, fully formed with walls, towers, gates, and battlements. The castle includes a single main gate and a sally port, a drawbridge, a 10-yard diameter 12-yard-tall central tower made of ice, and four identical towers connected by walls. The walls are 8-feet-thick, 15-feet-high, and 90-yard-long. The walls with the four towers enclose an open courtyard with the central tower.

If the castle is summoned on relatively level ground, a moat of icy water 20 feet wide surrounds the castle. If summoned on sharply sloping ground, an icy crevasse 20 feet wide and 50 feet deep surrounds the castle.

The castle can be created around living creatures, and in this case it rises up from the earth and snow around them. It cannot be “dropped” onto creatures as an offensive spell. The caster may choose to be lifted onto the roof of the central tower by centering the spell on himself.

The castle melts slowly whenever the temperature rises above freezing; losing 1 HP per minute.

The castle contains no furnishing. However, if you bring your own furniture, then it will reappear in the castle next time it is conjured.

After the spell expires, you are unable to cast it again for five minutes.

Range: 100 yards.

Duration: Instantaneous.

A magical shard of ice blasts from your hand and speeds to its target. This is a ranged attack with Acc 2 and 1/2D 20 that deals 1d(0.2) impaling damage. Ice Knife can be dodged, parried at -2, or blocked.

If the ice knife misses, use Scatter (p. B414) to determine the point of impact. If it hits a hard surface with DR 3 or higher, even if it did not miss, it creates a burst of sharp fragments. Everyone within 3 yards of the point of impact is attacked with effective skill 15, modified by range penalties from the point of impact; see Fragmentation Damage (p. B414). The fragments deal 1d-2 impaling damage.

Ice Rift

Keywords: Area (Fixed).

Full Cost: 43 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 3 FP.
Casting Time: 4 seconds.
Range: Self.
Duration: 10 seconds.

When you cast Ice Rift, an intense but highly localized tremor rips the ground. Everyone within 0.2 miles must make a DX+4 roll every second to avoid falling down (penalized as normal for slippery surfaces), and any physical action that requires a roll is at -2. On an open glacier, an additional DX+4 roll is required to avoid falling into a fissure that is 2d yards deep. On frozen water, falling into a fissure submerges the victim into frigid water. Every building or tunnel in the area must roll against HT-2 or suffer minor damage (e.g., cracks); on a critical failure, the structure collapses.

When cast on an edge of a glacier, this spell causes the glacier's edge to crumble, creating a landslide that travels horizontally as far as it fell vertically. Those in the area may make a DX-based Prospecting or Survival (Arctic) roll to find cover. Those who fail take 6d crushing damage as large-area injury and are buried in ice until they are freed (or until they suffocate). Freeing requires a Quick Contest of ST versus the damage roll by the victim or a friend.

Ice Shape

Keywords: None.
Full Cost: 6 points for level 1 + 3 points/additional level.
Casting Roll: Skill.
Components: V, S.
Cost: 2 FP to cast, 1 FP to maintain.
Casting Time: 4 seconds.
Range: Touch.
Duration: Indefinite.

You can form an existing piece of ice into any shape that suits your purpose. The higher your level of Ice Shape, the larger the quantity you can affect. You can affect up to 10 x (level squared) lbs. of ice in the form of a single object or amorphous mass. For example, Ice Shape 3 would let you affect a 90-lb. ice block or even 90 lbs. of ice shards in a heap, but not two 5-lb. separate ice objects.

Ice Shape doesn't work on complex, manufactured artifacts unless they're made almost entirely of ice. You could affect an ice club, but not a complex mechanism with only a few ice parts.

After casting this spell, you can reshape the target. Forming a simple shape (blob, column, sphere, etc.) requires a Concentrate maneuver but no die roll. If the result is meant to be beautiful or functional, though, the GM may deem the effort a long task (see p. B346) and require skill rolls against Armoury, Artist, Machinist, and so on. You can work without tools, but you must know what you're doing.

You can also cause the target to elongate or flow at a Move 1. This requires constant concentration. You can make a solid ice object ooze, roll, or seep along the ground or a surface, and even reshape it in ways that defy gravity.

When you stop concentrating, you immediately give up control. Stable forms become permanent, while unstable ones collapse instantly.

Statistics: Control Ice 1 (Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Magical, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Takes Extra Time 2, -20%) [6]. Ice Shield

The subject becomes covered in a thin layer of magical ice that wards him against external attacks. He has DR 5 against external attacks. This includes eyes, but not gear. This DR is ablative - it stops damage once. Each point of DR stops one point of basic damage but is destroyed in the process.

Lost DR “heals” at the rate of 1 per day. Even when this spell has worn off, the subject still recovers “virtual” DR at the same rate. Thus, if this spell granted DR 5, and the subject took 4 points of damage, reducing it to 1, then recasting this spell immediately on the same subject would only provide DR 1, because he hasn’t “recovered” yet.

In temperatures below freezing, this spell lasts 30 minutes instead of 3 minutes.

Ice Ship

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 40 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 3 FP.

Casting Time: 1 hour.

Range: Touch.

Duration: Indefinite.

You create a ship made of ice. The vessel can take one of two forms, depending on your needs at the time. The form is chosen when the spell is cast and cannot be changed.

Ice Runner: Use the stats for the small ice sailer from page 15 of GURPS Fantasy-Tech 1: The Edge of Reality.

Ice Galleon: Use the stats for the small dhow from page 14 of GURPS Vehicles: Transports of Fantasy.

Regardless of the chosen form, the vessel is not combustible. In temperatures above freezing, the vessel loses 1 HP per 5 minutes. Both forms melt and disappear into puddles when you stop maintaining the spell.

If you fail your casting roll, you can try again, but repeated attempts cost 7 FP (instead of the usual 5 FP) and take a cumulative -1 to the skill roll, until you succeed or wait an hour.

A created vessel lasts indefinitely. That means, however, that if you want to cast this spell again, the first vessel goes away as soon as you begin casting to create the second one. If you can maintain multiple spells (Simultaneous Spells, GURPS Thaumatology: Sorcery, p. 8), you can keep multiple versions of this spell “on” to get around that problem. Unlike most spells with Indefinite duration, this one does not require paying FP to maintain.

Ice Slick

Keywords: Area (Special).

Full Cost: 42 points for level 1 + 3 points/additional level.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 10 yards.

Duration: 10 seconds.

An Ice Slick spell covers a solid surface with a layer of new ice. This may affect an area up to (Ice Slick level)+3 yards in radius. New ice is difficult to spot, requiring a Vision roll at -4. The icy area is considered a very slippery surface. Those moving into or through the greased area must roll against DX-4 every turn or fall; this roll is at +1 if walking at Move/2, +2 at Move/4, and +3 at Move/8 (round down, minimum 0). Critical failure causes 1d-2 injury to a randomly chosen limb. Outside of combat, if you walk slowly (Move 1), then you only need to make an unpenalized DX roll every two minutes to avoid falling.

In combat, you have to make a DX-4 roll after each attack or defense roll. Perfect Balance gives +4, Excellent Balance gives +3. Failure means that you fall down.

If you fail a DX roll to remain standing by 1, you fall on your knees; if you fail by 2, you assume a sitting posture, and any worse failure results in you falling prone. To stand back up after falling down on a slippery surface, you have to make two successful DX-4 rolls in a row.

Slippery surfaces allow skidding (p. MA105).

Statistics: Control Ground Friction 4 (Accessibility, Only to reduce friction, -25%; Cannot concentrate to extend duration, -10%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Magical, -10%; Persistent, +40%; Ranged, +40%; Reduced Range, 1/10, -30%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Visible, -10%) [42]. Ice Storm

Full Cost: 41 points.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 100 yards.

Duration: 10 seconds.

Great magical hailstones pound down for the duration of the spell in a 4-yard-radius 4-yard-high cylindrical area. Use Innate Attack (Gaze), at +4, to center the area; see Scatter (p. B414) if you miss. Everyone who spends even part of their turn in the area is attacked with an effective skill of 12, modified only for their SM. This spell bypasses any cover that does not provide overhead protection, and negates attack penalties to hit crouching, kneeling, sitting, or prone targets.

Each hailstone deals 1d-1 crushing damage. In addition, Hearing and Vision rolls (including Infravision) made in the area or through the area take a -4 penalty. At the end of the duration, the hail disappears, leaving no aftereffects (other than the damage dealt).

Ice Web

Keywords: Area (Fixed).

Full Cost: 55 points.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim.

Components: V, S, M.
Cost: 2 FP.
Casting Time: 2 seconds.
Range: 20 yards.
Duration: 5 minutes.

Ice Web creates a many-layered mass of strong, frigid strands of pure coldfire. These strands trap those caught in them. These masses must be anchored to two or more solid and diametrically opposed points—floor and ceiling, opposite walls, or the like—or else the web collapses upon itself and disappears. The web is a plane that can otherwise be oriented in any way, but has length of 6 yards, width of 1 yard, and height of 4 yards. Anyone except creatures with the cold subtype (frost giants, ice paraelementals, and other creatures associated with cold and ice) covered by the web is grappled with ST 10 and rooted in place. They cannot select the Move or Change Posture maneuvers or change facing, and are at -4 to DX. Each additional Web cast over the area increases the ST by 1.

Anyone who touches a victim grappled by the Ice Web sticks to him, becoming grappled as well!

Anyone caught in the Ice Web takes 1d-1 non-incendiary burning damage. Targets who took damage from this spell must make an HT roll, at -1 per 2 points of HP lost, or take a -2 penalty to DX and become Numb (p. B146) for (20-HT) minutes (minimum 1 minute). Damage dealt by this spell does not heal via natural or supernatural means unless the victim is brought into an area with an ambient temperature above freezing.

To break free, the victim must win a Quick Contest of ST or Escape skill against the ST of the Ice Web. Each attempt takes one second. If the victim fails to break free, he loses 1 FP but may try again. Alternatively, he may try to destroy the Ice Web. Innate Attacks hit automatically; other attacks are at -4. External attacks on the Ice Web take no penalty, but risk hitting the victim on a miss (see Striking Into a Close Combat, p. B392). The Web has DR 3. Each point of damage reduces ST by one. At ST 0, the Web is destroyed and the victims are freed. The Ice Web can only be damaged by cutting and burning attacks.

Victims also can roll thrust damage once per turn against the Ice Web as a free action. If this destroys the binding, they may ignore its impediment at once. If it doesn't, they're affected normally but may still use their turn for a standard attempt to break free, and the binding is not damaged by this free "attack."

Material Component: A vial of coldfire ($100; 0.5 lb.).

Statistics: Binding 10 (Accessibility, Not against cold creatures, -10%; Area Effect, 2 yards, +50%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Environmental, Anchored to diametrically opposed surfaces, -20%; Extended Duration, 30x, +60%; Link, +10%; Magical, -10%; Only Damaged By Cutting and Burning, +20%; Persistent, +40%; Reduced Range, 1/5, -20%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Sticky, +20%; Takes Extra Time 1, -10%; Trigger, Coldfire, -20%; Wall, +30%) [40] + Burning Attack 1d-1 (Area Effect, 2 yards, +50%; Cosmic, Lingering Effect, +100%; Environmental, Anchored to diametrically opposed surfaces, -20%; Extended Duration, 30x, +60%; Link, +10%; Magical, -10%; No Incendiary Effect, -10%; Persistent, +40%; Reduced Range, 1/5, -20%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Side Effect, DX-2 and Numb, +90%; Takes Extra Time 1, -10%; Trigger, Coldfire, -20%; Wall, +30%) [15].

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim.
Components: V, S.
Cost: 1 FP.
Casting Time: 1 minute.
Range: 10 yards.
Duration: Permanent or until discharged.

You create icicles on a ceiling, doorway, or similar overhang. The icicles fall when a creature walks beneath them, attacking the victims with an effective skill 14 modified only for Size Modifier and dealing 1d(0.2) impaling damage to a random hit location on a successful hit. This spell bypasses any cover that does not provide overhead protection. The icicles can be dodged or blocked.

The caster and any characters you choose can walk under the icicles or through the doorway without triggering the ice attack. Others can remove them with a successful Dispel Magic or 5 points of burning damage from fire. However, an unsuccessful attempt to dispel or melt the icicles automatically triggers the attack.

A caster can have no more than 1 + Talent instances of Icicles active at the same time.

Illusory Pit

Keywords: Area (Leveled).

Full Cost: 30 points for level 1 + 12.5 points/additional level*.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use skill or Artist (Illusion) to determine how convincing it is.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 2 seconds.

Range: 50 yards.

Duration: 30 seconds.

You create an illusory pit, and each creature entering or within the area is forced to resist or believe the floor on which it stands has become a bottomless chasm. In reality, it is only 4 yards deep, which may come into play if you need to conceal something. When casting the spell, you may shape the illusion in any way you wish, possibly leaving some areas unaffected. However, you cannot concentrate to change the image once it's already been cast.

You must win a Quick Contest of skill – or Artist (Illusion), if better – against the Per of anyone you want to fool; otherwise they notice something “off.” Their roll is at +4 if they have reason to be alert for illusions. However, even if they successfully “disbelieve,” your illusion doesn’t disappear. Thus, even an obvious illusion can be useful to block line of sight. Those who fail the roll to disbelieve the illusion fall prone and are unable to take any action (including active defenses) except clawing desperately at the floor in the hopes of stopping their apparent fall. Each second, they may roll the Quick Contest again to stop this effect. As soon as a victim successfully resists, he will not be affected by this Illusory Pit again, but he is mentally stunned. He may roll against Will to recover normally on the next turn.

Creatures flying over an Illusory Pit are not affected.

Illusory Script

Keywords: Obvious, Resisted (Will).

Full Cost: 25 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP + 1 character point.

Casting Time: 10 minutes.

Range: Touch.

Duration: Permanent; suggestion lasts for 30 minutes.

You write instructions or other information on parchment, paper, or any suitable writing material. The Illusory Script appears to be some form of foreign or magical writing. Only the person (or people) designated by you at the time of the casting are able to read the writing; it's unintelligible to any other character.

Any unauthorized creature attempting to read the script triggers a potent illusory effect and must roll a Quick Contest of Will against the caster's skill. A successful resistance means the creature can look away with only a mild sense of disorientation. Failure means the creature is subject to a suggestion implanted in the script by you at the time the Illusory Script spell was cast. The suggestion lasts only 30 minutes. The suggestion must be a simple command; see the Suggest skill (p. B191) for guidelines. Any order that goes against the subject's values or sense of self-preservation triggers another resistance roll, possibly at a bonus.

If successfully dispelled by Dispel Magic, the Illusory Script and its secret message disappear. The hidden message can be read by a combination of the True Seeing spell with the Read Magic spell.

Statistics: Mind Control (Accessibility, Only sapient creatures, -10%; Character point-powered, x1/5; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Delay, Trigger, Reading, +50%; Environmental, Writing material, -20%; Extended Duration, 10x, +40%; Extended Duration on Persistent, Permanent, +150%; Immediate Preparation Required, 10 minutes, -45%; Independent, +70%; Magical, -10%; Melee Attack, Reach C, -30%; Persistent, +40%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Selective Effect, +20%; Short-Range 1, -10%; Suggestion, -40%; Vision-Based, -20%) [25].

Casting Roll: Skill. Use skill or Artist (Illusion) to determine how convincing it is.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 3 FP.

Casting Time: 1 hour.

Range: 10 yards.

Duration: Permanent.

You can create an illusory wall anywhere that you can see within 10 yards. You do not have to concentrate to maintain it, Illusory Wall is "fire and forget." It can be cast repeatedly, allowing the caster to put up multiple walls as needed. You must win a Quick Contest of skill – or Artist (Illusion), if better – against the Per of anyone you want to fool; otherwise they notice something "off." Their roll is at +4 if they have reason to be alert for illusions or +10 if you made it appear from out of nowhere. However, even if they successfully “disbelieve,” your illusion doesn’t disappear. Thus, even an obvious illusion can be useful to block line of sight.

On level 1, this spell lets the caster create a barrier that is six yards long, one yard wide, and four yards high. Each additional level doubles the length. The caster may form this into any shape he wishes.

Statistics: Illusion (Accessibility, Walls only, -60%; Costs Fatigue, 3 FP, -15%; Extended Duration, Permanent, +150%; Immediate Preparation Required, 1 hour, -75%; Independence, +40%; Magical, -10%; Persistent, +40%; Ranged, +40%; Reduced Range, 1/10, -30%; Requires gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires magic words, -10%; Visual Only, -30%; Wall, Shapeable, +60%) [45]. Imprisonment

Keywords: Resisted (Will).

Full Cost: 52 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Touch.

Duration: Permanent.

When you cast Imprisonment and touch a creature that is touching the ground, it is entombed in a state of suspended animation in a small sphere far beneath the surface of the earth. The subject remains there unless a Remove Curse or Break Enchantment spell is cast at the locale where the imprisonment took place. Magical search by a crystal ball, a Locate Object spell, or some other similar divination does not reveal the fact that a creature is imprisoned, but Discern Location does.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (Will; Based on IQ, Own Roll, +20%; Based on Will, +20%; Cosmic, Immune to Dispel Magic, +50%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Environmental, Ground, -20%; Extended Duration, Permanent, +150%; Magical, -10%; Malediction 1, +100%; Melee Attack, Reach C, -30%; No Signature, +20%; Paralysis, Variant, +150%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [52].

Incarnum Arc

Keywords: Incarnum, Missile, Obvious.

Full Cost: 19 points.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to place the effect.

Components: V, S, (E).

Cost: 1 HP or ER (Incarnum).

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 20 yards.

Duration: 10 seconds.

You create a drifting “lightning rod” of incarnum that appears at the point you designate (you target the hex at +4). Instantly, an arc of soul energy forms between you and the incarnum rod, creating a line. At the end of your turn, any living creature, including insubstantial ones, in that line is attacked by the arc with effective skill level 14, modified only for the target’s Size Modifier, and takes 1d-1 toxic damage on hit, ignoring DR or any obstacles between you and the “rod.” This discharge can only be dodged, not blocked or parried. This spell has no 1/2D range and works identically in air and underwater.

In subsequent turns, incarnum arcs again between you and the rod at the end of your turn. You can move the rod up at Move 3 by taking a Concentrate maneuver, or you can leave it in place and move yourself if you wish to change the path of the arc. If the distance between you and the rod at the end of your turn is further than 20 yards, no arc occurs but the spell remains active.

Incarnum Bladestorm

Keywords: Area (Fixed), Incarnum.

Full Cost: 11 points.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim.

Components: V, S, (E).
Cost: 1 HP or ER (Incarnum).
Casting Time: 1 second.
Range: 20 yards.
Duration: 10 seconds.

You create a whirling storm of jagged incarnum blades in a 4-yard-radius 4-yard-high cylindrical area. Use Innate Attack (Gaze), at +4, to center the area; see Scatter (p. B414) if you miss. This spell works identically in air and underwater. Every second, everyone in the area, including incorporeal creatures, is attacked with an effective skill of 12, modified only for their SM. Blade deals 1d-1 cutting damage. The blades can be dodged, blocked, or parried.

Statistics: Cutting Attack 1d-1 (Affects Insubstantial, +20%; Area Effect, 4 yards, +100%; Blockable, -5%; Bombardment, Skill-12, -10%; Can be parried, -5%; Costs Hit Points, 1 HP, -10%; Increased Range, 10x (Accessibility, Underwater only, -50%), +15%; Magical, -10%; Persistent, +40%; Reduced Range, 1/5, -20%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Underwater, +20%) [11].

Incendiary Cloud

Keywords: Area (Fixed).
Full Cost: 32 points.
Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim.
Components: V, S.
Cost: 1 FP.
Casting Time: 1 second.
Range: 50 yards.
Duration: 10 seconds.

You may fill a 4-yard-radius 4-yard-high cylindrical area with a cloud of roiling smoke shot through with white-hot embers. This gives -5 to all vision and Infravision rolls made through it. To place the cloud at a distance, use Innate Attack (Gaze), with normal range penalties, but at +4 for affecting an area. The initial attack roll places the effect. It then drifts from that point with the wind.

Every creature in the area takes 1d-2 burning damage per second. In addition, any creature that breathes in the smoke takes 1d-2 burning damage per second, ignoring external DR. Once the creature loses 1/3 of its HP to this respiratory effect, it begins to cough (p. B428) until it recovers HP above this threshold.

Statistics: Burning Attack 1d-2 (Area Effect, 4 yards, +100%; Drifting, +20%; Link, +10%; Magical, -10%; Persistent, +40%; Reduced Range, 1/2, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [5] + Burning Attack 1d-2 (Area Effect, 4 yards, +100%; Drifting, +20%; Link, +10%; Magical, -10%; Persistent, +40%; Reduced Range, 1/2, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Respiratory Effect, +50%; Symptoms, 1/3 HP, Coughing, +60%) [7] + Obscure Vision 5 (Area Effect, 4 yards, +50%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Drifting, +20%; Extended, Infravision, +20%; Link, +10%; Magical, -10%; Ranged, +50%; Reduced Range, 1/2, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [20].

Incorporeal Disharmonics

Keywords: Cone, Obvious.
Full Cost: 4 points/level.
Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Beam) to hit.
Components: V, S, F.
Cost: 1 FP.
Casting Time: 1 second.
Range: 20 yards.
Duration: Instantaneous.

You create a wave of sonic energy that deals 1d non-incendiary burning damage per level to insubstantial creatures. The spell behaves identically in air and underwater, but is blocked by Silence and similar effects. This attack has the 1/2D range of 10 yards.

This is a 1-yard-wide cone attack that uses the rules for Cone Attacks (p. B413). On the battle map, it is a 1x20 row of hexes. This cone is too tight to affect many targets, but gets better chances to hit. The caster targets a hex right in front of him, at +4, and the cone extends out from there. It is possible to make the cone wider by using the All-Out Attack (Cone) maneuver (GURPS Dungeon Fantasy Monsters 4: Dragons, p. 10).

Even though a one-hex creature is big enough to block the cone, everyone in the hex where the cone stops is fully affected. If a cone passes between two adjacent creatures, then both are hit. The cone cannot be parried or blocked, but it can be dodged by diving for cover or retreating out of the affected area. If a creature does that, then those behind it may get affected by the cone normally.

Range: Unlimited (long-distance).

Duration: 1 second.

This spell alerts all wearers of a specific insignia (see below) within range. Such creatures hear a single mental “ping” lasting one second when this spell is cast. The margin of success on the casting roll determines the maximum range using the Long-Distance Modifiers (p. B241).

This spell requires significant preparation. Before using this spell you must forge specially crafted insignias. These can be crafted in the form of amulets, badges, rings, or any similar object, but each one must bear the same logo, crest, or symbol. Each insignia costs at least $500. Militias, guilds, or churches within a city use this spell to call all its members together.

This spell creates a deadly raging heat in the internal organs of the targets, causing them to burst into flame from within. Each second, the victim takes 1d-1 burning damage, ignoring external DR. Each instance of damage can be negated with an HT roll with a penalty equal to the caster's margin of victory on his casting roll. A successful resistance roll does not stop the further cycles. Once the victim loses 1/3 of his HP to this spell, he begins to experience terrible pain (p. B428) until he heals above this threshold. It is appropriate to have this spell cause a Fright Check on its first successful damage cycle. Creatures with Injury Tolerance (No Vitals) are unaffected.

With a flash of red light and a sound like the screams of a thousand suffering souls, you invest the target with infernal energy, drawing power from an amnizu to power the spell. You infuse a target with the intellect-sapping power and slippery mind of an amnizu. While under the effect of this spell, the subject may touch a sapient creature to drain its intellect. The subject rolls a Quick Contest of Will against its victim, and if it wins, the victim gets a -4 penalty to IQ for three minutes.

In addition, the subject gains DR 2 against heat and fire that protects both against external and internal attacks and includes eye protection, and becomes immune to effects that reduce IQ. However, the subject counts as a devil for the purpose of supernatural effects and takes double injury from holy and silver weapons while under the effects of this spell.

The subject cannot use these spines actively, but gets a DX-4 roll to hit each foe in close combat once per turn, as a free action. Roll at +2 against foes who attacked the subject from behind. Those who grapple or slam the subject are hit immediately and automatically, and those who slam the subject take maximum damage. The spines deal 1d impaling damage.

In addition, the subject gains DR 2 against heat and fire that protects both against external and internal attacks and includes eye protection. Duration: 3 minutes.

With a rush of sinister green light, you invest the target with infernal energy, drawing power from a bearded devil to fuel the spell. You cause the target to grow a long, ropy mass of callused tissue from its chin that vaguely resembles a beard. This beard flails about as though it were alive. The beard can be used to attack with DX or Brawling. It has Reach C and deals thrust damage at -1 per die, with the usual damage bonus from having Brawling at DX+2 or higher. If this attack injures a living being, it must make a HT-3 roll to avoid contracting the devil chills disease. The disease has an incubation period of 4 days, then it deals 1d-1 toxic damage every day for six days. Each instance of damage can be negated with a HT-3 roll. When the victim loses 2/3 of its HP to this disease, it gets a -3 penalty to ST until it recovers above that threshold.

The beard is part of the body that can be targeted at -5. It has HP 3 and no DR, but damage dealt to the beard is not subtracted from the target's HP. If the spell is recast, the beard regrows with full HP.

In addition, the subject gains DR 2 against heat and fire that protects both against external and internal attacks and includes eye protection. However, the subject counts as a devil for the purpose of supernatural effects and takes double injury from holy and silver weapons while under the effects of this spell.

When the spell's duration runs out or the spell is dispelled or cancelled, the subject loses 4 FP.

Investiture of the Chain Devil

Full Cost (Ranged): 39 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Casting Time: 2 seconds.

Range: Self – Touch – Unlimited (-1/yard) – Unlimited (standard).

Duration: 3 minutes.

With a rush of red light and the faint clanking of many chains, you invest the target with the power of a chain devil. The target's arms and hands become wrapped in chains that the target can use to attack enemies. The chains do not prevent the target from holding objects or using hands. These chains deal swing crushing damage and have Reach 1-4*. The chains are awkward enough that they require a Ready maneuver to change reach (e.g., between 1 and 3) – this action does not require free hands, and can be done for both chains at once. The starting Reach of the chains is up to the caster. Otherwise, the target can strike at foes that are at any distance within the chains' reach. Attempts to parry the chains are at -4, and fencing weapons cannot parry at all! Attempts to block chains are at -2.

This swinging attack is unbalanced – the target cannot use it to parry if it has already used it to attack this turn (or vice versa), and parries with the chains are at -2. The target has two chain attacks, which permits him Dual-Weapon Attacks (p. B417). The chains have DR 4, effective weight BL/20 lbs., and HP as a homogenous object of its mass. This attack uses the Kusari skill.

Chains also have a protective function. Whenever an attack strikes the target's arms or hands, roll 3d. On 11 or lower, the attack strikes the chain wrappings that provide an additional DR 4*.

In addition, the subject gains DR 2 against heat and fire that protects both against external and internal attacks and includes eye protection. However, the subject counts as a devil for the purpose of supernatural effects and takes double injury from holy and silver weapons while under the effects of this spell.

When the spell's duration runs out or the spell is dispelled or cancelled, the subject loses 4 FP.

With the sound of flapping wings, you grant the target the power of an erinyes. The target gains the sinister allure of an erinyes. While the spell is in effect, the subject can beckon a sapient creature it can see clearly, if that creature also can see the recipient of Investiture of the Erinyes. This is resolved as a Quick Contest of the beckoner's IQ versus the victim's Will, using standard range penalties. If the beckoner wins, the victim must use its next maneuver to move as close as possible to the beckoner with a Move maneuver, ending the movement in an adjacent hex, if possible. The beckoned creature will not take obviously suicidal actions, such as walking off the edge of a cliff. If the victim resists successfully, further uses on the same victim take a cumulative -2 penalty. This penalty resets after one day.

In addition, the subject gains DR 2 against heat and fire that protects both against external and internal attacks and includes eye protection. However, the subject counts as a devil for the purpose of supernatural effects and takes double injury from holy and silver weapons while under the effects of this spell.

A deep chuckle sounds as you complete the incantation, and motes of violet light surround the target, imbuing it with infernal energy drawn from a harvester devil. Whenever the imbued creature strikes another living being with a cutting, impaling, or piercing melee attack and deals at least 1 point of injury, the victim must make a HT roll. If he fails, he gains the Hemophilia disadvantage (p. B138) for one day.

Upon the casting of this spell, the target's flesh transforms, assuming a dull metallic hue. Its eyes erupt with unholy flame, and when it opens its mouth, you see the fires of Hell roiling within. The subject gains a meta-trait that transforms his body into cold iron; see the footnote below for details. Clothing and gear weighing no more than his BL change with him.

Metallic body counts as cold iron for the purpose of Vulnerabilities and overcoming DR with Bane. It is affected by magnetism, but is immune to metabolic hazards, pressure, vacuum, suffocation, bleeding, and contact agents. Unarmed attacks get a +1 bonus to damage that does not stack with brass knuckles. The body, including the eyes, is homogenous and has DR 6, plus additional DR 5 against fire attacks. Due to diabolic nature of this transformation, the subject takes double injury from holy and silver weapons.

While under the effect of this spell, the subject can breathe out a blast of hellfire up to six times, using Innate Attack (Breath) to hit. This attack deals thrust burning damage with a (3) armor divisor at -1 per die as large-area injury. This is a cone attack that uses rules from Area and Spreading Attacks (pp. B413-414). The cone is 1-yard wide and has a length of ST/2 yards and 1/2D range of ST/5 yards. It is possible to make the cone wider by using the rules from Cones of Power (GURPS Dungeon Fantasy Monsters 4: Dragons, p. 10). This attack can harm both substantial and insubstantial beings.

When the spell's duration runs out or the spell is dispelled or cancelled, the subject loses 4 FP.

Malevolent blue light suffuses the target as the temperature nearby drops ominously. The subject becomes suffused with infernal cold. Anyone touching the subject takes 1 point of fatigue damage per second. Treat FP lost to the attack identically to FP lost to cold for all purposes, notably recovery (see Cold, p. B430). Targets that take damage from this effect must make a HT roll, at -1 per 2 points of FP lost, or take a -2 penalty to DX and become Numb (p. B146) for (20-HT) minutes (minimum 1 minute).

A fearsome roar splits the air when you conclude the arcane words that invest the target with hellish power drawn from a malebranche. The target grows a pair of horns that it can use to attack enemies. The horns deal thrust crushing damage and have Reach C. The horns have DR 4, effective weight BL/20 lbs., and HP as a homogenous object of their mass. This attack uses the Brawling skill or DX. Horns cannot be used to parry.

This spell also toughens the subject's skull, increasing its DR by 2, and increases ST for the purpose of determining damage by 4.

A moan precedes the transformation that results when you imbue the target with the baleful power of a narzugon. You bind the dread essence of a narzugon to a target creature, filling it with the misery and horror that defines the devil's existence. The subject can make its face resemble one of an opponent's departed loved ones or bitter enemies with a Concentrate maneuver. The victim must be within 10 yards. The subject rolls a Quick Contest of Will with the victim. If the subject wins, roll 3d for the Fright Check result, as usual, but add his margin of victory instead of his margin of failure. A dull humming noise sounds briefly, and the air crackles with the terrible power of an orthon. While under the effect of this spell, a creature is infused with the disruptive power of an orthon. The air shatters with a shriek of sorrow, and a flash of flame briefly limns the target of this spell as she receives a portion of the might of a pit fiend. The spell causes the subject's mouth to expand to accommodate new dripping fangs. The subject's bite attacks deal impaling damage, and he is considered to be one SM larger for the purpose of biting (see Teeth, p. MA115). However, attacks that target the subject's jaw are at +1. To add to this devilish effect, a pair of red leathery wings tears free from the flesh of the subject's back, granting him the ability to fly at Air Move equal to Basic Speed x 2. The subject needs to have clearance equal to twice his height to take off or land, and is unable to hover – he must move at least 1/4 his top airspeed (rounded up) when flying. The subject's claws grow, becoming sharp and dangerous. He can use claws to deal cutting damage with his punches.

The subject's appearance becomes Hideous, as scales cover him, granting him DR 2* and DR 5 against fire and heat. The heat protection extends to internal attacks and eyes. The subject becomes immune to poison, but counts as a devil while this spell is active. He takes double injury from holy and silver weapons.

The air stinks of sulfur and brimstone as you use the essence of a spinagon to imbue a creature with the power of Baator. You cause a creature to suddenly bristle with spines. The subject cannot use these spines actively, but gets a DX-4 roll to hit each foe in close combat once per turn, as a free action. Roll at +2 against foes who attacked the subject from behind. Those who grapple or slam the subject are hit immediately and automatically, and those who slam the subject take maximum damage. The spines deal 1d-2 impaling damage.

The subject can snap its body forward to unleash a volley of up to three spines. This is a ranged attack with Acc 3, 1/2D 25, Max 50, RoF 3, Rcl 1. The flung spines deal 1d-1 pi- inc damage.

In addition, the subject gains DR 2 against heat and fire that protects both against external and internal attacks and includes eye protection. However, the subject counts as a devil for the purpose of supernatural effects and takes double injury from holy and silver weapons while under the effects of this spell.

When the spell's duration runs out or the spell is dispelled or cancelled, the subject loses 4 FP.

You make the subject and everything he is carrying (up to his Light encumbrance) invisible. The subject gets a +9 to Stealth in any situation where being seen would matter. Invisibility only works against electromagnetic vision (which encompasses ordinary vision, Infravision, Ultravision, and radar). The subject does not cast a shadow and doesn't show up in mirrors.

This spell ends if the subject attacks any creature. For purposes of this spell, an attack includes any spell targeting a foe or whose area or effect includes a foe. Exactly who is a foe depends on the invisible character's perceptions. Actions directed at unattended objects do not break the spell. Causing harm indirectly is not an attack. Thus, an invisible being can open doors, talk, eat, climb stairs, summon monsters and have them attack, cut the ropes holding a rope bridge while enemies are on the bridge, remotely trigger traps, open a portcullis to release attack dogs, and so forth. If the subject attacks directly, however, it immediately becomes visible along with all its gear.

When you cast this spell on a creature or object, the recipient begins to emanate an aura of invisibility, conferring everyone within 4 yards the benefits of invisibility to normal vision, Infravision, and Ultravision. The effect moves with the recipient. Those within the area of this spell can see each other and themselves as if unaffected by the spell. Any affected creature moving out of the area becomes visible, and any creature that enters the area becomes invisible.

This spell ends for a particular subject if the subject attacks any creature. He does not become invisible again if he leaves and reenters the area of this spell. If the original recipient of this spell attacks,

Duration: 30 minutes.

When cast on a skeletal undead being, such as an animated skeleton or a lich, this spell changes its bones to iron. This gives the target additional DR 4, but it cannot increase the target's DR to higher than 6. In addition, if the target had Brittle, it loses this disadvantage for the duration. As a side effect, the target becomes vulnerable to rust and magnetism. This spell does not work on living creatures and animated exoskeletons.

Focus: A miniature skull made out of iron or steel ($80, 0.1 lb.)

Iron Scarf

Components: V, F.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 4 yards.

Duration: Instantaneous.

When you cast this spell, you flick a silk scarf at one creature, magically propelling it toward the target. This is a swung Reach 1-4 melee attack that uses the Whip skill. It can be blocked, dodged, and parried, but attempts to block are at -2, and attempts to parry are at -4. Fencing weapons cannot parry this attack at all, unless held in Defensive Grip. The scarf momentarily assumes an ironlike hardness on the way dealing 1d cutting damage. Optionally, you may use the Crack technique (p. MA70) to increase damage.

Focus: A silk scarf.

You turn one wooden object into ironwood. Ironwood is a magical substance created by druids from normal wood. While remaining natural wood in almost every way, ironwood is as strong, heavy, and resistant to fire as steel. Spells that affect metal or iron (such as Heat Metal) do not function on ironwood. Spells that affect wood (such as Wood Shape) do affect ironwood, although ironwood does not burn.

Ironwood objects have DR 4, are not flammable, and are heavier. For ironwood weapons, such as staves, use the rules for Full-Metal Weapons (GURPS Fantasy-Tech 2: Weapons of Fantasy, pp. 4-5).

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Wooden objects only, -30%; Advantage, Ironwood, +180%; Based on IQ, Own Roll, +20%; Costs Fatigue, 5 FP, -25%; Extended Duration, 3,000x, +140%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Immediate Preparation Required, 10 minutes, -45%; Magical, -10%; Malediction 1, +100%; Melee Attack, Reach C, -30%; Negated Disadvantage, Combustible, +50%; No Signature, +20%; Pact, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [44]. Note: "Ironwood" is DR 4 (Magical, -10%) [18].

The subject's flesh turns white. This gives a +2 to Camouflage and Stealth when posed still and unclad against snow, ice, or other white surfaces. The "Self" version of this spell can only be cast if the caster is a creature of flesh.

Jet of Steam

Keywords: Cone, Obvious.

Full Cost: 10.5 points for level 1 + 6.5 points/additional level.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Beam) to hit.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 10 yards.

Duration: Instantaneous.

This spell creates a jet of superheated steam (approximately 50 mph) that originates from you. This jet does 1d crushing damage per level, doubled, for the purposes of knockback only, and has a 1/2D range of 5 yards. It can also snuff out candles, sweep the floor, and so on. Against enemies with Injury Tolerance (Diffuse), such as gaseous beings and swarms, this becomes a much more potent attack, doing full damage – including the doubling! Ignore the usual injury cap of 2 HP (Injury to Unliving, Homogenous, and Diffuse Targets, p. B380). In addition, it does 1d-1 linked non-incendiary burning damage that does not scale with spell level.

This is a 1-yard-wide cone attack that uses the rules for Cone Attacks (p. B413). On the battle map, it is a 1x10 row of hexes. This cone is too tight to affect many targets, but gets better chances to hit. The caster targets a hex right in front of him, at +4, and the cone extends out from there. It is possible to make the cone wider by using the All-Out Attack (Cone) maneuver (GURPS Dungeon Fantasy Monsters 4: Dragons, p. 10).

Even though a one-hex creature is big enough to block the cone, everyone in the hex where the cone stops is fully affected. If a cone passes between two adjacent creatures, then both are hit. The cone cannot be parried or blocked, but it can be dodged by diving for cover or retreating out of the affected area. If a creature does that, then those behind it may get affected by the cone normally.

Statistics: Burning Attack 1d-1 (Cone 1, +60%; Increased 1/2D, 5x, +10%; Link, +10%; Magical, -10%; No Incendiary Effect, -10%; Reduced Range, 1/10, -30%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [4] + Crushing Attack 1d (Cone 1, +60%; Cosmic, Does knockback-based damage against diffuse targets, +50%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Double Knockback, +20%; Increased 1/2D, 5x, +10%; Link, +10%; Magical, -10%; No Blunt Trauma, -20%; No Wounding, Except

Jump

Full Cost (Self): 8 points.

Full Cost (Touch): 23 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 2 seconds.

Range: Self – Touch.

Duration: 3 minutes.

This spell increases the subject's ability to jump. The subject's jump distance and height are doubles (p. B352). The subject's Move while jumping is the greater of his normal ground Move and 1/5 his maximum long jump distance (thus, his maximum jump never takes more than five seconds). When jumping at a foe for the purpose of slamming him, use maximum jumping Move and don't make a separate roll to jump accurately.

Finally, if the subject falls a distance less than or equal to his maximum high jump, he takes no damage. He can increase this distance by five yards with a successful Acrobatics roll.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Self Only, -50%; Advantage, Jump, +90%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Magical, -10%; Requires gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires magic words, -10%; Takes Extra Time 1, -10%) [8]. Note: "Jump" is Super Jump 1 (Magical, -10%) [9]. Keen Edge

Full Cost (Short-Range): 52 points for level 1 + 16 points/additional level.

Full Cost (Ranged): 57 points for level 1 + 16 points/additional level.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Touch – Unlimited (-1/yard) – Unlimited (standard)

Duration: Three minutes.

This spell makes a weapon magically keen, improving its ability to penetrate armor. The spell can be cast only on impaling or cutting weapons. The weapon enhanced gains an armor divisor for the duration. The divisor depends on the level of the spell (maximum 6):

Level	Divisor	Level	Divisor
1	(2)	4	(10)
2	(3)	5	(100)
3	(5)	6	Ignores DR

If the weapon already had a natural armor divisor, multiply the two together; e.g., a superfine sword that does 2d+2(2) cutting, enchanted by Keen Edge 2, would end up with damage 2d+2(6). This does not apply to magical armor divisors; as with all Buff spells, use only the highest magical effect.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Only on cutting or impaling weapons, -30%; Advantage, Keen Edge (2), +340%; Based on IQ, Own Roll, +20%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Magical, -10%; Malediction 1, +100%; Melee Attack, Reach C, -30%; No Signature, +20%; Requires Additional levels add further Keen Edge to the Advantage enhancement (+160%) [+16]. Notes: "Keen Edge (2)" is 34 points, per Enhances or Transforms an Existing Attack (GURPS Thaumatology: Sorcery, p. 11). Each additional level removes -2 in effect penalties. The Short-Range version removes Melee Attack, Reach C, -30% [+3]. The Ranged version replaces Malediction 1, +100% with Malediction 2, +150% [+5].

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 5 FP.

Casting Time: 10 minutes.
Range: Self – Touch, see text.
Duration: 6 days.

You bind the ectoplasmic form of the target touched ghost onto another creature (hereafter called the “bearer”). The ghost clings to the bearer’s back or chest in the form of a tattoo for the duration of the spell. Leech ghost skill binds only the ghost, not any of its equipment. When casting this spell, the caster assigns a number of character points equal to the spell level to any skills possessed by the bound ghost to be imparted to the bearer. While this ghostly tattoo is in place, the bearer may have access to these skills. For any skill, the maximum number of points spent on it is equal to the highest point value for this skill of the ghost and the bearer.

Example: The bearer has Diplomacy (H) IQ+1 [8] and Expert Skill (Psionics) (H) IQ-2 [1], and the ghost has Diplomacy (H) IQ [4] and Expert Skill (Psionics) (H) IQ+1 [8]. The ghost is bound with Leech Ghost Skill 4, which allows “borrowing” four character points spent on skills from the ghost. The bearer cannot “borrow” four points spent on Diplomacy to increase his own Diplomacy to IQ+2 [12], but he can borrow three points from Expert Skill (Psionics) to increase his own Expert Skill (Psionics) to IQ [4] and one character point from some other skill.

The bearer does not have access to any of the ghost’s other abilities or to any knowledge that is not related to skills (such as advantage-based spells, memories, mental advantages, and so on), nor does he gain the ability to speak or understand any languages that the ghost knows.

The ghost cannot be attacked or harmed while bound to the target. The ghost remains completely aware of its surroundings, though it cannot speak or use any abilities (including mental communication). When the spell ends, the ghost is immediately freed and appears in an area adjacent to the bearer mentally stunned. If the bearer is killed by any means (even by an effect that destroys his body), the ghost is immediately freed and appears in the bearer’s square mentally stunned.

Leech Undeath

Keywords: None.
Full Cost: 19 points.
Casting Roll: Skill.
Components: V.
Cost: 1 FP.
Casting Time: 1 second.
Range: Touch.
Duration: Instantaneous.

This spell drains away a portion of the negative energy that keeps an undead creature animated, transferring it to you in the form of temporary healing. You can steal HP from an undead creature to replenish your own. This requires ongoing physical contact with the target. In combat, this means having the victim grappled. Out of combat, you can cast this spell on a helpless, restrained, or willing undead creature. On every successful casting (an Attack maneuver), it loses 3 HP and you recover 1 HP. You can't raise your HP above normal, but you can drain without healing yourself. The drain ends instantly if the victim "dies" (for undead, this usually means reaching 0 HP). This healing is temporary – HP healed by this spell drain away at a rate of 1 HP per hour.

Legend Lore

Keywords: Information.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S, M, F.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1dx10 minutes or more.

Range: Self.

Duration: Instantaneous.

Legend Lore brings to your mind legends about an important person, place, or thing. If the person or thing is at hand, or if you are in the place in question, the casting time is only 1dx10 minutes. If you have only detailed information on the person, place, or thing, the casting time is 2d days, and the resulting lore is less complete and specific (though it often provides enough information to help you find the person, place, or thing, thus allowing a better Legend Lore result next time). If you know only rumors, the casting time is 2d weeks, and the resulting lore is vague and incomplete (though it often directs you to more detailed information, thus allowing a better legend lore result next time).

During the casting, you cannot engage in other than routine activities: eating, sleeping, and so forth. When completed, the divination brings legends (if any) about the person, place, or things to your mind. These may be legends that are still current, legends that have been forgotten, or even information that has never been generally known. If the person, place, or thing is not of legendary importance, you gain no information.

Your margin of success determines how recent the information is. If you succeed by 0, you only get information about legends up to 3 years old. If you succeed by 1, you learn legends up to 30 years old. If you succeed by 2, you learn legends up to 300 years old. Each additional point of margin of success multiplies this limit by 10. If you fail your casting roll, you cannot attempt to cast this spell on the same subject again for 24 hours.

Examples of legend lore results include the following.

A divination about a mysterious magic axe you have at hand: "Woe to the evildoer whose hand touches the axe, for even the haft chops the hand of the evil ones. Only a true Son or Daughter of Stone, one who loves Moradin and whom Moradin loves, may awaken the true powers of the axe, and only with the sacred word 'Rudnogg' on the lips."

A divination about a legendary paladin about whom you know many details: "Vanashon has been denied the glory of death and the duty of life. He waits patiently beneath the Forbidden Mountain." (The paladin has been turned to stone in the caverns under the mountain.)

A divination about ancient ruins about which you have only a passing reference in a partially damaged tome: "The sorcerer who called herself Ryth built a library without words and a temple without gods. Those who read and those who pray tore it down in a night and a day." (These clues may be enough for you to find out more and get details you need to cast a better legend lore.)

Leomund's Hidden Lodge

Keywords: Area (Fixed), Obvious.

Full Cost: 26 points.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use skill or Artist (Illusion) to determine how convincing it is.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP + 1 character point.

Casting Time: 1 minute.

Range: Touch.

Duration: 12 hours.

You conjure a sturdy cottage or lodge 5-by-5 yards made of material that is common in the area where the spell is cast—stone, timber, or (at worst) sod. The floor is level, clean, and dry. In all respects the lodging resembles a normal cottage, with a sturdy door, two shuttered windows, and a small fireplace.

The hidden lodge is perfectly camouflaged to blend in with whatever terrain or surroundings are appropriate. It might appear as a house-sized boulder in a rocky or mountainous area, as a sand dune in the desert, as a densely tangled thicket, a grassy knoll, or even a mighty tree. The hidden lodge also obscures all telltale signs of habitation, including any smoke, light, or sound coming from within. This illusion affects normal vision, Infravision, taste, smell, normal hearing, and touch. Any observer must win in a Quick Contest of Perception against the caster's skill or Artist (Illusion) to recognize the illusion.

The lodge has no heating or cooling source (other than natural insulation qualities). Therefore, it must be heated as a normal dwelling, and extreme heat adversely affects it and its occupants. The dwelling does, however, provide considerable security otherwise—it is as strong as a normal stone building, regardless of its material composition. The dwelling resists flames and fire as if it were stone. The door, shutters, and even chimney are secure against intrusion, the former two having warded rotary locks (p. LT121) with Lockpicking modifier of +0 and the latter secured by an iron grate at the top and a narrow flue.

The hidden lodge contains no furnishing. However, if you bring your own furniture, then it will reappear in the shelter next time it is conjured.

After the spell expires, you are unable to cast it again for five minutes.

Leomund's Secret Chest

Keywords: Obvious.

Full Cost: 6 points/level.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S, F.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 10 minutes.

Range: Touch.

Duration: 60 days or until discharged; see text.

You hide a chest in a pocket dimension for as long as sixty days and can retrieve it at will. The chest can contain up to 1 cubic foot of material per spell level (regardless of the chest's actual size, which is about 3 feet by 2 feet by 2 feet). If any living creatures are in the chest, there is a 5-in-6 chance that the spell simply fails. Once the chest is hidden, you can retrieve it by casting this spell, and it appears next to you.

The chest must be exceptionally well crafted and expensive, constructed for you by master crafters. If made principally of wood, it must be ebony, rosewood, sandalwood, teak, or the like, and all of its corner fittings, nails, and hardware must be platinum. If constructed of ivory, the metal fittings of the chest must be gold. If the chest is fashioned from bronze, copper, or silver, its fittings must be silver or electrum (a valuable metal). The cost of such a chest is never less than $4,000.

Once it is constructed, you must make a tiny replica (of the same materials and perfect in every detail), so that the miniature of the chest appears to be a perfect copy. (The replica costs $400.) The chests are nonmagical and can be fitted with locks, wards, and so on, just as any normal chest can be. If you happen to find the focus replica of a chest created by another caster, you can cast this spell to retrieve the original chest of that caster.

To hide the chest, you cast the spell while touching both the chest and the replica. The chest vanishes into the pocket dimension. You need the replica to recall the chest. After sixty days, roll 3d daily. On the 61st day, if you roll a 3, the chest is irretrievably lost. Each following day adds 1 to this target number. If the miniature of the chest is lost or destroyed, there is no way that the large chest can be summoned back.

Living things in the chest eat, sleep, and age normally, and they die if they run out of food, air, water, or whatever they need to survive.

Focus: The chest and its replica.

Leomund's Spacious Carriage

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 63 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 6 FP.

Casting Time: 10 minutes.

Range: Touch.

Duration: Indefinite.

You conjure into existence a carriage (GURPS Low-Tech, p. 137) and two phantom horses to pull it according to your mental commands. These horses use the stats for draft horses (p. B459). The interior contains lush, cushioned seats.

If you fail your casting roll, you can try again, but repeated attempts cost 8 FP (instead of the usual 6 FP) and take a cumulative -1 to the skill roll, until you succeed or wait an hour.

A created carriage lasts indefinitely. That means, however, that if you want to cast this spell again, the first carriage goes away as soon as you begin casting to create the second one. If you can maintain multiple spells (Simultaneous Spells, GURPS Thaumatology: Sorcery, p. 8), you can keep multiple versions of this spell “on” to get around that problem. Unlike most spells with Indefinite duration, this one does not require paying FP to maintain.

Statistics: Ally (Phantom Horses; Built on 15%; Constantly Available; Group of 2; Conjured, +100%; Minion, +0%; Immediate Preparation Required, 10 minutes, -45%; Link, +10%; Magical, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [7] + Snatcher (Accessibility, Only carriage, -70%; Costs Fatigue, 4 FP, -20%; Immediate Preparation Required, 10 minutes, -45%; Improved, +10%; Large Items, +50%; Link, +10%; Magical, -10%; More Weight 13, +65%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [56].

Leomund's Tiny Hut

Keywords: Area (Fixed).

Full Cost: 61 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP + 1 character point.

Casting Time: 10 minutes.

Range: Self.

Duration: Eight hours.

You create an unmoving, opaque, 4-yard-radius hemisphere of force of any color you desire around yourself. Creatures can freely pass into and out of the hut without harming it. However, if you remove yourself from the hut, the spell ends.

The temperature inside the hut is adjusted up to 40° F in relation to the ambient temperature. The hut also provides protection against the elements, such as rain, dust, and sandstorms. The hut withstands any wind, even a hurricane.

The interior of the hut is a hemisphere. You can illuminate it upon command or extinguish the light as desired. This light is equivalent to a torch. Although the force field is opaque from the outside, it is transparent from within. Missiles, weapons, and most spell effects can pass through the hut without affecting it, although the occupants cannot be seen from outside the hut.

You create a small domed snow house with a single entrance passage. The igloo is a hemisphere with a radius of 3 yards and walls 1 foot thick. The igloo provides protection against the elements, such as wind, snow, and hail. The walls provide semi-ablative DR 5.

Any character able to detect traps, or who uses any spell or device enabling trap detection, is 100% certain a real trap exists, if he fails a Quick Contest of whatever he is using the detect the trap against your IQ or Artist (Illusion).

Full Cost (Ranged): 48 points.
Casting Roll: Skill.
Components: V, S.
Cost: 3 FP.
Casting Time: 4 seconds.
Range: Touch - Unlimited (-1/yard) – Unlimited (standard).
Duration: Three weeks or until fulfilled.

A Lesser Geas places a magical command on a creature to carry out some service or to refrain from some action or course of activity, as desired by you. The subject must be a sapient creature that can hear and understand your command. While a geas cannot compel a creature to kill itself or perform acts that would result in certain death, it can cause almost any other course of activity that the person could feasibly, realistically accomplish; "destroy every tree in the world" would not be valid but "destroy every tree in this town" would be.

The geased creature must follow the given instructions until the geas is completed, no matter how long it takes. He must make this command his first priority at all times. He is free to decide how to go about it, however, and may approach the situation intelligently; e.g., rather than grabbing an axe, he could contact a temp agency to hire a small army of woodcutters. In effect, he has an Obsession (p. B146) with no self-control roll.

Once the subject accomplishes the goal, the geas ends. The only way to remove the geas before then is with Remove Curse or Break Enchantment; Dispel Magic has no effect.

Levitate

Full Cost: 1 point/level.
Casting Roll: Skill.
Components: V, S.
Cost: 1 FP to cast, 1 FP to maintain.
Casting Time: 1 second.
Range: 20 yards.
Duration: Indefinite.

Levitate allows you to move yourself, another creature, or an object up and down as you wish. A creature must be willing to be levitated, and an object must be unattended or possessed by a willing creature. You can mentally direct the recipient to move up or down as much as 1 yard each second, modified as usual for encumbrance level (see Encumbrance and Move, p. B17). You cannot move the recipient horizontally, but the recipient could clamber along the face of a cliff, for example, or push against a ceiling to move laterally.

You can move living creatures without touching them. You lift and move distant creatures just as if you were grasping them in a pair of hands with ST equal to your Levitate level. You can move any creature you have strength enough to lift at Move 1, modified as usual for encumbrance level (see Encumbrance and Move, p. B17). It has ST equal to your spell level.

Levitate requires constant concentration to use. In combat, this means you must take a Concentrate maneuver on your turn.

Lichcraft

Keywords: None.
Full Cost: 18 points.
Casting Roll: Skill.
Components: None.
Cost: 1 FP + Special.
Casting Time: Special.
Range: Self.
Duration: Truly Permanent.

This dark spell allows the caster to enact the ritual of transformation into a lich. To do so, the caster must “enchant” the appropriate Lich template. This can be the regular lich template or a race-specific lich template, such as dracolich for dragons or alhoon for mind flayers. Other kinds of lichdom require other spells. This is a lengthy process that uses the regular enchantment rules. See the Ultimate Enchantment Post and Chapter 3 of GURPS Thaumatology: Sorcery for details on enchanting in general. The form multiplier of the template is x1.0 and cannot be reduced by any means. The caster cannot have assistants help him. Traits being enchanted do not function until the ritual is complete. If the lich template has variable options, the caster chooses them when he starts the enchantment process.

When the enchantment process is complete, the caster must drink the lichnee potion during full moon. It can be brewed by him or someone else. If he successfully completes the ritual this way, his soul is transferred into the phylactery, and he becomes a lich, adding the Lich template to his own and removing all incompatible physical traits. A lich can only have one phylactery – if his phylactery is destroyed, he cannot make a new one.

The Lichcraft spell cannot be enchanted into an item!

Lightning Blade

Keywords: Buff, Obvious.

Full Cost: 10 points.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Force Sword to attack or parry with the blade.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Self.

Duration: 3 minutes.

A 3-foot-long, crackling beam of lightning springs forth from your hand. You wield this bladelike beam as if it were a sword. The lightning blade is a melee weapon that occupies one hand. You can attack with it using the Force Sword skill. The blade has Reach 1 and deals 1d-1 burning surge damage. Metallic armor counts as DR 1 against this attack, but nonmetallic armor protects normally. Targets stuck by this attack must make an HT roll, at -1 per 2 points of injury, or be physically stunned. On subsequent turns, they can roll HT to recover. Even though the blade is insubstantial and weapon pass through it, you can still parry with it to deal automatic damage to whatever weapon or body part is used to strike you. In addition, the blade sheds light like a torch.

If you grab something with the hand that is using the lightning blade, or if you put it underwater, the blade disappears, and you have to recast the spell to be able to use it again.

Lightning Bolt

Keywords: Cone, Obvious.

Full Cost: 12 points/level.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Beam) to hit.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.
Casting Time: 1 second.
Range: 20 yards.
Duration: Instantaneous.

You fire a stream of electricity that does 1d burning surge damage per level. Metallic armor counts as DR 1 against this attack, but nonmetallic armor protects normally. Targets struck by this attack must make an HT roll, at -1 per 2 points of injury, or be physically stunned. On subsequent turns, they can roll HT to recover. Lightning behaves unpredictably around conductors; see Lightning (GURPS Magic, p. 196) for more details. This attack has the 1/2D range of 4 yards.

This is a 1-yard-wide cone attack that uses the rules for Cone Attacks (p. B413). On the battle map, it is a 1x20 row of hexes. This cone is too tight to affect many targets, but gets better chances to hit. The caster targets a hex right in front of him, at +4, and the cone extends out from there. It is possible to make the cone wider by using the All-Out Attack (Cone) maneuver (GURPS Dungeon Fantasy Monsters 4: Dragons, p. 10).

Even though a one-hex creature is big enough to block the cone, everyone in the hex where the cone stops is fully affected. If a cone passes between two adjacent creatures, then both are hit. The cone cannot be parried or blocked, but it can be dodged by diving for cover or retreating out of the affected area. If a creature does that, then those behind it may get affected by the cone normally.

Statistics: Burning Attack 1d (Cone 1, +60%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Increased 1/2D, 2x, +5%; Magical, -10%; Nuisance Effect, Behaves erratically around conductors, -5%; Reduced Range, 1/5, -20%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Side Effect, Stunning, +50%; Surge, Arcing, +100%) [12/level].

Lightning Bug

Keywords: Missile, Obvious.
Full Cost: 10 points.
Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Projectile) to «lock on».
Components: V, S.
Cost: 1 FP.
Casting Time: 1 second.
Range: 20 yards.
Duration: Instantaneous.

A missile of electrical energy flies off your fingertips towards your target. A successful hit does 1d-1 burning surge damage. Targets struck by this attack must make an HT roll, at -1 per 2 points of injury, or be physically stunned. On subsequent turns, they can roll HT to recover. Lightning behaves unpredictably around conductors; see Lightning (GURPS Magic, p. 196) for more details. It can be dodged, blocked, but not parried. The projectile is homing, so it steers itself. As it uses normal vision to seek its target, it does not ignore darkness penalties. To “lock on,” you must Aim at the target and make an unmodified Innate Attack (Projectile) roll. Do not roll against your skill to hit. Instead, use the attack’s skill of 10 – plus Accuracy, if you made your Innate Attack (Projectile) roll – and ignore all range penalties. The projectile moves 4 yards per second. For more information, see Guided and Homing Weapons (p. B412).

Statistics: Burning Attack 1d-1 (Blockable, -5%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Homing, +50%; Increased 1/2D, 2x, +5%; Magical, -10%; Nuisance Effect, Behaves erratically around conductors, -5%; Reduced Range, 1/5, -20%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Side Effect, Stunning, +50%; Surge, Arcing, +100%) [10].

Lightning Curtain

Keywords: Area (Leveled), Obvious.
Full Cost: 40 points for level 1 + 5 points/additional level.
Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim.
Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.
Casting Time: 2 seconds.
Range: 50 yards.
Duration: Five minutes.

This spell conjures a transparent wall of cracking lightning. Anything crossing the wall takes 2d burning surge damage. Metallic armor counts as DR 1 against this attack, but nonmetallic armor protects normally. Targets stuck by this attack must make an HT roll, at -1 per 2 points of injury, or be physically stunned. On subsequent turns, they can roll HT to recover.

On level 1, this spell lets the caster create a barrier that is six yards long, one yard wide, and four yards high. Each additional level doubles the length. The caster may form this into any shape he wishes.

Statistics: Burning Attack 2d (Area Effect, 2 yards, +50%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Extended Duration, 30x, +60%; Magical, -10%; Persistent, +40%; Reduced Range, 1/2, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Side Effect, Stunning, +50%; Surge, Arcing, +100%; Takes Extra Time 1, -10%; Variable, Area, +5%; Wall, Shapeable, +60%) [40]. Lightning Lash

Keywords: Buff.
Full Cost: 21 points.
Casting Roll: Skill.
Components: V, S.
Cost: 1 FP.
Casting Time: 1 second.
Range: Self.
Duration: 18 seconds.

This spell creates a whip of lightning that you wield with the Force Whip skill. Lightning Lash deals swing burning surge damage at -2 per die at Reach 1-4 without the need for a Ready maneuver to change reach. Metallic armor counts as DR 1 against this attack, but nonmetallic armor protects normally. Targets stuck by this attack must make an HT roll, at -1 per 2 points of injury, or be physically stunned. On subsequent turns, they can roll HT to recover.

While the whip cannot be used to deflect blows, you still may attempt a Parry at -2. If the parry succeeds, you still take the hit, but the attacker's weapon takes damage from the Lightning Lash. Likewise, it cannot be parried, but if an unknowing opponent tries and does so successfully, his weapon takes damage from Lightning Lash in addition the normal effects of the hit.

If Lightning Lash leaves your hand for whatever reason, it disappears, but the spell can be recast as normal.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Self Only, -50%; Advantage, Lightning Lash, +220%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Magical, -10%; Reduced Duration, 1/10, -20%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [21]. Note: "Lightning Lash" is Natural Weapon (Burning; Cannot Parry, -40%; Cosmic, Spell can be recast if the whip is gone, +50%; Destructive Parry, +40%; Extra Reach, 1-4, +150%; Intangible, +50%; Magical, -10%; Reduced Damage, -2 per die, -60%; Side Effect, Stunning, +50%; Single, -20%; Surge, Arcing, +100%; Swing-Capable, +20%) [22].

Lightning Reflection

Keywords: Obvious.
Full Cost: 13.5 points/level.
Casting Roll: Skill/2 + 3.
Components: V, S.
Cost: 1 FP.
Casting Time: Free action (active defense).
Range: Self.

Duration: Instantaneous.

When this spell is active, the caster can attempt to cast this spell as an active defense, when somebody attacks him with a ranged lightning attack, such as Lightning Bolt, as long as the attack's basic damage is less than Lightning Reflection level dice. For example, Lightning Reflection 3 would redirect any ranged electrical attack up to 3d while allowing those of 3d+1 or higher through. Convert all flat damage to dice (as per p. B269) for this determination.

A successful casting reflects the attack back to their source. An attacker unaware that this spell is in place must roll against the lower of IQ or Per, at +3 for Danger Sense and +3 for Combat Reflexes, to realize it in time to get a defense. If the attacker is not physically present at the time of the attack, the missiles are just deflected harmlessly. Do not roll damage or apply special effects until after determining who (if anyone) is hit.

This spell also reflects non-damaging ranged electrical attacks; each level of Lightning Reflection can repel one level of Affliction or 5 levels of Binding. It doesn't stop most area effects or explosions.

The casting roll is modified by Combat Reflexes. If the caster tries to cast Lightning Reflection more than once in a turn, the casting roll takes a cumulative -4 penalty per attempt after the first. The caster rolls at -4 if stunned and cannot cast Lightning Reflection in situations where they would not get an active defense. If the casting fails, all future castings cost an additional 1 FP until the next successful casting. If the caster drops to 3 FP or less from casting Lightning Reflection, he cannot cast this spell until all FP are replenished. This spell does not count as an active defense for the purpose of cumulative defense penalties.

Statistics: Damage Resistance 3.5 (Active Defense, -40%; All-or-Nothing, -10%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Force Field, +20%; Limited, Ranged Electrical Attacks, -60%; Magical, -10%; Reflection, +100%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [13.5/level]. Note: Active Defense being IQ-based is a special feature.

Lightning Rod

Keywords: Buff.

Full Cost: 34 points for level 1 + 7 points/additional level.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Touch.

Duration: 1 day.

This spell forces ranged lightning to a specific spot determined by the caster. When cast, the wizard chooses a metal object to become the lightning rod (a sword, a lamppost, or a gold piece). The focal point of the spell cannot be alive or heavier than 100 pounds. When any ranged electrical attack occurs within 25 yards of a lightning rod, the energy is redirected and absorbed into it, negating the attack and destroying the object (if someone is in contact with the rod, that person receives the full damage of the attack). If the object is not struck by a magical electricity within 24 hours, the spell ends.

The first level of this spell may redirect and absorb lightning attacks that deal no more than 10d basic damage. Each additional level increases the limit by 10d. This spell also absorbs non-damaging ranged electrical attacks; each level of Lightning Rod can repel ten levels of Affliction or 50 levels of Binding.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Only on metal objects, -30%; Advantage, Lightning Rod 1, +70%; Based on IQ, Own Roll, +20%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Extended Duration, 1,000x, +120%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Magical, -10%; Malediction 1, +100%, Melee Attack, Reach C, -30%; No Signature, +20%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [34]. Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Self.

Duration: 18 seconds.

This spell sheathes you in cracking lightning and causes damage to each creature that attacks you in melee. Any metallic weapon that hits the subject triggers a 1d-1 backlash of burning surge damage along the weapon. This attack automatically hits the hand that is holding the weapon, regardless of the weapon's length, as long as its entire length is conducting. Metallic armor counts as DR 1 against this attack, but nonmetallic armor protects normally. Targets struck by this attack must make an HT roll, at -1 per 2 points of injury, or be physically stunned. On subsequent turns, they can roll HT to recover. Anyone touching the subject is similarly damaged. You also shed light as a candle.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Self Only, -50%; Advantage, Lightning Shield, +150%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Magical, -10%; Reduced Duration, 1/10, -20%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [14]. Note: "Lightning Shield" is Burning Attack 1d-1 (Aura, +80%; Cosmic, Conducting, +50%; Magical, -10%; Melee Attack, Reach C, -30%; Side Effect, Stunning, +50%; Surge, Arcing, +100%) [14] + Illumination (Magical, -10%) [1].

This spell creates electrical discharges within a 4-yard-radius spherical area. Bolts of lightning leap repeatedly about within this area, regardless of the presence or location of metal, water, or other conductors. Every creature in the area takes 1d-2 burning surge damage per second. Metallic armor counts as DR 1 against this attack, but nonmetallic armor protects normally. Targets struck by this attack must make an HT roll, at -1 per 2 points of injury, or be physically stunned. On subsequent turns, they can roll HT to recover.

You gain the ability to hear even the most minute sounds. You can cast this spell in two ways – basic and enhanced.

When you cast the basic version, the cost is 1 FP and casting time is 2 seconds. You gain a +4 bonus to Hearing.

Liveoak

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 38 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 minute.

Range: 10 yards.

Duration: Hours equal to margin of success on the casting roll.

You imbue inanimate oak with mobility and a semblance of life. The oak becomes a treant without the ability to animate trees. The tree can follow you, or it can remain in an area and attack any creature (or just a specific kind of creature) entering the place, or perform other tasks that its intelligence allows. It remains animated until it is destroyed. (A destroyed tree can't be animated again.)

The point total of the animated tree must not be higher than 150% of your point value.

If the tree is destroyed, the caster must wait a full day to animate replacements. However, the caster can also dismiss the animating spirit by touching the tree as a free action. In this case, he may begin animating replacements five minutes later.

Unlike most spells with a duration, this spell must be maintained; thus, unless you can cast simultaneous spells, using another spell will immediately deanimate the tree. However, there is no FP cost to maintain this spell, only to cast it.

Statistics: Ally (Awakened Tree; Built on 150%; Constantly, no roll required; Conjured, +100%; Divine, -10%; Immediate Preparation Required, 1 minute, -30%; Magical, -10%; Maximum Duration, hours equal to margin of success, -5%; Minion, +0%; Pact, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Requires oak tree, -20%) [38]. Notes: The Maximum Duration limitation is priced based on Maximum Duration, 12 hours. As a special effect, this spell breaks sorcery rules by allowing free maintenance, but this is offset by imposing a FP cost to cast.

Locate City

You sense the distance and direction to the nearest community of a minimum size designated by you at the time of casting. For instance, you could choose to find the nearest community at least as large as a village, or you could choose to locate only the nearest metropolis. The GM rolls against the caster's skill (plus Talent), applying range penalties to the nearest appropriate community. Success reveals the exact location of the community, but does not allow follow-up spells to be cast on it.

Statistics: Detect (City; Based on IQ, Own Roll, +20%; Cannot Analyze, -10%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Long-Range 1, +50%; Magical, -10%; Nuisance Effect, Walkable distance, -5%; Precise, Nontargeting, +90%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Selective Effect, +20%; Takes Extra Time 2, -20%) [22].

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Unlimited (standard).

Duration: Indefinite.

While this spell is active, you sense the direction of a known or familiar creature. The GM will roll against your skill (plus Talent), minus the range penalty to the creature, and inform you if you succeed. These Sense rolls are in addition to the casting roll and do not cost any FP.

You slowly turn and sense when you are facing in the direction of the creature to be located, provided you succeeded on your detection roll. You also know in which direction the creature is moving, if any.

The spell can locate a creature of a specific kind (such as a human or a unicorn) or a specific creature known to you. It cannot find a creature of a certain type (such as humanoid or animal). To find a kind of creature, you must have seen such a creature up close (within 10 yards) at least once.

Running water blocks the spell. It cannot detect objects. It can be fooled by Misdread, Nondetection, and Polymorph spells.

Statistics: Slotted Cosmic Power 1 (24) (Limited, Trait, Detect, -50%; Magical, -10%; Nuisance Effect, Must have seen the creature firsthand, -5%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%) [32]. Note: Effectively, this spell emulates effects of the Detect (Creature; Common) [20] advantage with Based on IQ, Own Roll, +20%; Cannot Analyze, -10%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Nuisance Effect, Blocked by running water, -5%; Reflexive, +40%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10% for the total cost of 24 points.

Locate Object

Components: V, S, F.

Cost: 1 FP to cast, 1 FP to maintain.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Unlimited (standard).

Duration: Indefinite.

While this spell is active, you sense the direction of a well-known or clearly visualized object. The GM will roll against your skill (plus Talent), minus the range penalty to the object, and inform you if you succeed. These Sense rolls are in addition to the casting roll and do not cost any FP. The spell locates such objects as apparel, jewelry, furniture, tools, weapons, or even a ladder. You can search for general items such as a stairway, a sword, or a jewel, in which case you locate the nearest one of its kind if more than one is within the range of detection. Attempting to find a certain item, such as a particular piece of jewelry, requires a specific and accurate mental image; if the image is not close enough to the actual object, the spell fails. You cannot specify a unique item (such as "Baron Vulden's signet ring") unless you have observed that particular item firsthand (not through divination).

The spell is blocked by even a thin sheet of lead. Creatures cannot be found by this spell. Polymorph Any Object fools it.

Focus: A forked twig.

Statistics: Slotted Cosmic Power 1 (22) (Limited, Trait, Detect, -50%; Magical, -10%; Nuisance Effect, Must have seen the object firsthand if the object is specific, -5%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%) [30].

Range: Unlimited (standard) – Unlimited (long-distance).

Duration: Instantaneous.

This spell detects sources of water. The GM rolls against the caster's skill (plus Talent), applying range penalties to the nearest substantial source of water. The caster may exclude any specific water sources he wishes. Success reveals the exact location of the water source, but does not allow follow-up spells to be cast on it.

If the detection roll is successful, the GM makes a second roll against the caster's skill. Talent applies here but range penalties do not. Success reveals what the water source is, if the caster is familiar with it, or gives a more vague description, if the caster is not familiar with it.

The basic (18-point) version of this spell takes standard range penalties. The improved (23-point) one uses long-distance modifiers.

Statistics: Detect (Water; Based on IQ, Own Roll, +20%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Magical, -10%; Precise, Nontargeting, +90%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Selective Effect, +20%; Takes Extra Time 2, -20%) [18]. The improved version adds Long-Range 1 (+50%) [+5].

A sapient subject cannot keep himself from screaming, gibbering, and leaping about as though completely mad. This spell makes it impossible for the victim to perform any maneuvers other than Move, and the victim defends at -4, as if stunned. Constant screaming makes Stealth impossible and gives a +4 bonus to Hearing rolls made to detect the victim. At the end of the fit, the subject loses 1d FP and is mentally stunned. He may roll against Will every turn normally to recover from this stun.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP to cast, 1 FP to maintain.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 100 yards.

Duration: Indefinite.

This spell causes a deadly vortex to form in water. A body of water at least 40 yards wide and 20 yards deep must be present, or the spell is wasted. The funnel at the center of this 20-yard-radius maelstrom has a funnel with a radius of 5 yards.

Swimming and boating in the maelstrom are difficult, taking a penalty equal in size to 20 minus the distance in yards from the center. Those within the maelstrom must make such a roll each turn; a failed roll pulls the person or boat one yard closer to the center (if possible). Those in the funnel are also pulled one yard down, below the water's surface! The maelstrom is 20 yards deep.

The maelstrom does not form instantly – it takes seconds equal to its radius in yards to form, growing one yard in radius each second. A proper funnel does not form until the whirlpool is complete. Those in the area can easily see what's happening and may be able to escape before it achieves full strength. Once the caster stops maintaining this spell, its funnel collapses and it shrinks at the same rate at which it grew.

Statistics: Control Bodies of Water 20 (Accessibility, Only to create a whirlpool, -30%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Dissipation, -50%; Magical, -10%; Nuisance Effect, Takes several seconds to form and vanish, -5%; Ranged, +40%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [60].

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Self – Touch.

Duration: 30 minutes.

The subject, and all of his carried gear, is protected by an invisible field of pure force. This increases his DR by twice the level of this spell (e.g., Mage Armor 2 adds DR 4), cumulative with that from actual armor. The GM should determine the maximum level of this spell.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Self Only, -50%; Advantage, Mage Armor 1, +110%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Extended Duration, 10x, +40%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Magical, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [15]. Additional levels add further Mage Armor to the Advantage enhancement [+11]. Note: Each level of “Mage Armor” is DR 2 (Force Field, +20%; Magical, -10%) [11]. The Touch version removes Accessibility, Self Only, -50% and Requires IQ Roll, -10% and adds Accessibility, Only nonvolitional or non-resisting subjects, -20%, Based on IQ, Own Roll, +20%; Malediction 1, +100%, Melee Attack, Reach C, -30%, and No Signature, +20% [+15].

Mage Hand

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 6 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP to cast, 1 FP to maintain.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 10 yards.

Duration: Indefinite.

You point your finger at an object and can lift it and move it at will from a distance. Treat it as if you had a pair of ST 5 hands. You can grab, throw, or move objects at Move 1, modified as usual for encumbrance level (see Encumbrance and Move, p. B17).

Mage Hand requires constant concentration to use. In combat, this means you must take a Concentrate maneuver on your turn.

Statistics: Telekinesis 1 (Accessibility, Only objects, -10%; Cannot Punch, -10%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Magical, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [2] + Telekinesis 4 (Accessibility, Only objects, -10%; Cannot Punch, -10%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Lift Only, -20%; Magical, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [4].

Magic Jar

Keywords: Resisted (Will).

Full Cost: 77 points.

Casting Roll: Skill to cast; Per to detect life, skill to analyze; see text.

Components: V, S, F.

Cost: 6 FP; see text.

Casting Time: 4 seconds.

Range: Touch or Unlimited (standard); see text.

Duration: Instantaneous.

By casting Magic Jar, you place your soul in a gem or large crystal (known as the magic jar), leaving your body lifeless. Then you can attempt to take control of a nearby body, forcing its soul into the magic jar. You may move back to the jar (thereby returning the trapped soul to its body) and attempt to possess another body.

The first casting of this spell targets the magic jar itself. When you transfer your soul upon casting, your body is, as near as anyone can tell, dead. You must touch the magic jar to transfer your soul into it.

While in the magic jar, you can sense any life force around you. The GM will roll against your Per (plus Talent), minus the standard range penalty to the living beings. If you do succeed, you may immediately make a follow-up skill roll (plus Talent) to analyze what you're detecting. If successful, the GM will give you details for each being based on your margin of success (e.g., success by 0-1 might just give "human," while success by 4-5 could be "152-year-old high elf male in great shape except for a bad arm").

Attempting to possess a body requires another casting of Magic Jar. To do that, you have to sense the being first, as described above. Unlike when transferring your soul to the magic jar, when casting this spell from the magic jar, you can affect targets at a distance. Your casting roll takes standard range penalties. Since you have no limbs and FP, your casting attempt is free. The victim is at +5 to resist, if he's in combat with you or otherwise wary of you (thus, casting other spells from the magic jar is not advisable). If you lose or tie, you are mentally stunned for 1d seconds. In addition, you may never attempt to possess that subject again.

If you are successful, your life force occupies the host body, and the host's life force is imprisoned in the magic jar. You can remain swapped indefinitely, though the GM may charge you character points if you decide to retain an "upgraded" body – see Mind Transfer (p. B296) for more.

You gain your new host's ST, DX, and HT (and secondary characteristics calculated from these scores), as well as his physical advantages and disadvantages. You keep your own IQ, Perception, and Will, and all of your mental traits. Your social traits may apply, depending on the laws and values of your society. Your IQ-, Perception-, and Will-based skills are unchanged. Other skills remain at the same relative skill level.

By casting Magic Jar again, you may shift back to your magic jar and return the life force trapped within to its original body. You must touch the magic jar to do that.

If the host body is slain, you return to the magic jar, and the life force of the host departs (it is dead). If the magic jar is destroyed, then you die, when your host body is slain. If the magic jar is destroyed while your life force is in it, you return to your original body. If you transfer your life force to another body due to death, you must make an immediate Fright Check (p. B360). After an accidental death, or a peaceful death in your sleep, roll at no penalty, providing there was nothing especially horrible about it. Roll at a -2 penalty for an ordinary combat death. A messy or lingering death requires a roll at -5. A death by torture, or involving a Phobia forces a roll at -10 or even worse! Your first "death" always adds an extra -10 modifier, your second an extra -5, and your third a -2. Should you acquire a mental disadvantage as a result of the Fright Check, it should be related to the circumstances of your proxy "death."

Focus: A gem or crystal worth at least $1,000.

Statistics: Detect (Life; Accessibility, Only when in the magic jar, -80%; Lock-On, +50%; Magical, -10%; Nondirectional, -25%; Reflexive, +40%; Selective Effect, +20%) [29] + Possession (Accessibility, Only to and from the magic jar, -60%; Costs Fatigue, 6 FP, Not when in the magic jar, -15%; Death-Snap, +25%; Magical, -10%; Malediction 2, Only when in the magic jar, +30%; Mind Swap, +10%; No Memory Access, -10%; Ranged, Only when in the magic jar, +8%; Requires Gestures, Not when in the magic jar, -5%; Requires Magic Words, Not when in the magic jar, -5%; Takes Extra Time 2, -20%) [48].

Magic Missile

Keywords: Missile, Obvious.

Full Cost: 6 points.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Projectile) to «lock on».
Components: V, S.
Cost: 1 FP.
Casting Time: 1 second.
Range: 20 yards.
Duration: Instantaneous.

A magical force missile flies off your fingertips towards your target. A successful hit does 1d-1 crushing damage. It can be dodged, blocked, but not parried. The missile can strike even insubstantial targets, and it works identically in air and underwater. The projectile is homing, so it steers itself. As it uses normal vision to seek its target, it does not ignore darkness penalties. To “lock on,” you must Aim at the target and make an unmodified Innate Attack (Projectile) roll. Do not roll against your it to hit. Instead, use the attack’s skill of 10 – plus Accuracy, if you made your Innate Attack (Projectile) roll – and ignore all range penalties. The projectile moves 4 yards per second. For more information, see Guided and Homing Weapons (p. B412).

Statistics: Crushing Attack 1d-1 (Affects Insubstantial, +20%; Blockable, -5%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Homing, +50%; Increased 1/2D, 2x, +5%; Increased Range, 10x (Accessibility, Underwater only, -50%), +15%; Magical, -10%; Reduced Range, 1/5, -20%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Underwater, +20%) [6].

Magic Mouth

Keywords: Area (Special).
Full Cost: 18 points.
Casting Roll: Skill.
Components: V, S.
Cost: 1 FP.
Casting Time: 1 second.
Range: Unlimited (standard).
Duration: Permanent until triggered.

This spell imbues the chosen object or creature with an enchanted mouth that suddenly appears and speaks its message the next time a specified event occurs. The message can be up to about a minute long. The caster may specify either a named individual or a class of individuals (e.g., “priests of O’m”); in the latter case, the subject is the first such person to enter the area. At that point, the subject (only!) hears the message once. The spell then ends.

The mouth cannot utter verbal components, use command words, or activate magical effects. It does, however, move according to the words articulated; if it were placed upon a statue, the mouth of the statue would move and appear to speak. Of course, Magic Mouth can be placed upon a tree, rock, or any other object or creature.

The spell functions when specific conditions are fulfilled according to your command as set in the spell. Commands can be as general or as detailed as desired, although only visual and audible triggers can be used, such as the following: “Speak only when a venerable female human carrying a sack sits cross-legged within a distance of one foot.” Triggers react to what appears to be the case. Disguises and illusions can fool them. Normal darkness does not defeat a visual trigger, but magical darkness or invisibility does. Silent movement or magical silence defeats audible triggers. Audible triggers can be keyed to general types of noises (footsteps, metal clanking) or to a specific noise or spoken word (when a pin drops, or when anyone says “Boo”). Actions can serve as triggers if they are visible or audible. For example, “Speak when any creature touches the statue” is an acceptable command if the creature is visible.

The size of the area where the triggering effect can occur is determined when the spell is cast. First, roll against skill (plus Talent) to cast the spell, applying range penalties if the area is distant. If successful, look up the margin of success in the “Size” column of the Size and Speed/Range Table (p. B550); the corresponding linear measurement is the maximum radius of the spherical area. The caster may always choose a smaller area.

Statistics: Telesend (Accessibility, Must be placed on a creature or object, -5%; Audible, -10%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Delay, Triggered, Subject entering area, +50%; Hearing-Based, -20%; Magical, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Short-Range 1, -10%; Visible, -10%) [18].

Magic Weapon

Keywords: Weapon Buff.

Full Cost: 17 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Touch.

Duration: 3 minutes.

Once cast upon a weapon, this spell causes it to count as a magical weapon for the purpose of Vulnerability and limited defenses.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Only on weapons, -20%; Advantage, Magic Weapon, +10%; Based on IQ, Own Roll, +20%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Magical, -10%; Malediction 1, +100%, Melee Attack, Reach C, -30%; No Signature, +20%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [17]. Note: "Magic Weapon" is Magic Touch (Magical, -10%) [1].

Magnetism

Keywords: Missile, Obvious.

Full Cost: 10 points for level 1 + 1 point/additional level.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Beam) to hit.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP to cast, 1 FP to maintain.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 100 yards.

Duration: Indefinite.

A shimmering magnetic ray springs from your hand and pulls an object made of a ferrous material (iron, steel, nickel, cobalt) to your grasp. Initiating this requires an Attack maneuver to fire the magnetic beam with Innate Attack (Beam) using normal range penalties. This ray may be dodged. If you hit, the object moves towards you at Move 10 modified for encumbrance. You may either make the object end its movement in your hex or catch it safely with the same hand that you used to fire the magnetic ray. If the object is held by someone, you must win in a Quick Contest of Magnetism ST against the subject's ST.

Magnetism has ST equal to 9 + spell level. The GM should set a maximum level for his campaign.

Statistics: Telekinesis 10 (Attraction, -60%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Increased Range, 10x, +30%; Magical, -10%; Magnetic, -50%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Short-Range 2, -20%; Visible, -20%) [10]. Further levels add Telekinesis 1 (Attraction, -60%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Increased Range, 10x, +30%; Lift Only, -20%; Magical, -10%; Magnetic, -50%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Short-Range 2, -20%; Visible, -20%) [1/level].

Major Creation

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 40 points for level 1 + 4 points/additional level.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S, M.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 10 seconds.

Range: Touch.

Duration: Indefinite.

You can create any simple, non-magical, common object weighing 7 lbs. or less; it appears in your hand. The object can be made of nonliving plant matter or mineral: stone, crystal, metal, or the like. Created objects cannot be used as material components for spells.

If you fail your casting roll, you can try again, but repeated attempts cost 4 FP (instead of the usual 2 FP) and take a cumulative -1 to the skill roll, until you succeed or wait an hour.

A created object lasts indefinitely. That means, however, that if you want to cast this spell again, the first object goes away as soon as you begin casting to create the second one. If you can maintain multiple spells (Simultaneous Spells, GURPS Thaumatology: Sorcery, p. 8), you can keep multiple versions of this spell “on” to get around that problem. Unlike most spells with Indefinite duration, this one does not require paying FP to maintain.

Higher levels of this spell allow you to create heavier, larger objects. However in no case can you create an object weighting more than 2xBL; it must always be something you could hold in one hand.

Spell Level	Weight	Min. ST
1	7 lbs.	5
2	10 lbs.	5
3	15 lbs.	7
4	20 lbs.	8
5	30 lbs.	9
6	50 lbs.	12
7	70 lbs.	14
8	100 lbs.	16

For higher levels, look up the (spell level-2) in the “Size” column of the Size and Speed/Range Table (p. B550) and then read the corresponding “Linear Measurement” as pounds instead of yards. (Or note that every +6 levels corresponds to 10x weight.) See p. B17 to find minimum ST.

Material Component: A tiny piece of matter of the same sort of item you plan to create with this spell—a bit of twisted hemp to create rope, and so forth.

Statistics: Snatcher (Accessibility, Only common objects of nonliving plant matter or mineral that exist in your own world, -25%; Improved, +10%; Magical, -10%; More Weight 1, +5%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Trigger, Sample, -10%) [40]. Additional levels add More Weight (+5%) [+4]. Note: The Improved enhancement eliminates the auto-fail on 14+.

Major Image

Keywords: Area (Leveled).

Full Cost: 37 points for level 1 + 12.5 points/additional level*.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use skill or Artist (Illusion) to determine how convincing it is.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP to cast, 1 FP to maintain.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 100 yards.

Duration: Indefinite.

You can create an illusion in a hemispherical area anywhere that you can see within 100 yards. Aside from a visual image, it incorporates sounds, smells, tastes, thermal effects (it can fool Infravision), and tactile feelings. You must win a Quick Contest of skill – or Artist (Illusion), if better – against the Per of anyone you want to fool; otherwise they notice something “off.” Do not apply range penalties to this roll. Their roll is at +4 if they have reason to be alert for illusions or +10 if you made it appear from out of nowhere. However, even if they successfully “disbelieve,” your illusion doesn’t disappear. Thus, even an obvious illusion can be useful to block line of sight.

You must actively concentrate (take Concentrate maneuvers every turn) to maintain the illusion, and if you keep concentrating, you can change the illusion, make it behave “intelligently,” or move it within the area of effect.

Statistics: Illusion (Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Extended, Infravision, Smell/Taste, Touch, +50%; Magical, -10%; Ranged, +40%; Requires gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires magic words, -10%) [37]. Additional levels add Area Effect (+50%) [+12.5*].

* Calculate the total cost and then round down (because the base ability costs just 36.25 points before rounding). Level 2 costs 49 points, level 3 costs 62 points, level 4 costs 74 points, level 5 costs 87 points, and so on.

This spell makes sapient (IQ 6+) creatures in the area regard you as their trusted friend and ally. If you or your allies threaten or attack the subjects, the charm is broken for that particular subject. The spell does not enable you to control the charmed subjects as if they were automata, but they perceive your words and actions in the most favorable way. You still need to convince them to perform the desired actions normally. The caster may omit any creatures from the effect.

The spell's area is a 4-yard-high cylinder.

If you tie or lose, each unaffected subject can sense coercion coming from you. In addition, you cannot try to affect him again within 24 hours.

The caster increases the Size Modifier of subjects in the area by 2, but not their equipment. Find each subject's final height from the Size Modifier Table (p. B19). Increases in SM affect each subject's arm and leg length when calculating reach and determining whether he can negotiate obstacles; see Size Modifier and Reach (p. B402). This spell can only affect substantial creatures made of flesh, so it has no effect on machines, skeletons, golems, elementals, or ghosts.

If one of the subjects to be enlarged is in a room, vehicle, container, etc. that isn't large enough to hold him, his growth normally stops. However, if maximum thrust damage for the subject's current ST is greater than the wall or ceiling's DR, he bursts through it. This takes one second per point of DR.

The caster must buy the ST necessary to support a subject's enlarged form and add it to the Advantage enhancement. This is 5 x final height in yards. This ST is only available when the subject grows, and the caster must buy it with the Size limitation (see Strength, p. B14) and Magical, -10%. Use the subject's increased SM to determine the limitation value. Note that if this additional ST is not enough to support the enlarged form of the subject, the spell fails!

The caster may omit any creatures from the effect. The spell's area is a 4-yard-high cylinder.

Cold energy spreads out in all directions from you. Everyone within four yards of you takes 2d non-incendiary burning damage. Targets who took damage from this spell must make an HT roll, at -1 per 2 points of HP lost, or take a -2 penalty to DX and become Numb (p. B146) for (20-HT) minutes (minimum 1 minute). Damage dealt by this spell does not heal via natural or supernatural means unless the victim is brought into an area with an ambient temperature above freezing.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 4 seconds.

Range: Unlimited (-1/yard) – Unlimited (standard).

Duration: 3 minutes.

Creatures within the area of effect become invisible along with their gear (up to their Light encumbrance). Each subject gets a +9 to Stealth in any situation where being seen would matter. Mass Invisibility only works against electromagnetic vision (which encompasses ordinary vision, Infravision, Ultravision, and radar). The subjects do not cast shadows and don't show up in mirrors.

The spell's area is a 4-yard-high cylinder.

This spell ends for a particular subject if the subject attacks any creature, or moves more than 60 yards away from another subject of this spell. For purposes of this spell, an attack includes any spell targeting a foe or whose area or effect includes a foe. Exactly who is a foe depends on the invisible character's perceptions. Actions directed at unattended objects do not break the spell. Causing harm indirectly is not an attack. Thus, an invisible being can open doors, talk, eat, climb stairs, summon monsters and have them attack, cut the ropes holding a rope bridge while enemies are on the bridge, remotely trigger traps, open a portcullis to release attack dogs, and so forth. If the subject attacks directly, however, it immediately becomes visible along with all its gear.

The affected sapient creatures in the area have their IQ increased by 2. This affects the IQ-based skills, Will, Per, etc. Note that this increase of IQ will not affect casting rolls for spellcasters using such magic systems as Ritual Path Magic or Incantation Magic. The caster may omit any creatures from the effect. The spell's area is a 4-yard-high cylinder.

The caster attempts to shrink creatures in the area. He may omit any creatures from the effect. If a subject fails to resist, he shrinks - his Size Modifier is decreased by -2. Equipment and clothing do not shrink with him. This spell can only affect substantial creatures made of flesh, so it has no effect on machines, skeletons, golems, elementals, or ghosts.

When a subject shrinks, find his new height from the Size Modifier Table (p. B19). Reduce Move, reach, damage (with unarmed attacks, Innate Attacks, or shrunk weapons), HP, and DR in proportion to height. Weight is reduced by a factor of 10.

The spell's area is a 4-yard-high cylinder.

Duration: 30 minutes.

You can send silent telepathic commands to sapient creatures in the area; you can remove any creatures from the effect if you do not want to affect them. If any particular subject fails to resist, you can give him a simple command; see the Suggest skill (p. B191) for guidelines. Any order that goes against the subject's values or sense of self-preservation triggers another resistance roll, possibly at a bonus. The suggestion only lasts as long as the spell lasts.

The subject remembers everything he did, but he is convinced that he chose to do so. He will react to behavior too bizarre to be rationalized by pushing it out of his mind and not thinking about it. Hypnotism, Psychology, and Telepathy can be used to eventually bring out the truth.

If you tie or lose, the subject can sense coercion coming from you. In addition, you cannot try to affect him again within 24 hours.

The spell's area is a 4-yard-high cylinder.

Statistics: Mind Control (Accessibility, Only on sapient beings, -10%; Area Effect, 2 yards, +50%; Costs Fatigue, 4 FP, -20%; Extended Duration, 10x, +40%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Independent, +70%; Magical, -10%; Rationalization, +20%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Selective Area, +20%; Short-Range 1, -10%; Suggestion, -40%; Takes Extra Time 2, -20%) [95]. Master's Touch

Keywords: Buff.

Full Cost: 20 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, F.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Self.

Duration: 3 minutes.

You gain proficiency with a single weapon or shield you hold in your hands when the spell is cast, becoming able to use to as if you had its skill at DX+0. If the item can be used with multiple skills, you gain only one such skill per casting. Proficiency is granted for only a single, specific item, although multiple castings allow for multiple proficiencies. For example, if you hold a shortsword and a rapier, with a shield on a guige, you could cast the spell three times, once for each weapon and once for the shield, gaining Shortsword, Rapier, and Shield (Guige) at DX+0.

This spell does not grant proficiency for a kind or category of item (such as shortswords) but only for the one specific item held in your hand at the time the spell is cast (this shortsword). Should you set that item down or otherwise lose your grip on it, the proficiency does not transfer to a different item of the same kind you might pick up. However, if you recover the original item before the spell's effect runs out, you are still proficient with that specific weapon or shield for the duration.

Focus: The item in whose use you wish to be proficient.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Self Only, -50%; Advantage, Master's Touch, +180%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Magical, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [20]. Note: "Master's Touch" is Cosmic Power 4 (Accessibility, Only for one specific item, -10%; Limited, One Weapon or Shield Skill, -30%; Magical, -10%; Nuisance Effect, Cannot make the skill higher than the controlling attribute, -5%) [18].

Mature

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 4 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 minute.

Range: 100 yards.

Duration: One minute or hour (see text), but the food remains mature permanently.

Causes any foodstuff that must age and mature as part of its production to do so more quickly. This is most often used with beer and wine, but it can also be used to accelerate cheese, yogurt, bread dough, or even meat. Aging processes that normally take days or weeks (beer, wine, aged cheese, pickles, dry-aged meats) take only an hour with this spell. Processes that normally take hours (bread dough, yogurt, fresh cheese) take only a minute. Processes which take years (vintage wines, thousand-year eggs) accelerate a year for every casting of the spell. Each casting affects up to 10 lbs. of food or drink.

Statistics: Create 1 (Accessibility, Only to transform into aged food/drink, -20%; Immediate Preparation Required, 1 minute, -30%; Nuisance Effect, Gradual effect, -5%; Ranged, +40%; Transmute Food/Drink to Food/Drink, +50%; Transmutation Only, -100%; Magical, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [4].

Maze

Full Cost (Ranged): 47 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Casting Time: 4 seconds.

Range: Touch - Unlimited (-1/yard) – Unlimited (standard).

Duration: 9 minutes.

You banish the subject into an extradimensional labyrinth of force planes. Every five seconds, on its turn, it may attempt an IQ-2 roll to escape the labyrinth with a Concentrate maneuver. Absolute Direction gives +5 to this roll. If the subject doesn't escape, the maze disappears after 9 minutes, forcing the subject to leave.

On escaping or leaving the maze, the subject reappears where it had been when the maze spell was cast. If this location is filled with a solid object, the subject appears in the nearest open space.

Spells and abilities that move a creature within a plane, such as Teleport and Dimension Door, do not help a creature escape a Maze spell, although a Plane Shift spell allows it to exit to whatever plane is designated in that spell.

Meld into Ice

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 10 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 3 FP to cast, 1 FP to maintain.

Casting Time: 4 seconds.

Range: Self.

Duration: Indefinite.

You can meld into ice, like a dryad merging with her tree. This works only on discrete objects – a block of ice (not a glacier), etc. Nothing that goes on outside the ice block can be seen, but you can still hear what happens around you. If any part of the ice block is in contact with air, you can breathe. Take a Ready maneuver to exit the object through the surface you used to enter it. If the object takes damage, it affects you proportionally; e.g., 10 HP of injury to a 100 HP ice block results in a 1 HP wound for a 10 HP man. Being part of something larger than you also blunts Afflictions: add the difference between its SM and yours to your resistance roll. If you have attacks that affect those touching or standing near you, like Emanations, they're "spread thin" if you merge with a large object: scale down damage in proportion to HP (to 1/10 normal, in the above example), and add the difference between the object's SM and your own to rolls to resist your Afflictions.

You carry objects, including clothing and armor, up to your Light Encumbrance, when you meld. If dropped, they "pop" into open space at the point where you entered the object. You cannot leave things inside solid matter!

Statistics: Permeation (Ice; Accessibility, Doesn't affect snow, -25%; Can Carry Objects, Light, +20%; Costs Fatigue, 3 FP, -15%; Magical, -10%; Meld 1, +150%; Nuisance Effect, Can only exit from the same spot, -20%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Takes Extra Time 2, -20%; Temporary Disadvantage, Blindness, -50%) [10].

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Projectile) to hit.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 100 yards.

Duration: Instantaneous.

A magical arrow of acid springs from your hand and speeds to its target, dealing 1d-1 corrosion damage. It can be dodged or blocked, but not parried. After striking the target, for the next four seconds, the arrow continues to pump acid, dealing 1 point of follow-up corrosion damage per second. This cyclic damage can be stopped by washing off the acid. This attack has no 1/2D range, and has Acc 3.

Duration: 1 minute or until fired; sleep lasts for 30 minutes.

You imbue an arrow or crossbow bolt with the power of slumber. If the imbued projectile hits a sapient creature and penetrates its DR, the victim must make a Will roll or fall asleep for 30 minutes. After the duration runs out, the victim can be woken normally, but it will not necessarily wake up right away, especially if already tired. Upon waking up, a victim is stunned (p. The matter being transmuted can weigh up to 10 x (level squared) lbs. – 10 lbs. at level 1, 40 lbs. at level 2, 90 lbs. at level 3, and so on. Casting Time: 2 seconds.

Range: Unlimited (-1/yard) – Unlimited (standard).

Duration: 18 seconds.

Directing your gaze toward the target creatures, you cause them to stop and stare blankly at you, mesmerized. The area of effect is a 4-yard-high cylinder. Sapient creatures within the area that can see you and whom you can see must resist to avoid being fascinated. Fascinated creatures are considered dazed (p. B428) and they remain dazed. However, any potential threat (such as an armed opponent moving behind the mesmerized creature) allows the creature an unmodified Will roll to break free. Any obvious threat, such as casting a spell, drawing a sword, or aiming an arrow, automatically breaks the effect, as does shaking or slapping the creature. Upon coming to senses after being dazed, a subject is stunned (p. B420) and may roll vs. Will once per second to recover. You may omit any creatures from the effect.

Range: Unlimited (standard).

This spell allows the caster and their subject to speak quietly without fear of eavesdroppers, even in noisy environments. Each will hear the words of the other clearly, regardless of the surrounding din. Other beings trying to listen in will hear only a meaningless murmuring. Those with Lip Reading (p. B205) can use that skill to decipher the subject's conversation with a successful roll, if they are within range, as both subjects must still vocalize the words despite others not being able to understand them.

Once the spell is cast, no further concentration is required. Magical silence, 1 foot of stone, 1 inch of common metal (or a thin sheet of lead), or 3 feet of wood or dirt blocks the spell. The message does not have to travel in a straight line, however.

Statistics: Mind Reading (Accessibility, Only vocalized words, -20%; Hearing-Based, -20%; Link, +10%; Magical, -10%; Nuisance Effect, Can be blocked, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Telecommunication, -20%) [6] + Telesend (Accessibility, Only vocalized words, -20%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Hearing-Based, -20%; Link, +10%; Magical, -10%; Nuisance Effect, Can be blocked, -10%; Nuisance Effect, Cannot maintain multiple contacts, -10%; Nuisance Effect, Detectable as a buzz, -5%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Short-Range 1, -10%) [6].

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Self – Touch.

Duration: 3 minutes.

When you cast this spell, the recipient's skin toughens and gleams as if metallic, and it gains a DR 4. The target becomes somewhat slow and stiff, taking a -1 penalty to DX, and becomes vulnerable to rust and magnetism. The DR replaces whatever DR the recipient's skin used to provide for the duration of this spell.

Meteor Shower

Keywords: Area (Fixed), Missile, Obvious.

Full Cost: 34 points.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 3 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.
Range: 100 yards.
Duration: Instantaneous.

The caster calls down a rain of flaming meteors from the sky that fall in a 4-yard-radius area. Thus, this spell can only be cast outdoors. Use Innate Attack (Gaze), at +4, to center the area; see Scatter (p. B414) if you miss. One second after the casting has finished, everyone in the area is attacked with an effective skill of 10, modified only for their SM. Anyone who fails to dodge takes 1d+1 crushing damage. This is an overhead attack – victims may raise their shields as cover, at the risk of damaging them (p. B484). In addition, everyone within 8 yards of the center of the area takes 2d burning damage as large-area injury (p. B404) as the meteors explode with flames.

Statistics: Burning Attack 2d (Area Effect, 8 yards, +150%; Costs Fatigue, 3 FP, -15%; Delay, 1 second, +0%; Environmental, Outdoors, -20%; Link, +10%; Magical, -10%; Overhead, +30%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [22] + Crushing Attack 1d+1 (Area Effect, 4 yards, +100%; Bombardment, Skill-10, -15%; Delay, 1 second, +0%; Environmental, Outdoors, -20%; Link, +10%; Magical, -10%; Overhead, +30%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [12].

Duration: 30 seconds, the Will decrease lasts for 3 minutes.

You may fill a 4-yard-radius 4-yard-high cylindrical area with will-sapping gases. This gives -2 to all vision rolls made through it. The initial attack roll places the effect. It then drifts from that point with the wind. Additionally, every sapient creature that inhales the gas, loses 4 levels of Will for 3 minutes, if he fails a Will roll to resist.

Minor Creation

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 20 points for level 1 + 4 points/additional level.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S, M.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 10 seconds.

Range: Touch.

Duration: Indefinite.

You can create any simple, non-magical, common object made of nonliving plant matter weighing 7 lbs. or less; it appears in your hand. Created objects cannot be used as material components for spells.

If you fail your casting roll, you can try again, but repeated attempts cost 4 FP (instead of the usual 2 FP) and take a cumulative -1 to the skill roll, until you succeed or wait an hour.

A created object lasts indefinitely. That means, however, that if you want to cast this spell again, the first object goes away as soon as you begin casting to create the second one. If you can maintain multiple spells (Simultaneous Spells, GURPS Thaumatology: Sorcery, p. 8), you can keep multiple versions of this spell “on” to get around that problem. Unlike most spells with Indefinite duration, this one does not require paying FP to maintain.

Higher levels of this spell allow you to create heavier, larger objects. However in no case can you create an object weighting more than 2xBL; it must always be something you could hold in one hand.

Spell Level	Weight	Min. ST
1	7 lbs.	5
2	10 lbs.	5
3	15 lbs.	7
4	20 lbs.	8
5	30 lbs.	9
6	50 lbs.	12
7	70 lbs.	14
8	100 lbs.	16

For higher levels, look up the (spell level-2) in the “Size” column of the Size and Speed/Range Table (p. B550) and then read the corresponding “Linear Measurement” as pounds instead of yards. (Or note that every +6 levels corresponds to 10x weight.) See p. B17 to find minimum ST.

Material Component: A tiny piece of matter of the same sort of item you plan to create with this spell—a bit of twisted hemp to create rope, and so forth.

Statistics: Snatcher (Accessibility, Only common objects of nonliving plant matter that exist in your own world, -50%; Improved, +10%; Magical, -10%; More Weight 1, +5%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Trigger, Sample, -10%) [20]. Additional levels add More Weight (+5%) [+4].

Minor Image

Casting Roll: Skill. Use skill or Artist (Illusion) to determine how convincing it is.

Components: V, S.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 100 yards.

Duration: Indefinite.

You can create an illusion in a hemispherical area anywhere that you can see within 100 yards. Aside from a visual image, it incorporates sounds, but not understandable speech. You must win a Quick

Contest of skill – or Artist (Illusion), if better – against the Per of anyone you want to fool; otherwise they notice something “off.” Do not apply range penalties to this roll. Their roll is at +4 if they have reason to be alert for illusions or +10 if you made it appear from out of nowhere. However, even if they successfully “disbelieve,” your illusion doesn’t disappear. Thus, even an obvious illusion can be useful to block line of sight.

You must actively concentrate (take Concentrate maneuvers every turn) to maintain the illusion, and if you keep concentrating, you can change the illusion, make it behave “intelligently,” or move it within the area of effect.

Statistics: Illusion (Accessibility, Cannot produce meaningful speech, -15%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Magical, -10%; Ranged, +40%; Requires gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires magic words, -10%) [20]. Additional levels add Area Effect (+50%) [+12.5*].

Mirage Arcana

Casting Roll: Skill. Use skill or Artist (Illusion) to determine how convincing it is.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 3 FP.

Casting Time: 10 minutes.

Range: 100 yards.

Duration: 8 hours.

You make any hemispherical area look (including to Infravision), sound, smell, and feel like some other sort of area. Thus, open fields or a road can be made to resemble a swamp, hill, crevasse, or some other difficult or impassable terrain. A pond can be made to seem like a grassy meadow, a precipice like a gentle slope, or a rock-strewn gully like a wide and smooth road. Unlike Hallucinatory Terrain, the spell can alter the appearance of structures (or add them where none are present). Still, it can’t disguise, conceal, or add creatures (though creatures within the area might hide themselves within the illusion just as they can hide themselves within a real location).

You cannot concentrate to change the image, but you can dismiss this illusion with a Concentrate maneuver.

You must win a Quick Contest of skill – or Artist (Illusion), if better – against the Per of anyone you want to fool; otherwise they notice something “off.” Their roll is at +4 if they have reason to be alert for illusions or +10 if you made it appear from out of nowhere. However, even if they successfully “disbelieve,” your illusion doesn’t disappear. Thus, even an obvious illusion can be useful to block line of sight.

Mirror Image

Keywords: Area (Fixed).

Full Cost: 20 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Self.

Duration: 30 seconds.

Six illusory duplicates of you pop into being, making it difficult for enemies to know which target to attack. The figments stay near you and disappear when struck. These figments separate from you and remain in a cluster, each within 1 yard of at least one other figment or you. You can move into and through a Mirror Image. When you and the Mirror Image separate, observers can't use vision or hearing to tell which one is you and which the image, unless they succeed in a Quick Contest of Vision against your skill (or Artist (Illusion) skill, if higher) or an uncontested Hearing-2 roll. These attempts can be done once per second, but once you swap places with another duplicate, you have to be detected again. The figments may also move through each other. The figments mimic your actions, pretending to cast spells when you cast a spell, drink potions when you drink a potion, levitate when you levitate, and so on.

Enemies attempting to attack you or cast spells at you must select from among indistinguishable targets. Generally, roll randomly to see whether the selected target is real or a figment. Any successful attack against an image destroys it. An image may roll an active defense, but since any hit dispels it, Dodge is the only appropriate option. Since it's you who must perform the dodging motions, you are at -1 to Dodge per yard of distance between you and the image.

While moving, you can merge with and split off from figments so that enemies who have learned which image is real are again confounded. This is the only movement the images can perform.

Statistics: Illusion (Accessibility, Only doubles of yourself, -35%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Extended Duration, 3x, +20%; Independence, +40%; Magical, -10%; Nuisance Effect, Dissipates upon damage, -10%; Persistent, +40%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Visual Only, -30%) [20].

Full Cost (Ranged): 43 points.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Touch – Unlimited (-1/yard) - Unlimited (standard).

Duration: 18 seconds.

When you cast this spell, you designate a target creature and a target object. The target object must be within your line of sight. If the target creature fails to resist, it becomes consumed by a powerful desire for the object. For the duration of the spell, the creature seeks to obtain the object (going so far as to attack anyone holding or wearing it). Once the creature gains possession of the object, it protects the item greedily, attacking anyone who approaches within 10 yards or who otherwise appears to be trying to take the object away.

If you attempt to force the creature to act against its principles (e.g., commit suicide by leaping into a chasm after the object or harm a loved one), roll another Quick Contest. If your victim wins, it breaks free. Roll at the moment of truth, not when the spell is first cast.

If you lose your initial casting roll, you cannot attempt to control that subject again for 24 hours, and he feels a sense of mental coercion emanating from you.

Statistics: Mind Control (Accessibility, Only on sapient beings, -10%; Accessibility, Only to obtain and protect an object, -20%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Independent, +70%; Magical, -10%; Melee Attack, Reach C, -30%; Reduced Duration, 1/10, -20%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [28]. Mislead

Keywords: Area (Leveled), Buff.

Full Cost: 83 points for level 1 + 12.5 points/additional level.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use skill or Artist (Illusion) to determine how convincing it is.

Components: S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Self.

Duration: 30 seconds.

You become invisible and at the same time create an illusory double of you. This transition is seamless to others. The illusion can fool vision, Infravision, Ultravision, and hearing. You must win a Quick Contest of skill – or Artist (Illusion), if better – against the Per of anyone you want to fool; otherwise they notice something “off.” Do not apply range penalties to this roll. Their roll is at +4 if they have reason to be alert for illusions. However, even if they successfully “disbelieve,” your illusion doesn’t disappear.

You do not have to concentrate to maintain the illusion, but you may move it within the area of effect or make it perform specific actions with a Concentrate maneuver. After you cease concentration, the illusory double continues to carry out the same activity (for instance, fleeing down a hallway) until the duration expires.

The invisibility component of this spell is similar to the Invisibility spell. You and everything you are carrying (up to your Light encumbrance) become invisible. You get a +9 to Stealth in any situation where being seen would matter. Invisibility only works against electromagnetic vision (which encompasses ordinary vision, Infravision, Ultravision, and radar). You do not cast a shadow and don’t show up in mirrors.

This effect (but not the illusion) ends if you attack any creature. For purposes of this spell, an attack includes any spell targeting a foe or whose area or effect includes a foe. Exactly who is a foe depends on the invisible character’s perceptions. Actions directed at unattended objects do not break the spell. Causing harm indirectly is not an attack. Thus, an invisible being can open doors, talk, eat, climb stairs, summon monsters and have them attack, cut the ropes holding a rope bridge while enemies are on the bridge, remotely trigger traps, open a portcullis to release attack dogs, and so forth. If you attack directly, however, you immediately become visible along with all your gear.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Self Only, -50%; Advantage, Mislead, +560%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Link, +10%; Magical, -10%; Reduced Duration, 1/6, -15%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%) [58] + Illusion (Accessibility, Only an illusory double of you, -70%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Extended, Infravision, Ultravision, +20%; Extended Duration, 3x, +20%; Independence, Limited, +20%; Link, +10%; Magical, -10%; Persistent, +40%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%) [25]. You can erase memories of a sapient creature or add false ones. Roll a Quick Contest of skill vs. the subject's Will (if the subject is willing, just make a skill roll). This roll is at a -1 penalty per full -5 points of disadvantages to be changed. Memories can be altered by adding Delusions or Amnesia. If you win, the alterations take place permanently, though therapy or more Modify Memory can undo the changes in the future. Player characters who get rid of starting disadvantages this way may need to buy them off; consult the GM.

If you tie or lose, the subject can sense coercion coming from you. In addition, you cannot try to affect him again within 24 hours.

This spell grants you a powerful sixth sense in relation to yourself. Once during the spell's duration, you may choose to use its effect. Instead of rolling the dice, you may dictate the result of any one die roll you make (or the GM makes for you). Your effective skill must be at least 3, so wholly impossible attempts cannot succeed. This does not require an action and can be done even when it's not your turn.

Moment of Prescience is a Super Luck effect – you cannot use such effects more than once per game day regardless of the source of the effect.

Mordenkainen's Capable Caravel

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 45 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S, F.

Cost: 4 FP + 1 character point.

Casting Time: 1 hour.

Range: Touch.

Duration: Indefinite.

You conjure into existence a fine, seaworthy ship to carry you and your companions safely and comfortably. Use the stats for the caravel from page 38 of GURPS Low-Tech Companion 2: Weapons and Warriors. You can create any deck plan you desire within the limit of the caravel's size. The cabins are furnished.

The ship is crewed by a minimum complement of invisible spectral deckhands, which perform the basic tasks of maintenance. The spectral deckhands respond to the direction of the helmsman, reducing the number of crew necessary to control the caravel to 1. If you do not provide a real helmsman, the ship will steer itself on the last course a living helmsman provided but will not be able to avoid collisions or hazards or adjust to changing conditions. Spectral deckhands have ST 10 and Seamanship skill of the caster. Giving mental orders to the spectral deckhands requires a Concentrate maneuver for the caster. Spectral deckhands cannot perform anything but maintaining and operating the vessel – they cannot attack or be attacked.

If you fail your casting roll, you can try again, but repeated attempts cost 6 FP (instead of the usual 4 FP) and take a cumulative -1 to the skill roll, until you succeed or wait an hour.

A created caravel lasts indefinitely. That means, however, that if you want to cast this spell again, the first caravel goes away as soon as you begin casting to create the second one. If you can maintain multiple spells (Simultaneous Spells, GURPS Thaumatology: Sorcery, p. 8), you can keep multiple versions of this spell "on" to get around that problem. Unlike most spells with Indefinite duration, this one does not require paying FP to maintain.

Focus: A miniature ship carved from mahogany, rigged with silk sails and gold thread, with a total value of $4,000 and weight of 0.5 lb.

Statistics: Snatcher (Accessibility, Only caravel, -70%; Character point-powered, x1/5; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Immediate Preparation Required, 1 hour, -75%; Improved, +10%; Large Items, +50%; Link, +10%; Magical, -10%; More Weight 22, +110%; Requires Focus, -15%; Requires Gestures, -10%;

Mordenkainen's Disjunction

Keywords: Area (Fixed), Resisted (Will or spell).

Full Cost: 20 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP + 1 character point or more; see text.

Casting Time: 4 seconds.

Range: Unlimited (standard).

Duration: Instantaneous.

Attempts to negate every instance of magic in a 4-yard-radius hemispherical area, including spells that are immune to Dispel Magic and require Break Enchantment or Remove Curse to dispel. Note how much the caster's skill roll succeeds by; every spell in the area resists separately with a Quick Contest. Use the spell's casting skill (for skill-based traditions) or the caster's Will + Talent (for traditions without casting skills). If the caster of Mordenkainen's Disjunction wins, the spell dissipates; but it may be recast normally.

This spell requires the caster to expend character points. If the caster spends one character point, he simply dispels ongoing effects, as if casting Dispel Magic. If he pays more, he is able to permanently neutralize Truly Permanent effects, such as enchantments on magic items. The cost in this case is equal to that of the abilities neutralized.

Statistics: Neutralize Magic (Accessibility, Must target subject, not caster, -10%; Area Effect, 4 yards, +100%; Based on IQ, Own Roll, +20%; Character point-powered, x1/5; Cosmic, Can dispel spells that are immune to Dispel Magic, +50%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Interruption, Not against magic items, -40%; Magical, -10%; Ranged, +40%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Takes Extra Time 2, -20%) [20].

Mordenkainen's Faithful Hound

Keywords: Area (Fixed).

Full Cost: 39 points.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 10 yards.

Duration: 5 hours or until triggered, then 30 seconds.

You conjure up a phantom watchdog that is invisible to everyone but yourself. It then guards the area where it was conjured (it does not move). The hound immediately starts barking loudly if any SM-2 or larger creature approaches within 8 yards of it. (Those within 8 yards of the hound when it is conjured may move about in the area, but if they leave and return, they activate the barking.) The hound sees invisible and ethereal creatures. It does not react to figments, but it does react to shadow illusions. The barking imposes a -5 penalty to Hearing in the area, but also is detectable with Hearing+5.

If an intruder approaches to within 1 yard of the hound, the dog stops barking and delivers a vicious bite (Skill 14, 1d cutting) once per second. The attack can be dodged, blocked, or parried. The dog also gets the bonuses appropriate to an invisible creature. The dog is considered ready to bite intruders, so it delivers its first bite on the intruder's turn. The hound cannot be attacked, but it can be dispelled.

The spell lasts for 5 hours, but once the hound begins barking, it lasts only 30 seconds. If you are ever more than 32 yards distant from the hound, the spell ends.

Statistics: Cutting Attack 1d (Area Effect, 2 yards, +50%; Blockable, -5%; Bombardment, Skill 14, -5%; Can be parried, -5%; Delay, Trigger, Entering the area, +50%; Extended Duration, 3x, +20%; Link, +10%; Magical, -10%; No Signature, +20%; Nuisance Effect, Only one attack per second, -5%; Persistent, +40%; Reduced Range, 1/10, -30%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Terminal Condition, Further than 32 yards, -10%) [14] + Obscure 5 (Hearing; Area Effect, 8 yards, +100%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Delay, Trigger, Entering the area, +50%; Extended Duration, 3x, +20%; Link, +10%; Magical, -10%; Ranged, +50%; Reduced Range, 1/10, -30%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Terminal Condition, Further than 32 yards, -10%) [25].

Mordenkainen's Magnificent Mansion

Keywords: Obvious.

Full Cost: 48 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S, F.

Cost: 1 FP + 1 character point.

Casting Time: 10 seconds.

Range: Touch.

Duration: 3d seconds.

You conjure up an extradimensional dwelling that has a single entrance on the plane from which the spell was cast. The entry point looks like a faint shimmering in the air that is 4 feet wide and 8 feet high and it lasts for 3d seconds.

Only those you designate may enter the mansion, and the portal is shut and made invisible behind you when you enter. You may open it again from your own side at will by making another casting roll without paying the FP cost. Once observers have passed beyond the entrance, they are in a magnificent foyer with numerous chambers beyond. The atmosphere is clean, fresh, and warm.

Whenever anyone attempts to enter your mansion without your permission using a Jumper-based spell or ability, you can roll a Quick Contest of your Will (plus Talent) vs. your opponent's ability's controlling attribute (or his Will if he lacks one). If you win or tie, his attempt to enter fails and he cannot try again for 1d hours – if you critically succeeded, this becomes 1d days and he loses 1d FP! If you lose, he can enter normally; if you critically failed, you are also left reeling (mentally stunned) as he breaks through your dimensional barriers.

You can create any floor plan you desire, but it cannot be changed after you successfully cast this spell for the first time. The extradimensional mansion has a size of a comfortable house or condominium. The place is not furnished – you have to bring any furniture or supplies inside, but they will remain there forever, unless you remove them.

Since the place can be entered only through its special portal, outside conditions do not affect the mansion, nor do conditions inside it pass to the plane beyond.

Focus: A miniature portal carved from ivory, a small piece of polished marble, and a tiny silver spoon (each item worth $80).

Statistics: Jumper (Pocket Dimension; Access Regulation, +25%; Cannot Escort, -10%; Cannot Follow, -20%; Character point-powered, x1/5; Extra Carrying Capacity, Extra-Heavy, +50%; Improved, +10%; Larger Size 3, +30%; Magical, -10%; Nuisance Effect, Cannot hurry the jump, -5%; Requires focus, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Tunnel, Forms before, +100%) [48].

Mordenkainen's Private Sanctum

Keywords: Area (Fixed).

Full Cost: 42 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 3 FP + 1 character point.

Casting Time: 10 minutes.

Range: Self.

Duration: Eight hours.

This spell ensures privacy. Anyone looking into the hemispherical area from outside sees only a dark, foggy mass. Dark Vision, Infravision, and Ultravision cannot penetrate it. No sounds, no matter how loud, can escape the area, so nobody can eavesdrop from outside, even with Subsonic Hearing, Ultrasonic Hearing, or Vibration Sense. Those inside can see out normally. Information spells cannot perceive anything within the area. The ward prevents speech between those inside and those outside (because it blocks sound), but it does not prevent other communication.

Statistics: Obscure 10 (Hearing; Area Effect, 4 yards, +50%; Character point-powered, x1/5; Defensive, +50%; Extended, Subsonic Hearing, Ultrasonic Hearing, Vibration Sense, +60%; Extended Duration, 3,000x, +140%; Immediate Preparation Required, 10 minutes, -45%; Link, +10%; Magical, -10%; Persistent, +40%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [15] + Obscure 10 (Information Spells; Area Effect, 4 yards, +50%; Character point-powered, x1/5; Defensive, +50%; Extended Duration, 3,000x, +140%; Immediate Preparation Required, 10 minutes, -45%; Link, +10%; Magical, -10%; Persistent, +40%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [13] + Obscure 10 (Vision; Area Effect, 4 yards, +50%; Character point-powered, x1/5; Costs Fatigue, 3 FP, -15%; Defensive, +50%; Extended, Dark Vision, Infravision, Ultravision, +60%; Extended Duration, 3,000x, +140%; Immediate Preparation Required, 10 minutes, -45%; Link, +10%; Magical, -10%; Persistent, +40%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [14]. As a special effect, this forms a hemispherical dome, not a cylinder.

Mordenkainen's Sword

Keywords: Obvious.

Full Cost: 32 points.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to place the effect.

Components: V, S, F.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 10 yards.

Duration: 10 seconds.

This spell brings into being a shimmering, swordlike plane of force. The sword strikes at any opponent within its range, as you desire, starting in the second that you cast the spell. The effect initially is placed with Innate Attack (Gaze), at +4 for targeting an area. The sword has Reach 1. The sword swings at its designated target once a second on your turn with an effective skill 14. If it strikes the target, it deals 1d+2 cutting damage. This is a force effect, so it can harm ethereal or insubstantial beings. The sword can be dodged, parried, or blocked, like a normal sword.

Each second after the first, you can use a Concentrate maneuver to switch the sword to a new target. If you do not, the sword continues to attack the previous target. The sword flies through the air with Move 4. If you do not redirect it to another target, it follows its previous target. If the sword goes beyond the spell range from you, or if it goes out of your sight, the sword attempts to return to you..

The sword cannot be attacked or harmed by physical attacks, but can be dispelled. A Disintegrate spell destroys the sword. The sword's effective SM is -2, and it does not use any active defenses.

Focus: A miniature platinum sword with a grip and pommel of copper and zinc. It costs $750 to construct.

Statistics: Cutting Attack 1d+2 (Accessibility, Only attacks one target, -10%; Affects Insubstantial, +20%; Area Effect, 2 yards, +50%; Blockable, -5%; Bombardment, Skill 14, -5%; Can be parried, -5%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Independent, +40%; Magical, -10%; Mobile 4, +160%; Nuisance Effect, Must stay within 10 yards of the caster, -5%; Nuisance Effect, Vulnerable to Disintegrate, -5%; Persistent, +40%; Reduced Range, 1/10, -30%; Requires Focus, -15%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Vision-Based, -20%) [32].

Move Earth

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 5 points for level 1 + 3 points/additional level.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP to cast, 1 FP to maintain.

Casting Time: 10 minutes.

Range: 100 yards.

Duration: Indefinite.

Move Earth moves dirt (clay, loam, sand), possibly collapsing embankments, moving hillocks, shifting dunes, and so forth. However, in no event can rock formations be collapsed or moved. You can affect up to 10 x (level squared) lbs. of dirt in the form of a single object or amorphous mass. For example, Move Earth 3 would let you affect 90 lbs. of dirt. You must concentrate constantly to maintain this spell.

Each hex with a depth of 1 foot has a volume of 7.8 ft³. For more precise calculations, here are the densities of various forms of dirt:

Material	Density	Mass of a 1-foot-deep hex
Dirt	76 lb./ft ³ or 1220 kg/m ³	593 lbs.
Sand	100 lb./ft ³ or 1600 kg/m ³	780 lbs.
Loam	80 lb./ft ³ or 1280 kg/m ³	624 lbs.

This spell does not violently break the surface of the ground. Instead, it creates wavelike crests and troughs, with the earth reacting with glacierlike fluidity until the desired result is achieved. Trees, structures, rock formations, and such are mostly unaffected except for changes in elevation and relative topography.

The spell cannot be used for tunneling and is generally too slow to trap or bury creatures, as the earth moves at Move 1. Its primary use is for digging or filling moats or for adjusting terrain contours before a battle. This spell has no effect on earth creatures.

Statistics: Control Dirt 1 (Accessibility, Only movement, -20%; Accessibility, Only up to 10 feet deep, -5%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Immediate Preparation Required, 10 minutes, -45%; Magical, -10%; Ranged, +40%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [5]. Additional levels add Control Dirt +1 (Accessibility, Only movement, -20%; Accessibility, Only up to 10 feet deep, -5%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Immediate Preparation Required, 10 minutes, -45%; Lift Only, -20%; Magical, -10%; Ranged, +40%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [+3/level].

New snow	3.75 lb./ft ³ or 60 kg/m ³	29.25 lbs.
Settled snow	15.6 lb./ft ³ or 250 kg/m ³	121.7 lbs.

Ice	53 lb./ft ³ or 850 kg/m ³	413.4 lbs.

This spell does not violently break the surface of snow or ice. Instead, it creates wavelike crests and troughs, with glacierlike fluidity until the desired result is achieved. Trees, structures, rock formations, and such are mostly unaffected except for changes in elevation and relative topography.

The spell cannot be used for tunneling and is generally too slow to trap or bury creatures, as snow and ice move at Move 1. Its primary use is for digging or adjusting terrain contours before a battle. This spell has no effect on ice creatures.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 50 yards.

Duration: 10 seconds.

You may fill a 4-yard-radius 4-yard-high cylindrical area with a cloud of hot steam. This gives -5 to all vision and Infravision rolls made through it. To place the cloud at a distance, use Innate Attack (Gaze), with normal range penalties, but at +4 for affecting an area. The initial attack roll places the effect. It then drifts from that point with the wind.

Every creature in the area takes 1d-2 non-incendiary burning damage per second. In addition, any creature that breathes in the steam takes 1d-2 non-incendiary burning damage per second, ignoring external DR. Once the creature loses 1/3 of its HP to this respiratory effect, it begins to cough (p. B428) until it recovers HP above this threshold.

Duration: Instantaneous.

You fire a black ray of negative energy at a single target. Use Innate Attack (Beam) to hit, applying normal range penalties. It does toxic damage with dice equal to your level of this spell. The ray has the 1/2D range of 25 yards. The GM must determine what the maximum level available in the campaign is.

If your foe is within one yard of you, he may attempt to parry this attack (actually parrying your hand). If such a parry is successful, you must roll against DX to avoid hitting yourself with your own ray of frost!

Statistics: Toxic Attack (Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Increased 1/2D, 5x, +10%; Magical, -10%; Nuisance Effect, Dangerous to be parried, -5%; Reduced Range, 1/2, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [2/level].

Net

Keywords: Area (Fixes).

Full Cost: 29 points.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim.
Components: V, S.
Cost: 2 FP.
Casting Time: 2 seconds.
Range: 20 yards.
Duration: Instantaneous.

You conjure a 2-yard-radius sticky net that falls over an area. Anyone covered by the net is grappled with ST 12 and rooted in place. They cannot select the Move or Change Posture maneuvers or change facing, and are at -4 to DX. Each additional net cast over the area increases the ST by 1.

To break free, the victim must win a Quick Contest of ST or Escape skill against the ST of the Net. Each attempt takes one second. If the victim fails to break free, he loses 1 FP but may try again. Alternatively, he may try to destroy the Net. Innate Attacks hit automatically; other attacks are at -4. External attacks on the Net take no penalty, but risk hitting the victim on a miss (see Striking Into a Close Combat, p. B392). The Net has DR 4. Each point of damage reduces ST by one. At ST 0, the Net is destroyed and the victims are freed. The Net can only be damaged by cutting attacks.

Victims also can roll thrust damage once per turn against the Net as a free action. If this destroys the binding, they may ignore its impediment at once. If it doesn't, they're affected normally but may still use their turn for a standard attempt to break free, and the binding is not damaged by this free "attack."

Statistics: Binding 12 (Area Effect, 2 yards, +50%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Magical, -10%; Only Damaged By Cutting, +30%; Overhead, +30%; Reduced Range, 1/10, -30%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Takes Extra Time 1, -10%) [29].

Components: V, S.
Cost: 2 FP.
Casting Time: 4 seconds.
Range: Touch.
Duration: Instantaneous, the poison flushes in 1d hours.

This spell flushes poisons from the subject's body. The caster must first roll against Poisons (or Alchemy, Pharmacy, etc., as appropriate) to identify the poison. He cannot attempt this roll until he knows that the subject has been poisoned. In most cases, this can be discovered when the first symptoms show! This spell flushes the poison in 1d hours, after which it has no further effect.

Full Cost: 44 points.
Casting Roll: Skill.
Components: V, S.
Cost: 1 FP.
Casting Time: 10 minutes.
Range: Unlimited (long-distance).
Duration: 1 day or until awakened.

You send a hideous and unsettling phantasmal vision to a specific creature that you name or otherwise specifically designate. In addition to taking range penalties, this spell requires you to be familiar with the subject. Your casting roll is at -2 if you know the subject well, -4 if you've met him firsthand only for a short time, -7 if you've only heard of the subject. If you have the subject's likeness, such as a picture, your casting roll is at +1. If you have his body part, such as a lock of hair, you get an additional +1. The sleeping sapient subject gets the Nightmares (p. B144) disadvantage until he awakens (or for 24 hours, if he sleeps for a very long time). Upon awakening the subject loses 1 FP that he can only recover through sleep. On a roll of 17 or 18, he is left shaking, and is at -1 to all skill and Perception rolls for the entire day. If the subject is awake during the casting, the spell fails.

Creatures who don't sleep (such as most elves) or dream are immune to this spell.

You imbue a creature with an invisible shield that protects it from all effects of sunlight. If cast on a vampire or other creature that is normally harmed or destroyed by exposure to sunlight, the spell allows that creature to function in sunlight without hindrance. The spell does not overcome any aversion the target creature may have for sunlight, however. Effectively, it merely suppresses the Weakness disadvantage (p. B161) with regards to sunlight.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Only nonvolitional or non-resisting subjects, -20%; Based on IQ, Own Roll, +20%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Extended Duration, 10x, +40%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Magical, -10%; Malediction 1, +100%; Melee Attack, Reach C, -30%; Negated Disadvantage, Weakness (Sunlight, 1d per minute), +600%; No Signature, +20%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Takes Extra Time 2, -20%) [77].

The subject is nearly impossible to detect, see, or divine with any Information spells, regardless of the magic system used to cast them. Nondetection reduces the diviner's effective margin of success by 10 for these purposes – so a spell that succeeded by 0-9 completely fails to find the subject, while one that succeeded by 10+ provides less information than normal and is at a huge disadvantage if it's resisted.

Numbing Sphere

Keywords: Missile, Obvious.

Full Cost: 8 points/level.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Projectile) to «lock on».

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 50 yards.

Duration: Instantaneous.

A sphere of intense cold energy flies off your fingertips and bounces along the floor towards your target. A successful hit does 1d non-incendiary burning damage per level of this spell. Targets injured by this spell must make an HT roll, at -1 per 2 points of injury, or take a -2 penalty to DX and become Numb (p. B146) for (20-HT) minutes (minimum 1 minute).

You steer the sphere to the target using your own Innate Attack (Projectile) skill. This lets you ignore all range penalties to hit! If the target is so distant that the sphere needs multiple turns to reach it, you must take a Concentrate maneuver each turn. If you lose sight of the target while the attack is en route, your attack automatically misses. The sphere can only bounce 1 yard up in the air, so the attack can be evaded by climbing high enough.

The sphere moves 5 yards per second (this is its 1/2D characteristic). The sphere can hit a target at up to its 1/2D range on the turn you launch it. It requires multiple turns to reach more distant targets. Do not halve damage, but defer the attack roll until the attack reaches its target.

For more information, see Guided and Homing Weapons (p. B412).

Statistics: Burning Attack 1d (Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Environmental, Along the floor, -15%; Guided, +50%; Magical, -10%; No Incendiary Effect, -10%; Reduced Range, 1/2, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Side Effect, DX-2 and Numb, +90%) [8/level].

Nystul's Magic Aura

Duration: 6 days.

You alter an item's aura so that it registers to detect spells (and spells with similar capabilities) as though it were nonmagical, or a magic item of a kind you specify, or the subject of a spell you specify. You could make an ordinary sword register as a sword of fire as far as magical detection is concerned or make a sword of fire register as if it were a sword of frost or even a nonmagical sword.

If the object bearing Nystul's magic aura has Identify cast on it or is similarly examined, the examiner recognizes that the aura is false and detects the object's actual qualities if he succeeds in a Quick Contest of skill against the caster of Nystul's magic aura. Otherwise, he believes the aura and no amount of testing reveals what the true magic is.

Focus: A small square of silk that must be passed over the object that receives the aura.

The target object is nearly impossible to detect, see, or divine with any Information spells, regardless of the magic system used to cast them. Obscure Object reduces the diviner's effective margin of success by 10 for these purposes – so a spell that succeeded by 0-9 completely fails to find the object, while one that succeeded by 10+ provides less information than normal and is at a huge disadvantage if it's resisted.

Components: V, S.

Duration: 10 seconds.

A 4-yard-high cylindrical bank of fog appears around you. The fog obscures normal sight, imposing a -7 penalty to Vision rolls and Vision-based tasks. The effect does not move with you, but drifts with the wind, and any wind more forceful than a light breeze disperses it.

Fire attacks become weaker in fog. Flaming weapons and missiles lose their extra power in fog. Scorching Rays and similar fire missile effects lose 1 point of damage per yard of fog they must traverse. Fire explosions treat each yard of fog as two yards of distance from the blast for the purpose of damage. However, no amount of fog will extinguish a fire.

Full Cost: 40 points.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 2 seconds.

Range: 10 yards.

Duration: 10 seconds for the orb, 3 minutes for the effects.

You call upon dark necromantic energy to drain the life force of your foes. You create a small orb of pulsing black energy (about 6 inches across) somewhere within the range of this spell. You may take a Concentrate maneuver to move the orb 3 yards in any direction. The orb cannot be damaged.

Each second, every living creature within 2 yards of the orb is attacked with effective skill 14, modified only for target size. A creature struck by this beam attack must roll against its HT to resist. If it fails to resist, it suffers temporary ST, DX, and HT loss equal to its margin of failure (maximum -10). Lower all skills based on these attributes by a like amount. ST penalties also reduce BL and damage. HP is not otherwise affected. FP and Basic Speed are not affected.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Living creatures only, -10%; Area Effect, 2 yards, Spherical, +40%; Attribute Penalty, ST-10, DX,-10, HT-10, +200%; Bombardment, Skill 14, -5%; Cannot exceed margin of success, -50%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Magical, -10%; Malediction 1, +100%; Mobile 3, +120%; Persistent, +40%; Reduced Range, 1/10, -30%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Takes Extra Time 1, -10%; Weaponized, -50%) [40].

Targets struck by this attack must make an HT roll, at -1 per 2 points of injury, or be physically stunned. On subsequent turns, they can roll HT to recover.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim.
Components: V, S.
Cost: 2 FP.
Casting Time: 2 seconds.
Range: 10 yards.
Duration: 5 minutes.

You create an opaque, immobile, shimmering screen of violet energy. The screen is a plane that can be oriented in any way, but has length of 6 yards, width of 1 yard, and height of 4 yards on level 1. Each additional level doubles the length.

Note how much the caster's skill roll succeeds by; every spell effect crossing the screen, including missile spells, resists separately with a Quick Contest. Use the spell's casting skill (for skill-based traditions) or the caster's Will + Talent (for traditions without casting skills). If the caster of Otiluke's Dispelling Screen wins, the spell dissipates; but it may be recast normally. Some spells explicitly state that they are unaffected by Dispel Magic – these aren't affected by the screen either. It also cannot end Truly Permanent effects, such as the magic of enchanted items.

Otiluke's Freezing Sphere

Keywords: Area (Fixed), Missile, Obvious.

Full Cost: 62 points.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Projectile) to hit.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 2 seconds.

Range: 100 yards.

Duration: Instantaneous.

You throw a ball of cold that expands to cover a 4-yard-radius spherical area. Use Innate Attack (Projectile) to hit, applying normal range penalties, but at +4 for targeting an area. When the projectile hits something, it expands, dealing 3d non-incendiary burning damage to everything in its hex. Everything else within 4 yards takes damage divided by the distance in yards from the center of the blast. This damage comes from extreme cold, not heat, so it cannot set anything on fire. Targets injured by this spell must make an HT roll, at -1 per 2 points of injury, or take a -2 penalty to DX and become Numb (p. B146) for (20-HT) minutes (minimum 1 minute).

In addition, if the sphere's explosion covers a body of water or a liquid that is principally water (not including water-based creatures), it freezes the liquid to a depth of 6 inches. Creatures that were swimming on the surface of a targeted body of water or were standing in it become trapped in the ice. Treat this as Binding (p. B40) with ST 10.

Statistics: Burning Attack 3d (Area Effect, 4 yards, Spherical, +115%; Dissipation, -50%; Link, +10%; Magical, -10%; No Incendiary Effect, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Side Effect, DX-2 and Numb, +90%; Takes Extra Time 1, -10%) [33] + Binding 10 (Area Effect, 4 yards, Spherical, +115%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Environmental, Water, -20%; Link, +10%; Magical, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Takes Extra Time 1, -10%) [29].

Otiluke's Resilient Sphere

Full Cost (Ranged): 42 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 2 seconds.

Range: Touch – Unlimited (-1/yard) - Unlimited (standard).

Duration: 1 minute.

A globe of shimmering force forms around a 1-yard-radius area and encloses SM+0 and smaller creatures that are at least partially within that hex. For example, a SM+0 creature lying prone can be contained despite taking up two hexes. To avoid this spell, each creature may dodge. Retreating and using Dodge and Drop (p. B377) may provide their usual bonuses. The sphere contains its subjects for the spell's duration, squeezing them in a way that prevents them from performing any physical actions. If multiple creatures are contained this way, they are considered to be in constant contact for the purpose of auras and other contact abilities. A creature with Spines deals maximum damage to all other creatures in the sphere once, when the spell takes effect.

This barrier allows air to pass, so the subjects may breathe freely. Even though the sphere prevents physical actions, and the sphere itself cannot be physically moved either by people outside it or by the struggles of those within, contained creatures still may use purely mental maneuvers; if line of sight is important for such actions, determine the facing of each subject randomly. The subjects are protected by the sphere – the sphere provides Cover DR 6. Any long inanimate objects that do not fit within the sphere, such as a long spear carried by a subject, stick out of the sphere and are immobilized. If the sphere fails to capture any creatures, it immediately disappears, so this spell cannot be used to create cover in combat.

Otiluke's Suppressing Field

Keywords: Area (Fixed).

Full Cost: 30 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP to cast, 1 FP to maintain.

Casting Time: 2 seconds.

Range: Self.

Duration: Indefinite.

When you cast this spell, designate a college of magic (such as Protection and Warning, Fire, Mind Control, etc.). This spell creates a 2-yard-radius spherical invisible zone that suppresses magic of that college. It is centered on the caster and moves with him. If anyone (including the caster) tries to use a magical ability or spell from the designated college directly on anything in the area or tries to use such ability while in the area, the potential caster must win in a Quick Contest of casting skill (or Will, if the ability or spell in question does not have a skill-based casting roll) to prevent his spell from fizzling. If the ability or spell that is being suppressed already requires a Quick Contest of some kind, the attacker rolls once, but the target gets +5 to resist.

Otiluke's Suppressing Field affects friendly and hostile abilities equally, but the caster can cancel Otiluke's Suppressing Field prematurely with a Ready maneuver. If the caster chooses to suppress a college that includes Otiluke's Suppressing Field, this spell is not suppressed.

Statistics: Rules Exemption (Anti-magic Static can coexist with magical abilities) [1] + Static (Resistible) (Magic; Accessibility, Only one college at a time, -30%; Area Effect, 2 yards, Spherical, +80%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Magical, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Switchable, +100%; Takes Extra Time 1, -10%) [29].

Creatures or objects inside the globe are nearly weightless. Anything contained within a telekinetic sphere weighs only one-tenth of its normal weight.

While this spell is active for the caster, he can telekinetically move the sphere at Move 8 by taking a Concentrate maneuver, as if he had a telekinetic pair of hands with ST 8. He cannot move the sphere further than 20 yards away from him.

Range: Touch – Unlimited (-1/yard) - Unlimited (standard).

Duration: 9 seconds.

A sapient subject feels an undeniable urge to move around. For the duration of the spell, the subject must move each turn and end its movement at least 3 yards away from where it started its turn. If it is incapable of moving this way – due to terrain or other obstacles – it may perform other actions, such as taking the Change Posture maneuver to stand up, but is at -4 to DX and IQ until the beginning of its next turn due to the spell compelling it to move chaotically in place.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (Will; Accessibility, Only on sapient beings, -10%; Based on IQ, Own Roll, +20%; Based on Will, +20%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Imperative Ambulation, +50%; Magical, -10%; Malediction 1, +100%; Melee Attack, Reach C, -30%; No Signature, +20%; Reduced Duration, 1/20, -25%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [21]. Casting Time: 1 second.
Range: Touch – Unlimited (-1/yard) - Unlimited (standard).

A sapient subject feels an undeniable urge to dance and begins doing so, complete with foot shuffling and tapping. The spell effect makes it very hard for the subject to do anything other than caper and prance in place. The subject can move at half of his Move, defends at -4, and is at -4 to DX and IQ. He automatically fails any action that requires a Concentrate maneuver. At the end of the dance, the subject loses 1 FP.

Additional levels add Area Effect (+50%) [+5]. Notes: "Overgrowth" is Growth 1 (Variant; Magical, -10%; Minimum Size Only, +0%) [9]. Full Cost: 113 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP to cast, 1 FP to maintain.

Casting Time: 1 hour.

Range: Touch.

Duration: Indefinite.

You can form a path through any body of water, from a river to a deep ocean. Once the water parts, you may begin walking across the bed, continuing to Concentrate as you do so. If anything interrupts your concentration (see p. B366), the spell ends! You may choose the length and width of the path, and may even adjust it as you walk; it can extend from you anywhere from a few yards up to a full mile in all directions.

When using this to travel across a large body of water (one that exceeds your maximum two-mile diameter), it will appear as a “hole in the water” to ships – as if a ring of waterfalls were all emptying onto a dry patch of land beneath the surface.

Statistics: Control Waves 10 (Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Immediate Preparation Required, 1 hour, -75%; Magical, -10%; Natural Phenomena, +100%; Only to clear a path, -50%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [53] + Control Waves 20 (Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Does not increase area of effect, -50%; Immediate Preparation Required, 1 hour, -75%; Magical, -10%; Natural Phenomena, +100%; Only to clear a path, -50%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [60].

Pass through Ice

Keywords: Buff.

Full Cost (Self): 8 points.

Full Cost (Touch): 23 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.
Components: V, S.
Cost: 2 FP.
Casting Time: 1 second.
Range: Self – Touch.
Duration: 18 seconds.

The transmuted creature is able to pass through ice or snow as easily as water, but not through stone or frozen mud. The subject may carry no more than his Light Encumbrance while passing through ice or snow. He doesn't get the ability to see through these materials or breathe them. The subject uses his Water Move when passing through ice or snow, may need to make Swimming rolls, and is otherwise treated as if underwater.

If the spell ends or is dispelled when the subject is within ice, he is ejected out to the nearest ice surface, takes 2d injury, and is mentally stunned. He may roll against IQ to recover normally. If the spell ends or is dispelled when the subject is within snow, the subject is buried and has to be rescued.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Self Only, -50%; Advantage, Pass through Ice, +100%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Magical, -10%; Reduced Duration, 1/10, -20%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [8]. Note: "Pass through Ice" is Permeation (Ice; Can Carry Objects, Light Encumbrance, +20%; Magical, -10%; Nuisance Effect, Swimming, -10%) [10]. Pass without Trace

Casting Roll: Skill.
Components: V, S.
Cost: 2 FP.
Casting Time: 1 minute.
Range: Self – Touch.
Duration: 5 hours.

This spell allows the subject to exert very little pressure when he walks. The subject leaves no visible tracks. Tracking rolls to follow him automatically fail unless they rely on something more than sight; thus, a human tracker would be baffled, but bloodhounds would suffer no penalty at all. The subject can also walk over fragile surfaces without falling through. Maximum Move under such circumstances is 1/3 normal (GM's decision).

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Self Only, -50%; Advantage, Pass without Trace, +100%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Extended Duration, 100x, +80%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Immediate Preparation Required, 1 minute, -30%; Magical, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [15]. Note: "Pass without Trace" is Unusual Training (Light Walk, no Stealth bonus) [1] + Light Walk (H) DX [4] modified with Cosmic, No die roll required, +100% and Magical, -10% for a final cost of 10 points. The Touch version removes Accessibility, Self Only, -50% and Requires IQ Roll, -10% and adds Accessibility, Only nonvolitional or non-resisting subjects, -20%, Based on IQ, Own Roll, +20%; Malediction 1, +100%, Melee Attack, Reach C, -30%, and No Signature, +20% [+15].

Passwall

Keywords: Obvious.
Full Cost: 74 points.
Casting Roll: Skill.
Components: V, S.
Cost: 1 FP to cast, 1 FP per second to maintain.

Casting Time: 1 minute.

Range: Touch.

Duration: Indefinite.

You create a passage through wooden, plaster, or stone walls, but not through earth, metal or other harder materials. The passage is 1 yard deep. If the wall's thickness is more than the depth of the passage created, then a single Passwall simply makes a niche or short tunnel. When Passwall ends, creatures within the passage are ejected out the nearest exit. If someone dispels the Passwall or you stop maintaining it, creatures in the passage are ejected out the far exit, if there is one, or out the sole exit if there is only one.

Statistics: Permeation (Stone; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Finite Thickness, 1 yard, -10%; Immediate Preparation Required, 1 minute, -30%; Link, +10%; Magical, -10%; Reduced Duration, 1/60, -35%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Tunnel, Forms before, +100%) [36] + Permeation (Wood; Finite Thickness, 1 yard, -10%; Immediate Preparation Required, 1 minute, -30%; Link, +10%; Magical, -10%; Reduced Duration, 1/60, -35%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Tunnel, Forms before, +100%) [38].

Peacebond

Keywords: Weapon Buff.

Full Cost: 35 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 4 seconds.

Range: Touch.

Duration: 5 hours.

The caster must touch a manufactured weapon in its sheath, holder, quiver, or whatever object is used to hold it when not in use. This spell makes the weapon stuck in its holder. No amount of physical effort can draw it forth before the spell expires or is dispelled. The precise nature of the holder doesn't matter; it can be an ornate sheath, or simply a belt through which the weapon has been stuck.

If the bearer of the targeted weapon is attacked, he is immediately entitled to a Will roll to overcome the effect and draw the weapon. The bearer can repeat this save in every second that the assault continues.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Only on sheathed weapons, -30%; Based on IQ, Own Roll, +20%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Extended Duration, 100x, +80%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Magical, -10%; Malediction 1, +100%, Melee Attack, Reach C, -30%; No Signature, +20%; Paralysis, Variant, +150%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Takes Extra Time 2, -20%; Terminal Condition, Being attacked, -5%) [35].

Permanent Image

Keywords: Area (Leveled).

Full Cost: 55 points for level 1 + 12.5 points/additional level*.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use skill or Artist (Illusion) to determine how convincing it is.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 3 FP.

Casting Time: 1 hour.

Range: Touch.

Duration: Permanent.

You can create a permanent illusion in a hemispherical area around a point in space within reach. Aside from a visual image, it incorporates sounds, smells, tastes, thermal effects (it can fool Infravision), but not tactile feelings. You must win a Quick Contest of skill – or Artist (Illusion), if better – against the Per of anyone you want to fool; otherwise they notice something “off.” Do not apply range penalties to this roll. Their roll is at +4 if they have reason to be alert for illusions or +10 if you made it appear from out of nowhere. However, even if they successfully “disbelieve,” your illusion doesn’t disappear. Thus, even an obvious illusion can be useful to block line of sight.

You cannot concentrate to change the image, but you can dismiss the image with a Concentrate maneuver.

Statistics: Illusion (Costs Fatigue, 3 FP, -15%; Extended, Infravision, Smell/Taste, +30%; Extended Duration, Permanent, +150%; Immediate Preparation Required, 1 hour, -75%; Independence, +40%; Magical, -10%; Nuisance Effect, Cannot concentrate to change the image, -10%; Persistent, +40%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [55]. You can create an illusion in a hemispherical area around a point in space within range. Aside from a visual image, it incorporates sounds, smells, tastes, thermal effects (it can fool Infravision), but not tactile feelings. The figment follows a script determined by you. The figment follows that script without your having to concentrate on it. The illusion can include intelligible speech if you wish. For instance, you could create the illusion of several orcs playing cards and arguing, culminating in a fistfight.

You must win a Quick Contest of skill – or Artist (Illusion), if better – against the Per of anyone you want to fool; otherwise they notice something “off.” Do not apply range penalties to this roll. Their roll is at +4 if they have reason to be alert for illusions or +10 if you made it appear from out of nowhere. However, even if they successfully “disbelieve,” your illusion doesn’t disappear. Phantasmal Killer

Keywords: Resisted (IQ).

Full Cost: 36 points for level 1 + 12 points/additional level.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 2 seconds.

Range: 10 yards.

Duration: Instantaneous.

You create a phantasmal image of the most fearsome creature imaginable to the subject simply by forming the fears of the subject’s subconscious mind into something that its conscious mind can visualize: this most horrible beast. Only the spell's subject can see the phantasmal killer. You see only a vague shape. The image is entirely mental, so even blind creatures are affected. If the caster wins in the Quick Contest of skill versus the subject's IQ, then the subject believes the illusion to be real. Roll 3d for the result of a Fright Check, as usual, and add the caster's margin of victory. The victim gets +1 per Fright Check after the first within 24 hours. Regardless of the result, he becomes immune to this caster's Phantasmal Killer for one hour. Each additional level of this spell imposes -1 to the Fright Check. For example, with Phantasmal Killer 4, the subjects must make Fright Checks at -3.

Statistics: Terror (Active, +0%; Based on IQ, +20%; Based on IQ, Own Roll, +20%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Magical, -10%; Presence, +25%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Takes Extra Time 1, -10%) [36]. Additional levels add -1 to the Fright Check [+12].

Cost: 3 FP.

Casting Time: 10 minutes.

Range: 100 yards.

Duration: 8 hours.

This spell creates the illusion of up to margin of success SM-2 to SM+1 figures of a chosen humanoid race (minimum one). Each figure is a visual image that incorporates sounds. The figures appear dressed in any way the caster chooses. When the spell is cast, each figure is given a brief set of orders to follow for the spell's duration, such as "walk back and forth along that wall" or "stand by this gate." The orders can be different for each figure. These instructions can't be changed later. The figures can move within the area of this spell, which is a 4-yard-high cylinder, but they cannot leave it. The illusory figures can't speak or react to their surroundings—they are typically used to scare off would be intruders (as the spell's name suggests).

You must win a Quick Contest of skill – or Artist (Illusion), if better – against the Per of anyone you want to fool; otherwise they notice something "off." Do not apply range penalties to this roll. Their roll is at +4 if they have reason to be alert for illusions or +10 if you made it appear from out of nowhere. However, even if they successfully "disbelieve," your illusion doesn't disappear. Phantom Plow

Keywords: Cone, Obvious.

Full Cost: 24 points.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Beam) to hit.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 100 yards.

Duration: Instantaneous.

You turn aside raw earth in a furrow in a straight line, extending from your feet to the maximum range of the spell. The furrow measures 1 foot deep by 6 inches wide. The furrow ceases if it connects with a wall, large boulder, or other solid object greater than its own width. This is a 1-yard-wide cone attack that uses the rules for Cone Attacks (p. B413). On the battle map, it is a 1x100 row of hexes. This cone is too tight to affect many targets, but gets better chances to hit. The caster targets a hex right in front of him, at +4, and the cone extends out from there.

This spell deals 2d crushing damage as large-area injury to creatures burrowing or buried in the earth along the furrow's line. This counts as an attack from below, bypassing cover. SM+0 or smaller creatures standing along the furrow's line take no damage but must make a DX roll at -1 per 2 points of rolled damage to avoid falling prone.

This spell is often used by spellcasters to turn earth at a fast rate in preparation for planting crops. Its use enabled to plant large tracts of land quickly and efficiently.

Statistics: Crushing Attack 2d (Based on DX, +20%; Cone 1, +60%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Environmental, Dirt, -40%; Increased 1/2D, 10x, +15%; Magical, -10%; No Wounding, Except for burrowing creatures, -25%; Overhead, +30%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Side Effect, Fall prone, Only SM+0 or smaller, +120%) [24].

Phantom Steed

Keywords: None.

Casting Time: 1 minute.

Range: Touch.

Duration: Hours equal to margin of success on the casting roll.

Create a quasi-real stupid but obedient mount on which to ride while it exists. It can also be used as a draft animal. The mount appears within the arm's reach. The mount's traits are equivalent to a pony (p. B460) or cavalry horse (p. B459). The mount can only understand very simple spoken commands, such as stop, go, left, right, about face, etc. It is under the GM's control but is considered war-trained. The steed has bit and bridle, horseshoes, saddle and tack, saddlebags, and stirrups (total weight 45 lbs.), but they disappear if removed from the steed. See p. B289 for the description of equestrian gear.

If the mount is killed, the summoner must wait a full day to call replacements. Dismissing the mount is a free action, but you may only dismiss it if it is physically present. You can only cast this spell if your character's point total is at least 2 times higher than the mount's.

Statistics: Ally (Mount; Built on 50%; Constantly, no roll required; Adjustable, Mounts, +25%; Conjured, +100%; Immediate Preparation Required, 1 minute, -30%; Magical, -10%; Maximum Duration, hours equal to margin of success, -5%; Minion, +50%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [16]. Notes: The Maximum Duration limitation is priced based on Maximum Duration, 12 hours. As a special effect, this spell breaks rules by allowing free maintenance, but this is offset by imposing a FP cost to cast.

Phase Door

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 65 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 3 FP.

Casting Time: 2 seconds.

Range: Touch.

Duration: 3d seconds.

This spell creates an ethereal passage through wooden, plaster, or stone walls no more than 3 yards thick, but not other materials. The Phase Door is invisible and inaccessible to all creatures except you, and only you can use the passage. You disappear when you enter the Phase Door and appear when you exit. The door does not allow light, sound, or spell effects through it, nor can you see through it without using it. Thus, the spell can provide an escape route, though certain creatures, such as phase spiders, can follow with ease. A Gem of True Seeing or similar magic reveals the presence of a Phase Door but does not allow its use.

A Phase Door is subject to Dispel Magic. If anyone is within the passage when it is dispelled, he is harmlessly ejected just as if he were inside a Passwall effect.

You can allow other creatures to use the Phase Door by setting some triggering condition for the door. Such conditions can be as simple or elaborate as you desire. They can be based on a creature's name or identity but otherwise must be based on observable actions or qualities.

You may make a Phase Door permanent by paying 1 character point during the casting.

Statistics: Warp (Accessibility, Only to create a door through wooden, plaster, or stone wall, -60%; Blind Only, -50%; Cannot Hurry, -5%; Cannot Spend Extra FP, -5%; Costs Fatigue, 3 FP, -15%; Extra Carrying Capacity, Extra-Heavy, +50%; Improved, +10%; Magical, -10%; Non-Instantaneous Movement, -5%; Range Limit, 3 yards, -80%; Reliable 9, +45%; Selective Effect, +20%; Special Portal, Wooden, plaster, or stone wall, -20%; Takes Extra Time 1, -10%; Tunnel, Before, +100%) [65].

Casting Time: 10 minutes.

Casting Time (Lesser): 10 minutes.

Casting Time (Greater): 1 hour.

Range: 10 yards.

Duration: Hours equal to margin of victory on Quick Contest of skill against Will.

Each time you cast this, you summon an outsider (worth 75% or less of your point value). The GM will create this being, but you can request one that meets broad criteria. Alternatively, if you know a specific being you want to call, you can summon it (although if you do not have its True Name or some equally significant identifier, you are at -5 on the casting roll). A penalty applies based on the planar "distance": There is no distance penalty for creatures that are currently on the same plane of existence. Adjacent dimensions impose -5, increasing by -5 for every intervening dimension. The Prime Material Plane is considered adjacent to the Astral Plane, and the Astral Plane is adjacent to the Outer Planes, where most of the outsiders come from. Thus, preparations that mitigate the penalty usually are required.

The summoning itself requires 10 minutes of preparation and ritual. At the end of the casting, you must pay 2 FP and make a Quick Contest of skill against the outsider's Will to force it to appear. If you are victorious, the outsider arrives. It then makes a reaction roll. On Poor or worse, treat it as an Unwilling Ally – it will obey you, but try to subvert your commands or otherwise act against your interests. If the reaction is Neutral or better, it will serve you reasonably faithfully.

You can also summon outsiders to answer questions. Treat this as a Contact Group with an appropriate knowledge category, an effective skill of 18, and a reliability that depends on the reaction roll: Unreliable for Poor or less, Somewhat Reliable on a Neutral reaction, Usually Reliable for Good, and Completely Reliable for Very Good or Excellent reactions.

Unlike most spells with a duration, this spell must be maintained; thus, unless you can cast simultaneous spells, using another spell will immediately dismiss the summoned being. However, there is no FP cost to maintain this spell, only to cast it. A summoned being is vulnerable to being dispelled, banished, or warded off with occult techniques. If it is killed, you must wait 24 hours before using this spell again; if dismissed, you must wait five minutes.

Two other versions of this spell summon beings of different potency. Lesser Planar Binding calls forth an outsider worth up to 25% of your point value. Greater Planar Binding calls an outsider worth up to 150% of your point value, and requires one hour to cast. Treat creatures summoned with the Lesser version as having an effective skill of 12, while Greater Planar Binding provides effective skill 21.

Statistics: Ally (Outsider; Built on 75%; Constantly; Adjustable, Can provide information, +200%; Conjured, +100%; Immediate Preparation Required, 10 minutes, -45%; Magical, -10%; Maximum Duration, hours equal to margin of victory, -5%; Ranged, +40%; Reduced Range, 1/10, -30%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Requires Quick Contest of IQ vs. Will, -15%; Special Abilities, +50%) [44]. Lesser Planar Binding has Ally, built on 25%. Greater Planar Binding is built on 150%, and increases Immediate Preparation Required to 1 hour, -75%. Notes: The Maximum Duration limitation is priced based on Maximum Duration, 12 hours. As a special effect, this spell breaks rules by allowing free maintenance, but this is offset by imposing a FP cost to cast and dimensional "range" penalties.

Planar Navigation

Keywords: Obvious.

Full Cost: 85 points.

Casting Roll: Skill-3 or Plane Skill (see text).

Components: V, S, F.

Cost: 4 FP or more (see text).

Casting Time: 10 seconds.

Range: Touch.

Duration: Instantaneous.

You move yourself and the contents of an entire ship to another plane of existence. When you begin casting the spell, a fog descends about the vessel, and clears within a ten seconds. This fog imposes no mechanical penalties. You must visualize your desired destination when casting this spell (you must have visited that place before). The casting roll depends on your familiarity with the plane of destination. Once you have visited a plane via a naturally occurring portal, a critical failure, or by "hitching a ride" with another planeswalker, you can memorize its "feel" by concentrating and spending character points to "learn" that plane as an IQ/Easy skill (the so-called Plane Skill). This process takes one hour per point you wish to spend. Use this skill when shifting to that plane in the future. Memorization is optional, but if you choose not to memorize a plane, you must roll against your normal casting skill at -3 to attempt to shift to that plane. Coexisting planes, such as the Ethereal Plane or the Plane of Shadow do not require memorization and require a roll against the skill without the -3 penalty.

If successful, the ship will arrive at your intended destination. However, if you fail, the ship will not be transported anywhere. In the case of a critical failure, the ship will end up in an unintended location chosen by the GM.

When shifting to a plane coexisting with the one you are currently on, you will appear in the same physical location as where you left your previous plane, but on a parallel world. If there is no safe corresponding location within 100 yards of your intended destination, the spell will fail. This does not guarantee protection from other forms of danger, such as radiation or wild animals. If you possess Danger Sense, the GM may roll before a hazardous jump to provide a warning on a successful result. When shifting to a coterminous or a separate plane, you arrive with a deviation of 1dx100 miles. If you shift to a place that has no body of water deep enough to hold the ship, the ship materializes right side up, lying on the ground.

The FP cost of this spell depends on the "planar distance." To shift between two different layers of the same plane, spend 4 FP. To shift between two bordering planes (such as the Prime Material Plane and the Astral Plane), spend 5 FP. Spend one additional FP per each additional degree of "removal." Certain very distant planes, such as the Far Realm, may require you to spend 14 FP.

If you wish to visit planes that you have not been to before, you must discover a natural portal, critically fail, or "hitch a ride" with another planeswalker. If you are in physical contact with another character that is traveling between planes, you can "hitch a ride" even if the character initiating the shift does not want company. Only the person initiating the shift makes a casting roll; wherever they end up, you do too.

Plane Shift

Keywords: Obvious.

Full Cost: 45 points.

Casting Roll: Skill-3 or Plane Skill (see text).

Components: V, S, F.

Cost: 1 FP or more (see text).

Casting Time: 10 seconds.

Range: Self.

Duration: Instantaneous.

The spell allows you to transport yourself to another plane of existence or dimension. To activate the spell, you must visualize your desired destination (you must have visited that place before), concentrate for 10 seconds, and make a casting roll. The casting roll depends on your familiarity with the plane of destination. Once you have visited a plane via a naturally occurring portal, a critical failure, or by "hitching a ride" with another planeswalker, you can memorize its "feel" by concentrating and spending character points to "learn" that plane as an IQ/Easy skill (the so-called Plane Skill). This process takes one hour per point you wish to spend. Use this skill when shifting to that plane in the future. Memorization is optional, but if you choose not to memorize a plane, you must roll against your normal casting skill at -3 to attempt to shift to that plane. Coexisting planes, such as the Ethereal Plane or the Plane of Shadow do not require memorization and require a roll against the skill without the -3 penalty.

If successful, you will arrive at your intended destination. However, if you fail, you will not be transported anywhere. In the case of a critical failure, you will end up in an unintended location chosen by the GM.

If you are carrying equipment heavier than your Basic Lift, then you make your casting roll at a penalty equal to twice your Encumbrance level. On a failed roll, you leave excess cargo behind; on a critical failure, you lose 1 point of IQ for each Encumbrance level you attempted as you "burned out" that part of your brain temporarily. This temporarily lost IQ recovers after you sleep.

When shifting to a plane coexisting with the one you are currently on, you will appear in the same physical location as where you left your previous plane, but on a parallel world. If there is no safe corresponding location within 100 yards of your intended destination, the spell will fail. This does not guarantee protection from other forms of danger, such as radiation or wild animals. If you possess Danger Sense, the GM may roll before a hazardous jump to provide a warning on a successful result. When shifting to a coterminal or a separate plane, you arrive with a deviation of 1dx100 miles.

The FP cost of this spell depends on the "planar distance." To shift between two different layers of the same plane, spend 1 FP. To shift between two bordering planes (such as the Prime Material Plane and the Astral Plane), spend 2 FP. Spend one additional FP per each additional degree of "removal." Certain very distant planes, such as the Far Realm, may require you to spend 10 FP.

To cast this spell, you must hold a small, forked metal rod. The size and metal type dictates to which plane of existence or alternate dimension the spell sends you. You must also be able to perform gestures and vocalize magical incantations.

If you wish to visit planes that you have not been to before, you must discover a natural portal, critically fail, or "hitch a ride" with another planeswalker. If you are in physical contact with another character that is traveling between planes, you can "hitch a ride" even if the character initiating the shift does not want company. Only the person initiating the shift makes a casting roll; wherever they end up, you do too.

Optionally, you may overload this spell to transport other willing beings in physical contact with you. Your casting roll will be at -5 per additional target, and your casting will cost an additional 2 FP. You can offset this penalty (but never get a net bonus) by voluntarily spending additional FP; each FP cancels -1 in penalties. If you roll a critical success, you recover all FP spent on this casting. A critical failure strains your spellcasting ability; the spell automatically fails, you lose 1d FP, and all your magical powers shut down for 1d seconds. You may buy off this penalty as a Hard technique for each plane.

Statistics: Jumper (World; Drift, Variant, -40%; Improved, +10%; Magical, -10%; Nuisance Effect, Cannot hurry the jump, -5%; Requires an appropriate forked metal rod, -15%; Requires gestures, -10%; Requires magic words, -10%; Uncertain Encumbrance, +25%) [45].

You disguise the wounds of a ghost who has a disturbing, repulsive, or gruesome appearance (up to Horrific with Universal), making it appear completely normal (although still a ghost), with Average appearance. The spell does not change the ghost's features or disguise it in any way; it conceals the manner of the ghost's death so that it can walk about in polite society.

Poison

Keywords: Resisted (HT).

Full Cost (Touch): 25 points for level 1 + 20 points/additional level.

Full Cost (Short-Range): 26 points for level 1 + 20 points/additional level.

Full Cost (Ranged): 28 points for level 1 + 20 points/additional level.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S, M.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Touch – Unlimited (-1/yard) - Unlimited (standard).

Duration: Depends on the poison.

The caster poisons the victim with a dose of poison from the container he is holding. The spell does not provide the poison, and the poison used works normally. The spell uses up a dose of poison. The combined value of appropriate enhancements and limitations (such as Cyclic, Side Effects and Symptoms) should not be more than 50% per level of the spell, and the damage should not be more than 1d. Since this spell poisons the victim directly, omit penetration modifiers, such as Contact Agent, Blood Agent, and Respiratory Agent, and the resistance roll of the poison is replaced by the Quick Contest made to resist the spell.

Statistics: Toxic Attack 1d (HT; Accessibility, Only the held poison, -50%; Based on IQ, Own Roll, +20%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Magical, -10%; Malediction 1, +100%; Melee Attack, Reach C, -30%; No Signature, +20%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Trigger, Poison, -20%; Variable, +5%; Variable Enhancements, +500%) [28]. Poison Food

Introduces a physical poison into food. This poison remains indefinitely, but can be detected by Test Food. Anyone eating the poisoned food must make a HT-1 roll 1 minute later. On a failed roll, he is seized by painful stomach cramps, taking 2d toxic damage. If he loses 1/3 HP to this poison, he begins to experience moderate pain (p. B428) until he heals above this threshold. Poison Food affects one pound of food per casting.

A hail of poisoned needles shoots from your fingertip. This is a ranged attack with Acc 2, Max 20, 1/2D -, RoF 7, Rcl 2 that deals 1 point of small piercing damage and follow-up 1d-1 toxic damage that can be resisted with a HT roll. Poison Needles can be dodged or blocked.

Polar Ray

Keywords: Missile, Obvious.

Full Cost: 5.5 points/level.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Beam) to hit.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 10 yards.

Duration: Instantaneous.

You fire a white ray of cold at a single target. Use Innate Attack (Beam) to hit, applying normal range penalties. It does burning damage with dice equal to your level of this spell. This damage cannot set anything on fire, as it originates from extreme cold, not heat. The ray has the 1/2D range of 5 yards. Targets injured by this spell must make an HT roll, at -1 per 2 points of injury, or take a -2 penalty to DX and become Numb (p. B146) for (20-HT) minutes (minimum 1 minute). The GM must determine what the maximum level available in the campaign is.

If your foe is within one yard of you, he may attempt to parry this attack (actually parrying your hand). If such a parry is successful, you must roll against DX to avoid hitting yourself with your own polar ray!

Statistics: Burning Attack (Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Increased 1/2D, 5x, +10%; Magical, -10%; No Incendiary Effect, -10%; Nuisance Effect, Dangerous to be parried, -5%; Side Effect, DX-2 and Numb, +90%; Reduced Range, 1/10, -30%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [5.5/level].

Polymorph

Duration: 3 minutes.

The subject, who must not be an incorporeal or diffuse creature, assumes the form of a creature of the same body type as his – he must have the same number and arrangement of limbs, the same posture, body layout, etc. Physical traits of the subject's racial template are replaced with physical traits of the racial template of the assumed form. Thus, the subject cannot gain any mental or supernatural abilities, but he may gain new biological abilities. This spell includes the ability to make cosmetic changes. Thus, it is possible to make the subject assume a form of another member of his own species. The subject's gear is not affected.

By default, you may make the subject assume any racial template (adjusted by removing mental and supernatural abilities) worth no more than his native racial template (likewise adjusted). If you want to make him assume more powerful forms, you have to pay extra points equal to the difference. Thus, Polymorph (10) costs 10 extra points but allows you to make the subject assume any racial template worth no more than 10 points than his native one.

You can always make the subject take on the form of a being you can see or touch, provided its racial template meets the requirements outlined earlier. Once the subject has assumed a form, you can opt to memorize it by concentrating for one minute. This allows you to shapeshift any subject into that form at any time by casting Polymorph. You can memorize a number of forms equal to your casting skill. If all your “slots” are full, you must overwrite a previously memorized form (your choice) to add the new form.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Only nonvolitional or non-resisting subjects, -20%; Accessibility, Only non-diffuse and corporeal creatures, -10%; Advantage, Polymorph, +600%; Based on IQ, Own Roll, +20%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Magical, -10%; Malediction 1, +100%; Melee Attack, Reach C, -30%; No Signature, +20%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [74]. Note: “Polymorph” is Morph (Accessibility, Only physical traits, -10%; Magical, -10%; Retains Shape, -20%) [60].

Polymorph Any Object

Keywords: Resisted (HT).

Full Cost: 95 points or more.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 2 seconds.

Range: Touch.

Duration: 3 minutes.

You transform an inanimate object into a different inanimate object.

By default, you may make the object assume any object’s racial template worth no more than its native racial template. Most simple objects differ only in weight (HP), HT, and Injury Tolerance. If you want to make the object assume more expensive forms, you have to pay extra points equal to the difference. Thus, Polymorph Any Object (10) costs 10 extra points but allows you to make the object assume any racial template worth no more than 10 points than its native one.

You cannot impart supernatural qualities to objects this way. Thus, even if you make an object assume a form of an enchanted item, it would only superficially resemble it and would not have any enchantments.

You can always make the object take on the form of an object you can see or touch, provided its racial template meets the requirements outlined earlier. Once the object has assumed a form, you can opt to memorize it by concentrating for one minute. This allows you to shapeshift any object into that form at any time by casting Polymorph Any Object. You can memorize a number of forms equal to your casting skill. If all your “slots” are full, you must overwrite a previously memorized form (your choice) to add the new form.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Only inanimate objects, -10%; Advantage, Polymorph Any Object, +800%; Based on IQ, Own Roll, +20%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Magical, -10%; Malediction 1, +100%; Melee Attack, Reach C, -30%; No Signature, +20%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Takes Extra Time 1, -10%) [95]. Note: “Polymorph Any Object” is Morph (Accessibility, Only physical traits, -10%; Magical, -10%; Unliving Forms Only, -0%) [80].

Portrait

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 2 points.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Artist (Portrait Spell) if higher.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Touch.

Duration: Instantaneous.

Using this spell, the caster can capture a particular scene permanently within a ball or globe of crystal; the area reproduced is a perfect sphere, so it fits smoothly within the crystal globe. The caster may substitute an Artist (Portrait Spell) roll for the casting roll. This is a new Artist skill specialty that defaults to Artist (Illusion)-2. The maximum size of the captured area that must be within line of sight depends on the margin of success. Look up the margin of success in the Size column on the Size and Speed/Range Table (p. B550) and use the corresponding Linear Measurement value as the area's radius. The image within the ball captures the scene in perfect visual detail.

Note that in the case of writing, reducing a page or length of scroll sufficiently to capture its text in even a 1-foot globe will reduce the size of the writing to near illegibility; such works are hard to transport and store, and are subject to breakage.

The spell requires a sphere of glass or crystal that can be as small as 1 inch in diameter or as large as 1 foot in diameter. The crystal ball is held in one hand while the other hand is used to perform the spell's somatic component.

Statistics: Control Glass (Accessibility, Only to capture scenes into crystal spheres, -80%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Magical, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [2].

“Dresses out” a slain animal. If cast on a deer, for instance, the hide is removed, along with all extraneous body parts and innards. If cast on a fish, it is gutted and scaled. Nothing is destroyed by the spell; all of the parts are simply appropriately separated and cleaned in such a way as to best prepare the animal for cooking. Meat, leather, and bone yields are determined by your Professional Skill (Butcher) skill as per Butchering, p. 6 of GURPS Low-Tech Companion 3: Daily Life and Economics.

The process of butchering takes one minute per 100 lbs. of whole body weight. The spell cannot butcher bodies heavier than it would be able to butcher completely during its duration. In other words, the spell can butcher bodies up to 9,000 lbs.

Range: 50 yards.

Duration: Instantaneous.

This spell suddenly causes the water in a spherical area to take on the terrible, bone-crushing pressure of the deepest ocean trenches. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to place the effect, applying normal range penalties, but at +4 for targeting an area. Water must be at least five feet deep for this spell to have any effect, and the spell must be centered at or below the surface of the water. This extreme pressure deals 2d crushing damage as large-area injury, but a successful HT roll can halve this damage. Pressure Support 1 gives +2 to this HT roll, Pressure Support 2 gives +4 to this HT roll, and Pressure Support 3 grants immunity to this spell.

Probe Thoughts

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 minute.

Range: Unlimited (-1/yard).

Duration: Instantaneous.

All memories and knowledge of a sapient subject are accessible to you, ranging from memories deep below the surface to those still easily called to mind. You can learn the answer to one question per casting, to the best of the subject's knowledge. You can also probe a sleeping subject, though the subject may make a Will roll to wake after each question. You pose the questions telepathically, and the answers to those questions are imparted directly to your mind. You and the subject do not need to speak the same language, though less intelligent creatures may yield up only appropriate visual images in answer to your questions.

If the subject successfully resists, you may try again, at a cumulative -2 per repeated attempt to ask the same (or very similar) question in the past hour. Should you critically fail, you cannot probe that person again for 24 hours.

Statistics: Mind Probe (Accessibility, Only on sapient beings, -10%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Immediate Preparation Required, 1 minute, -30%; Magical, -10%; Ranged, +40%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Words, -10%; Short-Range 1, -10%; Universal, +50%) [20].

Produce Flame

Keywords: Buff, Obvious.

Full Cost: 8 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP, see text.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Self.

Duration: 9 minutes, see text.

Flames as bright as a torch appear in your open hand. The flames harm neither you nor your equipment. In addition to providing illumination, the flames can be hurled or used to touch enemies. You can strike an opponent with an unarmed melee attack, dealing 1d-1 follow-up burning damage. Alternatively, you can hurl the flames with the Innate Attack (Projectile) skill. When doing so, you pay 1 FP for each ranged attack. The attack has 1/2D 10, Max 50, Acc 3, and deals 1d-1 burning damage. It can be dodged, blocked, but not parried. No sooner do you hurl the flames than a new set appears in your hand. Each attack (melee or ranged) you make with the flames reduces the remaining duration by 1 minute. If an attack reduces the remaining duration to 0 minutes or less, the spell ends after the attack resolves.

This spell does not function underwater. This spell requires an open hand; if you pick something up or grab something, it stops functioning.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Self Only, -50%; Advantage, Produce Flame, +50%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Extended Duration, 3x, +20%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Magical, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [8]. Note: "Produce Flame" is Burning Attack 1d-1 (Environmental, Air, -5%; Follow-Up, Punch, +0%; Limited Use, 9/day, Fast Reload, -5%; Magical, -10%; Nuisance Effect, Requires a free hand, -10%) [3] + Burning Attack 1d-1 (Blockable, -5%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Environmental, Air, -5%; Increased 1/2D, 2x, +5%; Limited Use, 9/day, Fast Reload, -5%; Magical, -10%; Nuisance Effect, Requires a free hand, -10%; Reduced Range, 1/2, -10%) [3/5=1] + Illumination (Environmental, Air, -5%; Magical, -10%; Requires a free hand, -10%) [1]. Two Burning Attack advantages are taken as alternative abilities.

Programmed Amnesia

Keywords: Resisted (Will).

Full Cost: 20 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 10 minutes.

Range: Touch.

Duration: Permanent.

You have the ability to reprogram a sapient being's mind, permanently adding or removing any mundane mental disadvantages. This is a gradual process that requires you to have complete control over the individual, meaning they must either be willing or restrained. To proceed, perform a Quick Contest of your casting skill against the subject's Will (if the subject is willing, just roll against your skill). Note that there is a -1 penalty for every full -5 points of disadvantages being changed. You can alter memories by adding Delusions or Amnesia. If you succeed, the changes are permanent, but they can be dispelled or undone by Programmed Amnesia or a similar effect in the future. Player characters who eliminate starting disadvantages in this manner may need to buy them off; be sure to check with the GM.

Statistics: Mind Control (Accessibility, Sapient beings only, -10%; Conditioning Only, -50%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Magical, -10%; Melee Attack, Reach C, -30%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Slow and Sure Only, 10 minutes, +70%) [20].

Programmed Image

Keywords: Area (Leveled).

Full Cost: 65 points for level 1 + 12.5 points/additional level*.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use skill or Artist (Illusion) to determine how convincing it is.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 10 minutes.

Range: Touch.

Duration: Permanent until triggered, then 30 seconds.

You can create an illusion in a hemispherical area around a point in space within reach. Aside from a visual image, it incorporates sounds, smells, tastes, thermal effects (it can fool Infravision), and tactile feelings. You must win a Quick Contest of skill – or Artist (Illusion), if better – against the Per of anyone you want to fool; otherwise they notice something “off.” Do not apply range penalties to this roll. Their roll is at +4 if they have reason to be alert for illusions or +10 if you made it appear from out of nowhere. However, even if they successfully “disbelieve,” your illusion doesn’t disappear. Thus, even an obvious illusion can be useful to block line of sight.

This spell’s effect activates when a specific condition occurs. You set the triggering condition (which may be a special word) when casting the spell. The event that triggers the illusion can be as general or as specific and detailed as desired but must be based on an audible, tactile, olfactory, or visual trigger. The trigger cannot be based on some quality not normally obvious to the senses.

You don’t have to concentrate on this spell to maintain it. Once cast, it stays in its place permanently until triggered, after which it activates for 30 seconds and then dissipates. The illusion behaves independently, responding to stimuli in simple ways.

Statistics: Illusion (Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Delay, Triggered, Variable, +100%; Extended, Infravision, Smell/Taste, Touch, +50%; Extended Duration, 3x, +20%; Immediate Preparation Required, 10 minutes, -45%; Independence, +40%; Magical, -10%; Persistent, +40%; Requires gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires magic words, -10%) [65]. Project Image

Keywords: Area (Leveled).

Full Cost: 65 points for level 1 + 12.5 points/additional level*.

Full Cost (Improved): 105.5 points for level 1 + 12.5 points/additional level*.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use skill or Artist (Illusion) to determine how convincing it is.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 1 minute.

Casting Time (Improved): 4 seconds.

Range: 50 yards.

Duration: 5 minutes.

You tap energy from the Plane of Shadow to create a quasi-real, illusory version of yourself. The projected image looks, sounds, and smells like you but is intangible. The projected image mimics your actions (including speech) unless you direct it to act differently (which is a Concentrate maneuver). You may move the illusion within the hemispherical area of effect.

You must win a Quick Contest of skill – or Artist (Illusion), if better – against the Per of anyone you want to fool; otherwise they notice something “off.” Do not apply range penalties to this roll. Their roll is at +4 if they have reason to be alert for illusions or +10 if you made it appear from out of nowhere. However, even if they successfully “disbelieve,” your illusion doesn’t disappear. Thus, even an obvious illusion can be useful to block line of sight.

You can see through the eyes of the illusory double and hear through its ears as if you were standing where it is, and during your turn you can switch from using its senses to using your own, or back again, as a Concentrate maneuver that requires another skill roll. While you are using its senses, your body is considered blinded and deafened.

If you desire, any spell you cast whose range is touch or greater can originate from the projected image instead of from you. The spells affect other targets normally, despite originating from the projected image. Range penalties are calculated from the image, not from you.

Statistics: Clairsentience (Accessibility, Only to the projected image, -60%; Accessibility, Hearing and Vision Only, -5%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Fixed Range, -5%; Increased Range, 5x, +20%; Link, +10%; Magical, -10%; No Strain, +25%; Normal Sight, -20%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Visible, -10%) [10] + Illusion (Accessibility, Only your double, -70%; Cosmic, Can cast spells through the image, +50%; Extended, Infravision, Smell/Taste, +30%; Extended Duration, 30x, +60%; Immediate Preparation Required, 1 minute, -30%; Independence, +40%; Link, +10%; Magical, -10%; Persistent, +40%; Ranged, +40%; Reduced Range, 1/2, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [55]. Additional levels add Area Effect (+50%) [+12.5*]. The improved version adds Reduced Time 4, +80% to Clairsentience and replaces Immediate Preparation Required, 1 minute, -30% with Takes Extra Time 2, -20% for Illusion.

Protection from Acid

Keywords: Buff.

Full Cost (Touch): 25 points for level 1 + 5 points/additional level.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Self – Touch.

Duration: 30 minutes.

The subject and all his gear become magically warded against acid attacks, including internal attacks. He and all his carried gear have DR against acid attacks equal to 5 * spell level. This DR is ablative - it stops damage once. Each point of DR stops one point of basic damage but is destroyed in the process.

Lost DR “heals” at the rate of 1 per day. Even when this spell has worn off, the subject still recovers “virtual” DR at the same rate. Thus, if this spell granted DR 10, and the subject took 4 points of damage, reducing it to 6, then recasting this spell immediately on the same subject would only provide DR 6, because he hasn’t “recovered” yet.

If this spell is combined with Resist Acid, Protection from Acid depletes first.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Self Only, -50%; Advantage, Protection from Acid 1, +50%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Extended Duration, 10x, +40%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Magical, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [10]. Range: Self – Touch.

Duration: 30 minutes.

Any successful ranged physical projectile attack (an arrow, bullet, javelin, but not an energy beam) made against the subject turns aside by the tiniest fraction to automatically miss – so long as the attack's basic damage is less than (Protection from Arrows level)x2 dice. For example, Protection from Arrows 2 would redirect any physical projectile attack up to 4d while allowing those of 4d+1 or higher through. Convert all flat damage to dice (as per p. B269) for this determination. The GM should conceal the existence of this spell from the subject's foes for as long as possible, saying that they just missed!

Against most area effects and explosions, it stops only the fragmentation damage (shrapnel), not the explosion itself.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Self Only, -50%; Advantage, Protection from Arrows 1, +210%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Extended Duration, 10x, +40%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Magical, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [25]. Duration: 30 minutes.

The subject and all his gear become magically warded against cold attacks, including internal attacks. He and all his carried gear have DR against cold attacks equal to 5 * spell level. This DR is ablative - it stops damage once. Each point of DR stops one point of basic damage but is destroyed in the process.

Lost DR “heals” at the rate of 1 per day. Even when this spell has worn off, the subject still recovers “virtual” DR at the same rate. Thus, if this spell granted DR 10, and the subject took 4 points of damage, reducing it to 6, then recasting this spell immediately on the same subject would only provide DR 6, because he hasn’t “recovered” yet.

Prying Eyes

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 90 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 5 FP.

Casting Time: 10 minutes.

Range: Touch.

Duration: 5 hours.

You create a number of semitangible, visible magical orbs (called "eyes") equal to your margin of success on the casting roll (minimum 1, maximum 7). Critical failure cripples your ability to cast this spell for 1d hours. These eyes move out at Move 2, scout around, and return as you direct them when casting the spell.

While the individual eyes are quite fragile, they're small and difficult to spot. Treat each eye as a creature with a Size Modifier equal to yours - 7 and with HP equal to your IQ/10. Destruction of your an eye causes you 1 point of injury and results in your ability being unusable for 1dx5 minutes.

The eyes possess normal vision, and hence cannot ignore darkness, are fooled by illusions, etc.

When you create the eyes, you specify instructions you want them to follow in a command of no more than twenty-five words. Any knowledge you possess is known by the eyes as well, so if you know, for example, what a typical merchant looks like, the eyes do as well.

A sample command: "Surround me at a range of four hundred feet and return if you spot any dangerous creatures." The phrase "Surround me" directs the eyes to form an equally spaced, horizontal ring at whatever range you indicate, and then move with you. As eyes return or are destroyed, the rest automatically space themselves to compensate. In the case of this sample command, an eye returns only if it spots a creature you would regard as dangerous. A "peasant" that is actually a shapechanged dragon wouldn't trigger an eye's return. Ten eyes can form a ring with a radius of 400 feet and between themselves see everything that crosses the ring.

Another sample command: "Spread out and search the town for Arweth. Follow him for three minutes, staying out of sight, and then return." The phrase "Spread out" directs the eyes to move away from you in all directions. In this case, each eye would separately follow Arweth for three minutes once it spots him.

Other commands that might be useful include having eyes form a line in a certain manner, making them move at random within a certain range, or having them follow a certain type of creature. The GM is the final judge of the suitability of your directions.

In order to report their findings, the eyes must return to your hand. Each replays in your mind all it has seen during its existence. It takes an eye 10 seconds to replay 1 hour of recorded images. After relaying its findings, an eye disappears. If an eye ever gets more than 1 mile away from you, it instantly ceases to exist, causing you 1 point of injury as per normal eye destruction. Dispel Magic can destroy eyes. Roll separately for each eye caught in an area dispel. Of course, if an eye is sent into darkness, it could hit a wall or similar obstacle and destroy itself.

Full Cost: 14 points/level.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Beam) to hit.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 10 yards.

Duration: Instantaneous.

You fire a white ray of frost at a single target. Use Innate Attack (Beam) to hit, applying normal range penalties. It does fatigue damage with dice equal to your level of this spell. The ray has the 1/2D range of 5 yards. Treat FP lost to the spell identically to FP lost to cold (p. B430). Targets who took damage from this spell must make an HT roll, at -1 per 2 points of FP lost, or take a -2 penalty to DX and become Numb (p. B146) for (20-HT) minutes (minimum 1 minute). The GM must determine what the maximum level available in the campaign is.

If your foe is within one yard of you, he may attempt to parry this attack (actually parrying your hand). If such a parry is successful, you must roll against DX to avoid hitting yourself with your own ray of frost!

Statistics: Fatigue Attack (Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Freezing, +20%; Increased 1/2D, 5x, +10%; Magical, -10%; Nuisance Effect, Dangerous to be parried, -5%; Side Effect, DX-2 and Numb, +90%; Reduced Range, 1/10, -30%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [14/level].

This spell improves the ability to penetrate armor of one of your natural weapons that deals cutting or impaling damage, such as bite or a single claw. The spell grants this weapon a (2) armor divisor for the duration. If the weapon already had a natural armor divisor, multiply the two together. This does not apply to magical armor divisors; as with all Buff spells, use only the highest magical effect.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Only on cutting or impaling natural weapons, -40%; Accessibility, Self Only, -50%; Advantage, Razorfangs, +340%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Magical, -10%; Reduced Duration, 1/10, -20%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [30]. Notes: "Razorfangs" is 34 points, per Enhances or Transforms an Existing Attack (GURPS Thaumatology: Sorcery, p. 11).

By means of Read Magic, you can decipher magical inscriptions on objects - books, scrolls, weapons, and the like - that would otherwise be unintelligible. This deciphering does not normally invoke the magic contained in the writing, although it may do so in the case of a cursed scroll.

Focus: A clear crystal or mineral prism worth $100.

You may restore rusted or corroded metal items. By making physical contact with an inanimate metal object or construct you may immediately remove all DR and HT penalties caused by rust or corrosion. You cannot restore limbs of constructs that have been completely rusted away.

Your casting roll is at -2 if the subject is unconscious (some constructs may become unconscious). In addition, if used more than once per day on a given subject, you are at a cumulative -3 per successful restoration. Failure costs you 1d FP instead of the usual FP cost!

You manipulate the magical aura of a creature or object, creating a damaging feedback reaction of arcane power. The target takes 1d non-incendiary burning damage, ignoring DR, per each ongoing magical effect currently affecting it, up to the maximum of margin of victory effects or ten effects, whichever is lower. For example, if the target is currently affected by Mage Armor, Haste, and Fly, and your margin of victory is 2, you will deal 2d damage. If your margin of victory is 3 or higher, you will deal 3d damage.

Only spells specifically targeted on the creature in question can be used to create the backlash of a Reciprocal Gyre, so spells that affect an area (such as Invisibility Sphere and Solid Fog) can't be used to deal reciprocal damage to creatures within their area. Likewise, persistent or continuous effects from magic items can't be used to deal reciprocal damage, but targeted spell effects can be—for example, the magic of a cloak of resistance can't be used by Reciprocal Gyre, but a spell cast by a Wand of Invisibility could be.

Components: V, S.

Casting Time: 2 seconds.

Range: 50 yards.

Duration: Instantaneous, nausea lasts for 3 minutes.

This visually impressive spell causes a surging, frothing wave of thick, red seawater appear and rush outwards, washing over everything in the area that is on the ground or within 1 yard of it. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to place the effect, applying normal range penalties, but at +4 for targeting an area. This wave deals 4d crushing damage only for the purpose of knockback that is directed outwards from the center. In addition, every creature in the area whose bare skin contacted the wave must roll against HT or become nauseated for 3 minutes. Those with Immunity to Poison are immune to this part of the spell.

If the subject fails to resist, he shrinks - his Size Modifier is decreased by -2. Equipment and clothing do not shrink with him. This spell can only affect substantial creatures made of flesh, so it has no effect on machines, skeletons, golems, elementals, or ghosts.

When the subject shrinks, find his new height from the Size Modifier Table (p. B19). Reduce Move, reach, damage (with unarmed attacks, Innate Attacks, or shrunken weapons), HP, and DR in proportion to height. Weight is reduced by a factor of 10.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 3 FP.

Casting Time: 2 seconds.

Range: Touch – Unlimited (-1/yard) - Unlimited (standard).

Duration: 8 hours, affected creatures cannot reenter for 3 seconds.

You create a special ward that prevents unauthorized arcane spellcasters or creatures with magical abilities from entering an area. The spell's area cannot be higher than 4 yards, but it can be given any shape you want within the limits imposed by the spell level.

You can choose to designate a password or special condition (such as race, possession of a token, or any other observable or detectable characteristic) by which spellcasting characters and creatures can enter the Refusal-warded area.

When casting this spell, note your margin of success. Entering unauthorized arcane spellcasters or creatures with magical abilities will feel an intense unease, an urge to be somewhere else. Each second, they make a Will roll penalized by your margin of success. If the victim loses, he must flee the area as soon as possible and becomes unable to reenter the area for three seconds.

Arcane spellcasters and creatures with magical abilities and that are already within the area you protect when you create the ward are not compelled to leave or restricted in their movement within it. However, if such creatures leave the area, they will become affected by the ward once they attempt to reenter it.

Remove Curse instantaneously removes all curses on an object or a creature. Remove Curse does not remove the curse from a cursed shield, weapon, or suit of armor, although the spell typically enables the creature afflicted with any such cursed item to remove and get rid of it. For the purpose of this spell, a "curse" is any negative effect that lasts more than a week or any magical effect that is immune to Dispel Magic.

Note how much the caster's skill roll succeeds by; every curse affecting the subject resists separately with a Quick Contest. Use the spell's casting skill (for skill-based traditions) or the caster's Will + Talent (for traditions without casting skills). If the caster of Remove Curse wins, the curse dissipates; it may be recast normally.

An invisible, hemispherical mobile field surrounds you and forcefully repels ectoplasmic creatures and objects, including insubstantial ones, away from you. Attacks made with ectoplasmic melee or ranged weapons directed at anyone in the area take a -1 penalty regardless of whether they originate outside or inside the area. Ectoplasmic creatures and objects in the area take 2d crushing damage every second. This damage only deals knockback; it deals no injury or blunt trauma. Worn and carried ectoplasmic objects remain on the creature in question, but the wearer's or carrier's HP is used for knockback calculations. Ectoplasmic objects held in hands, such as weapons, may get dislodged. The holder of the item must make a ST roll modified as follows: +2 for a two-handed weapon or object held in two hands; +2 if the holder knows that his item is being targeted by this spell; -1 per 4 points of damage that the caster rolled. On a failure, he drops his weapon or other item he is holding! On success by 0-2, his weapon or item becomes unready. Success by 3+ causes him no ill effects.

Damage dealt by this spell and attack penalties imposed by it can be improved. For an additional +100% to cost (including any increased area), rounded up, the damage can be upgraded to 4d or more, and penalties increased to -2 or more. This is summarized in the table below.

Repelling Shield

Keywords: Buff.

Full Cost: 27 points for level 1 + 18 points/additional level.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Self.

Duration: 3 minutes.

This spell creates an invisible mobile disk of force that hovers in front of you. Just like normal shield, it provides a +1 bonus to all your active defenses per level of this spell, but only against attacks from the front and one of your sides, chosen upon casting this spell. Unlike an actual shield, this disk of force does not impede movement, does not occupy a hand, cannot be used to Block, and cannot be used to bash or perform a shield rush.

If the caster defends against a melee attack successfully, and the bonus to active defenses provided by this spell makes the difference between success and failure, i.e. margin of success on the defense roll is lower than the bonus, then the attack hits Repelling Shield squarely. Roll 2d. The holder of the weapon that struck the shield must then make a ST roll modified as follows: +2 for a two-handed weapon; +2 once he knows that the caster is protected by this spell and not the regular Shield spell; -1 per 2 points of basic damage that the caster rolled. On a failure, he drops his weapon he struck the caster with, and it flies 1d-1 yards away from the caster! On success by 0-2, his weapon becomes unready. Success by 3+ causes him no ill effects. Against unarmed attacks and attacks made with a shield strapped to the attacker's arm, this damage is applied as knockback to the attacker.

This disk of force has Cover DR of 25, and if it is penetrated, it fizzles out and gives you a cumulative -2 penalty to skill to cast Shield for 24 hours. The active defense bonus of Shield does not "stack" with a real shield, but if you have a real shield, the magical Shield hovers in front of it, so its Cover DR does stack and is applied first.

It is recommended to limit this spell to level 3.

Repulsion

Keywords: Area (Leveled).

Full Cost: 27 points for level 1 + 7.5 points/additional level* (or more).

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Self.

Duration: 10 seconds.

An invisible, hemispherical mobile field surrounds you and forcefully repels creatures and objects (including insubstantial ones) away from you. Physical melee and ranged attacks directed at anyone in the area take a -1 penalty regardless of whether they originate outside or inside the area. Creatures and objects in the area take 2d crushing damage every second. This damage only deals knockback; it deals no injury or blunt trauma. Worn and carried objects remain on the creature in question, but objects held in hands, such as weapons, may get dislodged. The holder of the item must make a ST roll modified as follows: +2 for a two-handed weapon or object held in two hands; +2 if the holder knows that his item is being targeted by this spell; -1 per 4 points of damage that the caster rolled. On a failure, he drops his weapon or other item he is holding! On success by 0-2, his weapon or item becomes unready. Success by 3+ causes him no ill effects.

Damage dealt by this spell and attack penalties imposed by it can be improved. For an additional +100% to cost (including any increased area), rounded up, the damage can be upgraded to 4d or more, and penalties increased to -2 or more. This is summarized in the table below.

Resonating Bolt

Keywords: Cone, Obvious.

Full Cost: 9 points/level.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Beam) to hit.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 20 yards.

Duration: Instantaneous.

You unleash a tremendous bolt of sonic energy from your open hand that does 1d non-incendiary burning damage per level. This spell works identically in air and underwater, but cannot be cast in a vacuum and is blocked by Silence and similar effects. This attack has the 1/2D range of 4 yards. Targets injured by this spell must make an HT roll, at -1 per 2 points of injury, or become deafened for (20-HT) minutes (minimum 1 minute).

This is a 1-yard-wide cone attack that uses the rules for Cone Attacks (p. B413). On the battle map, it is a 1x20 row of hexes. This cone is too tight to affect many targets, but gets better chances to hit. The caster targets a hex right in front of him, at +4, and the cone extends out from there. It is possible to make the cone wider by using the All-Out Attack (Cone) maneuver (GURPS Dungeon Fantasy Monsters 4: Dragons, p. 10).

Even though a one-hex creature is big enough to block the cone, everyone in the hex where the cone stops is fully affected. If a cone passes between two adjacent creatures, then both are hit. The cone cannot be parried or blocked, but it can be dodged by diving for cover or retreating out of the affected area. If a creature does that, then those behind it may get affected by the cone normally.

Statistics: Burning Attack 1d (Cone 1, +60%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Environmental, Sound-transmitting mediums, -10%; Increased 1/2D, 2x, +5%; Increased Range, 10x (Accessibility, Underwater only, -50%), +15%; Magical, -10%; No Incendiary Effect, -10%; Reduced Range, 1/5, -20%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Side Effect, Deafness, +70%; Underwater, +20%) [9/level].

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 4 seconds.

Range: 100 yards.

Duration: 30 seconds.

When cast on a spherical area, this spell reveals magical auras for everyone to see. Each magical aura gives off light equivalent to a torch. This includes creatures, objects, and areas under the effects of magic, and enchanted items. The caster rolls against skill + Talent to reveal these auras, penalized for range to the edge of the area, and if a new magic aura is brought into the area, the caster must make a new roll for it. The caster or any other observers do not gain any insight about the nature of the revealed effects, only their presence. However, they may follow-up with a Thaumatology roll or other spells and abilities to learn more about the magical auras that were revealed.

Full Cost: 43 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 50 yards.

Duration: 5 seconds.

Revelation creates a 4-yard-radius spherical area in which all things appear as they actually are. Revelation only works against magical deceptions, such as invisibility, illusions, and shapechanging, but doesn't dispel the effects. Should a creature pass through the area during its duration, any hidden elements on it are revealed, though they are again hidden as soon as the creature steps out of the area.

Statistics: See Invisible (Magic; Area Effect, 4 yards, Spherical, +115%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Magical, -10%; Persistent, +40%; Ranged, +40%; Reduced Duration, 1/2, -5%; Reduced Range, 1/2, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; True Sight, +50%) [43].

Cost (Improved): 2 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 50 yards.

Duration: 10 seconds.

This spell reverses gravity in an area, causing creatures and objects inside “fall” upwards. See Different Gravity (p. B350) for detailed rules for different gravity levels. The area of effect has a radius of spell level yards and height of 4 yards. You can “stack” areas on top of one another to make creatures and objects “fall” even higher.

The basic version adds Character point-powered, x0.2 to all three advantages.

Ring of Blades

Keywords: Buff.

Full Cost: 10 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Self.

Duration: 18 seconds.

This spell conjures a horizontal ring of swirling metal blades around you. The ring extends one yard from you, into all adjacent hexes, and it moves with you as you move. Each second, the blades attack everyone in their hexes with an effective skill 12, modified only by target size. The attack deals 1d cutting damage, can be blocked, parried, or dodged. The ring orbits you at chest level, so they do not attack targets of your SM in a horizontal posture. This spell does not cover your own hex, so they do not attack anyone in close combat with you.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Self Only, -50%; Advantage, Ring of Blades, +110%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Magical, -10%; Reduced Duration, 1/10, -20%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [10]. Note: “Ring of Blades” is Cutting Attack 1d (Area Effect, 2 yards, +50%; Aura, +80%; Blockable, -5%; Bombardment, Skill-12, -10%; Can be parried, -5%; Magical, -10%; Melee Attack, Reach C, -30%; Nuisance Effect, Does not affect the subject’s hex and has lower height, -15%) [11].

Rope Trick

Keywords: Obvious.
Full Cost: 28 points.
Casting Roll: Skill.
Components: V, S, F.
Cost: 1 FP + 1 character point.
Casting Time: 10 seconds.
Range: Touch.
Duration: 30 minutes.

When this spell is cast upon a piece of rope from 5 to 30 feet long, one end of the rope rises into the air until the whole rope hangs perpendicular to the ground, as if affixed at the upper end. The upper end is, in fact, fastened to an extradimensional space that is outside the multiverse of extradimensional spaces ("planes"). The place has a size of a small circular room four yards in radius with a height of four yards. Creatures in the space can pull the rope up into the space, making the rope "disappear." The rope can support up to 16,000 pounds. A weight greater than that can pull the rope free.

Spells cannot be cast across the extradimensional interface, nor can area effects cross it. Anything inside the extradimensional space drops out when the spell ends. The rope can be climbed by only one person at a time. The rope trick spell enables climbers to reach a normal place if they do not climb all the way to the extradimensional space.

Gaining entry requires grasping the rope, even if the character can fly up to the entry. Without flight, characters, friendly or not, must climb up the rope (see p. B349). In combat, or other hurried situations, a person can climb one foot/second, and will expend 1 FP to do so. Hurried or relaxed, this will require a skill roll against Climbing (or DX-5).

Focus: A piece of rope from 5 to 30 feet long.

Statistics: Jumper (Pocket Dimension; Cannot Escort, -10%; Cannot Follow, -20%; Character point-powered, x1/5; Extra Carrying Capacity, Extra-Heavy, +50%; Improved, +10%; Magical, -10%; Maximum Duration, 30 minutes, -25%; Nuisance Effect, Cannot hurry the jump, -5%; Requires Climbing, -10%; Requires rope, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Special Movement, Climbing, -10%; Tunnel, Forms before, +100%) [28].

Rusting Grasp

Keywords: Resisted (HT).
Full Cost: 19 points.
Casting Roll: Skill.
Components: V, S.
Cost: 1 FP.
Casting Time: 1 second.
Range: Touch.

Duration: Three minutes.

The caster touches a metal item or creature, causing it to rust and become fragile. The metal in question must be of a type that weakens in time with exposure to oxygen; copper, for example, changes color to green but does not weaken. Objects resist with their (HT+SM), while creatures use HT. If the target's HT is unknown, assume that machines have HT 10 and simple objects have HT 12, modified for quality: -2 for cheap, +1 for fine, +2 for very fine.

If the caster wins, for the next three minutes the subject's HT is at -5 and its DR is reduced by 10; if it's a weapon, treat it as cheap for breakage purposes, or an extra +2 to break if already cheap. If he loses or ties, there is no effect.

Rusting Grasp must affect objects as a whole; it cannot target part of an object. The GM has the final say over what constitutes a "whole" object.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Rusting objects and creatures only, -40%; Attribute Penalty, HT-5, +25%; Based on IQ, Own Roll, +20%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Magical, -10%; Malediction 1, +100%; Melee Attack, Reach C, -30%; Negated Advantage, Reduced DR 10, +50%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [19].

Duration: 18 seconds.

You ward the subject against attacks. Any creature within 4 yards of the subject must make a roll against (Will + Mind Shield level) every second. If the creature fails, it can only attack the subject in self-defense until it leaves the area and for margin of failure seconds after leaving it. If the subject attacks any opponent, this ability is dispelled.

Sandblast

Keywords: Cone, Obvious.

Full Cost: 10 points.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Beam) to hit.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 10 yards.

Duration: Instantaneous.

You fire a hail of hot sand from your fingers, dealing 1d crushing damage. This is a 5-yard-wide cone attack that uses the rules for Cone Attacks (p. B413). The caster targets a hex right in front of him, at +4, and the cone extends out from there. It is possible to make the cone wider by using the All-Out Attack (Cone) maneuver (GURPS Dungeon Fantasy Monsters 4: Dragons, p. 10). This spell has the 1/2D range of 5 yards. Beings with eyes must roll vs. HT if this spell inflicts any injury; Robust Vision adds +1, Protected Vision adds +5, and Nictitating Membrane adds +1 per level. Failure means being blinded for one turn; critical failure causes 1d seconds of blindness. Once the target can see again, blurry vision gives -3 to all combat skills and Vision rolls for a further 1d seconds.

This spell transforms the caster and clothing and gear weighing up to his Basic Lift into an amorphous mass of living sand. The caster gains the Sandform meta-trait; see the footnote below for details.

Sandstorm

Keywords: Area (Leveled).

Full Cost: 53 points for level 1 + 13 points/additional level.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 100 yards.

Duration: 10 seconds.

This spell creates a circular sandstorm with an "eye" of calm inside (a good place for the caster to stand). The radius of the eye can be up to half that of the storm – or smaller, if the caster wishes. The caster may move the sandstorm at Move 1 with a Concentrate maneuver. The sandstorm is a 4-yard-high cylinder.

Low-tech missiles are buffeted off course as they cross the sandstorm, and suffer a -3 penalty to hit. High-tech bullets suffer a -1 penalty to hit. Any creature trying to cross the sandstorm takes 4d knockback damage. Knockback from this moves victims sideways (all clockwise or all anticlockwise; decide when casting the spell) rather than away from the sandstorm. Any Vision rolls made through the sandstorm, including those relying on Infravision and Ultravision, are at -4 due to dust and sand suspended in the air. Hearing rolls likewise take a -4 penalty, and the borders of the area can be detected at +4 both by hearing and sight.

Duration: Instantaneous.

You strike fear into the hearts of sapient creatures. You can target any area within 50 yards and affect everyone within a 10-yard radius. Those in the area must roll a Fright Check, applying any Magic Resistance as a bonus. Your victims get +1 per Fright Check after the first within 24 hours, and regardless of the result, each creature becomes immune to your Scare for one hour.

Each additional level of this spell imposes -1 to the Fright Check. For example, with Scare 4, the subjects must make Fright Checks at -3.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Range: 10 yards.

Duration: Up to 5 minutes, see text.

A twisting pattern of discordant, coruscating colors weaves through the air, affecting creatures within it. The pattern’s area is a 4-yard-high cylinder. Each sighted creature in the area has to roll against Will every second, and is stunned on a failed resistance roll. Should a creature fail by 5 or more or roll a critical failure, it is additionally blinded for 5 seconds. Creatures with Protected Vision resist at +5.

Scholar’s Touch

Keywords: Resisted (Will).

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S, F.

Cost: 1 FP to cast, 1 FP to maintain.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Touch.

Duration: Indefinite.

With this spell you can touch a book or scroll and absorb the knowledge contained within as if you had just read it. This is equivalent to a solid reading but not deep study—the character does not gain perfect recall of the information, just whatever he would have gotten from reading it completely once. If you can't read the language of the source, the spell has no effect. This spell cannot be used to prepare spells or to cast magical scrolls.

Maintaining this spell requires constant concentration, i.e. uninterrupted Concentrate maneuvers. You absorb information at a rate of 100 pages per second, meaning that most books can be read in only a few seconds. When not sure, consider rolling 1d to determine the number of seconds required to read a book.

Mundane books do not resist, but sentient books resist with Will. If the caster fails to cast this spell on a specific subject, he may try again, at a cumulative -2 per repeated attempt on that subject in the past hour. Should he critically fail, he cannot read that person again for 24 hours.

Focus: A thin crystal disc ($100; 0.1 lb.).

Statistics: Mind Reading (Accessibility, Only books, -50%; Burst, 100x, +60%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Magical, -10%; Melee Attack, Reach C, -30%; Requires Concentrate, -15%; Requires Focus, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [6] + Page at a Glance (Magical, -10%) [1].

Scorching Ray

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Beam) to hit.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 10 yards.

Duration: Instantaneous.

You project a ray of fire at a single target. Use Innate Attack (Beam) to hit, applying normal range penalties. It does burning damage with dice equal to your level of this spell. The GM must determine what the maximum level available in the campaign is.

If your foe is within one yard of you, he may attempt to parry this attack (actually parrying your hand). If such a parry is successful, you must roll against DX to avoid hitting yourself with your own scorching ray!

Statistics: Burning Attack (Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Magical, -10%; Nuisance Effect, Dangerous to be parried, -5%; Reduced Range, 1/10, -30%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [1/level].

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 1 minute.

Range: Self – Touch.

Duration: 5 hours.

You ward a creature against scrying, granting it defenses capable of terribly wounding any would-be scryer. If the subject of this spell comes within 4 yards of a sensor created by a Scrying spell or a similar ability, the Scry Trap automatically activates. The caster of the Scrying spell takes 1d injury per level of this spell, ignoring DR, every second while the sensor remains within range. If he takes damage from this spell, he must make a Will roll, at -1 per 2 points of HP lost, or become blind for (20-Will) minutes (minimum 1 minute).

The subject of Scry Trap becomes automatically aware when the spell triggers, although the subject gains no knowledge as to the nature of the scrying spell or its caster.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Self Only, -50%; Advantage, Scry Trap 1, +260%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Extended Duration, 100x, +80%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Immediate Preparation Required, 1 minute, -30%; Magical, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [31]. Note: Each level of "Scry Trap" is Crushing Attack 1d (Area Effect, 4 yards, Spherical, +115%; Aura, +80%; Based on Will, +20%; Magical, -10%; Melee Attack, Reach C, -30%; No Knockback, -10%; Scrying-Based, +150%; Side Effect, Blindness, +100%; Subject becomes aware, +5%) [26]. You expose the target to the effect of hours of exposure to severe heat and the desert sun in only a moment. If the victim fails to resist, he takes 1d-3 non-incendiary burning damage, ignoring DR, and loses 2 FP. Treat FP lost to this spell as though they were lost to extreme heat (p. B434). Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Beam) to hit.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 50 yards.

Duration: Instantaneous.

You fire a beam of concentrated sunlight that does 1d burning damage per level! This is a tight-beam burning attack; see p. B399. This spell has 1/2D range of 5 yards.

The beam is easily reflected. Normally it cannot be blocked, but someone may use a mirror or a highly polished shield to do so; this causes the attack to bounce off in a random direction, possibly striking the wrong target (p. B389). The mirror-wielder may even attempt to reflect it back at the caster, but this gives -2 to Block; the caster defends normally. On the upside, the caster may make use of mirrored surfaces to “ricochet” the beam. This inflicts -2 per bounce to the attack roll, but may allow the attacker to bypass cover; in addition, the target is at -1 per bounce to defend.

Statistics: Burning Attack 1d (Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Magical, -10%; Nuisance Effect, Reflective, -5%; Reduced Range, 1/2, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [2/level].

Secret Page alters the contents of a page (up to 3 sq. ft. in size) so that they appear to be something entirely different. Thus, a map can be changed to become a treatise on burnishing ebony walking sticks. The text of a spell can be changed to show a ledger page or even another spell. Explosive Runes or Sepia Snake Sigil can be cast upon the secret page.

You are able to reveal the original contents by speaking a special word. You can then peruse the actual page, and return it to its secret page form at will. You can also remove the spell by double repetition of the special word (this requires a Concentrate maneuver). A Detect Magic spell reveals dim magic on the page in question but does not reveal its true contents. True Seeing reveals the the hidden material.

Using nonverbal means, you can communicate a simple message to one other intelligent creature. You and the recipient must be able to see each other. By simply waving a hand, placing a scroll on a table, raising an eyebrow, or making any other sign, the spell allows the target to understand any complete thought of twenty-five words or less, so long as you and the target could normally communicate. Twenty-five words require the entire 10-second duration to be transmitted, shorten the time required for shorter messages proportionally. You can't send a verbal message if you don't speak the target's language, but can transmit a simple emotional appeal (such as "help" or "danger") that the recipient knows is from you. You can use this spell even if you are bound and gagged, so long as the focus is on your person.

You can see any objects or beings that are invisible within your range of vision. Such creatures are visible to you as translucent shapes, allowing you easily to discern the difference between visible and invisible creatures.

The spell does not reveal the method used to obtain invisibility. It does not reveal illusions or enable you to see through opaque objects. It does not reveal creatures who are simply hiding, concealed, or otherwise hard to see.

The basic (9-point) version of this spell only lets you see through magical invisibility. The improved version (16-point) version lets you see through any kind of invisibility, be it magical, psionic, ethereal, incarnum, chi, etc.

Statistics: See Invisible (Magic; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Magical, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [9]. The improved version adds Cosmic, All Forms, +50% [+7].

Seek Food

Keywords: Information.

Full Cost (Basic): 30 points.

Full Cost (Improved): 40 points.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use skill for analysis.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 4 seconds.

Range: Unlimited (standard) – Unlimited (long-distance).

Duration: Instantaneous.

This spell detects sources of food. The food found will be wholesome, but not necessarily appetizing – e.g., edible insects. This spell can only find food that can be eaten safely by the caster without any cooking or other kinds of preparation involved. Thus, a human caster will not be able to detect a cow with Seek Food, but will be able to detect a steak. A carnivorous predatory caster will be able to detect a cow. The GM rolls against the caster’s skill (plus Talent), applying range penalties to the nearest source of food significant enough to provide you with at least one meal. The caster may exclude any specific food sources he wishes. Success reveals the exact location of the food source, but does not allow follow-up spells to be cast on it.

If the detection roll is successful, the GM makes a second roll against the caster’s skill. Talent applies here but range penalties do not. Success reveals what the food source is, if the caster is familiar with it, or gives a more vague description, if the caster is not familiar with it.

The spell can penetrate barriers, but 1 foot of stone, 1 inch of common metal, a thin sheet of lead, or 3 feet of wood or dirt blocks it.

The basic (30-point) version of this spell takes standard range penalties. The improved (40-point) one uses long-distance modifiers.

Statistics: Detect (Food; Based on IQ, Own Roll, +20%; Blockable, -20%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Magical, -10%; Precise, Nontargeting, +90%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Selective Effect, +20%; Takes Extra Time 2, -20%) [30]. Seeming

Keywords: Area (Leveled), Buff.

Full Cost: 37 points for level 1 + 12.5 points/additional level.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 4 seconds.

Range: Touch.

Duration: 30 minutes.

You make the subject—including clothing, armor, weapons, and equipment—look different to normal vision and Infravision. The subject can seem 1 foot shorter or taller, thin, fat, or in between. You cannot change the subject's body type. For example, a human subject could look human, humanoid, or like any other human-shaped bipedal creature. Otherwise, the extent of the apparent change is up to you. You could add or obscure a minor feature or make the subject look like an entirely different person.

The spell does not provide the abilities or mannerisms of the chosen form, nor does it alter the perceived tactile (touch) or audible (sound) properties of you or your equipment. An axe made to look like a dagger still functions as an axe.

The subject must be wholly covered by the spell's hemispherical area of effect.

You must win a Quick Contest of IQ – or Artist (Illusion), if better – against the Per of anyone you want to fool; otherwise they notice something “off.” Do not apply range penalties to your roll. Their roll is at +4 if they have reason to be alert for illusions or +10 if you made it appear from out of nowhere. However, even if they successfully “disbelieve,” your illusion doesn't disappear. Thus, even an obvious illusion can be useful to disguise the subject.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Only nonvolitional or non-resisting subjects, -20%; Advantage, Seeming, +200%; Based on IQ, Own Roll, +20%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Extended Duration, 10x, +40%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Magical, -10%; Malediction 1, +100%; Melee Attack, Reach C, -30%; No Signature, +20%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Takes Extra Time 2, -20%) [37]. Note: “Seeming” is Illusion (Extended, Infravision, +10%; Independence, +40%; Magical, -10%; Only similar shapes, -30%; Visual Only, -30%) [20]. Sending

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 12 points.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Unlimited (long-distance).

Duration: Indefinite.

You telepathically contact another creature. The subject receives your message, but cannot reply. If you cannot see or otherwise sense the subject, you have an additional penalty: -1 for family, lovers, or close friends; -3 for casual friends and acquaintances; or -5 for someone met only briefly.

Statistics: Telesend (Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Magical, -10%; Nuisance Effect, Cannot maintain multiple contacts, -10%; Reduced Duration, 1/6, -15%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [12].

Sepia Snake Sigil

Keywords: Resisted (Will).

Full Cost: 45 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 10 minutes.

Range: 1 yard.

Duration: Permanent or until discharged, then 1d+2 days.

When you cast Sepia Snake Sigil, a small symbol appears in the text of one written work such as a book, scroll, or map. The text containing the symbol must be at least twenty-five words long. When anyone reads the text containing the symbol, the sepia snake springs into being and strikes the reader, provided the reader is within one yard. Note down your margin of success.

Simply seeing the enspelled text is not sufficient to trigger the spell; the subject must deliberately read it. If a subject triggers the spell, he must resist by rolling against Will at a penalty equal to your margin of success. If successfully resisted, the sepia snake dissipates in a flash of brown light accompanied by a puff of dun-colored smoke and a loud noise. If the resistance roll fails, the subject is engulfed in a shimmering amber field of force and immobilized until released, either at the caster's command (a Concentrate maneuver) or when 1d+2 days have elapsed.

While trapped in the amber field of force, the subject does not age, breathe, grow hungry, or sleep. It is preserved in a state of suspended animation, unaware of its surroundings. It can be damaged by outside forces (and perhaps even killed), since the field provides no protection against physical injury. However, a bleeding subject does not lose HP or become stable until the spell ends.

The hidden sigil cannot be detected by normal observation, and Detect Magic reveals only that the entire text is magical. Another creature can remove the sigil with a successful Dispel Magic or Erase spell, but erasing the sigil also erases the entire page of text.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (Will; Accessibility, Only on text, -50%; Based on Will, +20%; Based on IQ, Own Roll, +20%; Cancellation, +10%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Extended Duration, 3,000x, +140%; Immediate Preparation Required, 10 minutes, -45%; Magical, -10%; Malediction 1, +100%; Melee Attack, Reach 1, -25%; No Signature, +20%; Paralysis, Variant, +150%; Triggered Delay, Reading, +50%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [45].

Duration: Variable.

The caster enters a state of suspended animation and becomes invisible to vision and information spells (reduce the diviner's margin of success by 10). The invisibility aspect of this spell also affects everything the sorcerer is carrying up to his Basic Lift. Anyone unfamiliar with this effect must win a Quick Contest of Diagnosis vs. the caster's HT + 10 + Talent to discover that the caster isn't dead. In this state, the caster does not need to breathe, and can go safely without food and water 1024 times longer. The caster is unaware of its surroundings while in suspended animation, but awakens automatically if injured. The caster may also set a mental "alarm clock" to awaken after a certain amount of time has passed.

Full Cost: 49 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP to cast, 1 FP to maintain.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Self.

Duration: Indefinite.

The caster creates a double of himself woven from shadowstuff. The double possesses the caster's full knowledge and mundane powers (it cannot cast spells, use psionics, use magical abilities, etc.), but no gear. The double is under caster's mental control. If the caster dies, the double dies as well, but the reverse is not true. Should the double die, the next casting of this spell will cost extra 10 FP (this does not apply to maintenance, only to casting).

If the caster can see his shadow double, he may use it as the origin of his spells or other supernatural abilities, including touch attacks.

You call forth the power of shadow, enveloping yourself in a clinging, concealing shroud of darkness. While this spell is in effect, you gain a number of benefits. This spell gives a -3 penalty to Vision rolls to see you with normal vision, Infravision, and Ultravision and -3 penalty to attacks against you that rely on these senses. In addition, you get +1 on all ST, DX, and Escape rolls to slip restraints, break free in close combat, or squeeze through narrow openings. Finally, you can slip through a solid object or barrier up to 1 foot thick. However, once you do that, the spell ends.

All these benefits do not function in areas of bright light (illumination penalty 0).

Shadow Magic (Spell)

Keywords: Varies.

Full Cost: Varies.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use skill (for Shadow Magic, not for the original spell) or Artist (Illusion) to convince that the illusion is real.

Components: Varies.

Cost: Varies.

Casting Time: Varies.

Range: Varies.

Duration: Varies.

This is not a spell, but a category of spells that duplicate other spells in a version that is partially illusory and partially real. Thus, Shadow Magic (Fireball) and Shadow Magic (Acid Splash) are two different spells. The duplicated spell must have an obvious effect that directly affects the subject's body. Spells without any physical effects, or spells that directly affect mind or body, such as most Mind Control, Communication and Empathy, or Body Control spells, will not work with Shadow Magic. Likewise, Enchantment, Information, and summoning spells will not work with Shadow Magic because they don't produce an obvious physical effect that can be duplicated with an illusion. Additionally, spells that just affect the senses (such as Darkness or Flare) can't be cast in a Shadow Magic version, since they have no visible, physical effect on the subject's body. It is up to the GM to determine which spells have a sufficiently strong physical component to be cast as Shadow Magic.

If the spell meets the criteria for be cast as Shadow Magic, the mage can cast the spell, taking the same amount of time that he would take to cast the real version of the spell. The subject gets the same roll to resist that he would get against the full version of the spell. In addition, make a Quick Contest of skill (for Shadow Magic, not for the original spell) against the subject's Per. You may substitute Artist (Illusion) for skill, if it is higher. If the subject resists, he disbelieves the shadowy illusion and is affected at 25% of its power (quarter the damage, quarter the penalties, etc.) If he fails to resist, then he is affected fully. For lasting effects, roll this Quick Contest every minute. Only subjects with IQ higher than 0 are affected, so inanimate objects and most constructs are immune to Shadow Magic.

Statistics: Same as the real spell but with an additional Quasi-Real, -15% limitation that is Requires IQ vs. Per Roll, -20% applied to 3/4 of the spell.

Shadow Walk

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 60 points.

Casting Roll: Skill, additional skill roll to cross the Plane of Shadow.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP or more, see text.

Casting Time: Special, see text.

Range: Self.

Duration: Instantaneous. Travel takes time.

To use the Shadow Walk spell, you must be in an area of shadowy illumination (an ambient darkness penalty of -5 or lower). You and anything you carry (including other creatures) are then transported along a coiling path of shadowstuff to the edge of the Material Plane where it borders the Plane of Shadow. The effect is largely illusory, but the path is quasi-real.

Travel distance penalizes your casting roll. Distance penalties appear on the table below. If actual distance falls between two values, use the higher.

Distance	Skill Penalty
10 yards	0
20 yards	-1
100 yards	-2
500 yards	-3

2 miles	-4
10 miles	-5

Add an additional -1 for each 10x increase in distance.

The amount of time taken to cast Shadow Walk affects the skill roll, as follows:

Preparation Time	Skill Modifier
None	-10
1 second	-5
2 seconds	-4
4 seconds	-3
8 seconds	-2
15 seconds	-1
30 seconds	0
1 minute	+1
2 minutes	+2
4 minutes	+3
8 minutes	+4
15 minutes	+5
30 minutes	+6
1 hour	+7
2 hours	+8
4 hours	+9
8 hours	+10

This table is not open-ended; +10 is the maximum possible bonus.

Apply a bonus of +1 per additional 2 FP spent. You must declare this before you roll, and you lose the FP whether you succeed or fail.

On a success, you are shunted into the quasi-real space between the Material Plane and the Plane of Shadow. In the region of shadow, you move at a rate of 50 miles per hour, moving normally on the borders of the Plane of Shadow but much more rapidly relative to the Material Plane. Thus, you can use this spell to travel rapidly by stepping onto the Plane of Shadow, moving the desired distance, and then stepping back onto the Material Plane. Because of the blurring of reality between the Plane of Shadow and the Material Plane, you can't make out details of the terrain or areas you pass over during transit, nor can you predict perfectly where your travel will end. It's impossible to judge distances accurately, making the spell virtually useless for scouting or spying. Furthermore, when the spell effect ends, you are shunted to a random location somewhere in a circle with a radius equal to 1% of the distance you traveled (minimum one yard); e.g., if you traveled 10 miles on the Material Plane, you'd materialize somewhere in a 0.1-mile circle around your target. The better your casting roll, the closer you'll be to your target, but it's up to the GM exactly where you appear. On a critical failure, you're likely to appear high in the air or underground.

On a failure, you go nowhere and strain your ability to cast this spell: you are at -5 to cast this spell again in the next 10 minutes. On a critical failure, you arrive at the wrong destination. This can be anywhere the GM wishes! It need not be dangerous, but it should seriously inconvenience you. In addition, your spell temporarily "burns out" and will not function again for 1d hours.

Shadow Walk can also be used to travel to other planes that border on the Plane of Shadow, but this usage requires the transit of the Plane of Shadow to arrive at a border with another plane of reality. The transit of the Plane of Shadow requires 1d/2 hours. This requires an additional casting roll as per the Plane Shift, but does not cost extra FP. It is possible for one casting roll to succeed while the other fails, or for both to fail.

Shapechange

Duration: 30 minutes.

You can assume the form of any creature. Your racial template is replaced with traits of the racial template of the assumed form, but you may omit any mental disadvantages. This spell includes the ability to make cosmetic changes. Thus, you are able to assume a form of another member of your own species. Your gear is not affected.

By default, you may assume any racial template (adjusted by removing mental and supernatural abilities) worth no more than your native racial template (likewise adjusted). If you want to assume more powerful forms, you have to pay extra points equal to the difference. Thus, Shapechange (10) costs 10 extra points but allows you to assume any racial template worth no more than 10 points than your native one.

You can always take on the form of a being you can see or touch, provided its racial template meets the requirements outlined earlier. Once you have assumed a form, you can opt to memorize it by concentrating for one minute. This allows you to shapeshift into that form at any time by casting Shapechange. You can memorize a number of forms equal to your casting skill. If all your “slots” are full, you must overwrite a previously memorized form (your choice) to add the new form.

Shield

Keywords: Buff.

Full Cost: 19 points for level 1 + 18 points/additional level.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Self.

Duration: 3 minutes.

This spell creates an invisible mobile disk of force that hovers in front of you. Just like normal shield, it provides a +1 bonus to all your active defenses per level of this spell, but only against attacks from the front and one of your sides, chosen upon casting this spell. Unlike an actual shield, this disk of force does not impede movement, does not occupy a hand, cannot be used to Block, and cannot be used to bash or perform a shield rush.

This disk of force has Cover DR of 25, and if it is penetrated, it fizzles out and gives you a cumulative -2 penalty to skill to cast Shield for 24 hours. The active defense bonus of Shield does not “stack” with a real shield, but if you have a real shield, the magical Shield hovers in front of it, so its Cover DR does stack and is applied first.

It is recommended to limit this spell to level 3.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Self Only, -50%; Advantage, Shield 1, +180%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Magical, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [19]. Note: Each level of “Shield” is Defense Bonus 1 (Directional, Front and Shield Side, -10%; Magical, -10%; Nuisance Effect, Does not stack with an actual shield, -10%; Visible, -10%) [18]. This spell creates a mystic connection between you and the subject so that some of its wounds are transferred to you. When you cast this spell, choose the damage limit up to twice this spell's level. For example, if you have Shield Other 2, you can choose a damage limit from 1 to 4. When the subject takes damage from any attack, subtract this damage limit from the penetrating damage before applying wounding multipliers. This subtracted damage instead is received by you, and your DR does not apply. Hit location and other special effects remain the same. If you do not have an identical hit location, the damage is applied to your torso instead.

You emit an ear-splitting yell that deafens and damages creatures in its path. Everyone within four yards of you takes 1d burning damage. This damage originates from sonic vibrations – it cannot set anything on fire. This damage does not work in the area of effect of the Silence spell or a similar ability. Everyone within the area also must resist with HT; Protected Hearing gives +5, Hard of Hearing gives +4, and those with Deafness are immune. The caster is not immune to it. Shrapmetal

Keywords: Cone, Obvious.

Full Cost: 10.5 points/level.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Beam) to hit.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 10 yards.

Duration: Instantaneous.

You fire a cone of metal shards that do 1d cutting damage per level. This is a 7-yard-wide cone attack that uses the rules for Cone Attacks (p. B413). The caster targets a hex right in front of him, at +4, and the cone extends out from there. It is possible to make the cone wider by using the All-Out Attack (Cone) maneuver (GURPS Dungeon Fantasy Monsters 4: Dragons, p. 10). This spell has the 1/2D range of 5 yards.

Statistics: Cutting Attack 1d (Cone 7, +120%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Increased 1/2D, 5x, +10%; Magical, -10%; Reduced Range, 1/10, -30%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [10.5/level].

Shrink Item

Keywords: Resisted (HT).

Full Cost: 58 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Touch.

Duration: 6 days.

You are able to shrink one inanimate item to 1/10 of its normal size in each dimension (to about 1/1,000 the original volume and mass). This change effectively reduces the object's SM by 6. Objects changed by a Shrink Item spell can be returned to normal composition and size merely by tossing them onto any solid surface or by a word of command from the original caster. Restoring the shrunken object to its normal size and composition ends the spell.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Only inanimate objects, -10%; Advantage, Shrink Item, +270%; Based on IQ, Own Roll, +20%; Cancellation, +10%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Extended Duration, 3,000x, +140%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Magical, -10%; Malediction 1, +100%; Melee Attack, Reach C, -30%; No Signature, +20%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [58]. Notes: "Shrink Item" is Shrinking 6 (Magical, -10%; Minimum Size Only, +0%) [27].

Shroud of Undeath

Keywords: Buff.

Full Cost (Self): 12 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 4 seconds.

Range: Self.

Duration: 30 minutes.

You shroud yourself with invisible negative energy so that non-sapient undead and undead with Slave Mentality perceive you as a fellow undead creature, reacting to you at +3, which means that they usually simply ignore you. Your appearance does not change, and while intelligent undead do not immediately recognize you as alive and still react to you at +3, they are likely to question whether you are actually undead. If used in conjunction with a disguise or illusion to appear undead, this spell gives you a +4 bonus on your Disguise roll.

When you are using this spell, you are treated as undead for the purpose of supernatural abilities, both negative and beneficial.

If you attack an undead creature while this spell is in effect, the spell immediately ends.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Self Only, -50%; Advantage, Shroud of Undeath, +110%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Extended Duration, 10x, +40%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Magical, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Takes Extra Time 2, -20%; Terminal Condition, Attack an undead, -10%) [12]. Note: "Shroud of Undeath" is Alternate Identity (Legal; Magical, -10%) [5] + Social Regard 3 (Respected; Accessibility, Only to undead, -50%; Magical, -10%) [6].

Sign of Sealing

Keywords: Buff.

Full Cost: 47 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 1 minute.

Range: Touch.

Duration: Permanent or until triggered.

A Sign of Sealing spell cast upon a door, chest, or portal seals it with a prominent magical sigil that bars entry and prevents opening. You can freely pass your own Sign of Sealing without affecting it; otherwise, a door or object secured with this spell can be opened only by breaking in or with a successful Knock or Dispel Magic spell. Sign of Sealing resists the Knock spell as a Quick Contest, using skill plus the higher of Wizardly Study or Wizardry Talent. A Knock spell does not remove a Sign of Sealing; it only suppresses the effect for 10 minutes.

If the door or object is forced open by any means (magical or physical), the Sign of Sealing explodes, dealing 5d crushing explosive damage. Those in the same hex as the Sign of Sealing take full damage, and anything nearby receives “collateral damage” equal to basic damage divided by the distance in yards from the blast. This ends the spell.

A caster can have no more than 1 + Talent instances of Sign of Sealing active at the same time.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Only portals and containers, -40%; Advantage, Sign of Sealing, +50%; Based on IQ, Own Roll, +20%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Extended Duration, Permanent, +150%; Immediate Preparation Required, 1 minute, -30%; Magical, -10%; Malediction 1, +100%; Melee Attack, Reach C, -30%; No Signature, +20%; Nuisance Effect, Can be overcome by Knock, -5%; Paralysis, Variant, +150%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Selective Effect, +20%) [47].

Silence

Keywords: Area (Leveled).

Full Cost: 42 points for level 1 + 10 points/additional level.

Full Cost (Improved): 58 points for level 1 + 10 points/additional level.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 100 yards.

Duration: 30 seconds.

The spell creates a hemispherical area of quiet where hearing is impossible. Nothing that happens in this area makes any sound. An area of silence counters effects that depend on sound transmission, such as Sound Burst. Spells reliant on sorcerous incantations cannot be cast within a muted zone.

The improved version of this spell affects all forms of hearing, including Sonar, Subsonic Hearing, Ultrahearing, and Vibration Sense.

Statistics: Obscure 10 (Hearing; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Magical, -10%; Ranged, +50%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Stealthy, +100%; Variable, Area, +5%) [42]. The improved version adds Extended, Sonar, Subsonic Hearing, Ultrahearing, and Vibration Sense, +80% [+16]. Further levels add Area Effect (+50%) [+10/level].

Silent Image

Keywords: Area (Leveled).

Full Cost: 17 points for level 1 + 12.5 points/additional level*.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use skill or Artist (Illusion) to determine how convincing it is.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP to cast, 1 FP to maintain.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 100 yards.

Duration: Indefinite.

You can create a visual illusion in a hemispherical area anywhere that you can see within 100 yards. You must win a Quick Contest of skill – or Artist (Illusion), if better – against the Per of anyone you want to fool; otherwise they notice something “off.” Do not apply range penalties to this roll. Their roll is at +4 if they have reason to be alert for illusions or +10 if you made it appear from out of nowhere. However, even if they successfully “disbelieve,” your illusion doesn’t disappear. Thus, even an obvious illusion can be useful to block line of sight.

You must actively concentrate (take Concentrate maneuvers every turn) to maintain the illusion, and if you keep concentrating, you can change the illusion, make it behave “intelligently,” or move it within the area of effect.

Statistics: Illusion (Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Magical, -10%; Ranged, +40%; Requires gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires magic words, -10%; Visual Only, -30%) [17]. Additional levels add Area Effect (+50%) [+12.5*].

* Calculate the total cost and then round down (because the base ability costs just 16.25 points before rounding). Level 2 costs 29 points, level 3 costs 42 points, level 4 costs 54 points, level 5 costs 67 points, and so on.

Simulacrum

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 32 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S, M.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 minute.

Range: Touch.

Duration: Indefinite, see text.

Simulacrum creates an illusory duplicate of any creature. The duplicate creature is partially real and formed from ice or snow. It appears to be the same as the original. The simulacrum must be prepared for a specific target; some piece of the creature to be duplicated (hair, nail, or the like) must be placed inside the snow or ice. An appropriate spell or Artist (Sculpting) skill roll at -10 is necessary to achieve a good likeness – the caster need not do this himself. The simulacrum, once enchanted, appears identical to the target (including such details as eye color and skin tone) through a sort of always-on illusion disguise. At all times the simulacrum remains under your absolute command. No special telepathic link exists, so command must be exercised in some other manner.

Consult Construct Crafting for simulacra templates and lenses, and rules for their creation. Regardless of the type of simulacrum you create with this spell, its point total must not be higher than 75% of your point value. Simulacra with point totals of 0 or lower are considered to have a point total of 1 point for this purpose.

If the simulacrum is destroyed, the caster must wait a full day to animate a replacement. However, the caster can also dismiss the animating spirit by touching the simulacrum as a free action. In this case, he may begin animating a replacement five minutes later.

If this spell is taken as a learned spell (i.e. as part of an alternative abilities array), then it can be maintained indefinitely for free, even if the caster is unconscious. However, once you switch to a different spell, the animated simulacrum becomes inert, but it will reanimate when you switch back to Simulacrum. Most casters try to purchase this spell for its full cost to have it constantly active and be able to cast other spells. If this spell was cast via hardcore improvisation, then it lasts for one minute.

Material Component: Powdered ruby worth $60 per HP of the simulacrum to be created.

Statistics: Ally (Simulacrum; Built on 75%; Constantly, no roll required; Adjustable, Simulacra, Cannot provide information, +100%; Conjured, +100%; Immediate Preparation Required, 1 minute, -30%; Magical, -10%; Minion, +50%; Requires a body, -20%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [32]. Note: As a special effect, this spell breaks sorcery rules by allowing free maintenance, but this is offset by imposing a FP cost to cast and requiring an expensive material component.

Driving sleet impedes sight (even Infravision) within it and causes the ground in the area to be icy. This spell affects an area 8 yards in radius and 4 yards in height. Vision and Infravision rolls made in the area or through the area are at -5. The icy area is considered a slippery surface. Those moving into or through the icy area must roll against DX-2 every turn or fall; this roll is at +1 if walking at Move/2, +2 at Move/4, and +3 at Move/8 (round down, minimum 0). Critical failure causes 1d-2 injury to a randomly chosen limb. Outside of combat, if you walk slowly (Move 1), then you only need to make an unpenalized DX roll every four minutes to avoid falling.

In combat, you have to make a DX-2 roll after each attack or defense roll. Perfect Balance gives +4, Excellent Balance gives +3. Failure means that you fall down.

If you fail a DX roll to remain standing by 1, you fall on your knees; if you fail by 2, you assume a sitting posture, and any worse failure results in you falling prone. To stand back up after falling down on a slippery surface, you have to make two successful DX-2 rolls in a row.

Slippery surfaces allow skidding (p. MA105).

Smoke Cloud

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 50 yards.

You may fill a 4-yard-radius 4-yard-tall cylindrical area with smoke. This gives -5 to all vision rolls made through it. To place the cloud at a distance, use Innate Attack (Gaze), with normal range penalties, but at +4 for affecting an area. The initial attack roll places the effect. It then drifts from that point with the wind.

Additionally, every creature that inhales the smoke, begins to cough (is at -3 to DX and -1 to IQ, and cannot use Stealth) for 3 minutes, if it fails a HT roll.

Snare

Keywords: Area (Fixed).

Full Cost: 12 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 1 minute.

Range: Touch.

Duration: Permanent until triggered or broken.

This spell enables you to make a snare that functions as a magic trap. The snare can be made from any supple vine, a thong, or a rope. When you cast snare upon it, the cordlike object blends with its surroundings (Per-4 for a character to locate). One end of the snare is tied in a loop that contracts around one or more of the limbs of any creature stepping inside the circle (one hex). (The head of a worm or a snake could be thus ensnared, for example.)

If a strong and supple tree is nearby, the snare can be fastened to it. The spell causes the tree to bend and then straighten when the loop is triggered, dealing 1d points of crushing damage to the creature trapped and lifting it off the ground by the trapped limb or limbs. If no such tree is available, the cordlike object tightens around the creature, dealing no damage but causing it to be entangled. In any case, the victim is allowed a Dodge attempt, if he has located the snare, or has Danger Sense.

Anyone entangled by the snare is grappled with ST 14. They cannot select the Move or Change Posture maneuvers or change facing, and are at -4 to DX.

To break free, the victim must win a Quick Contest of ST or Escape skill against the ST of snare. Each attempt takes one second. If the victim fails to break free, he loses 1 FP but may try again. Alternatively, he may try to destroy the snare. Innate Attacks hit automatically; other attacks are at -4. External attacks on the snare take no penalty, but risk hitting the victim on a miss (see Striking Into a Close Combat, p. B392). Snare has DR 4. Each point of damage reduces ST by one. At ST 0, the snare is destroyed and the victim is freed.

Statistics: Binding 14 (Area Effect, 1 yard, +25%; Can be dodged, -5%; Cosmic, Can lift and damage if a tree is nearby, +50%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Delay, Triggered, +50%; Environmental,

This spell magically enhances your sense of vision, letting you ignore -3 in range penalties to Vision rolls at all times, or -6 in range penalties if you take an Aim maneuver to zoom in on a particular target. Snow Wave

Keywords: Cone, Obvious.

Full Cost: 54 points.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Beam) to hit.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 2 seconds.

Range: 10 yards.

Duration: Instantaneous.

You create a wave of snow that knocks creatures in its path prone and deals 1d+2 crushing damage. This damage is doubled for the purpose of knockback. This is a 5-yard-wide cone attack that uses the rules for Cone Attacks (p. B413). The caster targets a hex right in front of him, at +4, and the cone extends out from there. It is possible to make the cone wider by using the All-Out Attack (Cone) maneuver (GURPS Dungeon Fantasy Monsters 4: Dragons, p. 10). This spell has the 1/2D range of 5 yards.

In addition to dealing damage, this spell leaves a 6-inch deep layer of settled snow that may impede movement (for SM+0 creatures, this increases movement cost by 1/2 per hex, gives -2 to attacks and -1 to active defenses). The total weight of snow created with a single casting is 1,755 pounds.

Statistics: Create Snow 13.33 (Accessibility, Only as a cone, -10%; Link, +10%; Magical, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Takes Extra Time 1, -10%) [41] + Crushing Attack 1d+2 (Cone 5, +100%; Double Knockback, +20%; Increased 1/2D, 5x, +10%; Link, +10%; Magical, -10%; Reduced Range, 1/10, -30%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Takes Extra Time 1, -10%) [13].

Snowdrift

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 6 points for level 1 + 3 points/additional level.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP to cast, 1 FP to maintain.

Casting Time: 4 seconds.

Range: Touch.

Duration: Indefinite.

You can form existing snow into any shape that suits your purpose. The higher your level of Snowdrift, the larger the quantity you can affect. You can affect up to 10 x (level squared) lbs. of snow in the form of a single object or amorphous mass. For example, Snowdrift 3 would let you affect a 90-lb. snow block or even 90 lbs. of snow in a heap, but not two 5-lb. separate snow objects.

Snowdrift doesn't work on complex, manufactured artifacts unless they're made almost entirely of snow. You could affect a snow sculpture, but not a complex mechanism with only a few snow parts.

After casting this spell, you can reshape the target. Forming a simple shape (blob, column, sphere, etc.) requires a Concentrate maneuver but no die roll. If the result is meant to be beautiful or functional, though, the GM may deem the effort a long task (see p. B346) and require skill rolls against Armoury, Artist, Machinist, and so on. You can work without tools, but you must know what you're doing.

You can also cause the target to elongate or flow at a Move 1. This requires constant concentration. You can make a solid snow object ooze, roll, or seep along the ground or a surface, and even reshape it in ways that defy gravity.

When you stop concentrating, you immediately give up control. Stable forms become permanent, while unstable ones collapse instantly.

Statistics: Control Snow 1 (Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Magical, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Takes Extra Time 2, -20%) [6]. Solid Fog

Keywords: Area (Leveled).

Full Cost: 40 points for level 1 + 7 points/additional level.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 50 yards.

Duration: 5 minutes.

A 4-yard-high cylindrical bank of fog billows out from the point you designate. The fog obscures normal sight, imposing a -7 penalty to Vision rolls and Vision-based tasks. The area of effect drifts with the wind.

In addition to obscuring sight, the fog is so thick, that moving through each hex of it requires one extra movement point. Falling creatures decelerate by one yard per second per yard of fog. Melee weapon attacks are made at -1 for every yard of maximum reach; Reach C weapons are unpenalized.

Thrusting weapons do -1 damage per two yards of maximum reach. Swung weapons do -1 damage per die per two yards of maximum reach. Ranged attacks deal -1 damage per yard of fog.

Fire attacks become weaker in fog. Flaming weapons and missiles lose their extra power in fog. Scorching Rays and similar fire missile effects lose 1 point of damage per yard of fog they must traverse. Fire explosions treat each yard of fog as two yards of distance from the blast for the purpose of damage. However, no amount of fog will extinguish a fire.

Casting Roll: Skill.
Components: V, S.
Cost: 2 FP to cast, 1 FP to maintain.
Casting Time: 2 seconds.
Range: Self.
Duration: Indefinite.

This spell creates a 2-yard-radius hemispherical invisible zone that negates incarnum. It is centered on the caster and moves with him. It completely prevents all incarnum powers from affecting anything in the area and prevents the use of incarnum by anyone in the area. Soul banned Zone affects friendly and hostile abilities equally, and the caster himself loses the ability to use incarnum abilities, unless he cancels Soul banned Zone prematurely with a Ready maneuver. Soul banned Zone only interferes with attempts to affect creatures and objects in the area directly.

Statistics: Static (Incarnum; Area Effect, 2 yards, +100%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Magical, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Switchable, +100%; Takes Extra Time 1, -10%) [72].

Sound Burst

Keywords: Area (Fixed).
Full Cost: 11 points.
Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to hit.
Components: V, S, F.
Cost: 2 FP.
Casting Time: 1 second.
Range: 10 yards.
Duration: Instantaneous (but see text).

You blast a spherical area with a tremendous cacophony. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to hit, applying normal range penalties, but at +4 for targeting an area. Everyone within two yards of that spot takes 1d burning damage. This damage originates from sonic vibrations – it cannot set anything on fire. This damage does not work in the area of effect of the Silence spell or a similar ability. Everyone within the area also must resist with HT; Protected Hearing gives +5, Hard of Hearing gives +4, and those with Deafness are immune. The caster is not immune to it. Everyone who fails to resist is deafened for margin of failure minutes.

Focus: A musical instrument.

Speak with Dead

Keywords: Information.
Full Cost: 10 points.
Casting Roll: Skill.
Components: V, S.
Cost: 1 FP.
Casting Time: 10 minutes.
Range: Touch.
Duration: Instantaneous.

You grant the semblance of life and intellect to a corpse, allowing it to answer a question that you put to it. The corpse's knowledge is limited to what the creature knew during life, including the languages it spoke (if any). Answers are usually brief, cryptic, or repetitive. The body must be mostly intact to be able to respond. A damaged corpse may be able to give partial answers or partially correct answers, but it must at least have a mouth in order to speak at all.

Your casting roll is at a penalty equal to the number of full days the subject has been dead, and you only get one try.

This spell does not let you actually speak to the person (whose soul has departed). It instead draws on the imprinted knowledge stored in the corpse. The partially animated body retains the imprint of the soul that once inhabited it, and thus it can speak with all the knowledge that the creature had while alive. The corpse, however, cannot learn new information. Indeed, it can't even remember being questioned.

This spell does not affect a corpse that has been turned into an undead creature.

Statistics: Mind Probe (Accessibility, Only on corpses, -20%; Cosmic, Works on the dead, +50%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Immediate Preparation Requires, 10 minutes, -45%; Magical, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [10]. Feature: Time penalty replaces the normal Quick Contest.

Speak with Plants

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 7 points.

Casting Roll: None.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP to cast, 1 FP to maintain.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Self.

Duration: Indefinite.

You can converse with plants. All earthly plants are IQ 0, but a large tree might be "wiser" than the average ivy, at the GM's whim. A plant might know how recently it was watered or walked on, or something else that directly bears on its well-being, but would be unable to relate an overheard phone conversation. Any normal plant will always cooperate, within the limits of its ability.

Statistics: Speak with Plants (Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Magical, -10%; Pact, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [7].

Speaking Stones

Keywords: Buff.

Full Cost: 33 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 minute.

Range: Touch.

Duration: 1 day or until discharged; see text.

This spell allows you to fashion a magical link between two stones (or any other objects weighing up to 1 pound each). This link allows each stone to pass a single message to the other, no matter how great the distance between them after the spell is first cast.

Once the stones are transmuted with this spell, a creature holding one stone can send a message of no more than twenty-five words, initiating the transmission with a Concentrate maneuver. A full-length message takes about 10 seconds to speak, but you may shorten the time required for shorter messages. The message instantly sounds from the other stone, with based Hearing range of 1 yard. The spell ends after each stone passes one message to its twin, or the spell's duration elapses, whichever occurs first.

Messages are not transmitted across planar boundaries. If the bearer of one speaking stone attempts to pass a message while the other stone is on another plane, the message rebounds and plays back on the original stone. This playback counts as that stone's single message transmission.

No object can have more than one Speaking Stones spell cast upon it. A second Speaking Stones cast upon the same object ends the first spell.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Small objects only, -20%; Advantage, Speaking Stones, +40%; Based on IQ, Own Roll, +20%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Extended Duration, 1,000x, +120%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Immediate Preparation Required, 1 minute, -30%; Magical, -10%; Malediction 1, +100%; Melee Attack, Reach C, -30%; No Signature, +20%; Rapid Fire, RoF 2, Variant, +40%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [33]. Note: "Speaking Stones" is Telesend (Accessibility, Only to the other stone, -80%; Audible, -10%; Cannot concentrate to extend duration, -10%; Cosmic, No die roll required, +100%; Magical, -10%; Nuisance Effect, Cannot maintain multiple contacts, -10%; Reduced Duration, 1/6, -15%; Single Use, x0.2) [4].

A staff enchanted with this spell can be used to deliver touch spells. Ranged spells cast through the enchanted staff calculate range penalties from the end of the staff in the caster's hands, not from the caster himself.

Sphere of Ultimate Destruction

Keywords: Area (Fixed), Obvious.

Full Cost: 60 points.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 3 FP + 1 character points.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 50 yards.

Duration: 10 seconds.

You conjure a 2-ft.-radius featureless black sphere of nothingness that disintegrates virtually anything it touches. This affects a single hex. To place the area at a distance, use Innate Attack (Gaze), with normal range penalties, but at +4 for affecting an area. The sphere is under caster's control. The caster can Concentrate to move the sphere at Move 5.

If the sphere intersects someone, the victim must dodge and retreat to avoid being hit. Parrying or blocking is useless. Someone hit by the sphere will suffer 5d corrosion damage with an infinite armor divisor due to disintegration. The effects of the sphere count as a Disintegrate spell for the purpose of destroying a Wall of Force or any other spell or effect specifically affected by Disintegrate. If the sphere exceeds the spell's range, it winks out.

Statistics: Corrosion Attack 5d (Area Effect, 1 yard, +25%; Character point-powered, x0.2; Cosmic, Irresistible Attack, +300%; Costs Fatigue, 3 FP, -15%; Magical, -10%; Mobile 5, +200%; Persistent, +40%; Reduced Range, 1/2, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [60].

Spider Climb

Keywords: Buff.

Full Cost (Self): 20 points.

Full Cost (Touch): 35 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 4 seconds.

Range: Self – Touch.

Duration: 30 minutes.

The subject can climb and travel on vertical surfaces or even traverse ceilings as well as a spider does. The affected creature must have its hands free to climb in this manner. Neither feat requires a roll against Climbing skill, provided the surface is one he can cling to. Move while clinging is half his Basic Move.

If the subject is falling and tries to grab a vertical surface to break his fall, the GM must first decide whether there is anything in reach. If there is, the subject makes a DX roll to touch the surface, and then makes a ST roll at -1 per 5 yards already fallen. If he succeeds, he stops his fall. Otherwise, he continues to fall – but he may subtract 5 yards from the height of the fall thanks to the slowing effect of the failed clinging attempt. Variations in gravity affect these distances; e.g., in 0.5G, the ST roll would be at -1 per 10 yards.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Self Only, -50%; Advantage, Spider Climb, +180%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Extended Duration, 10x, +40%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Magical, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Takes Extra Time 2, -20%) [20]. Note: “Spider Climb” is Clinging (Magical, -10%) [18]. The Touch version removes Accessibility, Self Only, -50% and Requires IQ Roll, -10% and adds Accessibility, Only nonvolitional or non-resisting subjects, -20%, Based on IQ, Own Roll, +20%; Malediction 1, +100%, Melee Attack, Reach C, -30%, and No Signature, +20% [+15].

Spike Growth

Keywords: Area (Fixed).

Full Cost: 31 points.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 10 yards.

Duration: 8 hours.

Any ground-covering vegetation in the spell’s area becomes very hard and sharply pointed without changing its appearance. In areas of bare earth, roots and rootlets act in the same way. Typically, spike growth can be cast in any outdoor setting except open water, ice, heavy snow, sandy desert, or bare stone. This affects a 4-yard-radius area. Anyone who steps on the spikes takes thr-3 impaling damage to one of his feet, based on his ST. Anyone falling or colliding with the spiked surfaces takes impaling damage from the fall or collision.

Range: 10 yards.

Duration: 10 seconds.

Rocky ground, stone floors, and similar surfaces shape themselves into long, sharp points. Spike Stones count as bad terrain (+1 movement point/hex, bad footing penalties). This affects a 4-yard-radius area. Anyone who steps on the spikes takes thr-3 impaling damage to one of his feet, based on his ST. Anyone falling or colliding with the spiked surfaces takes impaling damage from the fall or collision.

Spirit Binding

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 38 points.

Full Cost (Lesser): 13 points.

Full Cost (Greater): 114 points.

Casting Roll: Skill, rolled as a Quick Contest against the summoned being's Will.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 10 minutes.

Casting Time (Lesser): 10 minutes.

Casting Time (Greater): 1 hour.

Range: 10 yards.

Duration: Hours equal to margin of victory on Quick Contest of skill against Will.

Each time you cast this, you summon a spirit (worth 75% or less of your point value). The GM will create this being, but you can request one that meets broad criteria. Alternatively, if you know a specific being you want to call, you can summon it (although if you do not have its True Name or some equally significant identifier, you are at -5 on the casting roll). A penalty applies based on the planar "distance": There is no distance penalty for creatures that are currently on the same plane of existence. Adjacent dimensions impose -5, increasing by -5 for every intervening dimension. The Prime Material Plane is considered adjacent to the Spirit World, where most of the spirits come from. Thus, preparations that mitigate the penalty usually are required.

The summoning itself requires 10 minutes of preparation and ritual. At the end of the casting, you must pay 2 FP and make a Quick Contest of skill against the spirit's Will to force it to appear. If you are victorious, the spirit arrives. It then makes a reaction roll. On Poor or worse, treat it as an Unwilling Ally – it will obey you, but try to subvert your commands or otherwise act against your interests. If the reaction is Neutral or better, it will serve you reasonably faithfully.

You can also summon spirits to answer questions. Treat this as a Contact Group with an appropriate knowledge category, an effective skill of 18, and a reliability that depends on the reaction roll: Unreliable for Poor or less, Somewhat Reliable on a Neutral reaction, Usually Reliable for Good, and Completely Reliable for Very Good or Excellent reactions.

Unlike most spells with a duration, this spell must be maintained; thus, unless you can cast simultaneous spells, using another spell will immediately dismiss the summoned being. However, there is no FP cost to maintain this spell, only to cast it. A summoned being is vulnerable to being dispelled, banished, or warded off with occult techniques. If it is killed, you must wait 24 hours before using this spell again; if dismissed, you must wait five minutes.

Two other versions of this spell summon beings of different potency. Lesser Spirit Binding calls forth a spirit worth up to 25% of your point value. Greater Spirit Binding calls a spirit worth up to 150% of your point value, and requires one hour to cast. Treat creatures summoned with the Lesser version as having an effective skill of 12, while Greater Spirit Binding provides effective skill 21.

Statistics: Ally (Spirit; Built on 75%; Constantly; Adjustable, Can provide information, +150%; Conjured, +100%; Immediate Preparation Required, 10 minutes, -45%; Magical, -10%; Maximum Duration, hours equal to margin of victory, -5%; Ranged, +40%; Reduced Range, 1/10, -30%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Requires Quick Contest of IQ vs. Will, -15%; Special Abilities, +50%) [38]. Lesser Spirit Binding has Ally, built on 25%. Greater Spirit Binding is built on 150%, and increases Immediate Preparation Required to 1 hour, -75%. Notes: The Maximum Duration limitation is priced based on Maximum Duration, 12 hours. As a special effect, this spell breaks rules by allowing free maintenance, but this is offset by imposing a FP cost to cast and dimensional “range” penalties.

Spirit Needle

Keywords: Missile, Obvious.

Full Cost: 59 points.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Projectile) to hit.

Components: V, S, F.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 10 yards.

Duration: Instantaneous.

A needle flicked from your fingers magically penetrates an incorporeal creature’s aura. If you hit an incorporeal creature, it takes 1d impaling damage and is held in place by the needle, effectively being grappled with ST 20. The victim cannot select the Move or Change Posture maneuvers or change facing, and is at -4 to DX. Each additional Spirit Needle stuck in the victim increases the ST by 1. In addition, an incorporeal creature injured by this spell must make an HT roll, at -1 per 2 points of injury, or become substantial for (20-HT) minutes (minimum 1 minute). Taking out the needle returns the ability of the victim to assume insubstantiality.

To break free, the victim must win a Quick Contest of ST or Escape skill against the ST of the Spirit Needle. Each attempt takes one second. If the victim fails to break free, he loses 1 FP but may try again. An impaled victim is unable to use any supernatural ability that would transport it from its current location (such as Dimension Door or Teleport) or alter its substance or state (such as Gaseous Form). The victim cannot remove the needle that pins it in place, but another creature can do so with a Ready maneuver.

Victim also can roll thrust damage once per turn against the Spirit Needle as a free action. If the roll is higher than the Spirit Needle ST, he may ignore its impediment at once. If it isn’t, he is affected normally but may still use his turn for a standard attempt to break free.

Focus: A long metal needle ($10, 0.01 lb.).

Statistics: Impaling Attack 1d (Increased 1/2D, 10x, +15%; Insubstantial Only, -30%; Link, +10%; Magical, -10%; Reduced Range, 1/10, -30%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Requires Needle, -10%; Side Effect, Negated Advantage, Insubstantiality, +130%; Terminal Condition, Taken out by another creature, -10%) [11] + Binding 20 (Cosmic, Also prevents transportation and state change, +100%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Insubstantial Only, -30%; Link, +10%; Magical, -10%; Reduced Range, 1/10, -30%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Requires Needle, -10%; Terminal Condition, Taken out by another creature, -10%; Unbreakable, +40%) [48].

Spirit Self

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 40 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP to cast, 1 FP per 10 minutes to maintain.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Self.

Duration: Indefinite.

You can project your spirit outside of your body in a non-physical form, while still maintaining basic life functions within your physical body. This projected spirit is an insubstantial entity but remains visible. It isn't affected by gravity and can move silently in any direction. The spirit is unable to interact with the physical world or use supernatural abilities. A spellcaster with abilities like Commune with Spirit can communicate with your spirit, but it cannot otherwise talk to material beings. Although immune to magical and physical attacks, it is susceptible to Maledictions at a -3 penalty or attacks with the Affects Insubstantial enhancement. The spirit can pass through solid objects without needing to breathe.

Your physical body is not in suspended animation and continues to need air and nourishment. Any damage or fatigue affects the body as normal, even when the spirit is absent. Similarly, the projected spirit is affected by lack of sleep or attacks enhanced with Affects Insubstantial. All HP and FP losses affect a shared pool, regardless of which form experiences them. The spirit is subject to negative effects like shock and stunning.

If the projected spirit would become "unconscious," it disappears, returning to the body, which remains unconscious until recovery.

If death occurs, the outcome depends on which form suffered the fatal injury. If it was the projected spirit, the projector's mind and personality are lost, and the body might survive as a mindless shell; apply Mortal Wounds rules (p. B423), but the person can never awaken. If the body dies, the projector can attempt a Will-15 roll, modified by Talent, at the moment of death. Success means they transform their projection ability into a corresponding spiritual meta-trait and become a "ghost" in the realm where their projection was. Failure results in death.

Statistics: Insubstantiality (Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Extended Duration, 10x, +40%; Ghost Air, +10%; Magical, -10%; Projection, -50%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [40].

Standing Wave

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 20 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 2 seconds.

Range: 500 yards.

Duration: 1 minute.

You command the waters to lift a creature or object one foot upward and propel it forward. An object so lifted may contain creatures or other objects. The wave has effective ST 17. Standing Wave moves the lifted creature or object in a straight line at Move 3 modified by encumbrance as normal over water. The spell dissipates when the wave contacts land, lowering its burden harmlessly to shore, or when it becomes further than 500 yards away from you. A creature lifted by the Standing Wave may move into another hex by itself without any restriction, but it will not be picked up by the wave again.

Even though this is not a spell with an indefinite duration, the caster cannot have multiple instances of this spell active unless he took multiple copies of this spell or can maintain multiple spells at the same time.

Statistics: Telekinesis 3 (Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Environmental, Water Surface, -40%; Increased Range, 50x, +50%; Independent, +40%; Magical, -10%; One Task, Carrying in a straight line, -30%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Takes Extra Time 1, -10%; Visible, -20%) [6] + Telekinesis 14 (Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Environmental, Water Surface, -40%; Increased Range, 50x, +50%; Independent, +40%; Lift Only, -20%; Magical, -10%; One Task, Carrying in a straight line, -30%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Takes Extra Time 1, -10%; Visible, -20%) [14].

Stasis Clone

Keywords: Buff.

Full Cost: 21 points.

Casting Roll: Skill

Components: V, S, M, F.

Cost: 15 character points.

Casting Time: 10 minutes.

Range: Touch.

Duration: Truly Permanent.

This spell makes an inert duplicate of a creature. If the original individual has been slain, its soul immediately transfers to the clone, creating a replacement (provided that the soul is free and willing to return). The original's physical remains, should they still exist, become inert and cannot thereafter be restored to life. If the original creature has reached the end of its natural life span (that is, it has died of natural causes), any cloning attempt fails.

To create the duplicate, you must have a piece of flesh (not hair, nails, scales, or the like) with a volume of at least 1 cubic inch that was taken from the original creature's living body. The piece of flesh need not be fresh, but it must be kept from rotting (for example, by the Gentle Repose spell). Once the spell is cast, the duplicate must be grown in a laboratory for 2d/2 months.

When the clone is completed, the original's soul enters it immediately, if that creature is already dead, unless the original died in a no-mana zone or with his magical abilities negated. The clone is physically identical with the original and possesses the same personality and memories as the original. In other respects, treat the clone as if it were the original character raised from the dead. In the process, however, the character permanently loses 40 character points from his total. This should first come from any unspent points; the remainder may be in the form of reduced attributes, lost advantages, or new disadvantages.

The spell duplicates only the original's body and mind, not its equipment.

A duplicate can be grown while the original still lives, or when the original soul is unavailable. If this is the case, the cloned body falls immediately into stasis and does not rot. If the original individual later dies, the soul transfers to the stasis clone, which leaves stasis and immediately begins to function as per the normal. If multiple stasis clones exist for the same original creature when it is slain, the soul goes into the most recently created stasis clone.

Material Component: The piece of flesh and various laboratory supplies ($4,000, 20 lbs.).

Focus: Special laboratory equipment ($2,000, 50 lbs.).

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Only nonvolitional or non-resisting subjects, -20%; Advantage, Stasis Clone, +300%; Based on IQ, Own Roll, +20%; Character point-powered, x1/5; Cumulative, +400%; Extended Duration, Truly Permanent, +300%; Immediate Preparation Required, 10 minutes, -45%; Magical, -10%; Malediction 1, +100%; Melee Attack, Reach C, -30%; Onset, 2d/2 months, -40%; Requires a laboratory, -15%; Requires a piece of target's flesh, -10%; Trigger, Expensive Reagents, -30%) [21]. Note: "Stasis Clone" is Extra Life 1 (Copy, -20%; Cosmic, Doesn't Rot, +50%; Magical, -10%) [30].

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 2 seconds.

Range: Self – Touch.

Duration: 5 hours.

The subject along with all his equipment up to his Medium encumbrance is turned into an immobile statue. He gains a variant of the Body of Stone meta-trait; see the footnote below for details. The subject of a Statue spell can return to its normal state, act, and then return instantly to the statue state (a Ready maneuver) if it so desires, as long as the spell duration is in effect.

Status

Keywords: Information.

Full Cost: 21 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP to cast, 1 FP to maintain.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Unlimited (long-distance).

Duration: Indefinite.

When you need to keep track of comrades who may get separated, Status allows you to mentally monitor their relative positions and general condition. To cast this spell, you have to touch the creature you'd like to track. While this spell is active, you are aware of direction and distance to the subject and any conditions affecting him: unharmed, wounded, disabled, staggered, unconscious, dying, nauseated, panicked, stunned, poisoned, diseased, confused, or the like. The GM will roll against your skill (plus Talent), minus the long-distance range penalty to the subject, and inform you if you succeed. These Sense rolls are in addition to the casting roll and do not cost any FP.

Statistics: Slotted Cosmic Power 1 (15) (Limited, Trait, Detect, -50%; Magical, -10%; Nuisance Effect, Must touch the creature first, -5%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%) [21]. Note: Effectively, this spell emulates effects of the Detect (Specific Creature; Rare) [5] advantage with Analyzing, +100%; Based on IQ, Own Roll, +20%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Long-Range 1, +50%; Reflexive, +40%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10% for the total cost of 15 points.

Steal Incarnum

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 14 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Touch.

Duration: Instantaneous.

You can steal ER (Incarnum) from a living victim to replenish your own. This requires ongoing physical contact with the target. In combat, this means having the victim grappled. Out of combat, you can cast this spell on a helpless or restrained victim. On every successful casting (an Attack maneuver), he loses 2 ER (Incarnum) and you recover 2 ER (Incarnum). You can't raise your ER above normal, but you can continue the drain without reinvigorating yourself.

Statistics: Leech 2 (Accelerated Healing, +25%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Magical, -10%; Only Heals ER, -20%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Steal ER, -25%) [14].

Steal Summoning

Keywords: Resisted (Will).

Full Cost (Short-Range): 10 points.

Full Cost (Ranged): 15 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP to cast, 1 FP to maintain.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Unlimited (-1/yard) - Unlimited (standard).

Duration: Indefinite + 3 seconds, see text.

This spell enables you to command a creature summoned by another caster, even if it is normally immune to mind control. You command it mentally, so it obeys your commands regardless of the language you speak. In effect, it temporarily gains the Reprogrammable (p. B150) disadvantage, with you as its master. While not following orders, the creature still has initiative and may function normally while under the effect of this spell.

Your control persists for as long as you take uninterrupted Concentrate maneuvers. Once you stop, your control lingers for 3 extra seconds. If you are incapacitated (stunned, knocked out, etc.), or attempt to force the creature to act against its principles (e.g., commit suicide or harm a loved one), roll another Quick Contest. If your victim wins, it breaks free. Roll at the moment of truth, not when the command is given.

If you fail the casting, you cannot attempt to control that creature again for 24 hours, and it feels a sense of mental coercion emanating from you.

Statistics: Mind Control (Accessibility, Only Summoned Creatures, -50%; Cosmic, Can affect creatures immune to mind control, +50%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Magical, -10%; Reduced Duration, 1/60, -35%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Short-Range 1, -10%) [10]. The Ranged version removes Short-Range 1, -10% [+5].

Steam Breath

Keywords: Cone, Obvious.

Full Cost: 6 points/level.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Breath) to hit.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 10 yards.

Duration: Instantaneous.

You expel a powerful breath of superheated steam that extends outward as a cone of scalding mist. The cloud does 1d non-incendiary burning damage per level.

This is a 5-yard-wide cone attack that uses the rules for Cone Attacks (p. B413). The caster targets a hex right in front of him, at +4, and the cone extends out from there. It is possible to make the cone wider by using the All-Out Attack (Cone) maneuver (GURPS Dungeon Fantasy Monsters 4: Dragons, p. 10). This spell has the 1/2D range of 5 yards.

Statistics: Burning Attack 1d (Cone 5, +100%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Increased 1/2D, 5x, +10%; Magical, -10%; No Incendiary Effect, -10%; Reduced Range, 1/10, -30%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [6/level].

Stinking Cloud

Keywords: Area (Fixed).
Full Cost: 40 points.
Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim.
Components: V, S.
Cost: 1 FP.
Casting Time: 1 second.
Range: 50 yards.
Duration: 10 seconds.

You may fill a 4-yard-radius 4-yard-high cylindrical area with bad smelling smoke. This gives -3 to all vision rolls made through it. To place the cloud at a distance, use Innate Attack (Gaze), with normal range penalties, but at +4 for affecting an area. The initial attack roll places the effect. It then drifts from that point with the wind.

Additionally, every creature that inhales the cloud, begins to cough (is at -3 to DX and -1 to IQ, and cannot use Stealth) for 3 minutes, if it fails a HT roll.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Area Effect, 4 yards, +100%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Coughing, +20%; Drifting, +20%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Link, +10%; Magical, -10%; Persistent, +40%; Reduced Range, 1/2, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Respiratory Agent, +50%) [29] + Obscure Vision 3 (Area Effect, 4 yards, +50%; Drifting, +20%; Link, +10%; Magical, -10%; Ranged, +50%; Reduced Range, 1/2, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [11].

Stitch

Keywords: None.
Full Cost: 5 points.
Casting Roll: Skill.
Components: V, S.
Cost: 1 FP to cast, 1 FP per 10 seconds to maintain.
Casting Time: 4 seconds.
Range: 5 yards.
Duration: Indefinite.

By taking uninterrupted Concentrate maneuvers, you magically sew seams in textiles or leather. You can create new stitching or repair old work. You cannot heal rips, holes, or tears (though you can patch or sew them together). You sew stitches at a rate of one yard per 20 seconds. If you have thread on hand, the stitches you make remain after the effect ends, but they are no stronger or weaker than normal stitching. You also can sew without thread, but then the seams last only an hour.

Statistics: Accessory (TK Needle) [1] + Telekinesis 1 (Based on IQ, +20%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Magical, -10%; Nuisance Effect, Limited duration without a thread, -15%; One Task, Sewing, -60%; Reduced Duration, 1/10, -20%; Reduced Range, 1/2, -10%; Reduced Time 6, +120%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Takes Extra Time 2, -20%) [4].

Stone Bones

Keywords: Buff.
Full Cost: 33 points.
Casting Roll: Skill.
Components: V, S, F.
Cost: 1 FP.
Casting Time: 4 seconds.
Range: Touch.
Duration: 30 minutes.

When cast on a skeletal undead being, such as an animated skeleton or a lich, this spell causes its bones to become thicker and as strong as stone. This gives the target additional DR 2, but it cannot increase the target's DR to higher than 4. In addition, if the target had Brittle, it loses this disadvantage for the duration. This spell does not work on living creatures and animated exoskeletons.

Focus: A miniature skull carved of granite ($60, 0.1 lb.)

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Accessibility, Only nonvolitional or non-resisting subjects, -20%; Accessibility, Skeletons Only, -70%; Advantage, Stone Bones, +90%; Based on IQ, Own Roll, +20%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Extended Duration, 10x, +40%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Magical, -10%; Malediction 1, +100%; Melee Attack, Reach C, -30%; Negated Disadvantage, Brittle, +150%; No Signature, +20%; Nuisance Effect, Cannot bring DR higher than 4, -5%; Requires Focus, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Takes Extra Time 2, -20%) [33]. Note: "Stone Bones" is DR 2 (Magical, -10%) [9].

Stone Shape

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 6 points for level 1 + 3 points/additional level.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP to cast, 1 FP to maintain.

Casting Time: 4 seconds.

Range: Touch.

Duration: Indefinite.

You can form an existing piece of stone (brick, concrete, or rock) into any shape that suits your purpose. The higher your level of Stone Shape, the larger the quantity you can affect. You can affect up to 10 x (level squared) lbs. of stone in the form of a single object or amorphous mass. For example, Stone Shape 3 would let you affect a 90-lb. stone slab or even 90 lbs. of pebbles in a heap, but not two 5-lb. separate stone objects.

Stone Shape doesn't work on complex, manufactured artifacts unless they're made almost entirely of earth or stone. You could affect a stone club, but not a complex mechanism with only a few stone parts.

After casting this spell, you can reshape the target. Forming a simple shape (blob, column, sphere, etc.) requires a Concentrate maneuver but no die roll. If the result is meant to be beautiful or functional, though, the GM may deem the effort a long task (see p. B346) and require skill rolls against Armoury, Artist, Machinist, and so on. You can work without tools, but you must know what you're doing.

You can also cause the target to elongate or flow at a Move 1. This requires constant concentration. You can make a solid stone object ooze, roll, or seep along the ground or a surface, and even reshape it in ways that defy gravity.

When you stop concentrating, you immediately give up control. Stable forms become permanent, while unstable ones collapse instantly.

Statistics: Control Stone 1 (Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Magical, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Takes Extra Time 2, -20%) [6]. Each additional level adds Control Stone +1 (Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Lift Only, -20%; Magical, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Takes Extra Time 2, -20%) [+3/level].

Stone Tell

Keywords: Information.

Full Cost: 14 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 10 minutes.

Range: Touch.

Duration: Instantaneous.

By touching a stone, you can force it to answer any one specific question that it can answer with a brief sentence. A stone can relate to you who or what has touched them as well as revealing what is covered or concealed behind or under them. The stones relate complete descriptions if asked. A stone's perspective, perception, and knowledge may prevent the stone from providing the details you are looking for (as determined by the GM). The answer is what the stone believes to be true – if it doesn't know, it'll tell you.

You have to vocally ask the question, and the stone responds in the same language. The stone cannot resist, but your skill (plus Talent) roll is at a penalty equal to the stone's SM, and you only get one try.

Statistics: Mind Probe (Accessibility, Only on stones, -50%; Cosmic, Works on inanimate objects, +50%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Immediate Preparation Required, 10 minutes, -45%; Magical, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Words, -10%; Universal, +50%) [14]. Feature: Size penalty replaces the normal Quick Contest.

Stone to Flesh

Keywords: Resisted (Will or spell).

Full Cost (Ranged): 18 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Attempts to reverse the effects of Flesh to Stone (or any similar petrification spell or ability) and bring the victim back to life. The victim is physically stunned and may roll against HT every turn to recover. This spell cannot be used to animate a statue that was never alive. Treat the resistance roll as for Dispel Magic.

Statistics: Neutralize Magic (Accessibility, Must target subject, not caster, -10%; Based on IQ, Own Roll, +20%; Cosmic, Can dispel spells that are immune to Dispel Magic, +50%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Interruption, -50%; Magical, -10%; One Ability, Flesh to Stone, -80%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [10]. The subject becomes magically warded against physical attacks, even internal ones. He has DR against physical attacks equal to 5 * spell level. This includes eyes, but not gear. This DR is ablative - it stops damage once. Each point of DR stops one point of basic damage but is destroyed in the process.

Lost DR "heals" at the rate of 1 per day. Even when this spell has worn off, the subject still recovers "virtual" DR at the same rate. Thus, if this spell granted DR 10, and the subject took 4 points of damage, reducing it to 6, then recasting this spell immediately on the same subject would only provide DR 6, because he hasn't "recovered" yet.

Stony Grasp

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 9 points.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 20 yards.

Duration: Instantaneous.

You bring forth from the ground an arm made of stone that can grapple your foes. Since the arm rises from the ground, it bypasses cover. You can cause the arm to rise out of only rock or stone, and the spell fails if you attempt to cast it in an area with the wrong materials. If the victim fails to dodge the arm, he becomes grappled with ST 15 and rooted in place. He cannot select the Move or Change Posture maneuvers or change facing, and is at -4 to DX.

To break free, the victim must win a Quick Contest of ST or Escape skill against the ST of the Stony Grasp. Each attempt takes one second. If the victim fails to break free, he loses 1 FP but may try again. Alternatively, he may try to destroy the Stony Grasp. Innate Attacks hit automatically; other attacks are at -4. External attacks on the Stony Grasp take no penalty, but risk hitting the victim on a miss (see Striking Into a Close Combat, p. B392). The Stony Grasp has DR 5. Each point of damage reduces ST by one. At ST 0, the Stony Grasp is destroyed and the victim is freed.

Victims also can roll thrust damage once per turn against the Stony Grasp as a free action. If this destroys the binding, they may ignore its impediment at once. If it doesn't, they're affected normally but may still use their turn for a standard attempt to break free, and the binding is not damaged by this free “attack.”

You fire a cone of metal needles that do 1d small piercing damage per level. This is a 6-yard-wide cone attack that uses the rules for Cone Attacks (p. B413). The caster targets a hex right in front of him, at +4, and the cone extends out from there. It is possible to make the cone wider by using the All-Out Attack (Cone) maneuver (GURPS Dungeon Fantasy Monsters 4: Dragons, p. 10). This spell has no 1/2D range.

Stormwalk

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 65 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP or more, see text.

Casting Time: 8 seconds or more, see text.

Range: 1,000 miles.

Duration: Instantaneous.

You draw upon the power of a storm to teleport yourself and a number of others from one place to another. Interplanar travel is not possible. You must be able to see the destination with your own eyes, view it remotely, or visualize it clearly (which is only possible if you have visited it previously in person). This spell can only be cast outdoors, and the destination must be outdoors.

Upon casting the spell, the storm suddenly intensifies in the area where the spell was cast, obscuring sight of those affected—whether because of a thickening of fog. This fog fills a 8-yard-radius 4-yard-high cylindrical area around the caster and gathers gradually. Penalties to normal Vision imposed by the fog increase by -1 for every second up to the maximum of -7. After the casting is over, it disperses gradually, losing -1 in Vision penalties every second. The casting culminates in a lightning bolt striking the area and the teleporting subjects disappearing. This is merely a visual and auditory effect, the bolt deals no damage.

Though the targets of the spell disappear instantaneously once the spell is cast, they do not immediately reappear at the spell's destination. Instead, 10 minutes elapse during which a storm quickly develops in the target location. This is plainly not a natural occurrence to anyone who witnesses it, unless there is already a storm in progress. Fog gathers at the destination point in the same way, with the subjects arriving when the fog reaches -7 in Vision penalties accompanied by another lightning strike, and then disperses, losing -1 in penalties every second.

Fire attacks become weaker in fog. Flaming weapons and missiles lose their extra power in fog. Scorching Rays and similar fire missile effects lose 1 point of damage per yard of fog they must traverse.

Fire explosions treat each yard of fog as two yards of distance from the blast for the purpose of damage. However, no amount of fog will extinguish a fire.

If you are carrying equipment heavier than your Basic Lift, then you make your casting roll at a penalty equal to twice your Encumbrance level. On a failed roll, you leave excess cargo behind; on a critical failure, you lose 1 point of IQ for each Encumbrance level you attempted as you “burned out” that part of your brain temporarily. This temporarily lost IQ recovers after you sleep.

Teleportation distance also penalizes your casting roll. Distance penalties appear on the table below. If actual distance falls between two values, use the higher.

Distance	Skill Penalty
10 yards	0
20 yards	-1
100 yards	-2
500 yards	-3
2 miles	-4
10 miles	-5
100 miles	-6
1,000 miles	-7

This table is not open-ended - the spell has a range limit of 1,000 miles.

The amount of time taken to cast Teleport affects the skill roll, as follows:

Preparation Time	Skill Modifier
8 seconds	+0
15 seconds	+1
30 seconds	+2
1 minute	+3
2 minutes	+4
4 minutes	+5
8 minutes	+6
15 minutes	+7
30 minutes	+8
1 hour	+9
2 hours	+10
4 hours	+11
8 hours	+12

This table is not open-ended; +12 is the maximum possible bonus.

If you have a “second-hand” view of the destination, you are at -2 per level of removal. For instance, seeing it through a crystal ball of scrying or through someone else’s eyes would give -2, while seeing it through a crystal ball of scrying that you are viewing through someone else’s eyes would give -4. There is an additional -2 to teleport to a place you have visited but cannot see.

Apply a bonus of +1 per additional FP spent. You must declare this before you roll, and you lose the FP whether you succeed or fail.

On a success, you appear at a random location somewhere in a circle with a radius equal to 1% of the distance you teleported (minimum one yard); e.g., if you teleported 10 miles, you’d materialize somewhere in a 0.1-mile circle around your target. The better your casting roll, the closer you’ll be to your target, but it’s up to the GM exactly where you appear. After you teleport, you are disoriented – you may take no action other than defense for one turn, unless you make a Body Sense roll. On a failure, you go nowhere and strain your teleporting ability: you are at -5 to cast this spell again in the next 10 minutes. On a critical failure, you’re likely to appear high in the air or underground. In addition, your spell temporarily “burns out” and will not function again for 1d hours.

Optionally, you may overload this spell to transport other willing beings in physical contact with you. Your casting roll will be at -5 per additional target, and your casting will cost an additional 2 FP. A critical failure strains your spellcasting ability; the spell automatically fails, you lose 1d FP, and all your magical powers shut down for 1d seconds.

Statistics: Obscure 7 (Vision; Area Effect, 8 yards, +100%; Environmental, Outdoors, -20%; Link, +10%; Magical, -10%; Nuisance Effect, Gathers and disperses gradually, -20%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [20] + Warp (Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Drift, -15%; Environmental, Outdoors, -20%; Link, +10%; Magical, -10%; Nuisance Effect, Delay, -5%; Nuisance Effect, Preparation no shorter than 8 seconds, -10%; Range Limit, 1,000 miles, -15%; Reliable 2, +10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Uncertain Encumbrance, +25%) [45].

Summon Elemental

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 3 points or more; see text.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP to cast, 1 FP per 10 seconds to maintain.

Casting Time: 2 seconds.

Range: 10 yards.

Duration: Indefinite.

Each time you cast this, you coagulate planar energies to create a creature that resembles an elemental of a particular type, chosen when you learn this spell. Thus, Summon Fire Elemental and Summon Water Elemental are two different spells. The GM will create this being, but you can request one that meets broad criteria. You cannot create a specific being using this spell. The creature obeys your orders regardless of how you treat it. Note that the creature should be able to understand you, so most casters learn a language used by elementals. The summoned being does not possess any knowledge, so this spell cannot be used to gain information.

A summoned elemental cannot summon or otherwise conjure another creature, nor can it use any teleportation or planar travel abilities. Creatures cannot be summoned into an environment that cannot support them. For instance, a fire elemental cannot be summoned underwater.

A summoned being is vulnerable to being dispelled, banished, or warded off with occult techniques. If it is killed, you must wait 24 hours before using this spell again; if dismissed, you must wait five minutes.

The point value of the summoned elemental must equal or less that a percentage of your point value. The percentage in question depends on the spell level as shown on the table below.

Spell Level	Point Value Limit	Full Cost
Summon Elemental I	5%	3 points
Summon Elemental II	10%	5 points
Summon Elemental III	15%	7 points
Summon Elemental IV	20%	10 points
Summon Elemental V	25%	12 points

Summon Instrument

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 16 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.
Casting Time: 1 minute.
Range: Touch.
Duration: Indefinite.

You can create any non-magical musical instrument weighing 7 lbs. or less; it appears in your hands.

If you fail your casting roll, you can try again, but repeated attempts cost 4 FP (instead of the usual 2 FP) and take a cumulative -1 to the skill roll, until you succeed or wait an hour.

A conjured instrument lasts indefinitely. That means, however, that if you want to cast this spell again, the first instrument goes away as soon as you begin casting to create the second one. If you can maintain multiple spells (Simultaneous Spells, GURPS Thaumatology: Sorcery, p. 8), you can keep multiple versions of this spell “on” to get around that problem. Unlike most spells with Indefinite duration, this one does not require paying FP to maintain.

Statistics: Snatcher (Accessibility, Only musical instruments, -40%; Immediate Preparation Required, 1 minute, -30%; Improved, +10%; Magical, -10%; More Weight 1, +5%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [16]. Note: The Improved enhancement eliminates the auto-fail on 14+.

Each time you cast this, you coagulate planar energies to create a creature that resembles an extraplanar creature. The GM will create this being, but you can request one that meets broad criteria. You cannot create a specific being using this spell. The creature obeys your orders regardless of how you treat it. Note that the creature should be able to understand you, so most casters learn a language used by outsiders. The summoned being does not possess any knowledge, so this spell cannot be used to gain information.

A summoned monster cannot summon or otherwise conjure another creature, nor can it use any teleportation or planar travel abilities. Creatures cannot be summoned into an environment that cannot support them. For instance, a celestial porpoise may only be summoned in an aquatic environment.

A summoned being is vulnerable to being dispelled, banished, or warded off with occult techniques. If it is killed, you must wait 24 hours before using this spell again; if dismissed, you must wait five minutes.

Duration: 30 minutes.

You can send silent telepathic commands to a sapient subject. If the subject fails to resist, you can give him a simple command; see the Suggest skill (p. B191) for guidelines. Any order that goes against the subject's values or sense of self-preservation triggers another resistance roll, possibly at a bonus. The suggestion only lasts as long as the spell lasts.

The subject remembers everything he did, but he is convinced that he chose to do so. He will react to behavior too bizarre to be rationalized by pushing it out of his mind and not thinking about it. Hypnotism, Psychology, and Telepathy can be used to eventually bring out the truth.

If you tie or lose, the subject can sense coercion coming from you. In addition, you cannot try to affect him again within 24 hours.

Components: V, S.
Cost: 1 FP.
Casting Time: 1 second.
Range: 100 yards.
Duration: Instantaneous (blindness may last nine seconds).

You cause a blinding flash of radiance to appear in a spherical area. Anyone within range of the flash must make a HT roll, with a penalty equal to your original margin of success, and a bonus equal to his distance from the focal point in yards. Protected Vision adds +5, and anyone with Blindness or who had already stated he had his eyes closed is immune. Failure by less than 5 means the subject is stunned (dazzled) for one second, after which he can roll against HT every second to recover. Failure by 5 or more (or a critical failure) blinds him for nine seconds.

In addition, everyone in the area takes 2d burning damage, divided by the distance from the focal point in yards.

Full Cost: 40 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V.

Cost: 1 FP to cast, 1 FP per second to maintain.

Casting Time: Free action at the start of your turn.

Range: Self.

Duration: Indefinite.

While this spell is active, you and everything you are carrying (up to your Light encumbrance) are invisible. You get a +9 to Stealth in any situation where being seen would matter. Invisibility only works against electromagnetic vision (which encompasses ordinary vision, Infravision, Ultravision, and radar). You do not cast a shadow and do not show up in mirrors.

This spell ends if you attack any creature. For purposes of this spell, an attack includes any spell targeting a foe or whose area or effect includes a foe. Exactly who is a foe depends on the invisible character's perceptions. Actions directed at unattended objects do not break the spell. Causing harm indirectly is not an attack. Thus, an invisible being can open doors, talk, eat, climb stairs, summon monsters and have them attack, cut the ropes holding a rope bridge while enemies are on the bridge, remotely trigger traps, open a portcullis to release attack dogs, and so forth. If you attack directly, however, you immediately become visible along with all your gear.

Statistics: Invisibility (Affects Machines, +50%; Can Carry Objects, Light, +20%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Disperses after an attack, -20%; Magical, -10%; Reduced Duration, 1/60, -35%; Reduced Time 1, +20%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [40].

Symbol of Death

Keywords: Obvious.

Full Cost: 52 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S, M.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 10 minutes.

Range: Touch.

Duration: Permanent or until discharged, then 15 minutes.

This spell allows you to scribe a potent rune of power upon a surface. Multiple Symbols of Death cannot be cast on the same area. When triggered, a Symbol of Death deals 2d toxic damage, ignoring DR, to every living creature within 8 yards. Once triggered, the symbol becomes active and glows, lasting for 15 minutes, dealing this damage every second.

Until it is triggered, the Symbol of Death is inactive (though visible and legible at a distance of 20 yards). To be effective, a Symbol of Death must always be placed in plain sight and in a prominent location. Covering or hiding the rune renders the Symbol of Death ineffective, unless a creature removes the covering, in which case the Symbol of Death works normally.

As a default, a Symbol of Death is triggered whenever a creature does one or more of the following, as you select: looks at the rune; reads the rune; touches the rune; passes over the rune; or passes through a portal bearing the rune. Regardless of the trigger method or methods chosen, a creature more than 8 yards from a Symbol of Death can't trigger it (even if it meets one or more of the triggering conditions, such as reading the rune). Once the spell is cast, a Symbol of Death's triggering conditions cannot be changed.

In this case, "reading" the rune means any attempt to study it, identify it, or fathom its meaning. Throwing a cover over a Symbol of Death to render it inoperative triggers it if the symbol reacts to touch. You can't use a Symbol of Death offensively; for instance, a touch-triggered Symbol of Death remains untriggered if an item bearing the Symbol of Death is used to touch a creature. Likewise, a Symbol of Death cannot be placed on a weapon and set to activate when the weapon strikes a foe.

You can also set special triggering limitations of your own. These can be as simple or elaborate as you desire. Special conditions for triggering a Symbol of Death can be based on a creature's name or identity, but otherwise must be based on observable actions or qualities. Intangibles such as hit points don't qualify.

When scribing a Symbol of Death, you can specify a password or phrase that prevents a creature using it from triggering the effect. Anyone using the password remains immune to that particular rune's effects so long as the creature remains within 20 yards of the rune. If the creature leaves the radius and returns later, it must use the password again.

Read Magic allows you to identify a Symbol of Death. Of course, if the Symbol of Death is set to be triggered by reading it, this will trigger the symbol.

A Symbol of Death can be removed by a successful Dispel Magic. An Erase spell has no effect on a Symbol of Death. Destruction of the surface where a Symbol of Death is inscribed destroys the symbol but also triggers it.

Symbol of Thirst

Keywords: Obvious, Resisted (Will).
Full Cost: 67 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.
Components: V, S, M.
Cost: 2 FP.
Casting Time: 10 minutes.
Range: Touch.
Duration: Permanent or until discharged, then 15 minutes.

This spell allows you to scribe a potent rune of power upon a surface. Multiple Symbols of Thirst cannot be cast on the same area. When triggered, a Symbol of Thirst forces every sapient creature within 8 yards to roll a Quick Contest of Will vs. the caster's skill or experience tormenting thirst (p. B428) for 10 minutes per point of margin of victory. Once triggered, the symbol becomes active and glows, lasting for 15 minutes, forcing this Quick Contest every second.

Each affected creature, desperate and unable to focus on any other goal, must drink as deeply as it can. The affected creatures run to the nearest body of water in sight, grab and empty the closest container of water or liquor (even those carried by allies), or run toward the nearest known source of water. No matter how much a subject drinks, the sensation of thirst is not quenched. Creatures that do not require water to survive are immune to this effect.

If denied the opportunity to quench its thirst, an affected creature flies into a rage similar to the Berserk disadvantage (p. B124). The subject attacks friend and foe alike in its quest to find water, but the rage abates as soon as the subject deals with the obstacle.

Until it is triggered, the Symbol of Thirst is inactive (though visible and legible at a distance of 20 yards). To be effective, a Symbol of Thirst must always be placed in plain sight and in a prominent location. Covering or hiding the rune renders the Symbol of Thirst ineffective, unless a creature removes the covering, in which case the Symbol of Thirst works normally.

As a default, a Symbol of Thirst is triggered whenever a creature does one or more of the following, as you select: looks at the rune; reads the rune; touches the rune; passes over the rune; or passes through a portal bearing the rune. Regardless of the trigger method or methods chosen, a creature more than 8 yards from a Symbol of Thirst can't trigger it (even if it meets one or more of the triggering conditions, such as reading the rune). Once the spell is cast, a Symbol of Thirst's triggering conditions cannot be changed.

In this case, "reading" the rune means any attempt to study it, identify it, or fathom its meaning. Throwing a cover over a Symbol of Thirst to render it inoperative triggers it if the symbol reacts to touch. You can't use a Symbol of Thirst offensively; for instance, a touch-triggered Symbol of Thirst remains untriggered if an item bearing the Symbol of Thirst is used to touch a creature. Likewise, a Symbol of Thirst cannot be placed on a weapon and set to activate when the weapon strikes a foe.

You can also set special triggering limitations of your own. These can be as simple or elaborate as you desire. Special conditions for triggering a Symbol of Thirst can be based on a creature's name or identity, but otherwise must be based on observable actions or qualities. Intangibles such hit points don't qualify.

When scribing a Symbol of Thirst, you can specify a password or phrase that prevents a creature using it from triggering the effect. Anyone using the password remains immune to that particular rune's effects so long as the creature remains within 20 yards of the rune. If the creature leaves the radius and returns later, it must use the password again.

Read Magic allows you to identify a Symbol of Thirst. Of course, if the Symbol of Thirst is set to be triggered by reading it, this will trigger the symbol.

A Symbol of Thirst can be removed by a successful Dispel Magic. An Erase spell has no effect on a Symbol of Thirst. Destruction of the surface where a Symbol of Thirst is inscribed destroys the symbol but also triggers it.

Symbol of Weakness

Keywords: Obvious.

Full Cost: 65 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S, M.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 10 minutes.

Range: Touch.

Duration: Permanent or until discharged, then 15 minutes.

This spell allows you to scribe a potent rune of power upon a surface. Multiple Symbols of Weakness cannot be cast on the same area. When triggered, a Symbol of Weakness deals 1d fatigue damage, ignoring DR, to every living creature within 8 yards. Once triggered, the symbol becomes active and glows, lasting for 15 minutes, dealing this damage every second.

Until it is triggered, the Symbol of Weakness is inactive (though visible and legible at a distance of 20 yards). To be effective, a Symbol of Weakness must always be placed in plain sight and in a prominent location. Sympathetic Vibration

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 18 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP to cast, 1 FP to maintain.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Touch.

Duration: Indefinite.

By attuning yourself to a freestanding structure such as a building, bridge, or dam, you can create a damaging vibration within it. While you keep contact with the structure, you deal 1d crushing damage to it every second. DR does not protect against this! See p. B558, for HP of various buildings.

Statistics: Crushing Attack 1d (Accessibility, Only on freestanding structures, -60%; Aura, +80%; Cosmic, Irresistible Attack, +300%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Magical, -10%; Melee Attack, Reach C, -30%; No Knockback, -10%; No Signature, +20%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [18].

Sympathy

Keywords: Area (Leveled), Resisted (Will).

Full Cost: 27 points for level 1 + 5 points/additional level.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 3 FP.

Casting Time: 1 hour.

Range: Touch.

Duration: 8 hours.

You cause a location to emanate magical vibrations that attract a specific kind of sapient (IQ 6+) creature, as defined by you. The kind of creature to be affected must be named specifically—for example, red dragons, hill giants, wererats, lammasus, cloaklers, or vampires. A creature subtype (such as goblinoid) is not specific enough.

The spell's area of effect is hemispherical in shape.

When casting this spell, note your margin of success. Entering creatures of the selected group will feel elated and pleased to be in the area. The compulsion to stay in the area or touch the object is overpowering. Each second, they make a Will roll penalized by your margin of success. If the victim loses, he must stay in the area. If he succeeds, he gets a chance to leave it, but must roll to resist again on his next turn.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (Will; Accessibility, Only one adjustable class of creatures, -50%; Area Effect, 2 yards, +50%; Based on IQ, Own Roll, +20%; Based on Will, +20%; Costs Fatigue, 3 FP, -15%; Disadvantage, Obsession (Stay in the area) with no self-control roll, +12%; Extended Duration on Persistent, 3,000x, +140%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Immediate Preparation Required, 1 hour, -75%; Magical, -10%; Melee Attack, Reach C, -30%; Malediction 1, +100%; No Signature, +20%; Persistent, +40%; Reduced Duration, 1/180, -40%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Variable, Area, +5%) [27]. Telekinesis

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 15 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP to cast, 1 FP to maintain.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 35 yards.

Duration: Indefinite.

You can pick up objects and move them from a distance. This requires constant concentration. You can manipulate anything you can see as if you had a distant pair of hands with ST 14. You cannot grab yourself or anything you are holding or carrying. Once you've grabbed something, you can pick it up (see Basic Lift, p. B15) and move it, with Move 1, modified by encumbrance. You can also use the object – weapons can be wielded, rocks can be thrown, etc. You cannot hit someone with Telekinesis directly, but you can hold onto any light object (between BL/10 and BL lbs.) and use it to “punch” for thrust crushing damage.

When you use Telekinesis to grab a foe, he defends as if against an invisible opponent (p. B394). Foes attacked with a Telekinesis-wielded weapon may defend normally.

Statistics: Telekinesis 1 (Cannot Affect Self, -20%; Cannot Punch, -10%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Increased Range, 3.5x, +15%; Magical, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [2] + Telekinesis 13 (Cannot Affect Self, -20%; Cannot Punch, -10%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Increased Range, 3.5x, +15%; Lift Only, -20%; Magical, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [13].

Teleport

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 70 points.

Full Cost (Greater): 100 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V.

Cost: 1 FP or more, see text.

Casting Time: Special, see text.

Range: 1,000 miles - Unlimited (special).

Duration: Instantaneous.

This spell instantly transports you to a designated destination. Interplanar travel is not possible. You must be able to see the destination with your own eyes, view it remotely, or visualize it clearly (which is only possible if you have visited it previously in person).

If you are carrying equipment heavier than your Basic Lift, then you make your casting roll at a penalty equal to twice your Encumbrance level. On a failed roll, you leave excess cargo behind; on a critical failure, you lose 1 point of IQ for each Encumbrance level you attempted as you “burned out” that part of your brain temporarily. This temporarily lost IQ recovers after you sleep.

Teleportation distance also penalizes your casting roll. Distance penalties appear on the table below. If actual distance falls between two values, use the higher.

Distance	Skill Penalty
10 yards	0
20 yards	-1
100 yards	-2
500 yards	-3
2 miles	-4
10 miles	-5

Add an additional -1 for each 10x increase in distance. The basic (70-point) version has a range limit of 1,000 miles, but the greater (100-point) version does not have a range limit.

The amount of time taken to cast Teleport affects the skill roll, as follows:

Preparation Time	Skill Modifier
None	-10
1 second	-5
2 seconds	-4
4 seconds	-3
8 seconds	-2
15 seconds	-1
30 seconds	0
1 minute	+1
2 minutes	+2
4 minutes	+3
8 minutes	+4
15 minutes	+5
30 minutes	+6
1 hour	+7
2 hours	+8
4 hours	+9
8 hours	+10

This table is not open-ended; +10 is the maximum possible bonus.

If you have a “second-hand” view of the destination, you are at -2 per level of removal. For instance, seeing it through a crystal ball of scrying or through someone else’s eyes would give -2, while seeing it through a crystal ball of scrying that you are viewing through someone else’s eyes would give -4. There is an additional -2 to teleport to a place you have visited but cannot see.

Apply a bonus of +1 per additional FP spent. You must declare this before you roll, and you lose the FP whether you succeed or fail.

On a success, you appear at a random location somewhere in a circle with a radius equal to 1% of the distance you teleported (minimum one yard); e.g., if you teleported 10 miles, you’d materialize somewhere in a 0.1-mile circle around your target. The better your casting roll, the closer you’ll be to your target, but it’s up to the GM exactly where you appear. The greater (100-point) version of this spell removes this drift and makes you arrive in the intended destination. After you teleport, you are disoriented – you may take no action other than defense for one turn, unless you make a Body Sense roll. On a failure, you go nowhere and strain your teleporting ability: you are at -5 to cast this spell again in the next 10 minutes. On a critical failure, you’re likely to appear high in the air or underground. In addition, your spell temporarily “burns out” and will not function again for 1d hours.

You can cast Teleport to evade attacks in combat. Once per turn, you may teleport to any location you can see within 10 yards, instantly. This is considered a dodge. The casting roll will be at -10 for instant use.

Optionally, you may overload this spell to transport other willing beings in physical contact with you. Your casting roll will be at -5 per additional target, and your casting will cost an additional 2 FP. A critical failure strains your spellcasting ability; the spell automatically fails, you lose 1d FP, and all your magical powers shut down for 1d seconds.

Statistics: Warp (Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Drift, -15%; Magical, -10%; Range Limit, 1,000 miles, -15%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Uncertain Encumbrance, +25%) [70]. The greater version removes Drift and Range Limit [+30].

Teleport Object

Keywords: Resisted (Will).

Full Cost: 40 points for level 1 + 5 points/additional level.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP or more, see text.

Casting Time: Special, see text.

Range: Touch.

Duration: Instantaneous.

This spell instantly transports an inanimate object to a designated destination. Creatures and magical forces (such as a Delayed Blast Fireball bead) cannot be teleported. Intelligent items may resist with Will. Interplanar travel is not possible. You must be able to see the destination with your own eyes, view it remotely, or visualize it clearly (which is only possible if you have visited it previously in person).

The maximum weight of the object depends on the spell level, as follows:

Level	Weight Limit	Level	Weight Limit
1	2 lbs.	11	90 lbs.
2	4 lbs.	12	120 lbs.
3	7 lbs.	13	140 lbs.
4	10 lbs.	14	160 lbs.

8	40 lbs.	18	280 lbs.
9	50 lbs.	19	320 lbs.
10	60 lbs.	+1	+40 lbs.

Teleportation Circle

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 50 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 character point, 1 FP or more, see text.

Casting Time: Special, see text.

Range: Touch.

Duration: 3d minutes, Permanent, or Truly Permanent, see text.

You create a 1-yard-radius circle on the floor or other horizontal surface that teleports any creature who stands on it to a designated spot. Once you designate the destination for the circle, you can’t change it. The spell fails if you attempt to set the circle to teleport creatures into a solid object. Interplanar travel is not possible. You must be able to see the destination with your own eyes, view it remotely, or visualize it clearly (which is only possible if you have visited it previously in person).

The circle itself is subtle and nearly impossible to notice. If you intend to keep creatures from activating it accidentally, you need to mark the circle in some way, such as by placing it on a raised platform.

Teleportation distance also penalizes your casting roll. Distance penalties appear on the table below. If actual distance falls between two values, use the higher.

Distance	Skill Penalty

Apply a bonus of +1 per additional FP spent. You must declare this before you roll, and you lose the FP whether you succeed or fail.

On a success, the circle activates and lingers for 3d minutes, and anyone who walks into it is instantly teleported to the destination. After a creature teleports, it is disoriented – it may take no action other than defense for one turn, unless it makes a Body Sense roll. On a failed casting, the circle does not appear and you strain your teleporting ability: you are at -5 to cast this spell again in the next 10 minutes. On a critical failure, your spell temporarily “burns out” and will not function again for 1d hours.

Optionally, the caster may create a permanent teleportation circle. To do that, he must pay an additional character point per -1 in distance penalties (minimum 1 additional point). If he pays double that amount, he creates a truly permanent teleportation circle that cannot be dispelled, but can be temporarily suppressed by anti-magic abilities.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Duration: Permanent.

The victim and his equipment stop in time. Time continues to flow in the rest of the universe, just not for him. He's frozen in place – in mid-action or even midair. He doesn't age, breathe, or require sustenance. Injury, disease, and poison halt their progress. He keeps his position in the local frame of reference (usually a planet), but the physical world doesn't otherwise affect him. He can't be injured, moved, robbed, etc. This extends to supernatural powers (e.g., his mind is unreadable). Likewise, he's unaware of the universe and can't act in any way, not even mentally. This effect is permanent, but it can be dispelled.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (HT; Based on IQ, Own Roll, +20%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Costs one character point, x1/5; Extended Duration, Permanent, +150%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Magical, -10%; Malediction 1, +100%; Melee Attack, Reach C, -30%; No Signature, +20%; Requires gestures, -10%; Requires magic words, -10%; Temporal Stasis, +1,000%) [27].

Tenser's Floating Disk

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 43 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S, F.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 1 minute.

Range: 10 yards.

Duration: 90 minutes.

The caster creates a slightly concave, circular plane of force that follows him about and carries loads for him. The disk is 1 yard in diameter and 1 inch deep at its center. It has effective lifting ST 10. If used to transport a liquid, its capacity is 1 gallon. The disk floats approximately 1 yard above the ground at all times and remains level. It floats along horizontally within 10 yards and will accompany the caster at Move 4 modified by encumbrance, trying to stay adjacent to the caster. The disk winks out of existence when the spell's duration expires. The disk also winks out if the caster moves beyond its range or tries to take the disk more than 1 yard away from the surface beneath it. When the disk winks out, whatever it was supporting falls to the surface beneath it.

Even though this is not a spell with an indefinite duration, the caster cannot have multiple instances of this spell active unless he took multiple copies of this spell or can maintain multiple spells at the same time.

This spell thins the atmosphere in the area, possibly causing creatures caught therein to suffer the effects of altitude sickness. The area of effect has a radius of 4 yards and height of 4 yards. This spell reduced atmospheric pressure by 20% per level (up to creating vacuum at level 5). The decrease of pressure does not cause wind to blow – the atmosphere is magically stabilized. For effects, see Atmospheric Pressure (p. B429) and Vacuum (p. B437).

A character may make an area of thin atmosphere permanent by spending a number of character points equal to 2 + extra 1 per 10% of atmospheric pressure decrease.

Tidal Surge

Keywords: Cone, Obvious.
Full Cost: 20 points.
Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Beam) to hit.
Components: V, S.
Cost: 2 FP.
Casting Time: 2 seconds.

Range: 10 yards.

Duration: Instantaneous.

When you cast this spell, you create a huge wave of water that slams into one or more targets within range. There must be a large, natural source of water (a river, lake, or ocean) within range. The wave doesn't deal direct injury, but it deals 4d crushing damage for the purpose of blunt trauma, and this damage is doubled for the purpose of knockback. The wave puts out torches, campfires, exposed lanterns, and other open flames in the area.

This is a 5-yard-wide cone attack that uses the rules for Cone Attacks (p. B413). The caster targets a hex adjacent to the body of water, at +4, and the cone extends out from there, possibly striking targets from the side or from behind. It is possible to make the cone wider by using the All-Out Attack (Cone) maneuver (GURPS Dungeon Fantasy Monsters 4: Dragons, p. 10). This spell has the 1/2D range of 5 yards.

Statistics: Crushing Attack 4d (Cone 5, +100%; Cosmic, Originates from the body of water, +50%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Double Knockback, +20%; Environmental, Bodies of Water, -40%; Increased 1/2D, 5x, +10%; Magical, -10%; No Wounding, -50%; Reduced Range, 1/10, -30%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Takes Extra Time 1, -10%) [20].

Time Stop

Keywords: Obvious.

Full Cost: 55 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V.

Cost: 3 FP.

Casting Time: 10 seconds or less (see text).

Range: Self.

Duration: 5d seconds of subjective time.

You exit the time stream along with equipment and anything you're carrying. To do so, you must concentrate for 10 seconds, and make a skill roll. You may hurry the casting, but your roll will be at -1 per second of concentration omitted (-10 to cast with no preparation at all).

While outside the time stream, you perceive the world as frozen. You can't affect it (and vice versa) – only observe and move through it. You can interact with items you brought along; this lets you patch your wounds, reload your guns, and so forth. However, this does not let you attack others in any way. Time passes for you (you tire, grow hungry, age, etc.), but it's subjective. You cannot enter a zone of antimagic or a no-mana area while outside the time stream.

You may stay in the timeless realm for a subjective duration of 5d seconds (rolled by the GM in secret) before you automatically return to the normal time stream. Once you come back, your body must adjust to the change – you can't cast this spell again for at least five minutes. You may return to the normal time stream at any moment by making a skill roll.

For the duration, the subject speaks and understands one spoken language, chosen when you cast the spell. You do not have to speak the language yourself! However, the GM is within rights to declare certain languages “secret” or “lost” and thus unavailable unless you first learn the language (to at least Broken) legitimately. Secret languages, such as Druidic, alignment languages, and supernatural languages, such as Dark Speech, cannot be granted with this spell.

Tormenting Thirst

Full Cost (Short-Range): 34 points.

Full Cost (Ranged): 39 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Touch – Unlimited (-1/yard) - Unlimited (standard).

Duration: 18 seconds.

This spell fills a sapient subject with a terrible sense of thirst. Desperate and unable to focus on any other goal, it must drink as deeply as it can. The affected creature runs to the nearest body of water in sight, grabs and empties the closest container of water or liquor (even those carried by allies), or runs toward the nearest known source of water. No matter how much the subject drinks, the sensation of thirst is not quenched. Creatures that do not require water to survive are immune to this spell.

If denied the opportunity to quench its thirst, an affected creature flies into a rage similar to the Berserk disadvantage (p. B124). The subject attacks friend and foe alike in its quest to find water, but the rage abates as soon as the subject deals with the obstacle.

Statistics: Affliction 1 (Will; Accessibility, Only on sapient creatures, -10%; Based on IQ, Own Roll, +20%; Based on Will, +20%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Fixed Duration, +0%; Magical, -10%; Malediction 1, +100%; Melee Attack, Reach C, -30%; No Signature, +20%; Reduced Duration, 1/10, -20%; Requires

Town Portal

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 25 points.

Full Cost (Improved): 29 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 character point, 1 FP or more, see text.

Casting Time: Special, see text.

Range: Touch.

Duration: 3d seconds.

You create a two-dimensional 3-yard-radius circular portal that leads to the central fountain of a city or town you have visited before. Interplanar travel is not possible. The basic (25-point) version of this spell creates a portal to the nearest town that meets the requirements, while the improved (29-point) version creates a portal to any city or town with a central fountain that the caster has visited before.

Teleportation distance also penalizes your casting roll. Distance penalties appear on the table below. If actual distance falls between two values, use the higher.

Distance	Skill Penalty
10 yards	0
20 yards	-1
100 yards	-2
500 yards	-3
2 miles	-4
10 miles	-5

Add an additional -1 for each 10x increase in distance.

The amount of time taken to cast Town Portal affects the skill roll, as follows:

Preparation Time	Skill Modifier
10 minutes	0
11 minutes	+1
12 minutes	+2
14 minutes	+3
18 minutes	+4
25 minutes	+5

40 minutes	+6
1 hour	+7
2 hours	+8
4 hours	+9
8 hours	+10

This table is not open-ended; +10 is the maximum possible bonus.

Apply a bonus of +1 per additional FP spent. You must declare this before you roll, and you lose the FP whether you succeed or fail.

On a success, the portal appears and lingers for 3d seconds, and anyone who walks into it is instantly teleported to the destination. After a creature teleports, it is disoriented – it may take no action other than defense for one turn, unless it makes a Body Sense roll. On a failed casting, the portal does not appear and you strain your teleporting ability: you are at -5 to cast this spell again in the next 10 minutes. On a critical failure, your spell temporarily “burns out” and will not function again for 1d hours.

Statistics: Warp (Character point-powered, x1/5; Anchored, Nearest town with a central fountain that you have visited before, -50%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Extra Carrying Capacity, Extra-Heavy, +50%; Immediate Preparation Required, 10 minutes, -45%; Magical, -10%; Reliable 2, Only to negate removal penalties, +5%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Tunnel, Before, +100%) [25]. The improved version replaces Anchored, Nearest town with a central fountain that you have visited before, -50% with Anchored, Town with a central fountain that you have visited before, -30% [+4].

Toxic Tongue

Keywords: Missile, Obvious.

Full Cost: 2 points.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Breath) to hit.

Components: S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 10 yards.

Duration: Instantaneous.

Your saliva changes into a virulent poison that you then spit at your foes. This spell has Acc 3, Max 10, 1/2D -. It can be dodged, blocked, but not parried. The poison is a contact agent – you must hit unprotected skin, and any DR without Tough Skin negates it. If you hit, the subject must make a successful roll against HT-3 or take 2d toxic damage.

Statistics: Toxic Attack 2d (Blockable, -5%; Contact Agent, -30%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Increased 1/2D, 10x, +15%; Magical, -10%; Reduced Range, 1/10, -30%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Resistible, HT-3, -15%) [2].

Transcribe Symbol

Keywords: Obvious.

Full Cost: 9 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP to cast, 1 FP to maintain.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Touch.

Duration: Indefinite.

You place a protective spell upon your hand that allows you to touchban untriggered magic sigil (such as a Glyph of Warding or Symbol of Death), and even move it, without triggering it. To pick up the symbol in this manner, you must make a successful casting roll. Failure indicates that you trigger the magic sigil. If the check is successful, you transfer the sigil to your hand. You can then use a Ready maneuver to place it upon a surface of the sort on which it can normally be inscribed. The transferred sigil works normally thereafter and retains its original triggering conditions, although its new location might make those conditions difficult or impossible to achieve.

You can maintain the magic sigil on your hand as long as you concentrate. If your concentration lapses while the sigil is stored, it immediately triggers upon you (and only you), even if you would normally not meet its trigger conditions. The effect has the same resistance roll as the original sigil did. The only safe way to rid yourself of a stored sigil is to place it upon a suitable surface.

Statistics: Control Magic Sigils 1 (Accessibility, Only to move, -20%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Magical, -10%; Nuisance Effect, Sigil must remain in contact, -15%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [6] + Immunity to Touch-Triggered Magic Sigils (Magical, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [3].

Transmute Metal to Wood

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 4 points/level.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Touch.

Duration: 10 seconds or permanent; see text.

This spell allows you to turn metal into wood. The subject can weigh up to 10 x (level squared) lbs. – 10 lbs. at level 1, 40 lbs. at level 2, 90 lbs. at level 3, and so on.

If the product is worth more than what you started with, it's unstable and will revert to its original form after 10 seconds unless you stabilize it with your character points – in which case point cost depends on the difference in value. Each point spent stabilizes a quantity worth 10% of the campaign's average starting wealth. (This is just the tradeoff used for Trading Points for Money, p. B26.) The GM determines the cash value per pound of matter – a ton of iron costs more to stabilize than a ton of stone.

Points spent to stabilize matter come from your "Creation Pool," a number of points set aside for the purpose. You can't apply any modifiers to these points. Points used to stabilize matter are unavailable until reclaimed – which causes the matter to vanish. If the matter is crafted into an object, the item is unmade when the matter vanishes. If the matter is mixed with other materials (e.g., alloyed), you must separate it to reclaim your points; this can be a tedious process. If it's destroyed or transformed (e.g., eaten), you can't reclaim your points – they're gone. You can increase your Creation Pool with unspent points at any time.

Statistics: Create (Magical, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Transmute Metal to Wood, +50%; Transmutation Only, -100%) [4/level].

This spell allows you to turn mud into rock. The mud being transmuted can weigh up to 10 x (level squared) lbs. – 10 lbs. at level 1, 40 lbs. at level 2, 90 lbs. at level 3, and so on. On average, a hex of mud weighs 67 pounds per inch of thickness.

If a creature stands in the mud that is being transformed into rock, it will not get stuck.

Statistics: Create (Magical, -10%; Ranged, +40%; Reduced Range, 1/2, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Transmute Mud to Rock, +50%; Transmutation Only, -100%) [5/level].

Transmute Rock to Lava

Keywords: Area (Fixed).

Full Cost: 45 points.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 3 FP.

Casting Time: 2 seconds.

Range: 50 yards.

Duration: 5 minutes.

You transform an area of a natural, uncut, or unworked rock of any sort into red-hot molten lava. The resulting pool of lava has a diameter of one yard, taking up a single hex on the battle map, and depth of about one foot. When the duration runs out, lava cools down and reverts to being rock. The lava emanates intense heat, dealing 6d burning damage in the center of the area of effect. For creatures and objects within 12 yards, divide damage by (3 x distance in yards from the center of the effect), rounding down.

If this spell is cast upon the ceiling of a cavern or tunnel, the lava falls to the floor, dealing 2d crushing damage to those in its hex if they fail to move out of the way by using a retreating dodge or diving for cover.

Statistics: Burning Attack 6d (Costs Fatigue, 3 FP, -15%; Environmental, Unworked Rock, -40%; Explosion 1, +50%; Extended Duration, 30x, +60%; Link, +10%; Magical, -10%; Nuisance Effect, No incidental fragmentation or other non-damaging effects of explosion, -5%; Persistent, +40%; Reduced Range, 1/2, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Takes Extra Time 1, -10%) [42] + Crushing Attack 2d (Area Effect, 1 yard, +25%; Costs Fatigue, 3 FP, -15%; Environmental, Unworked Rock Ceiling, -60%; Link, +10%; Magical, -10%; Overhead, +30%; Reduced Range, 1/2, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Takes Extra Time 1, -10%) [3].

Casting Roll: Skill.
Components: V, S.
Cost: 1 FP.
Casting Time: 4 seconds.
Range: 20 yards.
Duration: Instantaneous or 10 seconds; see text.

This spell transforms a mass of normal sand into solid, crude glass. The sand being transmuted can weigh up to 10 x (level squared) lbs. – 10 lbs. at level 1, 40 lbs. at level 2, 90 lbs. at level 3, and so on. On average, a hex of glass weighs 64 pounds per inch of thickness.

If a creature stands in the sand that is being transmuted, it will not get stuck.

Created glass is unstable. It reverts back to sand in 10 seconds unless you use character points to “stabilize” it. Each point spent stabilizes a quantity worth 10% of the campaign’s average starting wealth. (This is just the tradeoff used for Trading Points for Money, p. B26.) Glass costs $2.1 per pound.

Transport via Plants

You can touch a plant and teleport to any other plant of the same kind you are able to see with your own eyes, or view it remotely, or visualize it clearly (which is only possible if you have seen it previously in person).

If you are carrying equipment heavier than your Basic Lift, then you make your casting roll at a penalty equal to twice your Encumbrance level. On a failed roll, you leave excess cargo behind; on a critical failure, you lose 1 point of IQ for each Encumbrance level you attempted as you “burned out” that part of your brain temporarily. This temporarily lost IQ recovers after you sleep.

Your casting roll is modified as follows:

Distance: Distance penalties appear on the table below. If actual distance falls between two values, use the higher.

Distance	Penalty
10 yards	0
20 yards	-1
100 yards	-2
500 yards	-3
2 miles	-4
10 miles	-5
100 miles	-6
1000 miles	-7

Add an additional -1 for each 10x increase in distance.

Preparation Time: The amount of time taken to prepare for the teleport affects the IQ roll, as follows:

Preparation Time	IQ Modifier
None	-10
1 second	-5
2 seconds	-4

4 seconds	-3
8 seconds	-2
15 seconds	-1
30 seconds	0
1 minute	+1
2 minutes	+2
4 minutes	+3
8 minutes	+4
15 minutes	+5
30 minutes	+6
1 hour	+7
2 hours	+8
4 hours	+9
8 hours	+10

This table is not open-ended; +10 is the maximum possible bonus.

Removal: If you have a “second-hand” view of the destination, you are at -2 per level of removal. For instance, seeing it on TV or through someone else’s eyes would give -2, while seeing it on a television set that you are viewing through someone else’s eyes would give -4. There is an additional -2 to teleport to a place you have visited but cannot see.

Fatigue Points: Apply a bonus of +1 per additional FP spent. You must declare this before you roll, and you lose the FP whether you succeed or fail. You never have to spend FP, but it is usually a good idea if you must travel far or without much preparation.

On a success, you appear at your target destination. On a failure, you go nowhere and strain your teleporting ability: you are at -5 to cast this spell again in the next 10 minutes. On a critical failure, you arrive at the wrong destination. This can be anywhere the GM wishes! It need not be dangerous, but it should seriously inconvenience you. In addition, your spell temporarily “burns out” and will not function again for 1d hours.

You can cast this spell to evade attacks in combat. Once per turn, if you are touching a plant, you may teleport to any appropriate plant you can see within 10 yards, instantly. This is considered a dodge. Of course, the IQ + Talent roll will be at -10 for instant use, so you might want to spend FP to improve your odds!

Statistics: Warp (Accessibility, Only to plants of the same kind, -25%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Magical, -10%; Pact, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Special Portal, Plant, -20%; Uncertain Encumbrance, +25%) [35].

Trap the Soul

If your margin of victory on the casting contest is 5 or more, or if the victim rolls a critical failure, then Trap the Soul forces a creature’s life force (and its material body) into a gem. The gem holds the trapped entity indefinitely or until the gem is broken and the life force is released, which allows the material body to reform. If your margin of victory is 1-4, then the victim is mentally stunned. He may roll against Will to recover on the next turn as normal.

Focus: A gemstone of at least $200 value per HP of the creature.

By means of this spell, you are able to assume the form of a 20'-tall living tree (see the footnote for the template). All your gear is absorbed into your new form. The closest inspection cannot reveal that the tree in question is actually a magically concealed creature. To all normal tests you are, in fact, a tree. While in tree form, you can see and hear all that transpires around you just as if you were in your normal form, but you cannot move, speak, cast spells, or use any other abilities.

While assuming the tree shape requires 10 seconds, reverting back can be done in a single Ready maneuver.

You gain the ability to enter trees and move from inside one tree to inside another tree. The first tree you enter and all others you enter must be of the same kind, must be living, and must have girth at least equal to yours. By moving into an oak tree (for example), you instantly know the location of all other oak trees within transport range (see below) and may choose whether you want to pass into one or simply step back out of the tree you moved into. You may choose to pass to any tree of the appropriate kind within the transport range as shown on the following table.

Type of Tree	Transport Range
--------------	-----------------

Oak, ash, yew	3,000 feet
Elm, linden	2,000 feet
Other deciduous	1,500 feet
Any coniferous	1,000 feet
All other trees	500 feet

Aside from sensing the location of trees, you are unable to see anything that goes on outside, but you can still hear what happens around you. If the tree you are in takes damage, it affects you proportionally; e.g., 10 HP of injury to a 100 HP tree results in a 1 HP wound for a 10 HP man. Being part of something larger than you also blunts Afflictions: add the difference between its SM and yours to your resistance roll.

You carry objects, including clothing and armor, up to your Light Encumbrance, when you meld with a tree. If dropped, they “pop” into open space at the point where you entered the object. You cannot leave things inside solid matter! While in a tree, you cannot breathe.

True Creation

You can create any non-magical object weighing 20 lbs. or less; it appears in your hand. The created object permanent – it will not disappear if he creates another one, it cannot be dispelled, and it can be used as a material component. However, the caster must spend 1 unspent character point per 10% of the campaign’s average starting wealth of the object’s price.

In addition to making a casting roll, the caster must make an additional skill roll to create a complex item, such as Armoury (Missile Weapons) to create a bow or Jeweler to create a cut and polished gem.

If you fail your casting roll, you can try again, but repeated attempts cost 4 FP (instead of the usual 2 FP) and take a cumulative -1 to the skill roll, until you succeed or wait an hour.

Material Component: A tiny piece of matter of the same sort of item you plan to create with this spell—a bit of twisted hemp to create rope, and so forth.

You cause the water surrounding you to swirl and fill with suspended sediments, decreasing visibility and making it harder for foes to see and attack you. Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 1 minute.

Range: 10 yards.

Duration: 90 minutes.

An Unseen Servant is an invisible, mindless, shapeless force that performs simple tasks at your command. It can run and fetch things, open unstuck doors, and hold chairs, as well as clean and mend. The servant can perform only one activity at a time, but it repeats the same activity over and over again if told to do so, thus allowing you to command it to clean the floor and then turn your attention elsewhere as long as you remain within range. It can open only normal doors, drawers, lids, and the like. It has an effective ST score of 4. It can trigger traps and such, but it can exert only 20 pounds of force, which is not enough to activate certain pressure plates and other devices. It can move at Move 2. It can perform DX-based skill checks using your DX as a default.

The servant cannot attack in any way; it is never allowed an attack roll. It cannot be killed, but it dissipates if it takes 6 points of damage from area attacks. (It gets no active defenses.) If you attempt to send it beyond the spell's range (measured from your current position), the servant ceases to exist.

Even though this is not a spell with an indefinite duration, the caster cannot have multiple instances of this spell active unless he took multiple copies of this spell or can maintain multiple spells at the same time.

The transmuted creature's skin is covered by 2-inch spines. When they grow, they pierce normal clothing, but any armor stops their growth, causing the coverage to be uneven. The subject gets a DX-4 roll to hit each foe in close combat with him once per turn with these spines, as a free action. Those who grapple or slam the subject are hit immediately and automatically – and those who slam him take maximum damage!

The spines deal 1d-2 impaling damage and are mildly poisonous. Anyone injured by the spines must make a HT roll or take a -3 to DX for minutes due to terrible itching and burning sensation.

You bestow a soul of an ancient hero on the subject. The soul lies dormant within the subject's body, until the subject decides to awaken it with a Concentrate maneuver and a successful Will roll or until the duration expires, whichever comes first. While awoken, the soul's prescience grants the subject a +1 bonus to DX and Fearlessness 1 (p. B55). You set a specific condition under which you automatically wake up. This condition might be anything from "If any SM-2 or larger creature comes within 3 yards of me" to "When the moon is at its zenith." The condition must be something that you would normally be able to observe if you were awake. Thus, you can't set the spell to wake you when something happens elsewhere, or when an invisible foe sneaks into your campsite. You awaken fully alert and ready for action, not mentally stunned.

You throw a sizzling emerald sphere of acid that expands to cover a spherical area. Use Innate Attack (Projectile) to hit, applying normal range penalties, but at +4 for targeting an area. When the projectile hits something, it expands, dealing dice of corrosion damage equal to your level of this spell to everything in its hex. Everything else within 4 yards takes damage divided by the distance in yards from the center of the blast. The GM must determine what the maximum level available in the campaign is.

Statistics: Corrosion Attack (Area Effect, 4 yards, Spherical, +115%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Dissipation, -50%; Magical, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Takes Extra Time 1, -10%) [11/level].

Volcano

Keywords: Area (Fixed).
Full Cost: 35 points.
Casting Roll: Skill.
Components: V, S.
Cost: 2 FP + 1 character point.
Casting Time: 1 hour.
Range: 100 yards.
Duration: The volcano grows for 83 days, then erupts for 1 day.

This very slow spell allows the caster to raise a small volcano or activate a dormant one. After the casting is done, the new volcano grows 2 yards in diameter each day, until it becomes 500 feet across at the end of 83 days. The cone tapers to a crater about 500 feet up. The reactivated dormant volcano does not grow, but does not activate until the 83 days pass. After 83 days pass, the volcano begins drawing magma from deep within the ground, spewing lava and smoke into the air. The eruption lasts for an entire day, after which the volcano becomes dormant again. A newly raised volcano does not recede back into the ground when the duration elapses.

The caster unleashes a loud howl, audible to everyone, but intended for a specific target. Only living creatures with IQ 6+ and no Supernatural Durability, Unaging, or Unkillable may be affected by this spell. The howl must reach the intended victim through a sound-transmitting medium – Silence or a similar spell will block it, but Deafness, Hard of Hearing, and Protected Hearing provide no benefit. The caster must see the intended victim or perceive his exact location with other senses to be able to affect him.

If the victim fails to resist, they die instantly from seemingly natural causes such as generalized organ failure from great age, unless the GM wants to get specific.

Critical failure on the casting roll gives the caster Cannot Speak (p. B125). The sorcerer can only make horrible wails until they buy off this disadvantage.

Wall of Bones

Keywords: Area (Leveled), Obvious.

Full Cost: 16 points for level 1 + 2.5 points/additional level.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 50 yards.

Duration: Five minutes.

This spell causes a wall of bones to erupt from the earth. Though solid, the wall has many small openings and gaps, and creatures on either side have partial cover (-2 to attacks) against attacks from the opposite side. A wall of bones can be passed through by SM+0 or smaller creatures, but its sharp spikes and edges deal 1d(0.5) cutting damage to any SM+0 or SM-1 creature that attempts to do so, and such creatures must spend 2 extra movement points per hex of the wall. Smaller creatures can slip and wriggle through the wall without any impediment or damage.

Each hex of the wall has HP 1 and DR 3 and crumbles once those are exceeded (or the duration runs out).

On level 1, this spell lets the caster create a barrier that is six yards long, one yard wide, and four yards high. Each additional level doubles the length. The caster may form this into any shape he wishes as long as its base is solidly on the ground, but he cannot conjured it so that it occupies the same space as a creature or another object.

Statistics: Cutting Attack 1d (Area Effect, 2 yards, +50%; Armor Divisor, (0.5), -30%; Cosmic, Provides cover and impedes movement, +100%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Extended Duration, 30x, +60%; Magical, -10%; Nuisance Effect, Small creatures ignore the impediment, -10%; Persistent, +40%; Reduced Range, 1/2, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Variable, Area, +5%; Wall, Shapeable, +60%) [16]. Wall of Coldfire

Keywords: Area (Leveled), Obvious.

Full Cost: 40 points for level 1 + 5 points/additional level.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim.

Components: V, S, M.
Cost: 1 FP.
Casting Time: 2 seconds.
Range: 20 yards.
Duration: Five minutes.

This spell conjures an immobile, opaque curtain of frosty coldfire. Anything crossing the wall takes 2d non-incendiary burning damage. Targets who took damage from this spell must make an HT roll, at -1 per 2 points of HP lost, or take a -2 penalty to DX and become Numb (p. B146) for (20-HT) minutes (minimum 1 minute). Damage dealt by this spell does not heal via natural or supernatural means unless the victim is brought into an area with an ambient temperature above freezing.

On level 1, this spell lets the caster create a barrier that is six yards long, one yard wide, and four yards high. Each additional level doubles the length. The caster may form this into any shape he wishes.

Material Component: A vial of coldfire ($100; 0.5 lb.).

Statistics: Burning Attack 2d (Area Effect, 2 yards, +50%; Cosmic, Lingering Effect, +100%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Extended Duration, 30x, +60%; Magical, -10%; No Incendiary Effect, -10%; Persistent, +40%; Reduced Range, 1/5, -20%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Side Effect, DX-2 and Numb, +90%; Takes Extra Time 1, -10%; Trigger, Coldfire, -20%; Variable, Area, +5%; Wall, Shapeable, +60%) [40]. Wall of Ectoplasm

Keywords: Area (Leveled), Obvious.
Full Cost: 25 points for level 1 + 5 points/additional level.
Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim.
Components: V, S.
Cost: 1 FP.
Casting Time: 2 seconds.
Range: 50 yards.
Duration: Five minutes.

This spell conjures an anchored wall of white-green ectoplasm. A wall of ectoplasm cannot form in an area occupied by physical objects or creatures. Its surface must be smooth and unbroken when created. The ectoplasm is semisolid (not raw)—about the consistency of packed snow—and retains its shape rather than collapsing into a formless mass. Because ectoplasm is a ghost touch material, it is an impenetrable barrier to incorporeal creatures (although they may attack the wall or go around it). The ectoplasm is opaque and blocks line of effect. Each yard of the wall has DR 6 and 1 HP. The wall does no damage itself, but beings that crash into it may take damage from the collision.

On level 1, this spell lets the caster create a barrier that is six yards long, one yard wide, and four yards high. Each additional level doubles the length. The caster may form this into any shape he wishes.

Statistics: Crushing Attack 2d (Affects Insubstantial, +20%; Area Effect, 2 yards, +50%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Environmental, Anchored, -20%; Extended Duration, 30x, +60%; Magical, -10%; Persistent, +40%; Reduced Range, 1/2, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Takes Extra Time 1, -10%; Variable, Area, +5%; Wall, Shapeable, +60%) [25]. Components: V, S.
Cost: 1 FP.
Casting Time: 2 seconds.
Range: 50 yards.
Duration: Five minutes.

This spell conjures a transparent wall of fire. Anything crossing the wall takes 2d burning damage.

On level 1, this spell lets the caster create a barrier that is six yards long, one yard wide, and four yards high. Each additional level doubles the length. The caster may form this into any shape he wishes.

Wall of Force

Keywords: Area (Leveled), Obvious.

Full Cost: 60 points for level 1 + 10 points/additional level (or more).

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 2 seconds.

Range: 10 yards.

Duration: 30 seconds.

This spell conjures an invisible wall of force that blocks attacks and creatures, even insubstantial ones, and is very difficult to destroy. The wall is immune to Dispel Magic, but Disintegrate immediately destroys it. Wall of Force also interferes with spellcasting through it. If a caster's only way to target a subject is via line of sight through the wall, his spell is cast at $-(DR/3)$, rounded to the nearest whole number. This works in both directions and can be avoided by finding a new vector of attack that goes around the wall.

On level 1, this spell lets the caster create a barrier that is six yards long, one yard wide, and four yards high. Each additional level doubles the length. The caster may form this into any shape he wishes.

By default, each wall has DR 12 and HP 2. However, more potent versions are available that multiply DR, HP, and cost by the same amount:

DR	HP	Full Cost
12	2	60 points for level 1 + 10 points/additional level
24	4	120 points for level 1 + 20 points/additional level
36	6	180 points for level 1 + 30 points/additional level
60	10	300 points for level 1 + 50 points/additional level
120	20	600 points for level 1 + 100 points/additional level

Statistics: Crushing Attack 4d (Affects Insubstantial, +20%; Area Effect, 2 yards, +50%; Cosmic, Immune to Dispel Magic, +50%; Cosmic, Interferes with spellcasting, +50%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Extended Duration, 3x, +20%; Magical, -10%; Nuisance Effect, Vulnerable to Disintegrate, -5%; Persistent, +40%; Reduced Range, 1/10, -30%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Takes Extra Time 1, -10%; Variable, Area, +5%; Wall, Shapeable, +60%) [60]. Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 20 yards.

Duration: 30 seconds.

This spell conjures a wall of darkness that blocks normal vision, infravision, and ultravision. Creatures with Dark Vision can see through it. On level 1, this spell lets the caster create a barrier that is six yards long, one yard wide, and four yards high. Each additional level doubles the length. The caster may form this into any shape he wishes.

Statistics: Obscure 10 (Vision; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Extended, Infravision and Ultravision, +40%; Extended Duration, 3x, +20%; Magical, -10%; Persistent, +40%; Ranged, +50%; Reduced Range, 1/5, -20%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Wall, Shapeable, +60%) [48]. Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 50 yards.

Duration: Five minutes.

This spell conjures a translucent wall of ice. It can be cast repeatedly, allowing the sorcerer to put up multiple walls as needed, but each wall has HP 1 and DR 6 and dissipates once those are exceeded (or the duration runs out). A square yard of a wall melts naturally in 3 minutes, if the temperature is above freezing.

On level 1, this spell lets the caster create a barrier that is six yards long, one yard wide, and four yards high. Each additional level doubles the length. The caster may form this into any shape he wishes.

Statistics: Crushing Attack 2d (Area Effect, 2 yards, +50%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Extended Duration, 30x, +60%; Magical, -10%; Melts Naturally, -10%; Persistent, +40%; Reduced Range, 1/2, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Variable, Area, +5%; Wall, Shapeable, +60%) [25]. Wall of Iron

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 24 points.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 50 yards.

Duration: 10 seconds or permanent; see text.

You cause a flat, vertical iron wall to spring into being. This wall can be used to seal off a passage or close a breach, for the wall inserts itself into any surrounding nonliving material if its area is sufficient to do so. The wall cannot be conjured so that it occupies the same space as a creature or another object. It must always be a flat plane, though you can shape its edges to fit the available space.

A Wall of Iron is 1 inch thick, 1 yard tall, and 1 yard wide. You can double the wall's area by halving its thickness. Each 1-hex square or 10-square-foot area of the wall has DR 50 per inch of thickness. An iron wall 1" thick has HP 58, an iron wall ½" thick has HP 46, and an iron wall ¼" thick has HP 36.

If you desire, the wall can be created vertically resting on a flat surface but not attached to the surface, so that it can be tipped over to fall on and crush creatures beneath it. The wall is 50% likely to tip in either direction if left unpushed. Creatures can push the wall in one direction rather than letting it fall randomly. The wall weighs 360 pounds.

Created iron is unstable. It vanishes in 10 seconds unless you use character points to “stabilize” it. Each point spent stabilizes a quantity worth 10% of the campaign’s average starting wealth. (This is just the tradeoff used for Trading Points for Money, p. B26.) Iron costs $6.9 per pound. Thus, a typical casting of Wall of Iron costs $2,484.

Points spent to stabilize matter come from your “Creation Pool,” a number of points set aside for the purpose. You can’t apply any modifiers to these points. Points used to stabilize matter are unavailable until reclaimed – which causes the matter to vanish. If the matter is crafted into an object, the item is unmade when the matter vanishes. If the matter is mixed with other materials (e.g., alloyed), you must separate it to reclaim your points; this can be a tedious process. If it’s destroyed (e.g., melts naturally) or transformed (e.g., eaten), you can’t reclaim your points – they’re gone. You can increase your Creation Pool with unspent points at any time.

Statistics: Create Iron 6 (Accessibility, Only flat, vertical walls, -20%; Magical, -10%; Ranged, +40%; Reduced Range, 1/2, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [24].

Wall of Magma

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 60 points.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP or more; see text.

Casting Time: 2 seconds.

Range: 50 yards.

Duration: 10 seconds or permanent; see text.

This spell creates a wall of magma that merges into adjoining rock surfaces, melting the rock at the point of connection to form a smooth bond. It is typically employed to close passages, portals, and breaches against opponents. The wall cannot be conjured so that it occupies the same space as a creature or another object. Unlike a Wall of Iron, you can create a Wall of Magma in almost any shape you desire. The wall created need not be vertical, nor rest upon any firm foundation; however, it must merge with and be solidly supported by existing stone. It can be used to bridge a chasm, for instance, or as a ramp.

A Wall of Magma is 1 inch thick, 1 yard tall, and 1 yard wide. You can double the wall’s area by halving its thickness. Each 1-hex square or 10-square-foot area of the wall has DR 13 per inch of thickness. Repeated impaling, piercing, and large piercing attacks against the same small spot (an area with SM 0 or less) lower DR at that specific point as if it were semi-ablative; repeated corrosion, crushing, cutting, or huge piercing attacks at that same spot reduce DR at that point as if it were ablative. DR never falls below 3. A magma wall 1” thick has HP 40. Each doubling increases HP by 20%. The wall weighs 130 pounds.

The wall sends forth waves of heat, dealing 4d burning damage per second on contact, 3d burning damage to everything within one yard, 2d burning damage to everything within two yards, and 1d burning damage to everything within four yards.

Created magma is unstable. It vanishes in 10 seconds unless you use character points to “stabilize” it. Each point spent stabilizes a quantity worth 10% of the campaign’s average starting wealth. (This is just the trade-off used for Trading Points for Money, p. B26.) Stone costs $0.75 per pound. Thus, a typical casting of Wall of Magma costs $97.5. A stabilized wall of magma eventually cools, becoming a stone wall. Optionally, the caster may pay 3 additional character points to create a stabilized wall of magma that is perpetually hot.

Points spent to stabilize matter come from your “Creation Pool,” a number of points set aside for the purpose. You can’t apply any modifiers to these points. Points used to stabilize matter are unavailable until reclaimed – which causes the matter to vanish. If the matter is crafted into an object, the item is unmade when the matter vanishes. This spell creates a wall of salt crystal that merges into adjoining rock surfaces. It is typically employed to close passages, portals, and breaches against opponents. DR never falls below 3. A salt wall 1" thick has HP 40. Each doubling increases HP by 20%. The wall weighs 130 pounds. Salt is extremely susceptible to dissolution by water – if exposed to flooding or heavy rain, the wall loses 1d HP per minute. A steady rain makes it lose 1 HP per minute.

Created salt is unstable. It vanishes in 10 seconds unless you use character points to "stabilize" it. Each point spent stabilizes a quantity worth 10% of the campaign's average starting wealth. (This is just the trade-off used for Trading Points for Money, p. B26.) Salt costs $240 per pound. Thus, a typical casting of Wall of Salt costs $31,200.

Wall of Sand

Keywords: Area (Leveled), Obvious.

Full Cost: 24 points for level 1 + 5 points/additional level.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 50 yards.

Duration: Five minutes.

This spell conjures a flat, vertical wall of churning sand. It can be cast repeatedly, allowing the caster to put up multiple walls as needed. Each wall provides Cover DR 6 to those on the other side. The wall itself doesn't take damage, but can be affected by such spells as Control Sand or Transmute Sand to Stone. Moving through a wall of sand requires the creature attempting to cross it to spend 2 extra movement points and roll its thrust damage. If it exceeds the Cover DR of the wall, the creature may move through it; otherwise it fails to do so. Those colliding with the wall take halved damage as if colliding with a soft object. If the damage they take exceeds Cover DR, they emerge on the other side.

On level 1, this spell lets the caster create a barrier that is six yards long, one yard wide, and four yards high. Each additional level doubles the length. The caster may form this into any shape he wishes.

This spell creates a barrier of very tough, pliable, tangled brush bearing needle-sharp thorns as long as a human's finger. Each wall has a certain number of HP and dissipates once those are exceeded (or the duration runs out).

On level 1, this spell lets the caster create a barrier that is six yards long, one yard wide, and four yards high. Each additional level doubles the length. The caster may form this into any shape he wishes.

Each wall has DR 6 and HP 1. Creatures colliding into the wall take piercing damage instead of crushing damage.

Wall of Water

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 45 points.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 10 yards.

Duration: 10 seconds or permanent; see text.

This spell creates a vertical wall of swirling water. A Wall of Water is 1 foot thick, 2 yards tall, and 2 yards wide. You can double the wall's area by halving its thickness. To pass through the wall, a creature must make a Swimming roll and spend all movement points. SM-4 or smaller creatures that fail to move through the wall are trapped in it, possibly drowning, until they make a successful Swimming roll. The wall remains stable for 10 seconds, after which it dissipates harmlessly, but the caster may spend 1 character point to make it permanent.

Even though the wall is permeable, it affects combat. Vision rolls through the wall are made at -2. Ranged attacks through the wall of water take a -4 penalty. A thrown weapon or a projectile from another muscle-powered ranged weapon that travels through the wall counts distance traveled through the water as 10x the actual distance for the purpose of 1/2D and Max ranges. Thus, a perpendicular bow shot through a wall of water 1 foot thick adds 10 feet to the effective distance. High-speed projectiles, such as firearm bullets, count it as 1,000x the actual distance instead of 10x. For more details on underwater combat, consult pages 7-8 of Pyramid #3-26.

Statistics: Create Water 15 (Accessibility, Only vertical walls, -20%; Magical, -10%; Ranged, +40%; Reduced Range, 1/10, -30%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [45].

This spell increases the ambient temperature of a hemispherical area. The basic version can increase the temperature by up to 40°F. This will never do damage directly, but see Heat (p. B434) for effects.

More potent versions of Warm exist. Increasing the full cost of the spell increases the degree of potential temperature change by the same factor, as indicated by the table below.

Spell Strength	Full Cost
Warm (40°F)	14 points for level 1 + 5 points/additional level.
Warm (80°F)	28 points for level 1 + 10 points/additional level.
Warm (120°F)	42 points for level 1 + 15 points/additional level.

Water to Acid

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 3 points/level.

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 2 seconds.

Range: 50 yards.

Duration: 10 seconds or permanent; see text.

You transform a volume of water into an equal volume of acid, which deals damage to creatures that come into contact with it. You cannot transform water inside a creature's body, but you can affect water surrounding it. Being splashed with acid deals 1d-3 corrosion damage. Immersion in acid deals 1d-1 corrosion damage per second. Swallowing acid deals 3d corrosion damage at the rate of 1 HP per 15 minutes. See Acid, p. B428 for more details.

One casting transforms water weighing up to 10 x (level squared) lbs. – 10 lbs. at level 1, 40 lbs. at level 2, 90 lbs. at level 3, and so on. A foot-deep hex of water weighs 486 pounds and Water to Acid 7 to transform in a single casting. A yard-high hex of water weighs 1460 pounds and Water to Acid 12 to transform in a single casting.

Created acid is unstable. It reverts back in 10 seconds unless you use character points to "stabilize" it. Each point spent stabilizes a quantity worth 10% of the campaign's average starting wealth. Alternatively, you can use Permanency Points. Each pound of acid costs $20.

You transform water or other drinkable liquid into a mildly alcoholic beverage. The nature of the resulting drink depends on the starting material. Water or grape juice becomes wine; fruit juices become “coolers.” The quality of the result depends on the caster’s Professional Skill (Brewer) roll and the quality of the starting liquid. Each casting transforms up to 10 pounds of liquid (about 1.2 gallons of water).

Waterspout

Keywords: Area (Fixed).
Full Cost: 72 points.
Casting Roll: Skill.
Components: V, S.
Cost: 3 FP to cast, 1 FP to maintain.
Casting Time: 1 second.
Range: 50 yards.
Duration: Indefinite.

Waterspout causes water to rise up into a whirling, cylindrical column 4 yards wide and 24 yards tall that looks exactly like a tornado made of water. A body of water at least 4 yards wide and 6 yards deep must be present, or the spell is wasted. If the waterspout encounters insufficient depth after it has formed, it collapses. When concentrating, you may move the waterspout along the surface of water at Move 1.

The waterspout does not form instantly – it takes four seconds to form, growing one yard in radius and six yards in height each second. Those in the area can easily see what’s happening and may be able to escape before it achieves full strength. Once the caster stops maintaining this spell, the waterspout shrinks at the same rate at which it grew.

Swimming and boating around the waterspout are difficult, taking a penalty equal in size to 12 minus the distance in yards from the center. Those within the turbulent water area of 12 yards from the center must make such a roll each turn; a failed roll pulls the person or boat one yard closer to the center (if possible). Those in the column are also pulled one yard up. When they reach the top, they are ejected into a random direction, falling 3d yards away from the center and taking fall damage for a fall from 24 yards (fall velocity is 23 yards/second).

Statistics: Control Bodies of Water 12 (Accessibility, Only to create a waterspout, -30%; Costs Fatigue, 3 FP, -15%; Dissipation, -50%; Magical, -10%; Mobile 1, +40%; Nuisance Effect, Takes several seconds to form and vanish, -5%; Ranged, +40%; Reduced Range, 1/2, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [72].

Range: Self – Touch – Unlimited (-1/yard) – Unlimited (standard)

Duration: 30 minutes.

The subject becomes buoyant, gaining a +5 bonus to Swimming. This is a defensive spell that can be used to help somebody thrown overboard stay afloat. As such, it can be cast as a free action even when it's not the caster's turn, but no more than once per turn. If this spell is part of an alternative ability array, then it must be in an active slot to be used reflexively. When used this way, the casting roll is at -4.

Range: 10 yards.

Duration: Instantaneous.

You fire a cone of negative energy that does 1d fatigue damage per level. This is a 5-yard-wide cone attack that uses the rules for Cone Attacks (p. B413). The caster targets a hex right in front of him, at +4, and the cone extends out from there. It is possible to make the cone wider by using the All-Out Attack (Cone) maneuver (GURPS Dungeon Fantasy Monsters 4: Dragons, p. 10). This spell has the 1/2D range of 5 yards.

Casting Time: 2 seconds.

Range: 20 yards.

Duration: 5 minutes.

Web creates a many-layered mass of strong, sticky strands. These strands trap those caught in them. The strands are similar to spider webs but far larger and tougher. These masses must be anchored to two or more solid and diametrically opposed points—floor and ceiling, opposite walls, or the like—or else the web collapses upon itself and disappears. The web is a plane that can otherwise be oriented in any way, but has length of 6 yards, width of 1 yard, and height of 4 yards. Anyone covered by the web is grappled with ST 10 and rooted in place. They cannot select the Move or Change Posture maneuvers or change facing, and are at -4 to DX. Each additional Web cast over the area increases the ST by 1.

Anyone who touches a victim grappled by the Web sticks to him, becoming grappled as well!

To break free, the victim must win a Quick Contest of ST or Escape skill against the ST of the Web. Each attempt takes one second. If the victim fails to break free, he loses 1 FP but may try again. Alternatively, he may try to destroy the Web. Innate Attacks hit automatically; other attacks are at -4. External attacks on the Web take no penalty, but risk hitting the victim on a miss (see Striking Into a Close Combat, p. B392). The Web has DR 3. Each point of damage reduces ST by one. At ST 0, the Web is destroyed and the victims are freed. The Web can only be damaged by cutting and burning attacks.

Victims also can roll thrust damage once per turn against the Web as a free action. If this destroys the binding, they may ignore its impediment at once. If it doesn't, they're affected normally but may still use their turn for a standard attempt to break free, and the binding is not damaged by this free "attack."

Statistics: Binding 10 (Area Effect, 2 yards, +50%; Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Environmental, Anchored to diametrically opposed surfaces, -20%; Extended Duration, 30x, +60%; Magical, -10%; Only Damaged By Cutting and Burning, +20%; Persistent, +40%; Reduced Range, 1/5, -20%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Sticky, +20%; Takes Extra Time 1, -10%; Wall, +30%) [44].

Whirlwind

Keywords: Area (Leveled).

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 1 FP.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: 100 yards.

Duration: 10 seconds.

This spell creates a circular whirlwind with an "eye" of calm inside (a good place for the caster to stand). The radius of the eye can be up to half that of the storm – or smaller, if the caster wishes. The caster may move the whirlwind at Move 1 with a Concentrate maneuver. The whirlwind is a 4-yard-high cylinder.

Low-tech missiles are buffeted off course as they cross the whirlwind, and suffer a -6 penalty to hit. High-tech bullets suffer a -2 penalty to hit. Any creature trying to cross the whirlwind takes 8d knockback damage. Knockback from this moves victims sideways (all clockwise or all anticlockwise; decide when casting the spell) rather than away from the whirlwind. The whirlwind also churns up loose ground material, such as dust, small leaves, insects, and twigs, if there are any in the area. Thus, any Vision rolls made through the whirlwind are at -3.

Whispering Wind

Full Cost: 20 points.

Casting Roll: Skill.

Components: V, S.

Cost: 2 FP.

Casting Time: 4 seconds.
Range: Unlimited (long-distance).
Duration: Until destination is reached.

You send a message or sound on the wind to a designated spot. The Whispering Wind travels to a specific location that is familiar to you, provided that it can find a way to the location. (It can't pass through walls, for instance.) A Whispering Wind is as gentle and unnoticed as a zephyr until it reaches the location. It then delivers its whisper-quiet message or other sound. Note that the message is delivered regardless of whether anyone is present to hear it. The wind then dissipates. You can prepare the spell to bear a message of no more than twenty-five words, cause the spell to deliver other sounds for 4 seconds, or merely have the whispering wind seem to be a faint stirring of the air. You can likewise cause the whispering wind to move as slowly as 1 mile per hour or as quickly as 1 mile per 10 minutes. When the spell reaches its objective, it swirls and remains in place until the message is delivered. Whispering Wind cannot speak verbal components, use command words, or activate magical effects.

Wind Wall

Casting Roll: Skill. Use Innate Attack (Gaze) to aim.
Components: V, S.
Cost: 1 FP.
Casting Time: 1 second.
Range: 100 yards.
Duration: 10 seconds.

This spell conjures a wall of wind. You do not have to concentrate to maintain it, Wind Wall is "fire and forget." It can be cast repeatedly, allowing the caster to put up multiple walls as needed, but each wall dissipates once the duration runs out.

On level 1, this spell lets the caster create a barrier that is six yards long, one yard wide, and four yards high. Each additional level doubles the length. The caster may form this into any shape he wishes.

Low-tech missiles are buffeted off course as they cross the wall, and suffer a -6 penalty to hit. High-tech bullets suffer a -2 penalty to hit. Any creature trying to cross the wall, takes 4d knockback damage in a random direction. The wall also churns up loose ground material, such as dust, small leaves, insects, and twigs, if there are any in the area. Thus, any Vision rolls made through the wall are at -3.

Components: V, S.

Casting Time: 1 second.

Range: Touch.

Duration: Instantaneous.

This spell charges the caster's hand with rotting energies. The caster must touch the subject to trigger this spell. The touch deals 1d corrosion damage per level of this spell to plant creatures and wooden objects.

Statistics: Corrosion Attack 1d (Accessibility, Only against plant creatures and wooden objects, -30%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Magical, -10%; Melee Attack, Reach C, Cannot Parry, -35%; Pact, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires IQ Roll, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [2/level].

Wood Shape

Keywords: None.

Full Cost: 6 points for level 1 + 4 points/additional level.

Casting Roll: Skill.
Components: V, S.
Cost: 2 FP to cast, 1 FP to maintain.
Casting Time: 4 seconds.
Range: Touch.
Duration: Indefinite.

You can form an existing piece of wood (dead plant matter) into any shape that suits your purpose. The higher your level of Wood Shape, the larger the quantity you can affect. You can affect up to 10 x (level squared) lbs. of wood in the form of a single object or amorphous mass. For example, Wood Shape 3 would let you affect a 90-lb. wooden table or even 90 lbs. of wood filings in a heap, but not two 5-lb. separate wooden objects.

Wood Shape doesn't work on complex, manufactured artifacts unless they're made almost entirely of wood. You could affect a wooden staff, but not a complex mechanism with only a few wooden parts.

After casting this spell, you can reshape the target. Forming a simple shape (blob, column, sphere, etc.) requires a Concentrate maneuver but no die roll. If the result is meant to be beautiful or functional, though, the GM may deem the effort a long task (see p. B346) and require skill rolls against Armoury, Artist, Machinist, and so on. You can work without tools, but you must know what you're doing.

You can also cause the target to elongate or flow at a Move 1. This requires constant concentration. You can make a solid wood object ooze, roll, or seep along the ground or a surface, and even reshape it in ways that defy gravity.

When you stop concentrating, you immediately give up control. Stable forms become permanent, while unstable ones collapse instantly.

Statistics: Control Wood 1 (Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Magical, -10%; Pact, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Takes Extra Time 2, -20%) [6]. Each additional level adds Control Wood +1 (Costs Fatigue, 2 FP, -10%; Lift Only, -20%; Magical, -10%; Pact, -10%; Requires Gestures, -10%; Requires Magic Words, -10%; Takes Extra Time 2, -20%) [+4/level].

Word of Recall

Keywords: None.
Full Cost: 50 points.
Casting Roll: Skill.
Components: V.
Cost: 1 FP or more, see text.
Casting Time: 1 second or free action, see text.
Range: Unlimited (special).
Duration: Instantaneous.

Word of Recall teleports you and all your gear up to your Light encumbrance instantly back to your sanctuary when the word is uttered (a free action on your turn). You must designate the sanctuary, and it must be a very familiar place. If you want to designate a different sanctuary, you must concentrate there for one minute. The actual point of arrival is a designated area no larger than 4 yards in radius. You can be transported any distance within a plane but cannot travel between planes.

Teleportation distance penalizes your casting roll. Distance penalties appear on the table below. If actual distance falls between two values, use the higher.

Distance	Skill Penalty
10 yards	0
20 yards	-1
100 yards	-2
500 yards	-3

2 miles	-4
10 miles	-5

Add an additional -1 for each 10x increase in distance.

Typically, you cast this spell with a single Concentrate maneuver. Optionally, you may cast this spell as a free action on your turn, but your casting roll will be at -5.

If you have a “second-hand” view of the destination, you are at -2 per level of removal. For instance, seeing it through a crystal ball of scrying or through someone else’s eyes would give -2, while seeing it through a crystal ball of scrying that you are viewing through someone else’s eyes would give -4. There is an additional -2 to teleport to a place you have visited but cannot see.

Apply a bonus of +1 per additional FP spent. You must declare this before you roll, and you lose the FP whether you succeed or fail.

On a success, you appear at your designated sanctuary. After you teleport, you are disoriented – you may take no action other than defense for one turn, unless you make a Body Sense roll. On a failure, you go nowhere and strain your teleporting ability: you are at -5 to cast this spell again in the next 10 minutes. On a critical failure, your spell temporarily “burns out” and will not function again for 1d hours.

Statistics: Warp (Anchored, Switchable Site, -50%; Costs Fatigue, 1 FP, -5%; Extra Carrying Capacity, Light, +10%; Magical, -10%; Nuisance Effect, Cannot extend casting time to get a bonus, -10%; Reliable 5, +25%; Requires Magic Words, -10%) [50].

While this spell is active, you may dictate words and have them appear written in ink on any surface within 5 yards. The writing appears as fast as you speak, which typically is about 140 words per minute. A typical page of parchment (roughly 9 inches by 12 inches) contains about 250 words. Thus, a page of text takes roughly 2 minutes to write.

Even though this is not a spell with an indefinite duration, the caster cannot have multiple instances of this spell active unless he took multiple copies of this spell or can maintain multiple spells at the same time.

You may fill a 4-yard-radius 4-yard-high cylindrical area with icy cold. This makes Infravision completely ineffective in it. Every creature in the area takes 1d-2 non-incendiary burning damage per second. Targets injured by this spell must make an HT roll, at -1 per 2 points of injury, or take a -2 penalty to DX and become Numb (p. B146) for (20-HT) minutes (minimum 1 minute).

This spell creates an 4-yard-radius spherical aura around the caster that binds all manufactured weapons, including the caster's, to their sheaths, holders, quivers, or whatever objects are used to hold them when not in use. All such weapons become stuck in their holders. For each weapon that is brought into the area, make a casting roll every second. If you succeed, the weapon becomes stuck in its holder as well. Weapons that leave the area for at least three seconds become unstuck. No amount of physical effort can draw a stuck weapon forth before the spell's effect expires or is dispelled. The precise nature of the holder doesn't matter; it can be an ornate sheath, or simply a belt through which the weapon has been stuck.

If a bearer of an affected weapon is attacked, he is immediately entitled to a Will roll to overcome the effect and draw the weapon. The bearer can repeat this save in every second that the assault continues. If he does so successfully, all his weapons cannot be affected by this particular casting of Zone of Peace again.

The spell encircles an area with a four-yard-tall wall of quiet that blocks hearing. The area is centered around the caster and moves with him. Nothing that happens in this area can be heard outside and vice versa. Effects that depend on sound transmission, such as Sound Burst, cannot penetrate Zone of Silence.

Creatures within the 4-yard-radius 4-yard-high cylindrical emanation area (or those who enter it) can't speak any deliberate and intentional lies. Each potentially affected creature has to resist with Will every second. Affected creatures are aware of this enchantment. Therefore, they may avoid answering questions to which they would normally respond with a lie, or they may be evasive as long as they remain within the boundaries of the truth. Creatures who leave the area for at least three seconds are free to speak as they choose.
